Ike's Successor In Europe Dies

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Retired Air Force Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, pioneer flier, aircraft executive and successor to Dwight Eisenhower as commander of American forces in Europe after World War II died Tuesday at 78.

McNarney

McNarney was a member of the West Point class of 1915 —the famous "class the stars fell upon" — so named because it produced so many generals.

He served as commander of the First Aero Squadron in France during World War I. In World War II he went to London as a special observer before the United States entered the war.

In 1945 he became deputy supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean Theater, and commanding general of the North African theater.

After the war he was named to succeed Eisenhower.

He retired from the Air Force in 1952 and became president of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp.

Viet Vet Fined

HOMEWOOD, Ala. (UPI) — Kevin Doherty, a young Vietnam veteran whose hair hangs below his shoulders, said he wore the military jacket given him by the Army for warmth.

Wednesday night in the city court of this Birmingham suburb, Doherty, who spent one year in Vietnam, was fined $100 for illegally wearing part of a military uniform.

Discharged honorably in 1969 as a specialist 5, Doherty said the fatigue jacket he was wearing when he was arrested Jan. 22 was part of three uniforms issued to him. The prelaw student at the University of Alabama-Birmingham is a member of a local band and had just finished a recording session when he was arrested.

Doherty is appealing the conviction.

Strike in Rome

ROME (UPI) — Thousands of strikers marched through Rome today, waving flags and chanting anti-government slogans in the first general strike here in four months.

Two youths threw Molotov cocktails at a car owned by the dean of a Rome law school. Police said it was the only reported violence.

Cleanliness Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has recommended old fashioned cleanliness as the best way for hospitals to avoid infant infections without the help of hexachlorophene, a germ killing chemical now considered a health hazard.

The Food and Drug Administration warned Dec. 8 against washing babies with hexachlorophene.

The issue posed a classic confrontation of benefits versus risks, and 24 government scientists met for six hours Wednesday to consider it. They concluded that hexachlorophene's risks outweighed its benefits except in rare instances.

Opium Crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high State Department official said today that Turkey appears to be making steady progress toward banning all opium production by the end of this year — an achievement which could significantly reduce the U.S. supply of heroin.

"The potential for eliminating the Turkish supply is there if everything keeps on the tracks," said Nelson Gross, senior adviser to Secretary of State William P. Rogers and coordinator for international carcotics matters.

Heath Urges Cancellation Of Irish Protest March

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British Prime Minister Edward Heath sent an appeal to Northern Ireland's Roman Catholics today to call off a new protest march Sunday, but a civil rights leader said the parade would go ahead anyway.

In Londonderry, six persons were injured when gunmen bombed a shop and bus station during the lunchtime rush hour. It was the first major violence in the city since 13 civilians died in a clash there with British troops Sunday.

British officials said Heath made the plea in a letter to Cardinal William Conway, primate of all Ireland, and warned that the scheduled march in the town of Newry, near the zorder with the Irish Republic, could lead to more bloodshed.

British army and Northern Ireland government officials issued a statement today reiterating that troops would enforce the provincial government's ban on the march. A similar confrontation led to Sunday's bloodshed.

In Londonderry, UPI correspondent Colin Baker said six persons were injured when a bomb blast damaged a drapery shop within seconds of another explosion which set a nearby bus station ablaze. Police said there were no casualties in the bus station attack.

In Belfast, a bomb explosion demolished a pub frequented mainly by Catholics, killing a man and injuring seven other persons, five seriously, police said. The pub bombing apparently was in retaliation for the bar owner's refusal to close during the mourning period for the 13 victims of the Londonderry shooting, security forces said.

The blast at the pub in Stewartstown was the first in the community since the current wave of Irish nationalism began three years ago.

An army spokesman said the owner of the pub was warned twice by extremists to close the bar to show respect for those shot and killed by British troops.

The victim, who was not immediately identified, brought the total number of persons killed in violence in Northern Ireland in the last three years to 235.

The Stewartstown explosion followed by several hours a bomb at a grocery in Sion Mills, County Londonderry.

Four masked men walked into the Sion Mills store, left a bomb, ordered employes out of the building and set off the explosive. There were no injuries.

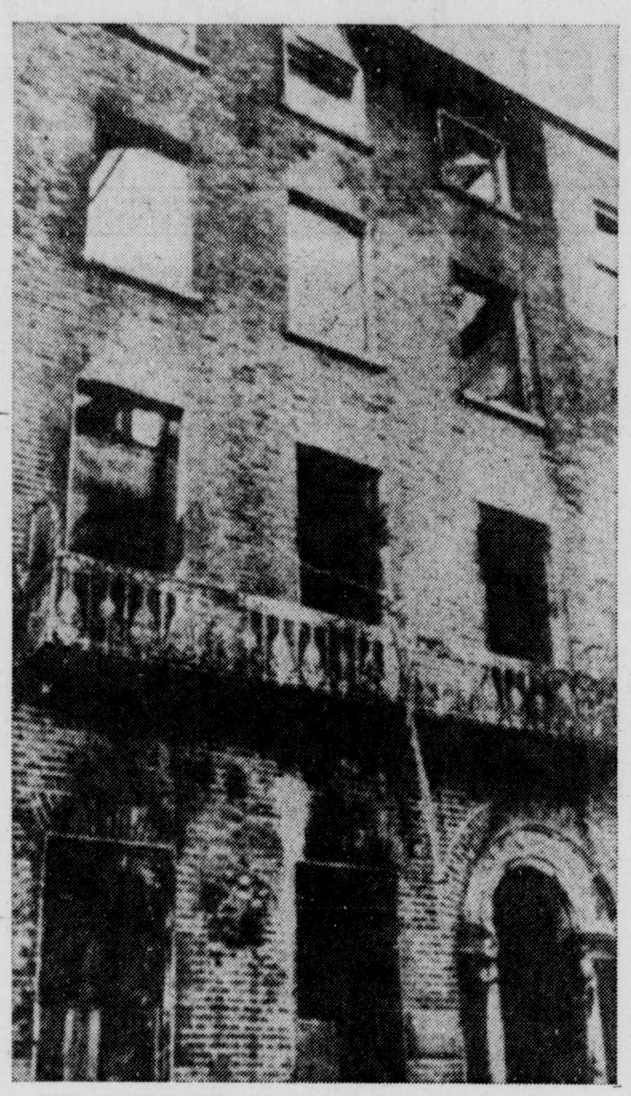
In other acts of violence Wednesday, one man was shot and killed by British soldiers in Belfast; a crowd of 25,000 persons burned down the British embassy in Dublin in the Irish Republic; and a gasoline bomb attack was reported on an army information office in Huddersfield, England.

All the attacks were related to protests against British troops who fired on demonstrators in Londonderry Sunday, killing 13 persons.

The Sunday shootings followed a march and rally by Roman Catholics who want to take predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland from under British control and unite it with the Irish Republic.

Rory McShane said in Belfast Wednesday that another march scheduled for Sunday in Newry, a heavily Roman Catholic city south of Belfast, would be held despite a plea from British Defense Secretary Lord Carrington to call off the demonstration.

Carrington told the British Parliament that troops would break up the march "however difficult it may be" if demonstrators tried to hold the protest.



NOT MUCH LEFT — The smoke-blackened shell of a building is all that remains of the British Embassy in Dublin in the wake of a firebomb attack yesterday.

'Bullmoose Is Dying'— Mrs. Knauer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, said today that executives responsible to consumer demands are fast replacing businessmen who consider consumer advocates their foes.

"Bullmoose is still around, but he is dying," Mrs. Knauer said, referring to a character in the L'il Abner carton strip. "...The number of Bullmooses is declining rather rapidly as the more responsive leaders ignore him ... taking his place is a new man on the scene ... the trend-setter."

In advertising, Mrs. Knauer said, these trend-setters "tell the truth about their products, what is good about them, what is bad about them."

Mrs. Knauer's remarks were prepared for delivery to the 15th annual Saint Mary's College Executives' Symposium at Moraga.

She credited consumerism for the change in business practices. "The central thrust of consumerism is a powerful motivation towards higher standards of conduct on the part of all those who serve the public," Mrs. Knauer said.

As examples of recalcitrant "Bullmooses," Mrs. Knauer cited a manufacturer who said conuumers should not be told the ingredients of a cosmetic; a food dealers' magazine which opposed the idea of new bacon packages showing relative amounts of fat and lean meat; and a packaging manufacturer who said advocates of more returnable packaging were "minsinformed."

She did not name the three men.

Comment Sought On Cured Meat Labeling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you'd like to know what chemicals are used in preparing such cured meats as ham, bacon, corned beef and pastrami — here's your chance.

The Agriculture Department has invited public comment on a proposal under which processors would have to list on their meat labels the chemicals and other ingredients used in curing solutions.

Common ingredients, a department spokesman said, include sodium phosphate, sodium nitrate, sodium erythorbate, water, salt and sweeteners.

In the past, department officials said, the agency has not required ingredient statements on cured meats because they thought it was "common knowledge among consumers they were made with meat and a simple curing solution."

Consumers have become much more vocal recently, however, about chemical additives in food processing. And, the department said, it has become increasingly apparent that the general public may not know what is going into cured meats because curing solutions are becoming more complex.

The formal proposal calling for disclosure of chemicals and other ingredients used in curing on product labels will be published officially Feb. 5.

Consumers or others who want to comment on the plan can send their views, in duplicate, to the Hearing Clerk's office at the Agriculture Department in Washington.

Officials noted the authority to require ingredient statements on "standardized" foods is available to the department for meat products under the meat inspection law. The Food and Drug Administration, which regulates other foods under the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, does not have authority to require such disclosures on standardized foods.

Crowded Prison A Riot Factor

MANILA (UPI) — Conditions such as the crowding of nearly 9,000 inmates into a compound built for 3,000 prisoners are partly responsible for riots such as occurred Wednesday when eight inmates were killed and 38 injured, the commander of guards at the Philippine National Penitentiary said today.

The hour-long battle broke out between nearly 300 prisoners belonging to rival gangs within the walls of the prison outside Manila.

Guards seized hundreds of homemade weapons in a search of the prison today.

They included 30 knives averaging a foot long made from steel beds and iron rods and dozens of sharpened nails, lead pipes and darts.

Irving's Friend: 'No Way Hughes Was Interviewed'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A blonde Danish singer who was in Mexico with author Clifford Irving last year says she sees no way he could have met with Howard Hughes as he claimed, it was reported today.

The name of singer Nina van Pallandt, 39, was brought into the case of the purported Hughes autobiography when Irving claimed she was with him for two of 100 interview taping sessions he said he had with the billionaire. Irving claimed she was with him when he met Hughes in Mexico last February and in Los Angeles in June.

A Los Angeles Times correspondent reported from New York in a telephone interview with the singer, who is in the Bahamas, that she said at no time did she see any man who could have passed for Hughes during the Mexican trip last Feb. 13-14.

She was apart from Irving "one to one and half hours at the most," the Times quoted her as saying.

Miss van Pallandt said she spent five hours Wednesday

talking to a U.S. postal inspector who was in the Bahamas in connection with the Hughes book investigation, according to the Times.

She said she and her manager-producer husband John Marshall, who also is in the Bahamas, would return to New York voluntarily to appear before a federal grand jury.

Federal and New York County grand juries are investigating the the autobiography case. Irving was reported to be scheduled to make his first appearance today before the federal grand jury.

In Chicago, the Tribune said today it has learned that attorneys for Irving and his wife, Edith, "have proposed the immediate return of $500,000 to a group of New York publishers in exchange for withdrawal of all prosecution against their clients."

"According to information from the negotiators, Maury Nessen, the Irvings' attorney, made the proposal directly to McGraw-Hill's general counsel, Halliburton Fales II," the Tribune said.

"Reportedly, Fales' initial response and that of Harold McGraw, president of McGraw-Hill, was a flat rejection," the newspaper said. "In subsequent conversations it was pointed out to them that 'a little more than a half a million dollars returned at once may be better than nothing obtained after a long court fight."

The Tribune said Ted Weber, McGraw-Hill's vice president for public affairs, denied "categorically" that any such deal had been offered to the firm.

Metzger In High Court Pot Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney Michael H. Metzger yesterday asked the California Supreme Court to overturn an appellate court decision reimposing marijuana possession charges against him.

Metzger, a former assistant U.S. attorney now in private practice in Marin County, was arrested last year when narcotics agents found drugs in his Sausalito home after a paid informer told them he saw Metzger smoking a marijuana cigaret.

Marin County Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson dismissed the charges on grounds that the search violated the Fourth Amendment. The District Court of Appeal reversed Judge Wilson's order last Dec. 23 and reinstated the charges.

In a petition for a hearing filed with the Supreme Court, Metzger's attorney, Patrick Hallinan, said the case was "a classic case of violation of privacy enjoyed by a citizen in his home and guaranteed to him by the Constitution.

Hallinan contended the informer was "a police agent who used fraud and misrepresentation to make an illegal exploratory search of the home."

Surge In Fighting: Five U.S. Soldiers Wounded Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command today reported five GIs wounded in a surge of fighting involving the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and the Viet Cong in an area where two American soldiers were killed earlier in the week.

As the fighting increased in the area 50 miles from Saigon, the South Vietnamese reported their aircraft had destroyed six North Vietnamese tanks and four trucks in a Communist stronghold in the Central Highlands.

With the latest flareup of fighting involving Americans, the casualties totaled two dead and 18 wounded. But U.S. spokesmen said the increased action was not necessarily because of increased guerrilla infiltration in the area of Saigon's outer environs but to increased U.S. patroling to forestall an expected Communist offensive on the eve of President Nixon's Feb. 21 visit to Peking.

It was in the Central Highlands and along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) that allied intelligence has been predicting will be the sites of any such Communist offensive.

U.S. spokesmen also announced that five Americans were killed in the war last week, three more than the previoks week, and 22 others were wounded.

It brought to 45,644 the total of Americans killed in the war since Jan. 1, 1961.

Four of the Americans wounded Wednesday were on patrol in a clash 10 miles southwest of Artillery Fire Support Base Saber, 40 miles east of Saigon. The fifth GI was wounded when his armored personnel carrier struck a mine while on a mission near Artillery Base Fiddler's Green, 27 miles northeast of the capital.

Communiques from Phnom Penh in neighboring Cambodia said the government expressed fear that the 9th Century ruins of Angkor Wat were in danger of being destroyed and asked that they be declared a neutral zone.

Military spokesmen in Pleiku in the Central Highlands 230 miles north of Saigon told UPI Correspondent Stewart Kellerman that the tanks and trucks were spotted by a South Vietnamese L19 observation plane just inside the South Vietnamese border Wednesday.

The L19 called in A37 Dragonfly jets of the South Vietna ese Air Force, which bombed and strafed the vehicles and killed 10 Viet Cong in the attack.

The air attack was carried out three miles inside South Vietnam near the borders of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos and in the region known as Base Area 609, a point of build-up operations for what allied intelligence says will be a Communist offensive in the next few weeks.

The Communists were believed to be marshaling their forces for a major drive in the Central Highlands coordinjted with an assault along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) far to the north with the offensive expected to begin, perhaps as early as Monday.

American B52 bombers Wednesday hit Communist infiltration routes leading out of the north end of the A Shau Valley on the Laotian border west of the old imperial capital of Hue.

The B52s dropped at least 90 tons of bombs.

Nation's Stock Exchanges May Join Into One Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's stock exchanges may be joined into a single nationwide securities market open to all investors by December, according to a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Commissioner James Needham said the technical equipment already exists to set up the system recommended Wednesday by the SEC.

The recommendation was contained in a SEC policy report based on nearly four years of hearings and special studies for the purpose of preventing price gyrations after major trades.

The SEC decision to implement the policy as soon as possible drew criticism from Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., whose subcommittee has also been reviewing the issue.

Moss said he was "deeply disturbed" that the SEC had decided to move ahead without Congress. "The matters involved here are substantial and vitally effect this nation's economy," Moss said.

The SEC proposes to link the New York, American and several regional exchanges by a composite tape that would provide equal access to trading information. Needham said the system would be operating "certainly by the end of the year."

Information now available almost immediately to member firms of the exchanges might be delayed for considerable periods before reaching non-member firms, thus producing some price variations of considerable amounts.

Trustees Advance North Campus Plans

The Marin Community College District board last night approved preliminary plans for preparing the site of the district's planned Novato campus.

The board also decided to offer the plans to public bodies throughout the county for information, according to district publicist Earlene Jones.

She said the board directed staff to set up a meeting in Novato next week to air plans for Indian Valley Colleges to the Novato City Council and city planning commission and the Marin County Board of Supervisors and county planning commission.

The presentation was recommended by Harry J. Moore on behalf of a citizens committee on building which he heads, she said.

The preliminary plans approved last night included grading and clearing, drainage, erosion control, service roads, bridges and landscaping at the entrance from San Jose Boulevard, as well as lighting, utilities and parking lots, she said.

The board then authorized working drawings expected to cost $66,750, she said.

However, it delayed approving the exterior design of buildings which must be approved by March 15 if the college is to be opened in 1974, she said.

Cost of preparing the initial facilities before the opening is estimated at more than $6 million.

The Marin Community College District board also:

POLICE COURSE — Approved an evening class in police science for the spring semester of the Indian Valley Colleges now holding classes at Hamilton Air Force Base and Novato High School.

RAISE — Raised the salary of Paulette Rilla, a secretary from $553 a month to $610.

TEMPORARY TEACHERS — Hired Victor Minasian, Charles Litle, Quin Wilson, all history teachers, and Martin Tarcher, economics, to teach for the spring semester only.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Gayle Seguin, an English teacher now on leave, effective July 1 and music instructor Drummond Wolff, who is retiring.

LEAVE — Granted a leave to speech instructor Walter Kassoway for the 1972-73 school year.

FEE — Approved a fee of $1 for College of Marin students who change their schedules after class cards have been filed effective next school year.

SECURITY — Authorized buying $1,450 worth of security equipment to protect the old dental building on Larkspur Avenue.

CREEK STUDY — Learned that the Army Corps of Engineers will not fund an environmental study of Corte Madera Creek by College of Marin faculty.

Priorities Outlined By Hub Panel

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night set its budget priorities for fiscal 1972-73, placing emphasis on improvements at Robson Park, particularly the Robson Mansion.

The commission's recommendations will be forwarded to the city council, parks and recreation director Gary Howell reported.

In a proposed $3,000 allocation for Robson Park, the commission recommended that lightin improvements be given first priority and also recommended start of development of a group picnic area at the park. Rough estimate for the lighting is about $2,000, Howell said, and $1,000 for the picnic area.

Of a proposed $13,500 allocation for general parks and recreation use, the commission recommended that about $5,500 of it be earmarked for further improvements at Robson, specifically for upgrading both the interior and exterior of the mansion.

The commission listed its priority recommendations for the general funds as: renovation of restrooms at Memorial Park; minor improvements at Memorial Park; minor improvements at the entrance to Sorich Ranch; landscaping on Butterfield Road, and the $5,500 for the Robson Mansion.

South Vietnamese government while the new plan mentioned only the resignation of Thieu.

The new plan is a move apparently designed to meet Nixon's peace package. Tien said the new peace plan called for a stop to all U.S. military activities in Vietnam and a withdrawal of all troops, advisors and closing of bases.

It said a withdrawal date "will also be the terminal date for the release of all militarymen of the parties and of the civilians captured during the war, including the U.S. pilots captured in North Vietnam".

Previously the Communists vaguely promised to discuss the fate of the U.S. prisoners if the Americans set a withdrawal deadline.

The 7iet Cong said Thieu was the "main obstacle to the settlement of the political problem in South Vietnam" and asked for his resignation immediately.

The Saigon administration must end its warlike policy, disband at once its machine of oppression and constraint against the people, stop its 'pacification' policy, disband the concentration camps, set free those persons arrested on political grounds and guarantee to the people the democratic liberties as provided for by the 1954 Geneva agreement on Vietnam," it said.

leases in parallel with troop withdrawals.

"To date there is little evidence that the other side is willing to negotiate in terms which seriously and realistically reflect the actual situation in Indochina," Sullivan said.

"They are still attempting to achieve their maximum objectives," he said. "We nevertheless hope that we may induce Hanoi to forsake the battlefield in favor of the conference table and thereby achieve the release of our prisoners," Sullivan said.

Sullivan said that "over 1600 U.S. military personnel are listed as missing or captured in Southeast Asia, and over 40 U.S. civilians are in the same status. According to Defense Department figures, 383 of our men are listed as captured in North Vietnam, 92 in South Vietnam, 5 in Laos."

"Two U.S. pilots are known to be captured in China. The missing civilians include three U.S. newsmen lost in Cambodia."

Sullivan said, however, that "the actual total held as prisoners remains uncertain due to the other side's continued refusal to identify all prisoers."

Sullivan also said the Communists' record on the matter of prisoners' mail and packages has deteriorated.

"During the last nine months of 1971 up to just before Christmas less than 200 letters were received from fewer than 50 of the prisoners. To the dismay of the families, virtually all packages mailed in August and October, 1971, were refused by North Vietnam and returned to the senders," Sullivan said.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., charged Wednesday that the Saigon government sabotaged the chances for a group called Amnesty International last summer to inspect Vietnamese camps on both sides where prisoners were held.

"Apparently the United States missed an excellent opportunity to find out about numbers of prisoners and conditions in the North Vietnamese prison camps," Aspin said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record.

"What I am shocked to learn is that the government of the United States stood by and did nothing while the South Vietnamese scuttled the trip. It is inconceivable that we allowed the government of South Vietnam to veto this special trip."

Woman Reports Assault Try

A 20-year-old Mill Valley woman has reported to sheriff's deputies that a man who gave her a ride when she was hitchhiking attempted to rape her at McNear Beach.

The woman said she accepted a ride with the man from Mill Valley to Marin General Hospital Tuesday. After a job interview at the hospital, the man offered to drive her elsewhere to look for a job.

Instead of taking her to the Civic Center as promised, however, he stopped at McNear Beach and told her he was going to rape her.

The woman said she hit the man in the face and fled.

Japan War Dead Will Be Honored

TOKYO (UPI) —The Japanese government will present medals posthumously to 2,986 army and 406 naval personnel who died during World War II.

The government has been honoring the war dead with decorations since 1964. A total of 1,948,894 persons have thus far been given medals posthumously.

Retroactive Pay Hike Approved

About a dozen office workers in Marin County employed by county trade union and fringe benefit offices, and others similarly employed in San Francisco and Sonoma counties will get a retroactive pay raise and reduction in their work week, according to terms of a new contract ratified Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the union said that workers will get a seven per cent pay increase retroactive to Nov. 1 of last year, and will have their work week decreased from 35 to 32 hours per week. On Nov. 1, 1973 they will receive another four per cent pay increase.

Employers will make the decision of whether to use a four-day, eight-hour-a-day-week or four seven-hour days and a four hour day.

Pay scale for this year will be $252 for computer programmers, $183 for secretaries and $148 for PBX operators.

scored Congress for failing to control the growth of the executive branch.

"It's time the federal government faded back a little. It's time the federal government returned some sources of revenue to the state and local governments instead of ostentatiously making grants of spare federal change," he declared.

French said he came "from a new generation of Democrats. My philosophy of government was forged and tempered in the turmoil of the sixties."

He said he was opposed to busing school children under a court order, but said he would support a law to allow mandatory busing. "Children should only be bused if the people, through their elected representatives, pass a law to allow it."

French also said he was opposed "unequivocally" to the war in Vietnam, and favored spending more money on ocean and space exploration by cutting the military budget.

French's campaign headquarters are at 1139 Market Street.

EOC

deciding whether they should be funded again.

"I can't feel I know what I'm spending money for with this document," Stockstad said. "I don't want it to be taken that I'm implying money is being misspent," he added, urging Lomax to respond.

Lomax countered that the figures had not been included because the board had asked him last year "not to give you so damned much paperwork."

He assured the board that the programs proposed for funding were operating successfully and were more than meeting the "minimum requirements" of the federal government.

Simmons said near the end of the five-hour session that the funding application must be approved this week in order to meet federal deadlines.

With assurances from Lomax that the application did not lock the EOC board into specific uses of funds (uses can be changed by submitting explanations to the government), the board agreed to request the blanket amount and discuss how funds were to be used at a later meeting.

The board will meet to take up unfinished portions of last night's agenda next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building in San Rafael.

The closed session to discuss Lomax's future is expected to be held at that meeting.

othy M. Kelleher, said the Federal Power Commission was considering a diversion to Southern California that by 1976 could deprive PG&E of some 300 million cubic feet a day of natural gas.

Efforts by PG&E to get new supplies from Canada were rejected last year by the Canadian energy commission, Kelleher said.

The predicted shortages, which he termed "a nationwide problem of tremendous magnitude," assumed that the natural gas companies will not find new supplies in time to meet the demand.

$13.9 Million Bypass Bid; Job Start Awaits Court

ance, reported Daniel C. Davis, executive director of the fund.

In this case, the fund, which doesn't have much money, agreed to put the legal expenses of the suit under its tax-exempt umbrella, Davis said. The three residents will pay the legal fees through the fund and write them off on their taxes, he said.

"Big business can write off its fees for legal services, and this gives the little guy a chance," Davis said.

The fund, a minor-league version of the Environmental Defense Fund which has halted major projects throughout the U.S. will operate on a limited, regional scale, Davis said.

One of its aims is to provide legal support to residents fighting environmental battles, with funds to come from membership fees and any foundation grants received.

The organization grew out of the association of key environmental leaders in Marin and Sonoma as they engaged "in different environmental fights and causes," Davis said.

The fund has just sent out its initial mailing of its brochure, and membership, still indefinite, is expected to reach about 200, Gregg said.

Financing at the start has come mainly from directors chipping in $25 a month, he said. The fund doesn't have much money, "neither do we need very much," Gregg said.

One of its jobs will be to help people "carry out alerts on environmental issues, and when all else fails, try to get answers," he said. In that event, it can resort to new environmental laws, "which make very handy tools," Gregg said.

The fund isn't trying to stop the Novato bypass, which is needed to eliminate the Highway 101 traffic bottleneck, but wants study on mud removal and fill plans, Gregg said.

Incorporated last May, the fund opened an office at 1127 Grant Avenue in Novato in late September, but was relatively inactive until this year. Davis, a 27-year-old graduate of California State Polytechnic College at Pomona, was appointed executive director.

Davis, now studying for a master's degree in political science at Sonoma State College, contemplated the future of the fund as he sat in the sparsely furnished, two-room office recently.

Ironically, the office is above the chamber of commerce office, frequented by businessmen irate about the suit.

The fund is still in its exploratory stage and the bypass suit was a move on a "reasonable scale," Davis said. The fund won't attempt to tackle major projects, such as preservation of the coastline, but will focus on smaller, local problems, he said.

He spoke of the fund providing and office, a research staff and an educational program. "We're going to try to put together a handbook for Marin and Sonoma counties something like the conservation directory of the National Wildlife Federation."

Davis, who did some research work in the fight against the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct, said potentially the fund could aid the Sonoma County Coalition, an anti-aqueduct group, in its battles.

Now, the coalition is still working on a political solution, and the fund wldn't assist until that avenue is closed, Davis said.

In its brochure, the fund stated it "is a public supported, nonprofit fund established to provide financial and legal support to individuals and groups expressing acting concern for the protection, restoration and preservation of our natural environment."

There is an appeal in the brochure for individuals and organizations to join to preserve resources.

Some Japanese Live Like Moles

Atsuko is one of the thousands who spend most of their life working in the flourescent world of Tokyo's "Mole Cities," the vast ant-hill of underground railway and shopping complexes that stretch for block after block beneath the city streets.

These are the commercial catacombs of Tokyo. Neon-lit, tiled, muzak-filled mazes, they burrow three and four levels below the surface around railway complexes at Yaesu, Shibuya, Shinjuku, Ikebukuro and Ueno. Waxen-faced mummies line up on elevators to be carried down into their depths.

In winter, it is near-dark still when Atsuko leaves her home in the Tokyo suburbs and walks through the narrow untidy streets to the Tozai line subway station. There she plunges into a bustling underground world, which she may not leave until she comes out of the same exit that night.

The crowded train carries her through miles of tunnels into central Tokyo, where she follows passages until she come to "Yaesu great underground shopping centre" one the two biggest in the world.

Here — where the airconditioned weather and light are always constant, where there are no shadows, just unclouded commerce — she works in a mens' clothing store six days a week.

As 40 per cent of Yaesu's 260 stores are eating places, she usually meets her friends in a coffee shop and eats down there.

"With lunch, we have two breaks a day, and I usually try to go up to the surface at least once," Atsuko said. "In autumn, it is refreshing to see the leaves falling and feel a cool breeze in your face."

Atsuko says she felt claustrophobic when she first began to work in the "Mole City" two years ago, but she is "used to it now."

Employees of the huge underground network which links it with other centres, are ordered to go to the surface for 10 minutes every two hours. Despite this, many have to take massive doses of vitamins, and use face creams and body oils to keep their skin in order.

With 700,000 people passing through Yaesu each day, the "Mole Cities" have special pollution problems of their own.

Yaesu is the most modern, and regarded as a model for future underground cities.

The director of Yaesu, Tadashi Sato, conceded however that there are still many improvements to be made in fresh-air filtering, and lighting control.

"Generally though, the air down here is better than on the surface," he said, pointing out the massive array of switches and computers in the center's big environmental control room, wedged between the traffic lanes of a subterranean freeway, 100 feet below the ground.

Although construction costs underground are three times those on the surface, space in Tokyo is almost unobtainable, and earthquake control measures prevent buildings from going up.

As a result, burrowing Tokyo Metropolitan Government planners have virtually undermined the city. Their latest plan is for a massive underground garbage dump, serviced by tunnel roads for trucks to carry the city's 1,300 tons of waste each day.

The "Mole Cities" have their own supplementary electricity plants, medical clinics, and private police forces. Deep in the earth at Yaesu are massive water storage tanks, supplying the underground city's need of 700 gallons a day.

Workers in its car park, two levels down, must have inhalations of oxygen four or five times each shift.

Bomb Thrown At San Rafael Residence

A Molotov cocktail was thrown onto the driveway of a San Rafael home last night, but did no damage, San Rafael police reported.

Police said Charles I. Daniels Jr. of 191 Deer Park Avenue told them he returned to his residence at about 9:30 p.m. and found liquid burning in his driveway. A broken brown bottle and cloth used as a wick were nearby, police said.

Columbus did not reach the Central American coast Panama until his fourth voyage in 1502.

DOOMED FROM START

The City of Portland's recently acquired fireboat Virgil Spencer rests on the bottom of the Willamette River. It had been a $147,889 failure from the start. Its delivery was late and its specifications were not met. Yesterday it started filling with water during a test run and after being towed to a dock went down within minutes. As this picture was taken all that was left was a fire nozzle and the craft's bow.

A San Rafael woman was hospitalized overnight after she was struck on the head Tuesday and her purse taken by two men who left her lying in an intersection, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Eleni Theno Sava, 53, of 11 Terra Linda Drive, was released from Kaiser Foundation Hospital after being treated for a bruised head, skinned knees and elbows and shock, hospital authorities reported.

According to police, a witness saw Mrs. Sava lying in the intersection of Montecello Road and Nova Albion Way and saw two young men with long hair run to a 1965 Ford Mustang and drive away with the lights off. The attack took place at 8:20 p.m.

California Highway Patrolmen later found her black leather purse on the Terra Linda offramp of Highway 101. It was not reported if any money was taken.

Novatan's Home Has Been A Pretty Busy Place

Clogg called police at 11:15 a.m. and told them a tow truck from Jack's 66 service station had arrived at his home answering a false request.

Police said Clogg told them he would be gone for the rest of the day, but that wasn't the end of the report.

In the next three hours, Hank's Lock Shop, Bay Cities Ambulance, Rental Enterprises, Novato Builders Supply, the Novato Fire Department and D and S Garage of San Rafael were called to the Clogg home, police said.

Last night, an A and W Root Beer outlet also got a call for a delivery, police said.

The calls came from someone who identified himself as Clogg, police said.

Animal Skin Ban Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton proposed a ban beginning March 3 on imported skins of leopards, tigers and six other species of wild cat to help prevent their extinction—largely from illegal hunting.

"Organized poaching rings flaunt the laws of the countries where these cats originate and send a flow of their furs to feed the fashion salons of the United States and Europe," Morton said Wednesday in explaining the ban.

Hospital Workers Union To Delay Possible Strike

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Members of the Hospital and Institutional Workers Union at Kaiser Foundation hospitals and clinics throughout the Bay Area and Sacramento will remain on the job at least until next Wednesday when a mediation meeting is scheduled between the union and the medical foundation.

Workers in the union have voted 3-1 to strike if contract demands are not met. The contract expired last Nov. 1, and work has progressed on a day-to-day basis since then, according to Vincent G. Davis, business agent for the union.

He said strike sanction can be released at any time by the secretary of the San Francisco Labor Council, but will not be unless mediation bogs down.

Ar arbitration team from the labor council will mediate the talks, which will be held at the Kaiser Employee Relations building in Oakland beginning at 10 a.m., Davis said.

The union is currently presenting its case to various Bay Area labor councils in preparation for the mediation, he said.

Davis said the Southern California chapters of the union are watching the Bay Area negotiations closely because negotiations are about to begin there.

Life Term For Sickle Slayer

NEVADA CITY (UPI) — A Superior Court jury has ordered life imprisonment for Clarence Otis Smith in the slayings of two persons last summer with a sickle-like weapon.

"I thought of notifying them to prepare the gas chamber but now it won't be necessary," the balding, 44-year-old Smith joked to newsmen moments after the jury reached its decision Wednesday night.

The penalty was imposed by the same seven-woman, five-man jury that convicted Smith last week of being the "laughing, growling" man who slipped into Dog Bar campground July 12 and hacked two campers to death.

Abraham Lincoln was the only President ever to undergo enemy fire, facing Rebel bullets at Fort Stevens a few miles from the White House.

Hub Man Found Dead At Residence

A 52-year-old grocery clerk at Safeway died yesterday in his San Anselmo home of a self-inflicted gunshot to the head, the coroner's office reported today.

According to deputy coroner Bill J. Thomas, the body of William Elmer Ratcliff was found in his bed by his wife, Lorraine when she came home at 6:50 p.m. No note was found in the house at 32 Monterey Avenue. Ratcliff had been depressed recently, according to the coroner's report.

Ratcliff had called Safeway and said he could not go to work because he had broken his glasses, Thomas reported.

Archeologists say this recently discovered tomb, dating to the Seventh Century B.C., might be that of Aeneas, the loyal defender who survived the sacking of Troy and reputed legendary grandfather of the Roman Empire. Archeologist Paolo Sommella, speaking in Pratica di Mare, Italy, said yesterday the large stone in the foreground covered the head of the buried person. The tomb is located 15 miles south of the Tiber River. (UPI Telephoto)

Larkspur Lays Plans For First Chance At San Quentin Property

Larkspur City Council served emphatic notice last night that it wants the first chance to annex San Quentin State Prison — when and if the state abandons the old landmark.

The councilmen unanimously instructed City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst to request the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to reaffirm its earlier finding that the entire San Quentin peninsula is "within Larkspur's sphere of influence."

Councilman William G. Fleckles also won approval for his proposal that the city's staff report on the pros and cons of annexation and prezoning for the peninsula.

If annexation tug-of-war develops with San Rafael, the staff study would mean Larkspur "could have a lot more going for it," Fleckles argued. The request to the agency formation commission also could "preclude San Raael from taking some aggressive action," Fleckles explained.

Bathurst pointed out that newly annexed areas normally are put into an "S zone," in which development is frozen until rezoning studies are completed.

"That isn't going to do a thing for us," Fleckles said. He urged that the staff present concrete prezoning proposals.

Fleckles said his haste was spurred by hearing a news report that Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post had recommended the state close down San Quentin by the end of this year. Gov. Ronald Reagan announced last month that he wanted to phase the prison out of operation by 1974, and build at least two smaller, more modern prisons.

The western end of the peninsula, already within Larkspur city limits, contains the proposed site of the Golden Gate Bridge District's Central Marin ferryboat terminal. Potential plans for a major shopping center in the Hutchison Quarry area just north of Corte Madera Creek have also been hinted.

San Rafael businessmen have also showed strong interest in the San Quentin property, stressing the high value of San Rafael property immediately neighboring the prison to the north.

Building Ban On Rail Land Studied

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst last night suggested that the city council impose a building moratorium on the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad rights-of-way until the city can decide the best use for the old easements.

"I already know of development plans" includeng single-family housing and a 20-unit apartment project on part of the right-of-way, Bathurst warned. He said he was preparing a legal description of all railroad easements inside Larkspur, for the council to use at its March 1 meeting if it invokes the moratorium.

The problem is complicated because much of the right-of-way is likely to revert to original landowners or their heirs now that the railroad has abandoned the lines, Bathurst said.

"We possibly could designate it all for bike trails — but it's touchy," the official said. He explained that the Golden Gate Bridge District is not interested in the Larkspur area right-of-way for transit uses, but that the Marin Transit District is.

The council told Bathurst to continue preparing the legal description of the property.

The Larkspur City Council also:

OPEN SPACE — Unanimously adopted a resolution calling for preservation of ridge top areas as open space, parallelling a resolution by Corte Madera. Councilman Benton A. Sifford Jr. asked that Mill Valley and Marin County take the same stand, as a step in jointly preserving the North Ridge area. Next action on proposals to create a Marin County Regional Park District to help acquire the ridge and other open lands must await the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission study due within six weeks, Bathurst reported.

CREEK — Unanimously voted to ask the federal Department of the Interior to conduct an environmental sludy of Corte Madera Creek from the Bon Air Bridge to Point San Quentin, and to ask the county and the Golden Gate Bridge District to coordinate the study. Mayor Earl J. O'Grady said he would ask Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and other lawmakers to support the study request.

POLICE STATION — Learned that the Schultz Foundation has donated $25,000 toward the cost of a new police headquarters. Condemnation action has been started against property owned by Mrs. Lena Fendler of Sutter Creek, next to the fire station, Bathurst said. Councilman William G. Fleckles urged that any bond issue to raise additional funds for the project, be put on the November ballot rather than June ballot.

AVON STREET — Postponed action to March 1 on a request neighbors can buy it from its original owner to keep the space open.

BLUE MOVIES — Scolded Magnolia Cinema operators for showing erotic films instead of the old-time movies promised when the theater was licensed last year. Operator Seth Morgan wrote that the theater had returned to the classics format, but had shown two "art" films by popular request and had more than 1,000 patrons in two weeks.

LABOR JOURNAL — Refused to purchase a $75 ad in the North Bay Labor Journal, as setting a precedent that possibly could be illegal.

APPEALS — Adopted an ordinance extending from seven to 15 calendar days the deadline for appeals on planning commission decisions.

TENNIS — Approved park and recreation department sponsorship of tennis classes, to be supported by enrollment fees.

DEANNEXATION — Decided to ask Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. why Corte Madera was allowed to annex the Oglesby property on the strength of a 1966 Larkspur resolution, instead of heeding a new conditional resolution the city has been preparing.

Pleads Innocent To Embezzlement

Sol Owens, 38, of no known address, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of embezzlement and vehicle theft. Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 15.

He was arrested Monday on a warrant charging he borrowed a pickup truck from Harry Cook of Mill Valley July 7, 1970, and never returned it.

One Plan For Disposal Is Shelved

Directors of the Stinson Beach County Water District decided last night that a proposed percolation gallery to dispose of the community's wastes may not be reliable enough and agreed to look at other possible solutions.

The board said it would explore other means of disposal, including water reclamation and creation of an artificial lake or reservoir to hold water during winter months.

Directors also agreed to ask the county to prepare a comprehensive study of septic tanks in Stinson Beach and determine how many homes will have to be sewered and send their wastes into the system.

The board acted after two engineers from Brown and Caldwell said they could not tell how long a percolation gallery — something like a large septic tank — would function before it failed.

The gallery is part of a sewage disposal plan for Stinson Beach prepared in November by Frank M. Stead and Dr. George Tchobanoglous at the direction of the former water district board.

The plan calls for use of sewers only in areas where septic tanks in the community are failing or impractical because of lot size and terrain. (Most of Stinson's wastes are currently handled by such tanks.)

The proposal would include construction of a secondary treatment plan and the percolation gallery where waste water can be disposed of into the sand in a dunes area south of Stinson Beach.

Engineers Dan P. Norris and Richard C. Bain, who had reviewed the Stead-Tchobanoglous plan said there was no way to tell how long a gallery would be effective since the district has not yet determined how much the community is to be served.

The amount of flow would be the chief factor in predicting how long the gallery would last, Bain said.

The engineer also said it is difficult to tell whether storms along the coast would destroy the gallery if it were built or whether a high water table would result in a flooding of the system which would cause sewage to spill onto the beaches.

One director, Proctor Jones, said he still favored use of a percolation system and proposed an above-ground gallery in a man-made dune in Stinson State Beach. The board directed him to explore the matter further with state park officials.

Until a comprehensive study of all septic tanks in the community is completed, Bain said it would be impossible for the district to plan for any disposal system since the amount of flow expected would be only a matter of conjecture until such a study is made.

Innocent Plea To Grand Theft

Mary Frances Stewart, 38, of Terra Linda, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of grand theft.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 22.

She was arrested Jan. 24 when she was allegedly caught shoplifting $98 worth of goods from the Emporium at Northgate Mall. Another $119 worth of goods said to have been taken from the store were found in her car, police said.

Speakers Stolen

Two large speakers, valued at more than $1,300, were stolen from the Terra Linda Recreation Center last Friday, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

How to Stop Smoking February 20 at 3:00 p.m.

On Sunday afternoon, February 20, a group of men and women will arrive — one by one — at the St. Helena Health Center. Most will not know each other. But all will have a common purpose — to stop smoking. Join this group and you will work with our team of experts (physicians, physical therapists and clinical counselors) for five days. You will learn how to overcome the physical addiction to tobacco, how to restore lost breathing capacity, how to cope with the tensions that "call for a cigarette", and how to keep your weight in line. By Friday, February 25, you should be able to return home free of nicotine and in better health than you've been for a long time. (The fresh mountain air, attractive private rooms and good food make the St. Helena experience a real rest cure.) Send the coupon now for more details, or telephone for our brochure.

If you cannot attend our February 20 session, plan to join us March 5 or 19.

Wound Widens In Dispute Over Pay

The Novato Fire Protection Jistrict board, under fire from an angry audience, last night rejected a proposed civil service ordinance by a 3-2 vote.

Directors were accused of stalling in negotiations with the Novato Firemen's Association on hours and pay and one woman shouted for recall of chairman Peter J. Ferrarese and directors Joseph F. Silveira and Dante Panfiglio.

Directors Henry V. Alvernaz and Richard W. Price voted to accept the proposed ordinance "in principle," leaving the way open for minor changes, but Ferrarese, Silveira and Panfiglio opposed it.

As a result it is expected that firemen will circulate an initiative petition to put the proposed ordinance on the ballot in the November election.

Attorney Richard W. Breiner, representing the association, said if 10 per cent of the voters in the district sign the petition, the board will have to put it to a vote of the people.

One of the key portions of the proposed ordinance is establishing a personnel board, which would hear grievances.

Ferrarese said he was opposed because he thought in the past "boards have done a commendable job," and have acted in a democratic manner.

Someone in the audience replied that apparently firemen didn't agree since they were demanding a personnel board.

The firemen's list of demands, including pay hikes to the wage-price freeze limit of 5.5 per cent and a 63-hour week instead of 70, were presented last fall.

Since none of the demands have been settled, except that the board appropriate $170 for a study of the state retirement system, various members of the audience charged delaying tactics.

Directors agreed that wages and hours would be the first matters discussed at the next negotiation session at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at district headquarters.

Marriage Of Couple Dissolved

The marriage of Nathaniel W. Johnson, former Sausalito School District board president, and Rita M. Johnson was dissolved yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge E. Warren McGuire granted the dissolution, sought by Johnson, on the grounds of irreconcilable differences.

Johnson, a musician and former school teacher, served on the Sausalito board from 1965 until resigning last October.

Mrs. Johnson was awarded custody of their two children, a total of $300 a month child support and $1 a year alimony.

They were married in 1959 in Marin City and separated in October 1969.

A Top Post Abolished At Bolinas

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District voted to abolish the post of district general manager, effective immediately, secretary Helen McKay reported.

Manager Archie Goldsberry has held the job since March 1970.

In acting, the board indicated it did not believe the district needed a manager, Mrs. McKay said.

Directors said the district needed "more of a consultant," who could work on the district's water system and sewage treatment plans and see that the plans are carried out and that applications are made for federal and state grants.

The board agreed to prepare job description for the new position, according to Mrs. McKay.

Goldsberry will receive two weeks' severance pay and two weeks' vacation pay.

In other business, directors decided to explore other means of waste disposal in addition to the system of holding-ponds now proposed for the district.

The board also heard a report that percolation and evaporation tests are now under way on the proposed site of the treatment ponds.

Marin Gag Rule On Juveniles Is Debated

By DAVID DIETZ

Two of four speakers on a Marin radio program today indicated support for disclosure of the identity of juveniles involved in crimes, despite a court ruling banning release of youth offenders' names to the press.

The two other speakers appearing on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" were opposed to disclosure, saying the protection of a minor outweighed the public's right to know.

The four — Lt. G. Albert Howenstein, juvenile officer for the San Anselmo police; Kathryn D. Mitchell, deputy Marin district attorney assigned to juvenile cases; Bella H. Aaron, head of Marin's police-community relations program, and Walter D. Morse, juvenile specialist with the county probation department — discussed the recent order by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court. The order grew out of a state Supreme Court judgment in a juvenile arrest case.

Howenstein said disclosure of the identity of some offenders was necessary to community control of deviant behavior. The officer said it was "totally impossible" for police to combat crime without citizen help.

Public identification, Howenstein said, breeds citizen interest in some cases. Otherwise, some offenders believe they have "carte blanche to go ahead and commit a crime," he said.

Howenstein did not identify the scope of offenses which might call for publication of juveniles' names.

Miss Mitchell said immunity breeds contempt for law on the part of some offenders, but said secrecy also has the effect of protecting parents.

In some circumstances, she said, "parents will not believe or don't want to believe" that a child has been in trouble with the law.

Morse, however, saw this as what he termed a highly questionable practice of "getting to the parents through the child." He also feared abuse and distortion by the press of information obtained on arrested juveniles.

Mrs. Aaron said public disclosure "produces injury and prevents rehabilitation."

For the first time, KTIM experimented with a system under which listeners' calls were dispatched directly to speakers. Today's program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

A Franklin Special

Tax Initiative Will Make It

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —An initiative to place a ceiling of $7 per $100 assessed valuation on California property taxes "appears that it will qualify" for the 1972 ballot, a spokesman for Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. said today.

Tom Quinn, the spokesman, said the secretary of state's office has received about 400,000 signatures collected by backers of the Watson initiative. He said additional signatures expected in the next few days probably will push the total past the 520,806 signatures needed to qualify the measure for the ballot.

The initiative, named for its sponsor, Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson, would shift $1.65 billion in local school costs and $688 million in county welfare costs to the state.

Pot Possession —Two Charged

William Roger Adair, 23, and Nancy Ellen Flyer, 22, both of Tamalpais Valley, yesterday were charged in Marin Superior Court with possessing methamphetamine and marijuana for sale.

They are to enter pleas Feb. 14.

They were arrested Dec. 18 at their residence following a long investigation of Adair by San Francisco and Marin narcotics agents.

The agents said they found about 24 ounces of methamphetamine as well as marijuana and laboratory equipment at the house.

THE WAIT — This prisoner is one of 677 men (along with seven women) in U.S. prisons to be sentenced to death. There have been no executions in the nation, however, for four and one-half years.

The Executioner Hasn't Been Around In Awhile

By JO ANNE LEVINE

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TRENTON, N.J. — The New Jersey executioner was a New York man who drove over to Trenton for $75 and travel expenses to do his job.

He has not been called upon since January 1963 when he pulled the switch that executed a man convicted of killing his wife.

Thus the electric chair, which has been used 160 times here in the New Jersey state prison, has been idle for a long time.

State by state, the story is the same: No electric chair, gas chamber, or gallows has been used anywhere in the United States, a country of 200 million, for four and one-half years. However, about 100 persons a year are still being sentenced to execution, and the number now awaiting execution stands at 677 men and seven women, the highest number in history.

The decisions now before the state courts and the U.S. Supreme Court questioning capital punishment and recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court are primarily responsible for the lack of executions.

"Today, the question of capital punishment in this country is different from what it has been," says Anthony Amsterdam, professor of law at Stanford University and the foremost expert in the United States on capital punishment. "No longer," he has noted, "is it a question of whether this nation will continue to execute people, but of whether it will resume 'killing human beings.' "

What if somebody were excuted just before a court ruled his constitutional rights had been violated? For example, because of New Jersey's State Supreme Court decision on Jan. 17, 20 prisoners on "death row," where the lights burn 24 hours a day and the cell's occupants sleep all day and stay awake all night, are faced now with life sentences and possible parole — not the electric chair.

The New Jersey State Supreme Court decision (based on a decision stemming from a 1968 decision by the U.S. Supreme Court) said that the capital punishment statute in New Jersey was unconstitutional because it coerced murder defendants to plead no defense (which is tantamount to a confession of guilt) in order to get the maximum life sentence — rather than pleading innocent where they are subject to the capital penalty.

Now, new legislation must be passej before a defendant can be so sentenced again in New Jersey.

On the same day this decision was handed down by the New Jersey court, the U.S. Supreme Court heard arguments that could end capital punishment in every state in the United States. "Is capital punishment a cruel and unusual punishment and therefore in violation of the Eighth Amendment, which prohibits such punishment?" was the question being argued.

"Those who think they will win in this case in 'this' supreme court are just whistling Dixie," says Emmett Colvin, a Dallas trial lawyer.

Nevertheless, a brief filed by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., (LDF) on behalf of one of the four cases being heard argued: "Like flogging and banishment, capital punishment is condemned by history and will sooner or later be condemned by this court under the Constitution. The question is whether the condemnation should come sooner or later."

"Cruel and unusual punishment" in 1791, when the amendment went into force, included the "barbarities of the past" such as the rack, the thumbscrew, drawing and quartering, castration, or burning alive. Such punishment as chopping off of the ears and drilling holes in tongues, as well as capital punishment, were still on the law books in 1971.

Thus, those who argue that the capital penalty is indeed constitutional say that, since it existed at the time of the adoption of the Eighth Amendment, the framers of that amendment could not have contemplated the use of the amendment to abolish the penalty.

Those opposing such a view say that the penalty is rooted in America's religious and moral heritage and expresses the community's outrage at the crimes committed.

But in another case (Trop v. Dulles), the Supreme Court has stated that the Eighth Amendment "is not static," but "must draw its meaning from the evolving standards of decency that mark the progress of a maturing society."

Law professor Amsterdam maintains that American society tolerates the capital penalty only so long as it is not generally used.

Even before the courts began to hear cases questioning capital punishment, executions in the United States were winding down. After a high of 199 executions in 1935, there were 56 in 1960, 21 in 1963, 15 in 1964, 7 in 1965, 1 in 1966, and 2 in 1967.

That's what the LDF, which is representing three of the four defendants in the Eighth Amendment case, say is the strong core of the arguments they presented before the Supreme Court. (Their cases are Earnest James Aikens Jr. v. California, Lucious Jackson Jr. v. Georgia, and William H. Furman v. Georgia.) The fourth case, Elmer Branch v. Texas, was argued by Melvyn Carson Bruder of Dallas. Aikens and Furman are murder cases.

Besides deciding that capital punishment is or is not cruel and unusual punishment, the high court could decide that capital punishment for certain kinds of rape is unconstitutional, but that for other kinds it is constitutional; that premeditated murder might constitutionally receive the penalty, but that felony murder might be considered unconstitutional as the basis for the penalty. It could also decide that mental cases could be the basis of eliminating the penalty on unconstitutional grounds.

Notes Jack Himmelstein, assistant counsel of the LDF: "The court could conceivably say that the facts known about the death penalty — its costs, its harm to individuals — need to be explored more deeply before a constitutional ruling of this magnitude could be decided."

Should the Supreme Court decide that capital punishment is not cruel and unusual, there are possibilities for other types of legal action, which include legislative action; commutations of the capital penalty by governors (when Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was in office in Arkansas in 1970, he commuted such sentences for 15 inmates); and court actions on other grounds.

Meanwhile, there is still much talk about resuming capital punishment. For example, the new Mayor of Philadelphia, Frank L. Rizzo (a former police chief), said as soon as he took office that he is all for pulling the electric chair in Pennsylvania out of mothballs. But at

Petaluma Hospital Board Will Abandon Hillcrest; Site Search

The Petaluma Hospital District board yesterday affirmed its decision to abandon Hillcrest Hospital and began the search for a site for a new hospital.

Architect Robert J. Gianelli of Beland, Gianelli and Associates of Vallejo, advised against expansion at Hillcrest and advocated construction of a new building.

Gianelli said that while initially it may be less costly to expand at Hillcrest, future expansions would be highly expensive on the hilly terrain. He said it would be more practical in the long range to go to a flat and more centrally located site.

That corroborated findings made earlier by another architectural firm. Gianelli estimated the cost of expanding the hospital from 50 to 100 beds would cost $3,194,000. He said parking facilities would have to be relocated at an additional cost estimated between $800,000 and $1 million. A new 100-bed hospital has been estimated to cost $5.6 million.

Board member E. William Schneider said he had studied further financing a new building and was no longer opposed. That left Clyde Nelson the lone dissenter as he maintained the district could not afford construction of a new hospital.

Dr. Hamza Munib, board president, reported the hospital medical staff was losing trust in the board since it has been slow to act on new hospital facilities.

"They have no trust that the board will get off the dime and do something," he said, explaining that some staff members would support a privately operated hospital.

Real estate agent Jack Garrison, a former board member, recommended four possible areas in which the board might find a good hospital site. He advised they seek a location central to the district with easy access to Highway 101 and room for expansion.

Generally, Garrison advised the board seek land on Petaluma's eastside in the general vicinity of Old Redwood Highway, Corona Road, Lucchesi Park or east of Lakeville Highway near Frates Road.

The board members said they would study the areas and be prepared to make a selection at a special meeting next Wednesday at noon. Prospective architects will also be interviewed.

The Executioner's Absence

the same time, out in Harrisburg, the state capital, the governor, Milton J. Shapp, is on record as saying there will be no executions in his state while he is in office.

Two of the biggest lobbies for capital punishment are the Patrolmen's Benevolent Associations and the Unions of Prison Guards. In New York State, where capital punishment has been abolished since 1965, except in cases where policemen and prison guards have been killed, one finds that more policemen have been killed since 1965.

"You get statements made, especially after some egregious crime," Himmelstein said.

There are cries for the death penalty. If the cries come from 10 significant people, it still doesn't mean anything. I think the nation as a whole is getting somewhat more sophisticated."

In California, many people feel that if Sirhan B. Sirhan and Charles Manson were not sentenced to execution, public opinion would move in strongly against capital punishment.

However, in California, a state with 105 prisoners awaiting execution — the highest number of any state — the state supreme court may decide that capital punishment is cruel or unusual punishment before the U.S. Supreme Court renders its decision on whether it is cruel and unusual. (There are 100 men on Death Row at San Quentin Prison. Five women awaiting execution live at the California Institution for Women at Corona.)

Dallas is a geographical pole of gravity for conservatives. There, one lawyer says, "If they could give you the death penalty for the possession of two marijuana cigarettes, they would."

However, Dallas's Colvin said, "I've tried 435 death-penalty cases, and in each case, we have more and more jurors disqualified because they cannot assess the death penalty.

"In one case at least one-half of some 900 persons disqualified themselves because they could not assess the death penalty on any basis." (In 1968, the Supreme Court in the case of Witherspoon v. Illinois decided that prospective jurors with some scruples against the capital penalty could not be barred from sitting on capital cases unless they state explicity that under no circumstances could they bring in a capital sentence.)

However, Colvin, who is chairman of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers' Association and has served on three criminal-penal-code reform commissions in Texas, said that the commissions are split 50-50 on whether to recommend the abolition of capital punishment.

"We have finally determined that this is more of a social than a legal problem — a matter the legislature should decide one way or another. We have dumped the problem in the lap of the legislature," he said.

Observed Himmelstein: "Capital punishment has been an area where notoriously each side passes the buck to the other side — no one wants to take any responsbility for what takes place — even down to the executioner. Sometimes there are even three executioners, pushing separate buttons or pulling separate levers — two being dummies and one the real thing."

The result of this passing the buck is "that at the end somebody's dead and nobody killed him," Amsterdam said.

In Juris Doctor, a magazine for lawyers, Amsterdam wrote, "This state of mind is one of the most potent weapons against civilizing reform. The concomitant weapon for social change is reinstitution of the sense of responsibility. The fact is we are responsible for this and that has to be realized."

The five-year moratorium on executions has in fact taken the edge off abolitionist sentiments, although many groups — like CALM (Citizens Against Legalized Murder, Inc.) in New York and Justice in New Jersey — are in operation.

The abolition of capital punishment is considered by many to be essential to prison reform. In fact, Edward Ziegele Jr., chairman of New Jersey's Justice ("I want this organization to be the Ralph Nader of prison reform"), said, "You can't have prison reform without the abolition of caiptal punishment.

"The purpose of a corrections system is to correct," he said. "When you are killing somebody, you are eliminating the possibility of a cure because you are denying life. You are saying, 'We can't cure you; we are gonna kill you.' "

Sadat Not Socializing In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Kremlin leaders canceled a formal luncheon for President Anwar Sadat of Egypt today in order to devote more time to discussions of his "zero hour" Middle East battle plans, Arab diplomatic sources said.

In addition, Sadat told aides to cancel his plans to visit the Moscow State Circus tonight so his meetings with Soviet leaders could continue without interruption, the sources said.

Sadat began talks with Soviet leaders in the Kremlin at midmorning, and the Arab sources said the Soviets were very friendly and in a jovial mood. Soviet sources said the meetings would continue through today and Friday.

Sadat arrived Wednesday for his third round of strategy talks with Egypt's military and economic patrons since he became president in October 1970.

Sadat is meeting with Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Defense Minister Marshal Andrei A. Grechko.

Western diplomats in Moscow said they thought the Soviets would try to dissuade Sadat from resuming all-out war and would tell him the Soviets will not participate on the battlefield against Israel.

In a series of speeches to Egyptian troops before his departure for Moscow, Sadat said he had problems to patch up with Soviet leaders—including undelivered military aid— and strategy to iron out before he sets a new D-day for the "inevitabe" battle with Israel.

"I have postponed the zero hour (for restarting the Middle East war) until I go and meet with the Soviets and talk to them," Sadat was quoted by Al Ahram, Egypt's most influential newspaper and semi-official publication.

In Cairo, East European diplomats said the Egyptian leader would try to talk the Soviets into financing an Egyptian munitions industry.

Israel Sees Delay In Canal Mediation

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

An Israel official said today it may be weeks before Egypt responds to a U.S. offer to mediate indirect talks to reopen the Suez Canal.

The Israeli cabinet accepted the offer Wednesday but Egyptian President Anwar Sadat broke contact with the United States after it agreed to help Israel produce arms.

The canal, closed since the 1967 Middle East war, is the dividing line between Egyptian and Israeli troops and both banks are lined with fortifications.

A decision is not expected before Sadat returns from Moscow where he is trying to work out a new military aid agreement with the Soviets.

The unidentified Israeli official, said the decision by the Israeli cabinet to accept the U.S. mediation offer now places the decision on Egypt.

"The shoe is on the other foot now," he said.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said the cabinet decision was an attempt to turn world opinion against the Egyptians.

"Israel is attempting to misguide world public opinion by claiming that it has agreed to have contacts (with Egypt), via the United States, on a partial settlement for reopening the Suez Canal. It should be noted, however, that Egypt has severed all contacts with the United States as President Anwar Sadat has said," Al Ahram said, quoting an unidentified official.

The Israeli official said there were too many events in the immediate future to influence an immediate decision by Egypt.

"I think there will be some kind of lull in the proceedings now with Sadat in Moscow, President Nixon going to Peking and (U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V.) Jarring still in the cards. Probably a matter of weeks," the Israeli official said.

Sadat is expected to return from Moscow late this week and Nixon is scheduled to go to Peking Feb. 21. There has been no announced date for a new try by Jarring to resume Middle East peace talks.

Photos Sought In Saving Trees

Hikers and nature lovers today sought photographs and slides of scenic Baltimore Canyon in Larkspur, to help convince the Marin Municipal Water District not to chop down trees in the canyon to install a 24-inch water line and a maintenance road.

Joi Losee said the water district directors will hold a hearing on the pipeline plans at about 3 p.m. Wednesday in the district offices in Corte Madera. She said the pipeline work would require cutting a 20-foot-wide swathe through the canyon's redwood and other trees.

She asked that anyone with available pictures of the area call on her or her husband, Crandon G. Losee.

Bill To Extend Commission Life

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., introduced a bill today that would extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission to 1978 and give it authority to focus on sex discrimination as well as other forms of prejudice.

"If we are indeed to reverse the nation's trend toward a society of white, affluent, armed suburbs and decayed, savage cities, we need all the help we can get," Hart said.

Scott said jurisdiction over sex discrimination would lead to "affirmative action programs within the federal government" to stamp it out.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard

LOOKING INTO PORTRAITS

When seasonal weather (is it ever going to rain?) keeps the photographer indoors more than he likes, it's a good time to experiment with fairly close, carefully controlled picture subjects . . . like portraits.

If there's one complaint often heard from portrait subjects it's the refrain, "But it doesn't look like me!" This can mean the picture is very bad — or very good. It will be "bad" if it fails to say something true about the subject — even though the technical details of lighting, exposure, composition, etc., are flawless.

On the other hand, people seldom see themselves as others do. A good portrait photographer tries to look behind the surface, and uses his camera to reveal the quality of what he sees . . . which sometimes surprises his subjects! If he succeeds, his portrait will be good, even if it has technical flaws . . . and even if the subject says, "That isn't me!"

If you've been looking into the possibility of a better camera that opens up new vistas of photography, let us help you look deeper into the subject. We carry the best for your needs.

Warning Issued On Feron Gas Uses

DETROIT (UPI) —Freon gas, commonly used as a propellant in aerosols, an additive to solvents and a coolant in refrigerators, can cause possibly fatal heart beat irregularities, warns Dr. Gerald Breneman, president of the Michigan Heart Association.

Among products propelled by froen are antiseptics, air fresheners and cleaners, insecticides, paints, varnishes, polishes and hair sprays. "It is especially important that these sprays be used in a well-ventilated place and that persons with a heart disorder be extra careful to avoid breathing in the gas," said Breneman, a cardiologist at Henry Ford Hospital.

Shooting Ranges To Be Set Up

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)— Municipal authorities plan to set up 10 shooting ranges in Seoul to make shooting a popular sport and help improve the nation's defense capabilities.

The ranges will be located in and around parks and will be open to all citizens.

Hub Nightspot Flap Is Settled In Court

A one-day trial in which a landlord had sought to evict Michael Considine and his Lion's Share nightclub from their San Anselmo quarters ended yesterday in a settlement.

Lawyers for both sides came to an agreement in Marin Municipal Court in which Considine will not be evicted but will post a bond to cover possible damage to the building.

The property owner, F. M. Gelardi, had claimed that the building on Redhill Avenue had suffered nail holes, a hole in the ceiling above the stage, damaged doors and broken windows.

Considine agreed yesterday to post a $1,450 bond which would be forfeited if the building was not restored to its original state in the event the nightclub moves out.

Disagreements over the rent and insurance also were worked out in the settlement.

The nightclub, popular with rock and folk music fans, formerly was in Sausalito. It was moved to San Anselmo after a 1968 fire destroyed the former building.

'Almost All Box Alarms Are False'

Almost every fire alarm from a street box alone in San Rafael is false.

Fire Chief Robert E. Marcucci told the San Rafael Fire Commission Tuesday that the department can almost bet that a street box alarm, on which the department receives no phone call of a fire, will be false, but the engines must respond to the alarm anyway.

There are 130 street boxes in San Rafael.

Marcucci told the commission he hoped to talk to insurance representatives about the possibility of cutting down the number of engines which routinely respond to a street box alarm.

The chief also reported that of 118 engine runs last month, 25 turned out to be false. The total of runs was an increase over 99 i January 1971, he said.

No Water; 200 Homes Destroyed

VINA DEL MAR, Chile (UPI) — Firemen watched helplessly yesterday as fire destroyed more than 200 houses and injured more than a dozen persons.

Firemen had no water because Lake Penuelas, the supply for residential areas outside this coastal resort, has dried up.

Vina del Mar is Sausalito's sister city.

Marinwood CSD Opposes Annexation

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night declared its opposition to proposed annexation of a 10-acre parcel off of Lucas Valley Road to the City of San Rafael.

The annexation proposal will be considered by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Wednesday.

Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. plans a computer center on the parcel, adjacent to and south of Lucas Valley Road and east of Highway 101. The San Rafael City Council has already approved prezoning of the property for Fireman's Fund.

The Marinwood board met last night with members of the Terra Linda Community Services District board, which has already stated its opposition to the annexation proposal.

Most of the property is in the Terra Linda district.

TERLINGUA, Tex. (UPI) — The World Chili Cookoff that pits the pepper pitching talents of the country's champion chili chefs was begun in 1967 at this West Texas ghost town whose municipal motto is "600 miles from anywhere."

A Halt Sought In Dismissal Actions

In the wake of Tuesday's election filling two vacant seats on the Sausalito School District board, the Sausalito District Teachers Association has asked that the new board drop all charges against the three fired teachers.

By a 10-1 vote, with one abstention, the association agreed to ask that the board review the dismissal cases against teachers James Pockrus, Clifford Munger and James T. Toliver Jr. and drop charges against them. Toliver is current president of the teacher group and Pockrus served as its president last year.

The three were fired by the school board last year and are now appealing their dismissals in Marin Superior Court. Pockrus's appeal is being heard this week before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner and Toliver's appeal is scheduled to begin Feb. 14. Munger will go to court later this month on a date yet to be determined.

While their cases are being appealed the three teachers are still working in the district on special assignments.

Plants In Mexican Desert Are Classified

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — University of Texas researchers are working to classify and name more than 4,000 plants that grow in the Chihuahuan Desert of Mexico.

Dr. Marshall C. Johnston, an associate professor of botany, says less is known scientifically about the wedge-shaped desert which begins in southern New Mexico and spreads into the heart of Mexico than about the deserts of Mongolia and Southern Siberia.

Bronze Lute Dated To The 6th Century

MUNAKATA, Japan (UPI) — A tiny bronze lute excavated from an ancient shrine site may be the oldest Japanese musical instrument extant in Japan.

Hajime Matsumoto, cultural official for the Munakata-Jinja shrine, says the instrument was described in Chinese documents of the 6th century A.D. The metallic lute is about 11 inches long, five inches wide and one inch thick. It has five silk strings.

Humphrey Enters Test In W. Virginia, Raps Taxes

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Hubert H. Humphrey flew today to rainy Charleston, W.Va., to become a formal entry in the May 9 West Virginia presidential primary. It was in the Mountain State 12 years ago that Humphrey's first presidential bid was smashed.

The Minnesota Democrat went directly from the Charleston airport —where only about 20 persons turned out in the rain to greet him —to the state capitol to file and later to address the state legislature.

Humphrey's entry in the May, 1960, West Virginia primary ended in disaster, with John F. Kennedy scoring an impressive victory that propelled him to his party's nomination and into the White House.

Humphrey dropped out of the race that year for the Democratic nomination after viewing the results on primary election night in West Virginia.

In his speech to West Virginia legislators, Humphrey attacked the nation's tax system as "unfair and unjust" — rigged against the poor and in favor of the wealthy.

Humphrey said tax reforms are needed to distribute the tax burden more equitably so that everyone pays his fair share. But he did not propose specific alternatives.

In other political developments:

—In Chicago, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., another presidential candidate, accused Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz of trying to use the West Coast dock strike "as a scapegoat to divert attention from the Nixon administration's dismal performance on farm income."

—One of President Nixon's challengers for the Republican nomination, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., said Nixon was "furthering the loss of public confidence in government by his self-imposed isolation from not only the people but the representatives of the people." In a Washington speech, McCloskey said if he were President he would hold monthly question-and-answer meetings with all members of Congress.

—A federal judge in Cleveland extended for two weeks, until Feb. 17, the deadline for candidates to enter Ohio's May 2 primary. This will give Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., an opportunity to enter.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-aine, attacked Nixon's Vietnam peace offer as nothing more than re-issued proposals, and brought from Republicans a charge that he was subjugating the nation's interests to his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

After Muskie's speech in the District of Columbia Wednesday, the White House said the Democratic front-runner was "totally wrong," and Republican National Chairman Robert Dole declared Muskie lacked "wisdom ... maturity."

Muskie said the President's eight-point plan "basically renumbered and reissued the proposals that have failed for six years." The Maine Democrat called for a two-point plan: An unconditional date for total U.S. withdrawal subject to Communist release of U.S. prisoners, and the safety of departing U.S. servicemen.

While Muskie drew fire from the GOP, he criticized McGovern for using the late Robert F. Kennedy's vocce in a campaign broadcast advertisement in New Hampshire.

On other presidential campaign fronts, Humprhey personally entered the Ohio primary; Alabama Gov. George Wallace was invited to a Democratic fund-raising dinner tonight in Washington, and McCloskey said his attempts to raise campaign funds were being undermined by the White House.

Muskie said Nixon's peace

McCloskey said Republican businessmen were reluctant to contribute to his campaign for fear of "retaliationf' by the administration. At a Washington news conference, he also said that two college students were told that their future in the GOP would be jeopardized if they helped McCloskey.

Jackson, after a campaign swing in Florida, said he would introduce today a $250 million bill to assist Jews leaving the Soviet Union for Israel.

Cyclist Fractures Leg In Accident

A 48-year-old Illinois man was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured right leg suffered in a motorcycle accident yesterday.

The hospital said Jerimiah deMichaelis of Glenview was brought in at 5:40 p.m. by Corte Madera police, who said they were handling the accident for Larkspur police. Larkspur police had no record of the accident today.

McCarthy Will Not Appear—Politicking

Putting politics before poetry, Eugene MCarthy has canceled his appearance at the College of Marin writers' conference.

McCarthy, running hard for the Democratic presidential nomination, informed the college yesterday he won't appear next week because he is preparing for the Wisconsin presidential primaries.

But the poet may have lost a few local votes for the politician because his last-minute cancellation has miffed some local supporters, including Jack R. Felson, a director of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Felson had planned a party for the former Senator after his reading Feb. 11.

Replacing McCarthy on the first day of the three-day conference will be Al Young. The actor, magazine editor and novelist will appear at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building Theater.

Earlene Jones, the college's publicist, said fewer than 50 tickets had been sold for the McCarthy appearance alone, but more than 500 tickets for the entire conference.

Russian poet Yevgency Yevtushenko is still scheduled to appear at 8 p.m. Feb. 12 in the college's gym.

New Homeowner Group President

Jana Haehl has been elected president of the Corte Madera Avenue Homeowners Association, the first woman to hold that office in the 15-year history of the association.

Keith Anderson was elected vice president; Virginia Neto, secretary, and Sandra LeFevre, treasurer, according to Mrs. Neto.

No Crime To Compare Leaders

VERONA, Italy (UPI)—It is no crime to compare Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China with Jesus Christ, a court ruled Wednesday.

The court acquitted columnist Augusto Guerriero and the editor of Epoca magazine, Gino Pugnetti, of a charge of contempt of the Roman Catholic religion.

The charges resulted from a letter from a reader published in Guerriero's column. It compared what miracles attributed to Christ with those in China attributed to the thoughts of Mao.

Coins Stolen

Coins, valued at a total of $160, were stolen in a burglary of Spalding's Hobby Center, 800 San Anselmo Avenue, between 5 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. yesterday, San Anselmo police reported today.

'Tuna Boat War' With Ecuador Stumps U.S. Diplomats

BY NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Diplomats pride themselves normally on the conviction that no dispute in foreign affairs is too complicated to yield to patient and imaginative negotiations.

But U.S. experts seem to be stumped on how to resolve the "Tuna Boat War" which has resumed again with Ecuador now that the prize tuna are running again in the Pacific off South America's West Coast.

In the "Tuna Boat War" American fishermen set out from California early each year in search of yellow fin tuna which migrate southwards along South America's Pacific coast. The catches are worth millions.

However, Ecuador — and Chile and Peru, as well — claims jurisdiction over a zone within 200 miles of shore. And when American fishermen sail inside the 200-mile limit, without a license, gunboats are sent out to intercept them. If caught, they are taken into port and fined. On one occasion, a Peruvian boat even fired shots at an American boat.

"This fishing dispute has been going on since 1953," one State Department official observed, "but what made it liveable in the past was that only a small number of American boats were seized. Last year, though, the war escalated and 51 ships were arrested."

The official added: "The pressure now has grown for something to be done.

In recent weeks a number of proposals have been put forward to end the annoyance of intercepts —now almost exclusively involving Ecuadorian boats —with their heavy fines and potential danger.

NEW 'WAR' ZONE — This United Press Telephoto map pinpoints new trouble with Ecuador now that the prize yellow fin tuna are running again in the Pacific Ocean off South America's west coast.

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., has demanded a cut off of all U.S. aid to Ecuador. Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., wants U.S. warships to accompany the tuna fleets.

U.S. envoys have held a series of conversations with Ecuadorian authorities, but to no immediate effect.

Congress is taking a new look at the situation in hearings this week. Charles A. Meyer, assistant secretary of state for Inter-American Affairs, is expected to testify Wednesday on the intricate problems involved in the "Tuna Boat War." Meyer, who led the U.S. delegation to Ecuador in December and this month, will appear before the Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Ecuador has set a price of $10,000 per license, per boat for entering its claimed 200-mile limit. But the U.S. government has steadfastly resisted this solution.

American officials contend that licensing is an inadequate way to preserve the tuna resources. But, more importantly, this government fears that approval of such licensing would imply tacit recognition of Ecuador's claim to control a 200-mile wide sea zone.

The United States currently recognizes only a three-mile territorial sea and the government has told the California fishermen that they are under "no legal obligation" to buy Ecuadorean fishing licenses.

To compensate the fishermen when they get caught and fined, Congress enacted the Fisherman's Protective Act in 1967. Under this legislation, the fishermen are reimbursed for the fines which they are forced to pay the Ecuadorians. Several boats have been seized more than once.

Some of the strongest advocates of a tougher U.S. stand contend that the fines exacted from U.S. boats were providing Ecuador with a major source of revenue. Last year alone, when the "Tuna Boat War" really heated up, reimbursements to tuna boats for fines levied against them totaled $2.5 million.

Congress responded to the Ecuadorian action by enacting legislation which Ecuador has considered offensive because, Ecuadorian officials claim, it amounts to economic sanctions. And they took their case to the predictably sympathetic Organization of American States (OAS).

For example, the Foreign Military Sales Act provides for a suspension of military sales, credits and guarantees for one year when a single seizure occurs. Because of this year's seizures, this provision is now in effect into 1973.

The foreign aid act also provides that certain U.S. assistance programs to be put "under review" in case of a seizure; and the Naval Vessel Loan Extension Act provides for possible recall of ships loaned to Ecuador.

Ecuador's complaint to the OAS about American "economic aggression" received a 22-0 vote of support on Jan. 26, 1971. (the United States abstained from casting a lone dissenting vote).

In February, 1971, Ecuador retaliated by expelling the U.S. military group.

Despite the tensions, the two countries have continued to talk to each other, but the prospects for agreement do not look good anytime soon.

At Buenos Aires in 1969, talks were held, without success, between the United States, Ecuador, Chile and Peru on the fishing problem and the 200-mile zone.

A new effort was made when Robert H. Finch, an adviser to President Nixon, visited Ecuador last November. Finch's visit was quickly followed by two visits by Meyer and an expert U.S. delegation over the past several weeks.

Ecuador told the Americans it would not negotiate o the controversy unless the offensive legislation is repealed. And Congress does not seem to be in any mood for that.

To complicate matters, Ecuador —like the United States —is preparing for its 1972 elections and no Ecuadorian politician could afford to adopt a compromising stance.

The U.S. delegation that visited Ecuador put forward a compromise proposal: Let the U.S. fishermen buy Ecuadorian licenses "under protest" with the provision that their money would be refunded if the 1973 Law of the Sea Conference in Geneva enacts a universal 12-mile limit for all nations, instead of the 200-mile zone.

President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra od Ecuador refused the offer, U.S. officials said, as giving with one hand and taking away with the other.

The United States apparently is now considering whether it would be feasible to encourage U.S. fishermen to buy licenses simply "under protest" —and leave it at that for the moment.

Although Ecuador and nine other Latin American countries have made claims to control a 200-mile wide sea zone, there are indications, officials say, that they might compromise at the Geneva Conference on a 12-mile limit in conjunction with a 188-mile "patrimonial sea."

The "patrimonial sea" would be an area where the ocean resources were regulated —but not as tightly controlled —by the coastal state. The United States is concerned that, if this concept is enacted, such regulation should take account of the needs and interests of foreign nations.

For the time being, the United States seems reluctant to push Ecuador too hard, lest it prejudice the outcome of the 1973 Geneva Conference.

U.S. Birthday Celebration: She's In On Ground Floor

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's observance of its 200th birthday celebration in 1976 will be a means of celebrating its past, honoring its present and setting priorities for its future.

And Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, who made that assessment, is extremely pleased with her appointment as a director of the American Revolution Bicentennial which will approve various plans for celebrations throughout the country.

The Washington State Democrat had no specific suggestions what local events should feature, but in an interview, she spoke of what she believed the general philosophy should be.

THE OBSERVANCES should capture the nation's spirit so that every citizen will want to say, "I'm proud to be an American," she said.

"A lot of what we do is right and a lot is wrong," she said. "You just have to build out of your troubles. I'm proud of my nation, and I'm determined to keep building it.

"We have to make Americans aware again of what we were, what we are and where we're going."

Mrs. Hansen endorses the idea of star-spangled celebrations at events across the country in 1976. She noted that John Adams, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, called for bell-ringing and other joyful signals when that document finally was approved.

Honors should be paid the bedraggled little Revolutionary Army which defeated the most powerful military force in their world, she said, as well as the small group of statesmen courageous enough to shake off Great Britain's tyranny and wise enough to write a Constitution.

SHE POINTED out with amusement that although the first article of the Bill of Rights provides for freedom of the press, history records that reporters were not admitted when the bill was written because "we'd never get anything agreed to."

Mrs. Hansen believes that government must include the young as well as the old. The 56 signers of the Declaration included eight men between 27 and 35, including Thomas Jefferson, 33. At the other end of the range, Benjamin Franklin was 70, and two others were only one year younger.

"I've never been discouraged about patriotism among college students," she said. "Any government needs youth to provide the dynamics, the steam. Older heads will insist on order."

Mrs. Hansen, 64, was elected to the City Council of her home town, Cathlamet, Wash., soon after graduating from the University of Washington in 1930. In 1939 she was elected to the State House of Representatives, where she became the first woman chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee.

When a male colleague challenged her for the chairmanship, she recalled her service as chairman of a highway fact finding committee and as the first woman to become chairman of the Western Interstate Committee on Highway Policy Problems for 11 Western States.

"WHAT EXPERIENCE have you hadin highways?" she said she asked her male contestor. "He gave up," she added.

In 1960 she was elected to fill an unexpired term in Congress, where she became chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee in charge of handing money requests by the Interior Department.

In 1970 she was named chairman of a special Democratic study group which wrote some significant House reform measures, including one to abolish the old rule for automatically elevating committee members with most seniority to chairmanships.

Her husband, Henry A. Hansen, is a retired logger. They have one son, David.

Training Programs For Women Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Betty Friedan, one of the directors of the National Organization for Women, says it is "outrageous" that the government has no job training programs for women "to give them something more meaningful to do than empty bed pans as nurses aides or count school children crossing a street as teachers aides."

She made the comment in testimony Wednesday before the House Select subcommittee on Labor, which is considering the administration's request to consolidate under the Labor Department all job training programs now handled by several agencies.

Women Make Up 80 Pct. Of Toy Firm

When it comes to making toys, mother knows best. That's the opinion of officials of Tonka Toys, a leading manufacturer of toy vehicles.

Tonka's production force for its 500,000-square-foot plant in Mound, Minn., Minneapolis suburb, is 80 per cent women, many of them mothers and grandmothers. Most of them come from farms and small rural communities nearby.

Their officials here believe that women are well suited for the line work of assembling toy trucks, cars and construction vehicles.

"When our ladies put a toy truck together, they're thinking of what their own kids expect from Santa," says Peter M. Wimsatt, vice president and general manager of the toy division.

Tonka's female supervisors agree. Gwenn Cressy, who bosses 200 women as supervisor of final assembly, says, "I have really a fine bunch of people. Women are agile with their hands and that's important in producing quality toys."

Lucy Thurk, a supervisor who started 19 years ago as an assembler, adds, "Women are faster; they have more dexterity in handling small parts."

The women assemblers this year will produce more than 20 million toy vehicles, considerably more than the combined production of all U.S. automotive companies.

In the process, they will use about 21,000 tons of steel — enough to build 35,000 intermediate-size automobiles; 126,000 gallons of paint — enough to paint 20,000 houses; and more than 100 million toy-sized tires.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Mother Is On The Wrong Track Over 'Jesus Christ Superstar'

DEAR SUE:

I saved up my money to buy my favorite album, "Jesus Christ Superstar." The music is terrific.

My mother blew her stack. She said if I ever brought that trash into the house she'd break it over my head. I asked, "Is it because we're Jewish?" and she said, "definitely not." But she won't discuss it any further.

She never restricted my music before, though she often makes fun of it, and sometimes shouts, "turn that garbage off," when I'm listening to my favorite teen-ager radio station — though she hears the very same "garbage" on her favorite station.

How can I convince her "Superstar" is great stuff? — S.Z.

DEAR S.:

Maybe your mother thinks (but won't admit) that "Superstar" would influence you away from your religion. She's probably heard about all those "subversive" songs on drugs, sex, etc. and how they "corrupt" kids, so she suspects anything with a "message."

Please tell her for me that I've yet to see anyone change his or her thinking just because of a few lyrics.

Or maybe she's heard that "Jesus Christ Superstar" is "sacrilegious." Honest, it isn't. I've not only seen the rock opera but have the album, and while there are funny parts all through the play, the character of Jesus is the strong one and the others are the jokers. It's a beautiful show —but I'm sure that when the producers were putting it together, they were a little scared because they knew many people — like your mother — would be putting it down without giving it a real chance.

The music sort of seeps inside you and you find yourself singing it later and feeling good. Perhaps your mother would too, if she'd give it a try. — SUE

DEAR HELEN:

Your daughter Kathy rightly said the history of "The Desiderata" is in dispute. It has been written often that the beautiful piece of blank verse was found inscribed on the wall of Old St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, dated 1692.

A fellow teacher became interested and spent several hours in the St. Paul Public Library researching the correct author. She found that "Desiderata" is attributed to poet Max Ehrmann, who died in 1945. Composed about 45 years ago, it was originally entitled "A Prayer" and was included in his works published by Bruce Humphries Publishers.

I enjoy your Generation Rap. — A RETIRED TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER:

Thanks for your information and your support.

Incidentally, "Desiderata" is now a fast-selling Les Crane record —and the label reads, "Produced by Fred Werner and Les Crane for Old St. Paul Productions." — HELEN

DEAR SUE:

What's a good put-down for a know-it-all-male chauvinist who insists that he's going to marry me and train these "crazy equality" things out of my head? — TIRED OF WALKING 10 STEPS BEHIND

DEAR TIRED:

How about, "I don't dig 'animal husbandry.' " — SUE

DEAR HELEN:

What do you personally think of this new fad for baggy overalls — especially for girls? — U.G.

DEAR U.:

Your signature says it: Ugg. But this, too, will pass, so why fight it? — HELEN

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal., if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Televison news reporter Andrea Boggs will become the bride of Douglas B. Gardner of Walnut Creek on Feb. 26 at the San Francisco Internation al Airport just before departing for Melbourne, Australia.

The ceremony will be performed by Judge Richard Arnason, who is the presiding judge for the pre-trial proceedings for Angela Davis. Andrea's final assignment as a news reporter for KTVU Channel 2 is coverage of the hearings in San Jose.

The future bridegroom is a widower with three teen-age children. He has been appointed general manager of the Techtron Division of Varian Associates in Springvale, Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lanfranco of Fresno are Andrea's parents. She lived in Mill Valley until moving to Concord last year.

CHRISTOPHER J. HEGARTY of Belvedere was taken on a private tour of NASA facilities at Cape Kennedy, which included a talk with the astronauts as they rehearsed the next moon walk on a simulated moon surface at the center.

The Hegartys are at home following the week's stay in Palm Beach. In Florida for a speaking engagement, Hegarty also had an opportunity to discuss extra sensory perception with astronaut Ed Mitchell, who, like Hegarty, has an intense interest in the subject.

EMMA LOUISE Church Dixon of Xenia, Ohio, is visiting her niece, Eleanor Louise Church of San Anselmo, and plans to stay for about a month. She is having a reunion with friends she has not seen since her last visit here nine years ago.

A THREE-months' trip to South America ended Sunday when Irving Links returned to his home in Novato.

The trip included a visit with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Links of Lima, Peru, and their son, Edward. They fished many lakes and rivers in South America, and Irving Links also traveled to Santiago, Chile, and to the north of the Straits of Magellan.

50 Years Together For Trefeils

Leon and Rose Trefeil were married 50 years ago in France, where both were born and reared in small country villages just five miles apart.

Their wedding on Jan. 28, 1922, followed a long courtship interrupted while he served in the French army during World War I. Two months after their marriage the bride and bridegroom came to San Francisco for a two-week visit, a gift of her uncle.

"It was a honeymoon, but as soon as we got here my husband said, 'This is it. We're never going back,'" Mrs. Trefeil said.

They settled in San Francisco, where they had apartment houses and hotels, and lived there until moving to Santa Rosa in 1953. They owned a motel in Santa Rosa for 11 years and then retired eight year ago and moved to Woodacre to be near their daughter, Renee, who lives in Forest Knolls with her husband James Poppe and their sons, Paul, 16, Ronald, 14, and Mark, 7.

The Trefeils have many relatives in France. They visit them every other year, and Mrs. Trefeil said they plan a trip this year in May.

Both of the Trefeils enjoy fishing and hunting. They also enjoy gardening. He tends the vegetables, she tends the flowers.

It's Important

Exercise is important to mental health as well as physical. Our push-button civilization requires less and less muscular activity. A planned exercise program, combined with calorie counting, will put you on the fit side.

Deadline Passes On April Ballot

Fourteen more filings today swelled the list of city council candidates for the April 11 municipal elections in Marin and Southern Sonoma County. City clerks were braced for a last-minute rush of other candidates trying to beat the noon deadline for filing completed nomination petitions.

Election contests were certain in each of the 10 Marin cities and two Southern Sonoma cities involved.

Sausalito had the most crowded ballot, with seven men and three women officially competing for three council seats. Novato and Rohnert Park each had nine names on the ballot, with some candidjtes' papers still not returned by midmorning.

In Novato, attorney Dorothy P. Young, announced today she was running. She was rushing to obtain voters' signatures on her nomination petition so she could become the tenth name — and only woman —on the city council ballot.

Filings today and late yesterday included Thomas I. Zaragoza in Corte Madera; Albert E. Gateley and previously unannounced candidates Urban M. Nielsen and Glenn B. Meagher in Fairfax; incumbent William G. Fleckles and challengers Jane Epidendio and Elizabeth Johnson in Larkspur; Anthony M. Gullatta in Novato; Arthur F. Hollingsworth Jr. in Rohnert Park; incumbent John F. Chase and challengers Tracy Van Voorhees and Peter B. Valentine in Ross; Richard A. Raznikoff in San Anselmo and Leonard Rappa in Sausalito.

City clerks in Belvedere, Cotati, Mill Valley and Tiburon reported no filings or issuance of nomination papers by midmorning.

Larkspur City Councilman Fleckles formally announced his candidacy as he filed for reelection. He pointed out that the city avoided general tax rate increases during his previous term, and called for rigid control over development of the city's open space along the North Ridge, Little King Mountain and the Nortpwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Fleckles also urged annexation of all of Point San Quentin and building a new police headquarters as high-priority items for Larkspur. He said he had voted for a moratorium on apartment building in the city, he did so because he wanted to see new controls adopted for the R-3 zones.

Fleckles, 42, lives at 331 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, with his wife and three children. He is an attorney practicing in San Francisco.

Last-minute Larkspur candidate Jane Epidendio ran unsuccessfully for the council in 1960 and 1966. Mrs: Epidendio, 56, lives at 73 Via La Brisa with her husband Ernest, owner of a Larkspur market. They have two grown sons.

"I represent the property owners," she declared today, arguing that not enough landowners and too many tenants are heard in city debates on development. "We have been here for so many years I know what is good for Larkspur," she said.

The only information available9on Larkspur's third candidate, Elizabeth Johnson, was that she is 28, a law student, and lives on the Greenbrae Boardwalk.

San Anselmo candidate Raznikov filed for election shortly after changing his registration from San Rafael to San Anselmo. The 26-year-old law student ran unsuccessfully for mayor in San Rafael last year. He now lives at 51 Ross Avenue.

No information was available at press time on Fairfax candidates Nielsen and Meagher and Sausalito candidate Rappa.

Rohnert Park got its ninth city council candidate yesterday when Hollingsworth, an insurance agent, filed nomination papers.

Hollingsworth, 34, is an agent for Farmers Insurance. He has lived in Rohnert Park for 11 years where he is a member of the board of directors of the Rohnert Park Men's Club, the Lions Club and was past president of the Rohnert Park Hospital Foundation.

He attended Santa Rosa Junior College and San Francisco City College to study business administration. He and his wife, Sandra, and seven children live at 442 Alta Avenue.

Gullotta, 55, of 209 Grande Vista, assistant elections officer for Marin County, became the ninth official candidate for the Novato City Council.

Gullotta, an 11-year resident of Novato, has been working for the county since 1968, and formerly was a real estate representative for American Machine and Foundry Co. in San Francisco.

He is grand knight of Council 3950, Knights of Columbus, in Novato, and past district grand knight.

Newsman Is Back At San Quentin

A state prison parolee who wrote columns while in San Quentin and became city editor of a Marin weekly newspaper after his release, was returned yesterday to prison for an attempted robbery.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court said, however, that Donald Clayton Nivens, 37, of Larkspur, could still make a contribution to society, even while incarcerated.

McGuire said he intended to write a letter to the department of corrections about Nivens describing his background. He also ordered Nivens to be returned to court May 22 for a report on his progress.

Nivens, who has served time on three earlier convictions, at one time wrote "Bastile by the Bay" a column in the San Quentin News. His writing was widely quoted in other publications and after his release on parole last year, he was hired as city editor of the Ebb Tide.

After a few months, he ran into trouble again and was charged with attempting to rob a woman in a San Rafael parking lot last August. He later pleaded guilty to this charge.

Embattled Agency's Shortcomings Cited

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Division of Industrial Safety—under fire for alleged laxness in protecting workmen —is plagued by low morale and inadequate manpower, money and equipment, a Reagan administration report claims.

Released by the office of Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday, the 46-page study said most of the critical responses it received from employes about operation of the division cited "low employe morale."

The document, which tended to support Democratic criticism of the agency charged with ensuring that Californians work under safe conditions, resulted from an investigation conducted by the state Department of Finance.

Copies of the report were sent to the governor, who ordered the investigation last month, and to a "fact-finding committee" of private citizens which also is looking into the embattled division.

In a cover letter, Agriculture and Services Agency Secretary Earl Coke—under whose jurisdiction the safety division falls —said Reagan is "deeply concerned" about the situation and "has asked me to assume full responsibility for whatever corrective action may be necessary."

"Despite the shameful, politically motivated statements of some so-called legislative leaders," Coke told the citizens, "let me assure you that this administration will not compromise the integrity of the division's obligation for providing safe working conditions for the citizens of California."

Investigations of the department were triggered by a series of hearings by the Select Committee on Industrial Safety, chaired by Assembly Democratic leader Jack Fenton of Montebello. The investigations led to Reagan last week accepting the resignation of division chief Jack F. Hatton.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti blamed the Reagan administration last week for the deaths of 17 workers in last year's Sylmar Tunnel explosion in Los Angeles and called for the resignations of the state's three top safety officials.

The Finance Department report did not go into Moretti's charges.

Coke noted the finance department's investigation pointed out "ineffective internal communications and other management deficiencies within the division."

He also said there were "some areas where manpower may be inadequate to handle the workload" and added "several" unfilled positions will now be filled "immediately." He indicated some administrative personnel may be ordered into the field.

Coke said budgeting for state health and safety programs have been "complicated" by the "uncertain aspects of federal funding" available under provisions of the new Occupational Safety and Health Act.

"However," Coke added, "it now appears that at least $2 million in additional federal funds can reasonably be expected during fiscal 1972-73."

Fenton's committee accused the dcvision of "lack of enforcement, inefficient and improper administration, serious morale problems, an inadequate education program and inadequate manpower."

It reported that with 400,000 California employers to inspect, the division only has 179 men in the field. Its total staff, including, clerks and secretaries, is 286—compared to 305 when Reagan took office in 1967.

The lengthy report also touched on charges by Fenton and Moretti that the division was employer-oriented. It cited interviews with several division field inspectors who complained that superiors did not follow their recommendations to prosecute violators of the law. One engineer called the division "a paper tiger."

The report said there was a "general feeling" among division employes that "all unsafe conditions are not always reported."

"This was due to their (the employes') anticipated lack of management support," the document said.

The report also claimed that:

—Morale in the construction section is "exceedingly low." It said inspectors believe that punitive actions against employers who deviate from safety regulations have sunk to such a low level that the division has become a "paper tiger."

— The major complaints among employes interviewed in the electrical section was "excess workload for the amount of staff assigned."

—Backlogs of inspections, increased workload, and recruiting problems impede program "accomplishments" in the division's elevator section.

—The consensus of the safety engineers is that the industrial section, which is responsible for the safety of employees in industrial plants and the mineral industries, is "grossly understaffed."

The report concluded there is widespread "low employe morale."

SHE FLAYS A GUNMAN WITH WORDS

Theresa T. Alfsen of San Rafael doesn't mince words with punks.

She was sitting in her parked car last night near the San Rafael Yacht Harbor watching the boats, she told San Rafael police, when a man knocked on the car window, pointed a gun at her face and demanded her purse.

"You go to hell, you bastard," she replied, starting the car and leaving the stunned would-be bandit behind.

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Nighttime fishing for cusk, a fish related to the cod, will be allowed at Cross Lake in Aroostook County, but live bait may not be used, the state Fish and Game Department said.

Counts Dropped Against Counsel For Cook County

CHICAGO (UPI)—Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan was removed today as a defendant in damage suits totaling more than $16 million stemming from the Dec. 4, 1969, raid in which two Black Panthers were killed.

U.S. District Court Senior Judge Joseph Sam Perry took the action hours before Hanrahan and 13 other law officers were to be arraigned on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice by hindering the investigation into the raid.

Perry removed as defendants everyone except the 14 policemen—12 of whom were to be arraigned today—who conducted the raid. He dismissed the four suits that were consolidated into one, but gave the survivors of the raid and the relatives of slain Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark 30 days to file new suits.

Perry dismissed as defendants in the civil suit Hanrahan, three of his assistants, Mayor Richard J. Daley, Police Superintendent James B. Conlisk Jr.—named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the criminal suit against Hanrahan—the city of Chicago, Cook County and eight policemen who worked in the crime laboratory and the Internal Affairs Division.

Perry said he was dismissing the suits because they were "broad" and "without any support of the facts alleged."

The civil suits were filed after Chicago police assigned to Hanrahan's office, on what was called a "weapons raid," entered the West Side headquarters of the Black Panther party Dec. 4, 1969, and killed the two Panther leaders.

Circuit Court Judge Philip Romiti ruled Wednesday Hanrahan, one assistant and 12 policemen had to stand trial for conspiring to obstruct justice. The judge, dismissing defense attorneys' attempts to have the charges quashed, ended months of legal maneuvers.

Bound Over On Murder

Russell Gilbert Wonnacott, 48, of Eureka, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of murdering his estranged wife's boyfriend. He is to appear in superior court Feb. 14.

Wonnacott is charged with the fatal shooting of Charles Patrick Ely, 37, of San Rafael, Nov. 13. The shooting occurred in Wonnacott's room at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael after Wonnacott, his wife and their two children and Ely had dinner at the hotel.

Paints Bright CATV Future

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A cable television executive said Tuesday that proposed federal rules easing restrictions on his industry would enable it to more than double in size the next three to five years.

The comment was made by Monroe M. Rifkin, 41, president of the Denver-based American Television and Communications Corp., before the Security Analysts of San Francisco.

Rifkin said that in the distant future he saw the nationwide CATV network as the backbone of a multi-purpose two-way communications system offering many services behind expanded or improved TV reception.

Ozawa Will Add Boston To His Symphonic Realm

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seiji Ozawa, the diminutive, colorful conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, said yesterday he would add the Boston Symphony to his responsibilities in an arrangement putting him at the helm of two of the country's major orchestras.

"I am not changing my job at all," the 36-year-old Japanese-born conductor said in an address to his San Francisco musicians.

"It took me two months to decide, but I know now that I can do it ... I need your help and your cooperation."

Ozawa said he would take over the music directorship of the Boston Symphony beginning with the 1973-74 season, but will drastically cut down his North American guest appearances in order to maintain his responsibilities in San Francisco.

San Francisco is considered one of the country's most improved orchestras in the last 10 years, and Boston is a firstline symphony, one of the top five in the nation.

Ozawa said he, his wife Vera and their new daughter Seira, born Dec. 29, will continue to live in San Francisco, and he intends to remain after his present contract ends in 1976.

He said he would appear briefly in Boston next season as music adviser and will continue to serve as co-artistic director of the Tanglewood Music Festival, the Boston Symphony's summer home, a post he has held since 1970.

Ozawa said he would devote equal time to each of the American orchestras starting with the 1973-74 season.

The diminutive Ozawa took over the San Francisco Symphony in the 1970-71 season and has been a resounding success, with his raffish image, energetic style on the podium and his thick, shoulder-length black hair.

Sweet Revenge For Hotel Owner

HOUSTON (UPI)—J.A. Singleterry wasn't allowed to park his taxi in front of the William Penn Hotel during the 1950s.

"Black drivers had to park across the street," he said.

Today, Singleterry, 48, an elementary school dropout, owns the 10-story, 150 room hotel. Now a real estate dealer, he announced Wednesday he had purchased the 47-year-old hotel for $500,000 and will spend another $500,000 remodeling it.

Singleterry, a native of Conroe, Tex., dropped out of the seventh grade and later was a taxi driver. He sold real estate on the side and went into the business fulltime in 1958.

Prime Minister To Leave Office

WELLINGTON, New Zeland (UPI)—Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake today announced his forthcoming retirement and said he would be succeeded by Deputy Prime Minister John Marshall.

Holyoake's announcement followed a government parliamentary caucus which was held after weeks of speculation that Holyoake, 65, wanted to resign in time to give his sucessor time to become familiar with the office before the November election.

Holyoake gave no date for stepping down.

Bobby Teal and his orchestra will furnish music. Tickets are available at all San Rafael fire stations.

'The Hot Rock'

Something Lacking In New Jewel Film

By LOUISE SWEENEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

People who go to movies for a living — like popcorn salesladies and critics — tend to have file cabinets in their heads. New films are dropped into the most comfortable slot.

A new film called "The Hot Rock" went right into the jewel-caper file, along with that classic "Topkapi" and dozens of others including "The Sicilian Clan." But it's a wriggly film and I'm not sure it will stay there.

"The Hot Rock" is in a sense, "Topkapi" with more giggles. Yes, it is a film about a jewel heist, in this case a diamond as big as a ping-pong ball which is locked in a tall glass case apparently bolted to the ground and patrolled round the clock by the guards of the Brooklyn Museum.

The trick, in this film written by William Goldman from Donald E. Westlake's novel, is to get the hot rock out of the case and into the brooding hands of a UN delegate named Dr. Amusa (Moses Gunn), who claims his African countrymen rightfully own it anyway. But the quartet of thieves he hires (Robert Redford, George Segal, Ron Leibman, Paul Sand) have a flair for bungling. Yes, that is George Segal locked away with the rock in the case.

Peter Yates as a director is so associated with the snapping excitment of "Bullitt" that Yates fans may not be prepared for frequent lack of tension in "The Hot Rock." It springs from its loose, spoofy tracking of the gang; at times the film has a feeling like Woody Allen's robbery comedy, "Take the Money and Run."

But there is one tingly chase scene, in which the gang breaks into a prison to retrieve one of their members in a Bentley. A nice touch, but then they drive the Bentley into a waiting moving van and we saw all that just a few months ago in "The Anderson Tapes." Directors of heist films can't be too careful about making their getaways original.

Yates does well, though, in a terrific helicopter sequence, with some of the most exciting and dizzying footage in a film of this kind — Leibman as a kind of Hertz U-drive-it pilot at the wheel for the first time, the helicopter fluttering like a mad moth around the tops of New York skyscrapers.

"The Hot Rock" is an amiably entertaining film, not a great one like "The Maltese Falcon" or a sizzler like "The French Connection" or a thriller like "Z." has the charm of its stars: Redford, compelling to watch even in a role not quite right for him, as the nervous mastermind of the burglary; Segal, conning the world with a wide larcenous smile. In fact, "The Hot Rock" is based on the dubious premise that these robbers are just nice guys who happen to be in the diamond business; in this film, crime apparently pays.

There is also a deft piece of acting by Zero Mostel; he comes on looking like Federico Fellini playing the father of my son, the jewel thief.

"The Hot Rock" is one of the few films right now which are simply amusement — it pulls off its capers without a single really violent scene or without the smut that muddies up some other GP films. It's worth seeing (and listening to, with a tense score by Quincy Jones).

GOP Group To Screen Hopefuls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 40-member fault-finding committee of the California Republican Assembly will screen presidential candidates before the group's endorsing convention April 7-9 in Palo Alto.

Hugh S. Koford, president of the conservative Republican group, said Wednesday the three current Republican presidential candidates, Richard M. Nixon, Paul N. McCloskey and Rep. John M. Ashbrook, will be invited to address the convention.

A two-thirds vote is needed for endorsement. The CRA has about 12,500 members.

Water Bond Rejected For June Ballot

North Marin County Water District directors have rejected a proposal by director George A. Amaroli to call a $2.5-million bond election in conjunction with the June 6 primary.

A $1.6-million bond measure to finance facilities to deliver additional Russian River water failed last November and directors discussed calling another election Tuesday night, reported Dist. Mgr. Eugene S. Churchill.

The problem is that because of an uncertain financial picture in the Sonoma County Water Agency, the contracting agency, no specific project is on tap, Churchill said. Directors voted 3-2, with William Wright abstaining and Patrick H. Heffernan dissenting, to consider a bond measure with wording to the effect that bonds would be canceled if unused, Churchill reported. It will be discussed at the board meeting Feb. 15.

In other business, directors approved staff work on an interim project — two wells, an additional tie line and a pumping station, an adjunct to the present delivery system — estimated to cost the district $180,000.

The United States declared war on Germany and Italy Dec. 11, 1941.

Big Hike In Budgets Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— City departments have asked for an $88.5 million increase in their budgets, officials reported Tuesday.

The departments asked that the current spending level be boosted from $559.7 million to $648.2 million. The proposal does not include a budget for the school system.

The Board of Supervisors traditionally trims the department proposals.

Closer School-City Relations Needed

An unusual meeting of the San Rafael City Council was held Monday night.

There was no excitement. No earth-shaking pronouncements were made. The city was not launched in any new direction. There wasn't even a confrontation.

The unusual feature was that this was a joint meeting of the city council and the San Rafael Board of Education, which under the city charter is a branch of city government. All 10 members of council and board were present.

WHAT BROUGHT THEM together was a board of education request for a city after-school recreation program at Santa Venetia Middle School, which is within San Rafael Elementary School District but outside the city limits. The question involved was whether city taxpayers should fund a program not in the city.

School board members and city councilmen did not see eye-to-eye on the matter; but after some discussion they agreed that city and school district share the costs 50-50. They then went on to a few other matters of joint city-school board interest, none of which produced any argument.

It has been years since city council and board of education sat down to discuss joint interests. We don't recall another joint meeting at which all members were present.

THIS, WE THINK, is unfortunate. In San Rafael — and in other cities — there are many matters that need to be handled cooperatively by city and school administrations.

The location of a new school may have considerable effect on traffic patterns. Conversely, a change in the city's zoning ordinance may sharply affect a school.

Traffic control must — or should — take into account school bus routes as well as the routes that children walk to and from school.

Night football games sometimes pose a police problem. How the school day is scheduled may affect traffic congestion.

These are but a few of many matters that concern both city and school district. In fact, the schools form so important and integral a part of the city that few things they do fail to have some impact on city government or services.

AT THE CLOSE of the joint session Monday, a couple of the board of education members remarked, "Maybe we should do this every year."

That is not a bad idea. But it may not be quite enough.

Once a year probably is as often as the two bodies need 'o hold a joint meeting. But it would be beneficial to both — and thereby to the residents — if the school administration would delegate an observer to attend all city council meetings and report back to the board of education, and the council would in turn delegate someone from City Hall to attend all board of education meetings and report to the council.

Fall Primary Elections Would Reduce Excessive Campaign Costs

By EARL G. WATERS

If ever there was a golden opportunity to reduce campaign costs for state offices, the Legislature has it this session.

Expenses coincident to seeking public office have skyrocketed in the past two decades, largely because of factors other than the cost of living index.

The innovation of television campaigning accounts for a measure of this price rise, but the growth of population had made it necessary to resort to high-cost methods.

In the good old days candidates for the Legislature, and most other offices, could wage successful campaigns with little money. In the first place the candidates were usually well known in their districts. There wasn't the need to spend huge sums to achieve identity. Candidates depended upon the free publicity they could get through the newspapers, volunteer workers, some handout material, a few billboards, doorbell ringing, and some neighborhood political meetings.

NOW, THE OLD methods no longer work. There are too many people. The ringing of doorbells cannot be achieved by the candidate or volunteer workers. Billboards are vanishing under the guns of ecology. People are too busy watching football or other TV fare to attend town meetings. These are things which cannot be changed. The highly developed techniques of commercial advertising must be used. And this is a costly method.

But one thing that can be changed is the time involved in campaigning under the present election system. To undertake a campaign one must put together an organization early in March in preparation for the June primary. Victors in that election must maintain their organizations, and all the costs which go with them, until the November general election.

That there is no need for this long-drawn-out campaign is established in history. In earlier years the direct primary was always held in late August or early September. It was changed to June during WW II to permit men overseas to vote.

ASSEMBLYMAN JERRY Lewis, a student of government, is seeking to restore the fall primary elections. This would cut campaigns by at least three months, save money, and, for those in office, require less time away from their posts.

As Lewis says, "A shorter campaign would be less strain on the public's patience. The issues would be crystallized by the necessity for conciseness. To the valid arguments for this which have been made we now have an additional and, I feel, most compelling one. We have a responsibility to the people to elect representatives from districts that conform to the law."

Lewis' reference is to the failure of the Legislature to reapportion the districts in time for the June primary. The idea of postponing the primary was suggested by the Supreme Court in its recent decision.

Past opposition to returning the primary to the fall has been largely from county clerks. Also involved is the presidential primary which must be held before the national party conventions.

In Lewis' plan the presidential primary would continue to be held in June. Some local ballot propositions could be consolidated with it. "This would clear the decks for the direct primary and general elections," he says. "It would shorten the ballot and remove other issues from the important business of selecting legislative representation."

Today is Thursday, Feb. 3, the 34th day of 1972.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this day in history:

In 1913, the 16th amendment —covering income tax-became a part of the Constitution after ratification by Wyoming.

In 1917 the United States broke off diplomatic relations with Germany after that nation announced unrestricted submarine warfare.

In 1924 Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington. He was the 28th president of the United States.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Recognize China? Sure, And Cuba Too

What is all this flap about recognizing China? We recognize Russia, Spain, Haiti. Which brings me to the point. Why not recognize Cuba? 'Twould stop skyjacking. It is as close to home as Haiti. Why not Bangladesh?

If people accept that type of government, let them. It is their lives to live not ours.

Bangladesh Killings Likened To Buchenwald

Regardless of personal religious or non-religious beliefs, as a member of humanity, I must speak out loud and clear and try and try to have my protest heard.

In April, 1945, when I was 11, I heard and saw (via newsreels) Buchenwald and other "labor camps" set up, primarily, for mass murder. Over three million human beings, men, women and children, of the Jewish faith paid with their lives to appease the appetites of the "monsters" of Germany. These "monsters" were not monsters; they were human beings acting in a ing in a monstrous way. They were huof the "Nazi" faith.

Less than 30 years later, I hear and see (via television and newspapers) of another "Buchenwald". Again, we do not have "monsters" as such, only other human beings, again, acting in a monstrous way. This time it isn't over three million people, it is "only" 100,000 men, women, and children thus far. Is the Bangladesh people to be the "Jews" of the '70s? Are we, of this time, going to wait until we hear and see the figures rise above a million before we feel the horror of it all? Is not one man, woman, or child murdered in this fashion enough to set us speaking now, or are we, again, to wait until we hear "three until we hear "three million"? . . .

Attorney Alleges Inconsistency By I-J

With reference to your editorial of Jan. 27, entitled "Saving Environment Becomes Misnomer", I am inclined to think it should have been entitled "The Independent-Journal Becomes Misnomer".

For all the preaching that your column has done in the past many years about government being responsible to the people, I am astounded at your lack of consistency. It is your paper which has consumed so many column inches of space, self-righteously criticizing government, especially local agencies here in Marin, for not following the law when public meetings have been held, which you believed to be in violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act. Your editorial columns have saturated our community with the principle that government is just as obligated to obey the law as a private individual, if not more so.

Now you are telling your readers that there are exceptions to the principle, that in certain instances it is acceptable, by your standards, for government to move ahead without regard to the law. You have chosen to criticize members of the community who have elected to go to court for a judicial determination as to the legal obligations of a certain state agency, namely the Division of Highways. Your criticism, I find not only inconsistent, but arrogant and insulting . . .

The environmental factors related to the proposed 5.2 mile bypass are too numerous to mention here, however, they reach far beyond your simplistic statement that E.L.F. is only concerned with "hillside cuts." Next time please think before you write such irresponsible material.

(The Independent-Journal did not and does not question the right of attorney Forest's committee or anybody else to go to court. It does question whether the damage to the environment of Novato through the highway bypass plan is comparable to the damage caused by further delay in getting the highway off that city's main street. — Editor.)

Suggests Improvement In Service Contracts

I wonder if there is a way for stores who sell appliances, especially TV and radios, to extend in their contract, under the time of their guarantee, that if a failure of set during this time, we will fix it, but no longer than two weeks. If not done in this time, a spare set will replace yours until the other is returned.

Killing Of Animals Shocks Movie Viewer

Last night we went to see the movie "American Wildreness" at the Playhouse in Tiburon, which was much publicized for its splendor regarding nature, wild life etc.

Well, after the movie was over, nearly everybody was in shock viewing the horror, that was not publicized, namely the killing of wild life.

This movie has been advertised as a "true life adventure for the entire family" and has been rated "G" so the audience consisted of many children ranging from age 5 and up.

My 10-year-old son was very upset, so I can imagine how the younger children must have felt. Of course I have no control over the kind of movies being made today, however, in most cases you have a pretty good idea what it is all about.

In this instance, however, I am deeply shocked about the deceitful advertising for this movie and the shameful way of luring families with their little children to the theater.

I lost count of the many splendid animals that were hunted down and shot, not speaking of the grand finale, hunting down a polar bear in whom they pumped countless bullets to kill it, then skinning it on the spot, which was absolutely gory . . .

Deficit Predictions Contradict 'Success'

Mr. Peterzell's success story in the I-J of the Golden Gate Bridge District's new bus system is frightfully funny if one considers that (1) the finance committee of the Golden Gate Bridge District in December openly estimated an annual deficit of about $3 million of which $800,000 would be recovered by discontinuing the commuters discount book. This increase of 25 per cent for the commuter is far in excess of President Nixon's 2.5 per cent; (2) after two weeks of running the buses the deficit estimate for future years had increased by a cool 36.7 per cent (from $3 million to $4.1 million); (3) after three weeks of running the buses the auditor of the Golden Gate Bridge District revised the deficit projection to $21 million which is 700 per cent above the estimate of the finance committee. No one really knows how large these deficits are going to be but if one accepts the current population of Marin County at 200,000 anyone can calculate that a family of four may end up paying an additional $400 per year in taxes in Marin County to support the Golden Gate Bridge District. Is there going to be a special sales tax and/or will the commuter simply find out one of these mornings when passing the toll gate that the "bridge tax" went up by a substantial amount?

The people of Marin County are entitled to know how these deficits will be met before any further commitments of funds for new buses and ferries are made.

'DEFICIT' Is Strange Device On Congressman Ashbrook's Banner

WASHINGTON — Through New Hampshire's snow and ice the banner with the strange device sends a slight shudder down Republican spines. The word on Rep. John Ashbrook's banner is "deficit," spelled out in great big letters to match the three-year Nixon red ink of $87 billion.

The six-term congressman from Ohio, running in the Republican primaries in both New Hampshire and Florida, says he doesn't want to force the President to get out. He merely wants to persuade him to return to the faith of his Republican forebears and the campaign promises he made in 1968. It is a lonely exercise that seems likely to have only a limited result.

In a speech in the House in December, now being circulated around the country, Ashbrook added up the '68 promises both on domestic and foreign policy and found the President woefully wanting. Four years ago he was opposed to wage-and-price controls, for dispersal of federal power, attacked the idea of a guaranteed annual income, promised an end to the surtax. On foreign policy he said Communist China should neither be admitted to the United Nations nor granted American recognition until it became law-abiding, called for strategic superiority for America, opposed credits to nations dealing with North Vietnam.

BUT AT REPUBLICAN National Headquarters here, the Ashbrook threat is not taken very seriously. Despite his highly vocal conservative support, it would be surprising if he got 10 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire. This dcffers radically from his own story, since he claims that hundreds of supporters are rallying to his cause with both money and a promise of votes. As Sen. Barry Goldwater puts it to his fellow conservatives, "What is the alternative?"

One chunk of the huge Nixon budget will encourage the right wing to stay in the Republican fold. Defense spending is to rise by $6.3 billion to a total of $83.4 billion. Secy. of Defense Melvin R. Laird calls this "the absolute minimum to safeguard our national security."

This means that the big munitions makers will get along very well, thank you. They are almost without exception Republicans, and when the hat is passed to finance the Nixon campaign their generosity can be counted on.

ONE OF THE NUMEROUS right-wing splinter groups, called "Republicans for Victory in '72," appeals for funds to convince the President that "he should alert the American people to the Soviet military threat and that he should adopt a policy of military superiority." One of the co-chairmen of "Republicans for Victory" is Lawrence J. Meisel of St. Louis, former Missouri Republican finance chairman and a former member of the party's national finance committee. Like many other splinter groups, they are circulating the basic Ashbrook speech.

The opposition on the right extends all the way from the far-out extremists to conservatives genuinely concerned over the trend of the second Republican administration to come to power in 40 years. It includes ideologues such as William Buckley who is pledged to Ashbrook. But while their rhetoric, as in Buckley's National Review, delights the conservatives for the most part, they have no political base and little leverage on the voters.

ALONG WITH the President and Ashbrook, a third Republican is competing for votes in the New Hampshire primary. Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey Jr., challenging Mr. Nixon on the left, seeks to rally the young opposed to the Vietnam war. Republican strategists here rate McCloskey's prospects lower than those of Ashbrook in a state essentially conservative.

Yet privately they concede that if the two should poll a total of 20 to 25 per cent of the primary vote it would have a dampening effect on the campaign in the fall. No one can forget the upset that Eugene McCarthy pulled when he went into New Hampshire four years ago and won 42 per cent against 48 per cent for President Lyndon B. Johnson. That memory haunts the snowy slopes of the first state to go to the polls in this uncertain year.

Big Cleanup In Small Town — And No Bureaucratic Red Tape

One advantage of living in a small town is that problems are on a human scale.

They can be tackled and solved through voluntary cooperation without all the folderol, expense and delay that usually attend a government program.

When people just pitch in and work together on problems of common concern, they not only get results quicker and cheaper. They also build a sense of community —something that is lacking in many big cities today.

A CASE IN POINT is the way our town cleaned itself up after a recent storm.

High winds and freezing rain took a terrible toll of the great oaks, magnolias and pines that are the particular pride of our community. Streets, parks and the yards of private homes were littered with shattered branches. It was an unsightly, heart-breaking mess.

The municipal agencies responsible for street maintenance and trash removal did their best to cope with the huge clean-up job. But it soon became apparent that a larger community effort was needed.

First, the chamber asked business firms to provide trucks and drivers each Saturday for four weeks. They agreed to do so, at their own expense.

Next, the chamber approached student leaders at our college. Would they try to recruit some able-bodied young volunteers to devote four Saturdays to gathering up and hauling away the debris left by the storm? They would and they did.

Then the high school kids got in the act, turning out in great numbers to help with the hard manual labor.

For four consecutive Saturdays, the young peope worked from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., with a brief midday break for box lunches prepared by women's organizations.

Other people, too old to contribute physical labor, wanted to have some part in the project. So the chamber of commerce made the happy suggestion that they kick in a little money to hire a band and provide refreshments for a dance for the young workers at the conclusion of the project.

That's how we got our town cleaned up.

We accomplished something else in the process that may be even more important in the long run. We closed, at least temporarily, the generation gap.

After watching the tremendous job done by those high school and college students — and the cheerful competence with which they went about it —this community is in no mood to listen to talk about today's youth being lazy and irresponsible.

In fact, if you make nasty cracks about young people these days, you are apt to get a middle-aged fist in the mouth.

I-J PHOTOGRAPHER'S NOTEBOOK

By JIM KEAN

Photographer-Fireman Brings Understanding By Visual Means

It wasn't very long ago when photographers were expected to do little more than make pictures, usually at the direction of others — pictures made to fit into a theme of words already written, pictures to fill a given space left in a layout as a "reader-arresting" item to go with the story.

National magazines first pioneered a freedom of expression with small cameras that personalized a product that everyone, especially the viewer, has come to recognize as the "being there" part of modern visual reporting.

IT'S QUITE USUAL to see news photographers arrive on stories dripping with cameras, each with its own special purpose, ever-ready to capture just the special moment that will tell the story a little better than just the moment before. The technique works well with news photographers and with firemen too —especially a fireman who happens to be named Chet Born, official photographer for the San Francisco Fire Department who spoke to a gathering of the Northern California Firemen's Association recently at Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Mr. Born's credentials are very heavy: Thirteen of his 29 years as a fireman have been as a fireman-photographer. Needless to say, Mr. Born's collection of fire scenes makes news photographers weep: red light and siren get him there first and the combined talents of a photographer and a fireman direct him to just the right spot for all the visual action. It's hard for us news types to beat out a guy with a red light and siren, but it's easy to recognize a talent such as Chet Born, even if he does have an edge.

Mr. Born speaks to dozens of groups each year and his easy, knowledgable manner wins many friends to the firefighter's cause. In a city that averages 125 alarms a day, an ordinary photographer would find more than enough picture opportunities for a spectacular photographic display. Chet Born not only comes off with the display but also the meaning and reasons behind each slide, a detailed anatomy of the cause and the effect of each alarm important enough to require his special talents. He finds it impossible to make every one, but none of the major alarms goes without his attention.

INDUSTRIAL AREAS of a large city are secured against an ever-increasing rate of vandalism by protective measures that hamper the firefighters' ability to get a hoseline on the fire without cutting through steel fences and barred windows. Fire losses streak out of sight, burned-out industries relocate in safer areas, and Chet Born worries about the future of the city he has served so long and so well.

He also worries, in his fireman-like way, about the safety of his city's people as he speeds to the tragic scenes, dripping, like a news photographer, with cameras, to record in black 'n' white negative, color positive and 16 mm. movie film the scenes he knows only too well. The black 'n' white material appears in the San Francisco press, the color positive results go into the amazing library he has built of flame and its destruction. The movie films add to the invaluable training aids for his and other fire departments. And it's all shot at the same time!

Most news photographers would like Chet Born's red light and siren, but there are few, if any, who could come away with the understanding that backs up the photography of this talented gentleman.

United States Leads On Points In Vietnam Peace Plan Game

WASHINGTON — One of the reasons that it is so difficult to get a settlement in Vietnam is that there are so many peace proposals on the table that no one knows which one anyone is talking about.

Even President Nixon, in discussing the secret meetings with the North Vietnamese in Paris, stumbled over the different plans that have been submitted.

I am certain that this is what is happening in the White House at this very moment:

"MR. PRESIDENT, the North Vietnamese have just given an answer to our peace proposal."

"Good, Henry. Is it a response to our reply to their public seven-point plan or our private eight-point plan which we submitted to them?"

"We're not certain. As you know, in 1965 they offered us a four-point plan and we came back at them with a 14-point proposal which they rejected gutright. Then on May 14, 1969, we came back with our eight-point public plan which they countered by submitting a 10-point plan on July 8, 1969."

"What about our five-point proposal of Oct. 7, 1970?"

"They responded to that by publicly submitting the National Liberation Front's seven-point plan."

"WHAT DOES THAT make the point spread, Henry?"

"I'm not too good at mathematics, Mr. President, but I believe on points they're slightly ahead. But if you add our eight-point secret plan, then we're ahead."

"Do you believe they'll come up with another poin hind?"

"I'm sure of it, Mr. President. They were very angry that we added a point to their seven-point proposal of July, and considered it an act of bad faith."

"The only reason we did it was because the seven points did not cover all the proposals."

"I know that and you know that, but they don't know it."

"I HAVE A GOOD mind to bomb them tomorrow morning."

"Wait a minute, Mr. President. I think we ought to study their reply to our response to their proposal first. There may be something in it we've overlooked."

"Well, why can't we bomb them while we're studying their response?"

"Because if we respond to their answer with bombing, they could say we're not serious about our eight-point proposal."

"Is that the secret one or the public one?"

"It was the secret one, Mr. President, until you made it public."

"Oh, yes, that's right. Well, is their response to our secret — uh, public eight-point proposal, secret or public?"

"Publicly they have denounced it, but secretly they've indicated they're studying it."

"WELL, WHY DON'T we bomb them publicly, but secretly let them know we're looking for a peaceful solution?"

"I believe, sir, we'd have to come up with another proposal before we do. How about a 35-point peace plan? That could really throw them into a swivet."

"That's not a bad idea. But before we do that, what was their response to our eight-point secret proposal which I made public the other night to show all Americans that I had gone the extra mile?"

"My people are sending it up to me now. Here's one of my aides. Thank you."

"Henry, you've gone pale. What is it, Henry?"

"Oh, my God, Mr. President! The North Vietnamese want to change the shape of the table."

Books Shut In My Lai Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon has closed the books on investigations and prosecutions against soldiers of the 11th Brigade that gained notoriety at My Lai.

The last pending case was dismissed Wednesday when the Army dropped murder charges againstLt. Col. William J. McCloskey, 40. McCloskey, a native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was accused of murdering two Vietnamese civilians in an incident 12 months after My Lai.

The 11th Brigade was deactivated last fall at the same time its parent division, the Americal, was struck from the lists. Of 25 officers and men charged with either participating in or covering up the alleged 1968 war crimes at My Lai, only Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was convicted.

San Quentin To Expand Facilities On Death Row

Although San Quentin's inmate population has dipped to a 20th Century low, death row is full and will be expanded, the prison announced yesterday.

Joseph R. O'Brien, information officer, said 16 cells on the second floor of the adjustment center have been cleared and will be refitted beginning next week for death row inmates.

Death row already occupies half the second story and the unit is the most coveted of death row's three sections. Cells are larger and its inmates are allowed an hour of outdoor exercise daily, O'Brien said.

He said the expansion is needed because death row is full with 100 inmates and more condemned men are expected. There has been no execution since 1967 because of court review of the death sentence.

O'Brien said the remodeling will be aimed at increasing security.

Army Wife Of Year Quits Over 'Insult'

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (UPI) — Mrs. Billie Willett, "U.S. Army wife of the year," says the letter the Army sent her warrant officer husband telling him he had to retire after 21 years in the service was so insulting she is resigning her title.

"The Army does itself no good by wording letters of release in such a manner that a soldier is made to feel less than a man," Mrs. Willett said in the letter to the Pentagon, in which she vacated her title of Army wife of the year.

But she refused to reveal any contents of the letter Wednesday. The Pentagon also would not release the letter it uses to inform career officers they must retire.

Officers can retire voluntarily after 20 years of service and receive half their salary, but some are selected to stay in 30 years and retire with 75 per cent of their salary, if they wish.

The Pentagon issued a statement Wednesday saying that it had not yet received Mrs. Willett's letter, but the Army said the fact that Willett was asked to retire was no reflection on his record.

"This action was wholly without prejudice to Willett and his long record of faithful and effective service. In its letter of notification, the Army gratefully acknowledged Willett's assistance in the accomplishment of its mission," the statement said.

However, Mrs. Willett, a 1949 graduate of the University of Kansas, said the letter "was an insult to me personally." The Army's wife of the year since March, she donated proceeds from a children's book she wrote to the "Save the Children Federation," and served as president of the officers' wives club.

"I have tried very hard to improve the image of the Army —which needs improving very badly," she said. "I find it impossible ... to continue bearing a title of which I was extremely proud, but which I am now deeply ashamed."

She said her husband expected to be able to serve 30 years and was "shocked" when he received his letter of release.

Water Flow Halt Kills Tiny Fish

LACEY TOWNSHIP, N.J. (UPI)—When New Jersey's first nuclear plant began commercial operations in December 1969, the warm water it poured into Oyster Creek created a winter paradise for fishermen.

Young menhaden, tiny, herring-type fish which usually migrate south in the late fall, stayed on in the unnaturally warm waters of the mile-long creek flowing into Barnegat Bay.

Last weekend, after two years of uneventful coexistence between fish, fishermen and the $68 million nuclear plant, something went wrong.

Hundreds of thousands of the one-to-two inch long fish were found floating in the 50-footwide creek. The flow of 460,000 gallons of water a minute at temperatures of 55 to 60 degrees, had stopped because the plant was shut down for repairs.

Spokesmen for the Jersey Central Power & Light Co. first denied that the fish dying was due to the shutdown. State biologists disagreed. They said the menhaden, or mossbackers, were the victims of "thermal shock."

State officials figured that the water temperature dropped 11 degrees between last Thursday and Saturday, when the first dead fish were discovered.

William J. Jeschke, assistant district conservation officer in the Department of Fish, Game and Shellfisheries, attributed the death of more than 200,000 menhaden to "that sudden change in the environment."

Power company officials said the plant had been shut down for maintenance and repairs five times in winter months over the past two years and no fish had died.

State Conservation Officer Bruce Young said New Jersey biologists are testing the fish for possible chemical traces, but don't expect to find any.

"There was no outward indication, no discernible difference," he said. Seagulls, presented with an unexpected feast, eliminated the possibility of any accurate count of the number of fish killed, he said.

The nuclear plant takes in water, used to create steam power through nuclear fission, from the South Branch of the forked River here, and releases the "outfall" into the creek. It was a tiny, meandering stream until the power company dredged and straightened it to fit its needs.

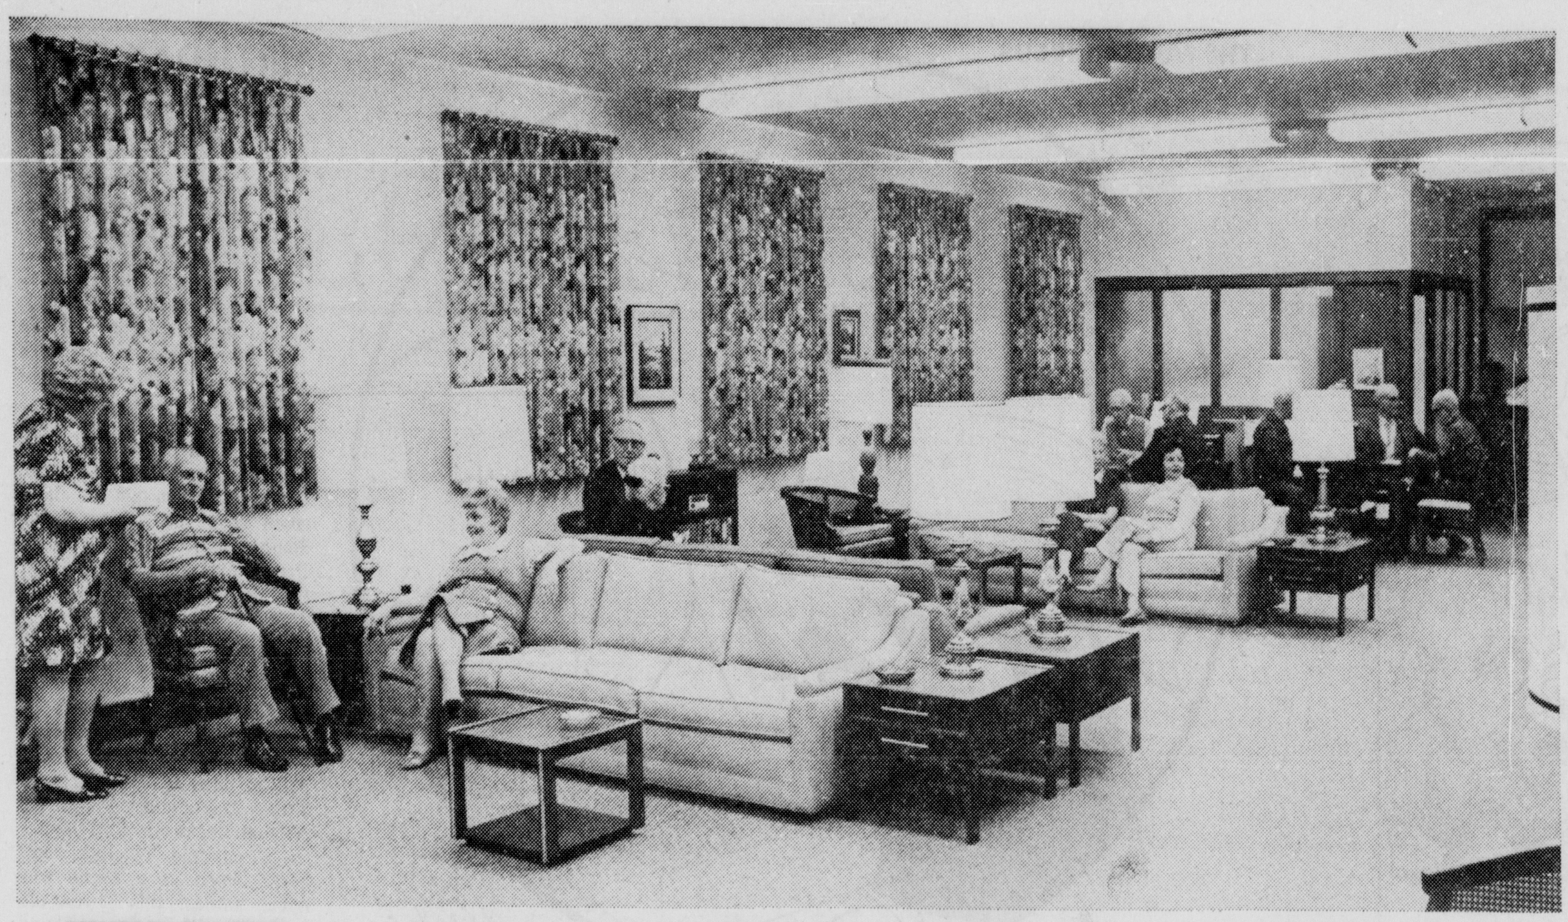
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, Thursday, February 3, 1972 21



SENIOR CENTER — Some senior citizens enjoy a preview sampling of the new senior citizens center where they can play cards, read or sit and visit. The center, called "Whistlestop", will open officially next week. Oldtimers who remember the waiting room at the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad station in San Rafael would have a hard time recognizing it now. It has been transformed into this bright and cheery center. (Independent-Journal photo)

New Life For Old Waiting Room

By THERON A. NEWELL

Take a gloomy, dirty old waiting room in a railroad station, add to it the enthusiasm, money and effort of organizations and individuals, and the end result is a beautiful meeting place for senior citizens from all over Marin County.

The "Whistlestop" as it is called is a tastefully decorated and useful room which can be utilized as a drop-in place for individuals or for group activities at 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

The new senior citizens center was dedicated Monday night with approximately 300 persons attending: officials, recreation leaders, and guests from all over Marin County.

Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, announced that the center will open for use by senior citizens at 10:30 a.m. next Monday. Ernest N. Kettenhofen, president of the coordinating council, and Vera Schultz and William A. Gnoss, vice presidents, will officiate at a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Programgs for the 52 clubs which will use the center will be conducted Monday through Friday, Ryken said.

The 60 by 25 foot room has been repainted an off-white and indoor-outdoor carpeting covers the formerly bare wood floor. Sofas in light green and chartreuse are placed throughout the room, inviting people to sit and read, converse or just meditate.

Scattered about the room are end-tables and lamps and along the wall by the railroad tracks are well-stocked bookcases. The windows are covered with fgow ered draperies in colors that blend with the sofas and carpet. Two cardtables, the cards displayed, wait on those who would while away their time that way.

The entire room is brightly lighted with overhead fluorescent lamps. A large mirror reflects the light, adding to the brightness.

At one end, an electric organ stands ready for anyone who can play it to fill the room with music.

The old ticket office has been transformed into a small conference room or office, complete with two sofas and tables, donated by Virginia and Allen Axford.

Fifteen paintings by senior citizens decorate the walls of the room. Some have been donated permanently to the center and some are on loan.

One oil painting by M. E. Smith reminds people of what the station looked like as a passenger depot. It is complete with old autos of the Model T era and a passenger train on the tracks.

Credit for the major part of this transformation goes to the Soroptimists Club of Marin, which took on the major project of refurbishing the building. Last October it donated $5,000 for the work. Mrs. Jessie Stetson, who was active in organizing senior citizens groups more than 20 years ago, donated $500. The club obtained donation of the electric organ.

Painters Union Local 83, both its active and retired members, donated the paint and painted the outside of the building and the inside of the senior citizens room.

Jesse Berry of Marin City, a retired electrician, rewired the room for the senior citizens.

Behind the scenes stood Kettenhofen who backed the council, guaranteeing its note for the center for five years with no interest, according to Ryken.

Two members of the Soroptimist, Florence Huber, a professional interior designer, and Caroline Fooshee of a San Rafael furniture company, planned the interior decorations of the center.

Future plans for an adjacent room call for installation of a kitchen where members can cook for those elderly people not getting adequate meals, Ryken said. Plans are in the offing to rent the room out to groups to help defray the expenses of the center, he said.

The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily Monday through Friday. The council will soon launch a drive to raise funds to keep it open seven days a week, Ryken said.

After the opening Monday, special events will be held each day throughout the week at the center, he said.

At 2 p.m. Monday, Ryken will present a program "Those Wonderful Years, 1900 to 1950."

On Tuesday at 2 p.m. a slide show will be presented on Washington D.C., the White House Conference on Aging, and Mount Vernon. At 7:30 o'clock that night there will be a concert by a Hawaiian band.

Musical students from San Rafael High School will present a concert at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

An organ concert will be given by Albert Gehl of Baldwin Piano Co. at 2 p.m. Thursday and again on Friday. Following these concerts will be other slide shows on travel.

Meryl Dahl and her Rural Band of Novato, will present a concert at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Coffee and refreshments will be available every day for anyone wishing to come to the center, Ryken said.

ANGELA ASKS STATE TO DEFRAY EXPENSES

Tells Court She Also Plans To Subpoena Reagan During Her Trial

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN JOSE — Angela Davis blamed the state of California yesterday for her present predicament and asked the state to help her out of it by paying bills for her four attorneys.

Furthermore, she intends to subpoena Gov. Ronald Reagan to her trial in order to ask him about his part in a "conspiracy" against her, she told Judge Richard E. Arnason.

The former university instructor, acting as her own lawyer yesterday in arguing why the state should pay her legal fees, spoke in a calm, clear professorial voice in a heavily guarded courtroom.

"If it weren't for the state, I wouldn't be in this position," she claimed. "In order to counteract the monstrous case that has been built (against me)," Miss Davis asked the judge to give her present attorneys court appointments and order their bills paid.

She also said, "We intend to subpoena Ronald Reagan, call him, and put him on the stand and ask him to explain how he aided and abetted" a conspiracy against her.

In the beginning of the case, Miss Davis said, she and her supporters had thought they could raise enough money for expenses.

She blamed the news media for the lack of success, saying they had on the one hand, "characterized the case as having thousands of dollars" and, on the other, telling readers that "funds are not reaching the defendant."

Miss Davis said she did not want the Santa Clara Coknty public defender appointed to represent her, not only because he is overburdened and understaffed, but also because he is "an arm of the judicial office and I'm charged with an offense that involves the judicial."

(She referred only in this oblique manner to the charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy against her stemming from the death of Judge Harold J. Haley in the August 1970 shoot-out at the Marin Civic Center.)

Miss Davis told the judge she expected his response was going to be the same as the governor's, who had suggested last week she could have the public defender if she had run out of money.

Albert W. Harris Jr., chief prosecutor in the case, responded to Miss Davis's 45-minute speech by saying that no showing had been made that she can't afford to pay her attorneys.

He cited the various attorneys she has had, noting that a new one, Leo A. Branton, had joined the team only about three weeks ago.

Furthermore, Harris said, he got the impression in recent arguments in federal court, that Miss Davis could easily post $100,000 bail.

While legal arguments went on in the high-ceilinged, wood-paneled courtroom, six more ff Miss Davis's supporters were arrested outside a chain fence while protesting a new California law that prohibits demonstrating near a courtroom.

The arrests brought to 26 the number of persons incarcerated during this week's final pretrial arguments.

Judge Arnason yesterday took under submission motions that the trial be moved again and the attorney fee matter.

Arguments were to continue today on whether poor people and minority groups are fairly represented on Santa Clara County jury panels which are drawn only from voter lists.

A jury commissioner told the court yesterday that over 5,000 prospective jurors have been lined up for the Davis case, since it was transferred from Marin to Santa Clara.

McGovern Tops Stanford Poll

McGovern drew 396 votes, outpolling the next most popular candidate, Sen. Edmund Muskie,D-.Me., by more than a 2-to-1 margin.

Muskie had 170 votes, and President Nixon polled 165. There were 1,300 votes cast in all.

Dougan Is Studying Supervisorial Race

James Dougan, a San Rafael planning commissioner who ran unsuccessfully for county supervisor eight years ago, said yesterday he may run again in June.

Dougan, who served as campaign chairman four years ago for Supervisor Louis H. Baar, said he will run for the fourth supervisorial district seat being vacated by Baar if he can get the financial backing.

"I haven't really made up my mind yet, it depends on getting the proper financing," he told the Independent-Journal.

Dougan, who lives at 40 Knoll Road in San Rafael and is an insurance agent for State Farm, said he will make his decision within a week.

In 1964, Dougan lost by a narrow margin to former Supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

The 49-year-old Dougan, a former west Marin resident, also has served on the Bolinas Fire Protection District board, the Bolinas Public Utilities District board and was a member of the Bolinas School District board before it merged with the Stinson Beach School District.

He was born on a ranch on the Point Reyes Peninsula and is a lifelong county resident.

He twice sought appointment to the San Rafael City Council but was ruled ineligible the first time in 1969 because he didn't fill the city's residency requirement and took the planning commission seat the second time instead.

As a former secretary to the Marin County Property Owners Association, Dougan said he expects some support from that group if he decides to run.

Officers Named In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley architectural advisory committee elected officers for 1972 Tuesday night and approved conversion of a dance studio into an office building.

Chosen chairman was Janet Mountjoy, while Robert M. Tanaka was named vice chairman, reported Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator.

The committee approved conversion of the Dick Ford Dance Studio at 169 Miller Avenue into offices, McGill said.

Body Of Finance Executive Found

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Alan Scott MacFarlane, vice president of Transamerica Financial Corp., whose hogtied body was found on a Little League baseball diamond, choked to death on his own blood after he was apparently beaten by a robber, an autopsy report said today.

The body of MacFarlane, 43, was found Tuesday by a woman walking her dog.

In San Francisco, police held a suspect in the murder. Authorities said James Smith, 24, was arrested Feb. 1 on suspicion of possessing a stolen credit card of MacFarlane's and later was booked in connection with the slaying.

The body was wrapped in a blue blanket, the feet bound and a noose around the neck, sheriff's detectives said. He had been severely beaten on the head.

208 Million In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The population of the U.S. reached 208.5 million on New Year's Day. The Census Bureau believes it will climb to 300 million by the year 2000 and more than 400 million by 2042.

Boys Nabbed In Process Of Burglary

Two juveniles were arrested in the process of breaking into a Tiburon residence yesterday, according to sheriff's deputies, who said the pair admitted to five other burglaries of the same home and implicated two other juveniles.

The youths, ages 14 and 15, were cited to Marin juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary, as was another 15-year-old, said to have taken part in the first five crimes.

The fourth juvenile, age 16, could not be located yesterday, deputies said.

Officers reported a neighbor called at 4:20 p.m. and told them she had just seen two teen-agers in the back yard of the Jo Murphy home, 644 Tiburon Boulevard.

Deputies who arrived moments later said they found the pair trying to pry open a sliding glass door.

The identities of the juveniles were concealed on order of Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Regional Crime Labs Planned

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Attorney general Evelle J. Younger told a California Peace Officers' Association meeting Wednesday that the state will set up eight regional crime laboratories.

The labs will "improve the services of scientific examination of evidence" and will be equipped with high sophisticated gear such as voice print machines, he added.

Younger also said the state's main crime lab in Sacramento is being redesigned under a federal grant and will be used as a training center for those working in the area labs.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

West's 'Gentleman' Lead Gives South A Run At Three No-Trump

A generation or so ago, bridge was a game for people of "good family." You went to a finishing school, where you were taught how to waltz and fox trot, which fork to use for the endive and how to play an acceptable (but not too acceptable) game of bridge. Perhaps these lessons brought on the Great Depression; the schools shouldn't have wasted all that time on the fox trot. This all came to mind when today's hand was played in a game of rubber bridge.

Opening lead — ♣ 2

THE OLD SCHOOL

West opened the deuce of clubs, fourth highest from his longest and strongest suit. East won with the ace of clubs and returned. Well, that's the point of my little story about finishing schools. East, a gentleman of the old school, had been taught to return his partner's lead; so he returned the six of clubs at the second trick.

South had no further problem. He won the second trick with the queen of clubs and led a heart to force out the ace. South was then sure of one spade, two hearts, four diamonds and three clubs for a total of 10 tricks.

SIMPLE COUNT

West's lead of the deuce of clubs indicated that he held three higher clubs; obviously he had no lower clubs. In short, West had only a four-card suit. East could see only five clubs in the dummy and his own hand and therefore should have known that South had four clubs. There couldn't be much nourishment in the clubs, and East should have considered a switch.

South's bidding showed four hearts, leaving only five cards in spades and diamonds combined. It was not unlikely that South had only two spades.

AT SECOND TRICK

East should lead the deuce of spades at the second trick. South plays low, and West wins with the queen. West returns the seven of spades, and East must play the three. When West gets in with the ace of hearts, he leads his last spade, and East has two tricks with the K-10 behind dummy's J-9.

A little too modern, perhaps, but very effective.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 7 4
♥ - A 9
♦ - 9 6 5 2
♣ - 10 8 5 2.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

This weak response promises adequate trump support and six to ten points, counting distribution as well as high cards. In this case you have six points in high cards and one point for the doubleton.

Marin Singers In Comic Opera

Others in the cast are Natasha Kimmel of Tiburon, Venus; Lorie Kutsko of Ross, Diana; Clairellen Waldeck of Mill Valley, Cupid, and Alex Smith of Mill Valley, God.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Plan Would Open All PUC Meetings

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill that would include the Public Utilities Commission under the state's open meeting laws has been introduced by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose.

After introducing the measure Wednesday, Alquist said the measure was "in response to a policy of increasing secrecy by the commission meeting in secret when making regulatory decisions."

The commission, as a quasi-judicial body, is allowed to hold certain meetings in secret. Alquist's bill would have the effect of removing that exemption.

"While the exclusion of the public has been in effect for years," he said, "the complete exclusion of all staff from the final deliberative process did not occur until 1971."

Alquist introduced similar legislation last year that was passed by the Senate but killed in Assembly committee. At the time, representatives of the commission denied there was anything secret about commission actions.

LOCAL PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, Wednesday introduced legislation removing the governor's power to appoint persons to fill vacancies on county boards of supervisors.

Arnett said the measures would place the authority in the hands of the local board.

The bills would also require that persons appointed as supervisors or city councilmen stand for election at the next succeeding election after they are chosen.

In case supervisors are not able to reach agreement on an appointment within 30 days, they would be required to call a special election.

HEROIN HELP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, Wednesday introduced a bill which would make heroin addicts in approved methadone programs eligible for Medi-Cal assistance.

Vasconcellos said addicts must pay $15 to $20 a week for methadone. He said putting it on the approved Medi-Cal drug list would enable "destitute" persons to obtain methadone.

CRIME FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature has been asked by Gov. Ronald Reagan to increase the state budget by $4 million so that California will qualify for an expected $60 million in federal anti-crime funds.

Reagan said Wednesday the money was needed to meet a "state buy-in" provision which will be required next year under the federally backed Omnibus Crime Control Program.

Since the federal block grant program began in mid-1969, Reagan said, the state Council on Criminal Justice has funded more than 525 projects to improve the police, courts, and correctional system.

At present, the bulk of the projects are funded on a ratio of 75 per cent federal funds, and 25 per cent in local matching funds for cities and counties.

PROTECTION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Hospitals and blood banks would be held responsible for hepatitis caused by contaminated blood transfusions under a bill introduced Wednesday by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

Sieroty said that hundreds of persons annually contract the disease as a result of blood transfusions but that the patient has no recourse against the institution providing it.

A related bill by Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, would allow tax deductions of up to $150 annually for blood donations given to nonprofit organizations. The measure would permit the deductions at a rate of $30 a pint.

AID PITCH

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblywoman March Fong, D-Oakland, has introduced legislation preventing a possible cut in state aid to handicapped community college students.

Under her bill introduced Wednesday, mentally retarded and physically handicapped students would be exempt from the 18-year-old adulthood law for the purposes of state school aid.

Mrs. Fong said the state currently provides $100,000 for the education of handicapped students between 18 and 21 years of age. She said the newly enacted state law lowering the legal age of adulthood to 18 could cause the state to cut off the funds.

Innocent Plea To Attempted Burglary

Arnold Dean Ash, 18, of Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of attempted burglary. Preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

Ash was arrested Tuesday when Novato police said they found him on the roof of a Novato pet shop.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Many Foot Sufferers Have Arthritis Of Toes And Joints

Not everyone with painful feet has fallen arches, calluses, or poor circulation. Two per cent of foot sufferers have rheumatoid arthritis of the toes and metatarsal joints. The latter is easily overlooked because it resembles arch trouble, especially in the early stages. The individual bears his weight on swollen and tender metatarsal joints — the same structures that form the transverse metatarsal arch in the fore part of the foot.

Walking or standing is painful, and finding comfortable shoes presents problems. Arthritic foot involvement usually begins with tenderness, thickness, and puffiness about the base of the toes. Broadening of the foot occurs as swelling forces the digits apart. In addition, the feet may perspire profusely and the ankles may swell.

NUMEROUS deformities develop when the condition is neglected. The big toe may be forced inward leading to bunion similar to that caused by pointed shoes and high heels. The ensuing pain and stiffness usually prevent completion of the step. Corns and ingrowing toenails add to the misery. Fatty cushions normally found under the tips of the toes and metatarsal arch usually disappear and the protruding bones create pressure points and painful calluses. The victim feels as though he is walking on marbles. In some, the toes contract down like claws.

CUSTOM-MADE shoes usually are needed by persons with severe rheumatoid arthritis of the feet. One of the best is a seamless shoe molded from a special plaster of paris cast of the foot. It may not improve the deformities but the callosities disappear, and there is far less pain. The usual remedies for rheumatoid arthritis also are used because other joints may be involved. Relief often follows injections of a hydrocortisone product directly into the joint.

Surgical treatment includes the removal of the protruding heads of the metatarsal bones. In some instances, it is necessary to fuse together the joints of the toes. Occasionally, severely deformed digits must be removed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent Journal.

TWINGES ON PUFFING

F.J. writes: What causes twinges of pain in the back of the right ear when I puff on a cigaret?

REPLY

There is no anatomical connection between the throat and the back of the ear (mastoid area). However, I don't doubt the twinges are real. Do you pull your head backward when you take a deep puff? This could move the vertebras of the neck, causing pressure on the nerve that goes to this area.

SALIVA IN DIABETES

E.E. writes: Is it true that the saliva of a diabetic tastes sweet?

REPLY

No, because there is no significant amount of sugar in the saliva of a diabetic. Nor is it true in the normal person.

TUMOR OF THE EAR

C.L. writes: What is cholesteatoma of the ear?

REPLY

This is an unusual tumor of the middle ear that follows infection. It consists of a pile of dead cells and is so named because it also contains cholesterin crystals.

KNOW THE LAW

California Highway Patrol

The Correct Towing Lanes

What traffic lanes may you drive in when pulling another vehicle?

The California Vehicle Code requires that any vehicle towing any other vehicle or trailer must be driven in the right hand lane of any multilane road. Through driving shall be restricted to the right hand lane except when passing and then only the lane immediately adjacent to the right hand lane is to be used for passing.

This does not apply to drivers preparing to make left turns, exiting from a highway or entering the same, or being in other than the right hand lane to continue on the intended route.

In addition to the above towing requirements, a vehicle towing another vehicle or trailer is restricted to a maximum speed limit of 55 miles per hour.

Don't forget the mirror and safety chain requirements plus lights and turn signals.

Marin City Land Session Is Tonight

A report to the Marin City community on recent land negotiations with the California Development Co. in New York will be presented at a town meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The session is sponsored by the Marin City Council and community services district, according to council chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr.

Following negotiations last week with Marin County officials and representatives of the community groups and Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, the development firm agreed to pay a portion of its profits from development of valuable ridge property to the community.

California Development also agreed to allow residents to participate in planning and development of the ridge and to offer an option to buy the land to the community if development is not completed by a deadline, still to be determined.

Muir Monument Addition Passes

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation authorizing the expenditure of $950,000 to add nearly 50 acres to Muir Woods National Monument near Mill Valley has passed the House of Representatives.

The sum includes purchase of 15 buildings that would be moved in order to return property near the park to its natural state, a Park Service spokesman said. The land is opposite the park's southeast corner.

The Muir Woods money is contained in a bill authorizing the government to spend $26.5 million to expand or further develop 22 National Park Service facilities.

McNear Beach Grant Approved

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A $166,200 federal grant for half the cost of improving McNear Beach Park was approved today by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, reported Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

The work will include family picnic units, a sand beach, informal picnic and play turf, nature trails, restrooms, a bathhouse, landscaping and other improvements. Construction will start in May or June, and is scheduled to be completed next fall after a slowdown to accommodate heavy summer use.

The county's share of the project, $155,500, will be supplemented with $10,800 in state funds. The state funds exhaust Marin County's share of the state's $150 million park bond issue of 1964.

Innocent Plea To Bomb Death

OAKLAND (UPI) — Stephanie Kline, a San Francisco pharmacist, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge that she killed a man whose body was found in her bombwrecked automobile.

Judge Jacqueline Taber ordered Mrs. Kline, 25, held in lieu of $75,000 and set Feb. 15 as the day for a preliminary hearing.

Tommy Davenport Jr., 21, of Berkeley, was killed Sunday by an explosion in Mrs. Kline's small foreign car which was parked in a coffee shop lot.

Shut Prison By Year-End, Fiscal Expert Post Urges

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative fiscal expert A. Alan Post Wednesday recommended that state civil servants and faculty members of the University of California and state colleges be given a pay raise $58 million higher than proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The veteran nonpartisan budget analyst also recommended that San Quentin Prison be shut down before next Dec. 31 for an estimated $4.7 million saving. Reagan has proposed that the aging 120year-old institution be gradually closed by the end of 1974.

In his analysis of the governor's proposed $7.6 billion proposed state budget, Post called for increasing the salaries of UC and state college faculties by 12.5 per cent and for state workers by 7.5 per cent.

Reagan has proposed a 7 1-2 per cent increase for higher education faculties who have received no cost-of-living increases during the last two years. He proposed a 5 per cent raise for state workers to be distributed by the state Personnel Board on the basis of correcting "inequities" between lagging classes of employes.

But Post called for augmenting the $95.8 million Reagan proposed for cost-of-living increases by a huge $58 million and said the sum should be granted across-the-board.

"Because of a lack of cost-of-living increase since July 1970, the basic purchasing power lag which exists for all state employes should be eliminated before any classification for special group parity inequity is rectified," Post said.

Post also warned he is "not confident" that the savings Reagan projected in welfare costs "can in fact be realized."

"The precarious nature of last year's administration proposals incorporated into the Welfare Reform Act, a hazard fully reported on at that time, is hanging over this budget because of the growing list of injunctions and adverse court decisions affecting these sections of the act and reducing the savings assumed to be realized," he said.

He also repeated his concern that the $65 million in additional state aid to local schools proposed by Reagan fell far short of meeting actual educational costs.

"The state's share of school support continues to slip downward, and the local property tax burden will of necessity rise accordingly," Post told the lawmakers.

This College Couple Not Quite Typical

DAVIS — Each morning Frank Sousa and his wife, Mary, hop on their bicycles and pedal over to the University of California, Davis, campus where they join almost 14,000 other students wending their way along the arduous path toward a college degree.

Frank, a senior in geography, and Mary, a senior in English literature, have been carrying about 20 units per quarter apiece since starting at UCD, and each has maintained a grade point average of about 3.5. A straight A average is 4.0.

Frank and Mary are not a typical collegiate couple. He is 54 years old. She is 50.

They have two children. Linda spent two years at UCD, and now lives in New York. Frank Jr. is 22 and a second year student at the UCD Medical School.

"After our children entered college, we found we had a lot ot time on our hands. We seemed to spend most of it watching TV. We tried to educate ourselves at home, but found we just couldn't do it," says Frank, a retired builder.

"Our kids are the ones who urged us to go back to school for a degree," adds Mary, a registered nurse. "We enrolled at Sacramento City College in 1968, and transferred to UC Davis in 1970."

What is it like going to school with students young enough to be your children?

"We find the ygung kids treat us as equals. We relate more to the students than to the professors. But most profs seem to accept us, in spite of our age."

"Kids nowadays are much more honest and mature than young people were when we were growing up."

Frank has been accepted to graduate school in Geography at UCD, and says he would like to teach at the Community college level when he gets his Master's degree. Mary has applied to the School of Education where she hopes to work toward a secondary teaching credential.

While going back to school can be an exciting experience for a middle-aged couple, it can also have some drawbacks.

"We don't see any of our old friends anymore," Frank comments. "Our attitudes about the world have changed since going back to school, but theirs have stayed the same. We don't have much to talk about. But we're gradually making some new friends.

"The toughest thing for me," adds Mary, was the first day of classes at Sacramento City. I was scared to death to walk in the door. But I got over it before too long.

"Age is only a matter of being able to change your mind about ideas," she believes. "Now the only time I know I'm old is when I walk by a mirror."

Stiver Named Battalion Chief

Donald B. Stiver, president of the Marinwood Firemen's Association, has been named a battalion chief of the fire department.

Gerald A. Falbo, association secretary, said he mistakenly reported last month that Ronald Marinoff was elected to succeed Howard Council, who retired. The erroneous information was printed in the Independent-Journal Jan. 6.

He said Stiver was elected to the position Jan. 4. Marinoff already was a battalion chief, Falbo said.

Meeting On Ridgeland Pact Today

The Marin City ridgeland agreement — which releases title of valuable lands surrounding the community to a New York developer — will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. today at the Marin City Community Center.

The agreement was signed last week by California Development Co. and the county's housing authority and redevelopment agency.

Release of the ridgelands has been the center of controversy for months. However, the new agreement appears to meet many community demands, including the right to share in the planning and profits of any future development.

Tomorrow's meeting will be conducted by the Marin City Council and community services district.

The agreement was presented to county supervisors yesterday but they agreed to hold off discussion for a week, pending review by the community.

$1.3 Million Dues Suit Is Settled

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The National Education Association's $1.3 million dues-arrears suit against the California Teachers Association and its former southern section has been settled out of court.

Directors of both organizations announced Wednesday that the settlement was for $1.1 million. The suit was to be heard in Los Angeles federal court later this month.

The suit was aimed primarily at the CTA southern section on grounds that organization, which was then relatively autonomous, used the 1970-71 dues money for its own projects instead of paying it to the NEA as required.

The CTA has since been reorganized to make each of the California sections responsible to the state director.

In a joint statement, NEA president Donald E. Morrison and CTA president L. Gordon Bittle said, "We believe the terms of the settlement to be fair and equitable to the NEA and CTA. It adequately protects the interest of the membership of both organizations."

The money is to be paid with interest over a five-year period.

Informal Dress For Policemen

An item of clothing once associated with the shadier elements of society and more recently jet set formal attire has become an official part of the Corte Madera police uniform, at least for a while.

Sgt. Rodney J. Sheran said officers will have the option for a 90-day trial period of wearing a black turtleneck shirt under their uniform tunic in place of the more formal neck ties.

Although the change won't solve any crimes, it will soften the formal appearance of the blue-clad officers, he said.

Amtrak Funds Are Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House commerce subcommittee has approved legislation that would authorize $170 million to run the National Railroad Passenger Corp., called Amtrak, through June 30, 1973.

Of the total, $147.5 million would be for capital improvements and to assist in the development and operation of international rail passenger service between the United States and points in Canada and Mexico.

Some Day They May Know All About You, Your Life

By ROBERT P. HEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Under a plan being considered here, in a few years any company or U.S. government agency may be able to learn:

Your salary.

How fast you pay bills.

What you do with leisure time.

What neighbors say about your personal habits.

Such invasions of all Americans' privacy could result from a proposal to use Social Security numbers as the universal means by which people are identified by all computers.

If such a plan were to take effect without major legal and technical safeguards — and experts warn they are lacking today — computers owned by all government and private agencies could "talk" with each other, telling all they knew about citizens. Extra snoopy agencies frequently pry into personal issues like the ones just mentioned; their computers could blab this information to other computers.

The Senate's leading privacy defender, North Carolina's Sam J. Ervin, Jr., is sounding the alarm against this possibility. He has called for rejection of the plan. And he has condemned the "neutral position" that the Nixon administration says it is taking toward this plan.

Involved is a pending decision by the Computers and Information Processing Committee of the American National Standards Institute. It is deciding whether to adopt proposed technical standards which would use the Social Security number to identify Americans in computerized records. The institute develops voluntary standards which industries then generally make their own.

In a letter to the committee Senator Ervin says it is not now considering a mere technical decision but "a major philosophical decision affecting the rights of the individual and the future uses of economic, political, and governmental power in the computer age."

He calls the decision "vitally substantive." It is one, he says, which "by right ought to be made by legislative bodies only after extensive public debate on the subject."

Even as Senator Ervin made his letter known, the House of Representatives was preparing to vote next week on whether to establish a special committee designed to spur just such public debate. It would deal with the issues of privacy and human values and would be expected to consider, among other things:

The growing use of Social Security numbers to identify Americans in computerized records.

The fact that many American companies and government agencies are computerizing their records without, critics insist, much concern for keeping confidential information about citizens confidential. Much of the computerized information they say, is gossipy or inaccurate — nobody's business.

If established, the House committee would be expected largely to parallel the work of Senator Ervin's own Constitutional Rights Subcommittee in the Senate. As the senator noted in his letter to the standards institute, his subcommittee last year held extensive hearings on privacy, including an investigation into the astounding growth in the use of computers to maintain records, and the use of Social Security numbers to identify many Americans already listed on computerized records.

In his letter to the standards institute, Senator Ervin warns that "this poll may give Americans the universal identifier with all that implies for individualism and personal privacy. The committee's judgment on such a standard will carry great weight with computer manufacturers and users in government and private business.

"Even if they do not plan to exchange information now with others, they will design and program their computers for future data exchange based on the Social Security number."

At present the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is conducting a high-level review of last year's report by the Social Security Administration on the growing use of the Social Security number. HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson also is concerned over the growing use of Social Security numbers.

Senaotr Ervin wants the standards institute to wait for the HEW task force to complete its study and make its recommendations before promulgating any voluntary standard on the use of Social Security numbers. He is disturbed that the institute is going ahead without awaiting results of that study. There is concern among some privacy specialists that voluntary standards using Social Security numbers to connect computers will be establihsed and put in operation as a "fait accompli" — while government is still debating whether it should be established.

Senator Ervin called conclusions of the Social Security Administrations report "alarming," noting that they included the view that:

"Defining the proper role of the Social Security number in society requires that broad social judgments be made first about the desirability of large-scale computer record keeping in various settings;

tings;

"Second, about the kinds of data necessary and appropriate to record about individuals within a given setting;

"Third, about the safeguards needed to insure that the computer is being used within a given setting in ways that protect fundamental human rights;

"And fourth, about the desirability of any kind of universal identification system in terms of its psychological impact on the individual citizen."

Senator Ervin decries that the Nixon administration wrote the standards institute that it would take a "neutral position" on the Social Security number issue. Senator Ervin says White House officials should review the findings of the Social Security Administration report, "which call for a slowdown, not a speedup in private uses of the Social Security number in light of the present state of computer technology."

Rizzo Extends Moratorium

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mayor Frank L. Rizzo has extended by one week the moratorium during which teenage gang members can turn in their guns, knives and razors, no questions asked.

Rizzo announced the moratorium last week. After it ends, on Feb. 11, the Police Department will begin a crackdown on weapon-carrying teen-agers. Forty-three persons died in gang-related violence here last year.

Rizzo, a former police chief, said a request for the extension came from several community groups.

Only six weapons had been turned in so far, Rizzo said, "So what's to be lost by extending this a week?"

SO WHO EVER HEARD OF A TRI-STATE GARAGE SALE?

We hadn't either. But late Monday night, when all our crews in Salt Lake, Vegas, San Mateo and San Rafael were stretched out with cold compresses — recovering from a wild and wooly TRI-STATE JANUARY CLEARANCE that had them on coffee and "uppers" for 31 days, our eight store managers were counting casualties. Not people casualties, thank God (although Les Ferber in our Vegas Flamingo Rd. store did report one compensation case resulting from enthusiastic lady customer closing sofa sleeper on unwary salesman's finger). No, . . . the casualties our managers were discovering after the 31-day free-for-all were merchandise casualties. So, what do you do with a one-armed sofa* that was half of a corner sectional and somehow somebody sold the other half? Or a loose-cushioned loveseat — beautiful thing — whose back cushions were SO loose they disappeared! You put 75% OFF tags on them and look for an enterprising customer who'll flank the one-armer with a lamp table, and another customer tall enough to need the extra seat depth he'll get from a love-seat without back cushions. And, speaking of enterprising, we're holding a contest to see who can come up with the cleverest uses for odd table leaves. Winner can have all the table leaves we're stuck with (don't ask me how) at $1.00 a piece. Hint: Think "bookshelves." Any better ideas? Here's a real poser. Stan Haines, our store designer, ordered this magnificent carved Victorian marble-like fireplace for a model room. $339 was the tag we made out for it, but we never got a chance to hang the tag because it arrived in pieces. Well, we've got all the pieces, so if you're handy with the glue-pot you'll have a mantel worth near three-bills-and-a-half for $75. We've got lampless lampshades and shadeless lamps you can take away for peanuts . . . dozens of matching 3-piece living room table sets that no longer match so we're selling them as onesies at far less than their worth. Then there are customer returns. It's amazing what guff full-service stores like ours will put up with just to keep a customer. When Mrs. R..... custom-ordered a violet and puce recliner (against our decorating department's advice) and then decided it didn't really "make it" in her room, guess who took it back. The BEST BARGAINS are in bedroom and dining room furniture. Nothing "casualty" about them, except from our point of view. Like discontinued groups — beautiful and in perfect condition except that store merchants just have no use for samples they can't reorder on, so we're dropping them to near cost to get them off the floor. Same deal with odd assorted headboards, night tables, china cabinets, dressers, mirrors, etc. A#1 merchandise — perfect in every way and from houses like Broyhill, Burlington, Thomasville and Bassett. But we've got freight cars full of new Broyhill, Burlington, Thomasville and Bassett coming in, so we'll make it real attractive to get rid of the old . . . REAL ATTRACTIVE. Know what we mean? There are hundreds of other items I could tell you about . . . (I haven't even begun to think about all the stuff in our warehouses that'll be coming over for the sale) . . . but you get the idea. ROCK BOTTOM BARGAINS in a LAST CHANCE, THREE DAY WIND-UP. And we really mean THREE DAYS . . . TODAY, TOMORROW (UNTIL 9) AND SATURDAY.

*Not all "casualties" in all stores, obviously, but similar disasters at similarly crazy prices.

Marin Quintet Defeats Skyline College

Drake Falls To Marin In Cage Play

In a basketball game that may have set the fine coaching art of substitution back 20 years, the College of Marin freshmen used only five players in defeating Drake High School yesterday evening in Kentfield, 68-56.

The loss reduced Drake's over-all record to 11-9. The Pirates and the other seven Marin County Athletic League teams resume their league season tomorrow.

Due to a variety of injuries and ailments, only five healthy Marin freshmen showed up. By the end of the game there were only four, but Gene Barnes insisted on playing the final minute despite an ankle sprain.

Drake made its MCAL reputation by substituting freely without loss of firepower, and seemed like a poor team to try an iron-man stunt against.

"We slowed it down on them some," said Marin freshman coach John Daly. "The guys really hustled. I guess having only five players may have had some kind of psychological effect."

Hitting eight straight shots midway through the second half didn't hurt, either. The game was close up to that point, as the halftime score (33-31, Marin) indicates.

Brad Caramango scored 19 for Marin, while Robert Gregg had 18, Barnes 17 and Jim Forni 10. Gregg and Forni went to Drake last year. Tom Carlisle and Ric Herbert scored 12 each for the Pirates, who were without the services of frontline player John Channell, who fell ill earlier in the day.

Drake — Daubenfeld 0-1-1, Carlisle 52-12, Wilkinson 1-0-2, Schmitz 2-2-6, Shaw 2-0-4, Daly 2-0-4, Trimble 2-0-4, Singh 1-0-2, Herbert 6-0-12, Chavez 2-1-5, Giesen 2-0-4. Totals: 25-6-56.

Marin — Piper 2-0-4, Barnes 8-1-17, Caramango 8-3-19, Forni 4-2-10, Gregg 5-8-18. Totals: 27-14-68.

ELUSIVE BALL — College of Marin Tars' forward Ed Herrnberger (44) and Skyline College's Matt Kriletich (23) and Paul Reynolds (41) battled for a loose basketball last night in Kentfield. The Tars defeated the San Bruno invaders, 75-69.

Tar Trio Guns Down Rival Defense, 75-69

By LEW CODDINGTON

The College of Marin Tars played better basketball for 30 minutes than Skyline College of San Bruno did for 40 last night to defeat the invaders from San Bruno, 75-69, in Kentfield.

The victory enabled the Tars, 6-1 in Camino Norte Conference play, to keep pace with the front-running Contra Costa College Comets, 7-0. The Comets dumped Santa Rosa last night 76-67.

KEY

The key to Marin's victory was the neutralization of Skyline's 6-foot-8 center Paul Reynolds, the conference's No. 2 rebounder. Reynolds scored 11 points and dominated the backboards as the Trojans piled up a 27-15 lead in the early going.

"Then Roosevelt Green began to play defense," said coach John Panagakis. Simultaneously, Ed Herrnberger, Joe Smith and Joe DeMaestri began to play offense and Skyline was doomed.

REYNOLDS

Reynolds picked up only six points the rest of the game and began to draw fouls. When he sat down with four infractions early in the second half, Marin was ahead by two points, 43-41, and when he re-enetered the game, Marin was on top by seven, 62-55.

Panagakis, a hard man to please, was not satisfied. "We're still not playing good defense," he said. "On offense we had trouble getting into motion. And after we stopped Reynolds, Mike Larios went wild for 16 points in the second half."

REYNOLDS

Nonetheless, Panagakis found a few things to praise. "Their press didn't bother us," he said, "and we only had nine team fouls to their 16."

Smith and Green led Marin's scoring with 17 points apiece, while Herrnberger netted 16 and DeMaestri 14. For Skyline, Larios finished with 18, Reynolds 17 and Matt Kriletich 16.

Herrnberger started Marin's comeback from the 12-point deficit by hitting three quick baskets. Then Smith, a 6-1 guard, guave the Tars an emotional lift by outbattling the towering Reynolds for a rebound and forcing a jump ball.

DeMaestri followed with a spurt of two steals, three successful jump shots and two free throws as the Tars went on top at halftime, 38-33.

After Marin built the lead to 62-55, Skyline inched back into the game, and with 54 seconds left trailed by four (71-67) and had the ball, but couldn't cash in.

INSTINCT

"We just don't have that instinct," said Panagakis. "When you have 'em (the opponents) going, sometimes the next bucket will be the one to finish them off, and we didn't get it."

Marin shot a deft 52 per cent from the field (30 of 58), compared to Skyline's 41 per cent (29 of 70). The Tars made good use of their foul advantage, sinking 15 of 19 free throws compared to 11 of 13.

On the boards, Skyline held a slender 38-35 advantage, as Reynolds got 10 rebounds, but only three in the second half. Green led Marin with eight, followed by Joe Casteel with seven and DeMaestri and Herrnberger with six apiece.

Pat Purcell started at forward for Marin in place of Casteel, who was still suffering the effects of last Saturday's ankle injury.

Skyline — Berry 1-0-2, Kriletich 6-4-16, Larios 9-0-18, Saco 0-1-1, Hansen 1-3-5, Reynolds 8-1-17, Conway 1-2-4, Wellemeyer 3-0-6. Totals: 29-11-69.

Marin — Purcell 1-0-2, Flynn 1-3-5, DeMaestri 6-2-14, Smith 5-7-17, Casteel 2-0-4, Green 7-3-17, Herrnberger 8-0-16.

Archer Favored In Open

HONOLULU (UPI) — Lee Trevino is the people's choice but George Archer looks like the man to beat in the $200,000 Hawaiian open starting today at the Oceanside Waialae Country Club.

Trevino, the 1971 PGA Player of the Year, endeared himself to local fans in 1968 when he turned over $10,000 of his winner's purse of $25,000 to Ted Makalena Jr. to help with his college education. Makalena senior was a close friend of Lee's and died earlier that year in a surfing accident.

Archer is the year's leading money winner with nearly $50,000 because of his victory in the Los Angeles Open, a sixth place finish in the Crosby and a second in the Tucson Open. In the Tucson he went 21 extra holes before losing out to Miller Barber.

IN SAPPORO

Japan Emperor Hirohito Opens Winter Olympics

By MARTIN LADER

SAPPORO (UPI)—With its internal disputes at least put in the shadows by the brilliance of a perfectly performed opening ceremony, the XIth Olympic Games turned Friday to the first full day of competition.

Almost 50,000 spectators were on hand at the outdoor Makomanai Speed-skating Stadium when Emperor Hirohito officially declared the Games open shortly before noon. It was a simple but impressive ceremony, and it went off with the precision of a finely-tuned watch.

The 35 national teams, dressed in uniforms, marched in; the Olympic flame was lit; guns boomed their salute and fireworks rocketed into the sky. But the high point was when 800 Japanese boys and girls skated into the stadium and after a turn around the rink let 18,000 colored balloons float into the sunny skies.

Athletic action Thursday was minimal, with only two elimination round hockey matches. Czechoslovakia was playing Japan and Sweden went against Yugoslavia for the right to play in the Class A hockey round.

Gold medal events begin bright and early Friday morning with the men's 30 kilometer cross-country skiing and the men's 5,000 meter speed skating event.

In addition, the two-man bobsled and the men's and women's luge singles will hold the first two of their scheduled four runs on Friday, and participants in the combined event — which includes both ski jumping and cross-country — will jump from on the 70 meter hill. There also are the opening compulsory figures for the ladies figure skaters.

For the 30 kilometer cross-scountry there were at least a dozen possible winners among the 60 starters from 18 nations. Among the stronger skiers were three Russians —Viatcheslav Vedenin, Fedor Simachev and Vladimir Dolganov —plus some East Germans and a number of Scandinavians. The 1968 olympic winner in the event —Italy's Franco Nones —was not participating because of shaky form.

No Americans were rated a chance at picking up gold, silver or bronze.

American racers also were given little chance in the 5,000-meter speedskating event, although some are considered among the favorites in shorter distance speed-skating events.

Dutch entries were rated tops, with Ard Schenk of Holland the man to beat.

Before the Olympics come to an end Feb. 13, 35 gold medals will be handed out in skiing, skating, bobsledding, luge, biathlon and hockey.

Americans were generally rated far down the list in most events, with only speedskater Anne Henning, 16, of Northbrook, Ill., favored to pick up a top spot. She is world record holder in the 500 and 1,000 women's speedskating events.

The opening ceremonies, which were televised live via satellite, were held in windy, 20-degrees weather. Some of the more noted athletes failed to appear in the ceremonies, for various reasons, but 120 of the 165 U.S. athletes were in the line of march and constituted the largest group in the parade.

San Diego Gridders Move To Quit Loop

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — San Diego State has asked the Pacific Coast Athletic Association to drop the school as a conference member for football.

In its letter Wednesday to commissioner Jess Hill, the school said it would like to remain in the conference for all other sports.

Football Draft Finished

NEW YORK (UPI) — The annual National Football League college player draft ended Wednesday with George Allen getting a Moses for his "over the hill gang" and the world champion Dallas Cowboys giving every indication that they will deal away controversial running back Duane Thomas.

ALLEN

Allen, who did not have a rookie on his roster last season and whose club made the NFL playoffs with retreads and veterans, followed a rousing ovation from the draft gathering at the Marriott Essex house by selecting Moses Denson, a 29-year-old running back currently under contract to a Canadian league club.

Dallas, meanwhile, seemed to be gearing for a change in its backfield. Thomas didn't endear himself to the Cowboy management with his great stone face attitude and may have heralded his doom earlier this week by being caught in possession of marijuana.

COWBOYS

The Cowboys made their first two picks — Bill Thomas of Boston College and Robert Newhouse of Houston — running backs and selected four in all, adding Roy Bell of Oklahoma and Alan Thompson of Wisconsin. The Cowboys already have two other solid backs in Calvin Hill and Walt Garrison and could have something planned.

Ron Estay, the defensive tackle who helped Louisiana State rank as one of the nation's top defensive units, went to Denver and Minnesota quarterback Craig Curry was taken by Miami on the eighth round; Jeff Ford, the Georgia Tech defensive back who led the nation in interceptions as a sophomore, went to the New York Jets and Wisconsin running back Greg Johnson went to Miami as a defensive back on round nine; Rhett Dawson of Florida State, who ranked third in pass receiving, was taken by Houston on the 11th round; All America defensive tackle Mel Long of Toledo went to Cleveland as a linebacker on round 11; and Don Bunce, who quarterbacked Stanford to a Rose Bowl upset of Michigan, was taken by Washington on the 12th round.

Giants Peddle Veteran Lanier

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants provided action on three fronts yesterday — trading an infielder, signing a player, and acquiring a talent scout.

The National League baseball team peddled 8-year veteran infielder Hal Lanier to the New York Yankees.

Additionally, the Giants signed a potential star in Seldon Morton and acquired the services of Hector Lopez, a former Major League utility performer, as a scout.

"Maybe I'll get a chance to play regularly in New York," said Lanier from his home in San Mateo. "Yes, I'm a little sad and a bit surprised to be leaving San Francisco."

The Yankees gave the Giants an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named later.

Lanier joined the Giants in 1961 as a 19-year-old bonus choice out of high school at St. Petersburgh, Fla. He became the Giants' regular shortstop in 1964 but lost the job to rookie Chris Speier last season. Lanier batted .233 in 109 games last season.

With Lanier gone, Chris Arnold may be groomed as San Francisco's utility infielder. Arnold hit .343 at Phoenix last year and can play short, third or second base.

The Giants have signed Morton, a first baseman-outfielder, who was their sixth choice in the Special Phase of the free agent draft on January 12th.

Morton, a 5-11, 180-pound, 18-year-old, is a graduate of Jefferson High School in Daly City-who is currently attending Skyline ounior College in San Bruno. He was scouted and signed by Eddie Montague who saw him throughout his high school career and in the Peninsula Winter League.

Lopez, a 12-year major league veteran who saw service with the Kansas City A's and New York Yankees, has been signed to scout the Black and Latin-American players in the New York metropolitan area.

The 39-year-old Lopez, a native of Colon, Panama, broke into the majors with Kansas City in 1955 and was traded to the Yankees in 1959. He participated in five World Series, including 1962 when the Yanks edged the Giants, 1-0, in the seventh game at Candlestick Park.

Curtis Triumphs In Court

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The bizarre and complicated case of the University of California vs. the National Collegiate Athletic Association continues.

Federal Judge Albert C. Wollenberg issued a preliminary restraining order Tuesday against the NCAA's decision to place Cal on "indefinite probation."

NCAA executive director Walter Byers retaliated Wednesday by stating, "the penalty against the University of California remains in effect, and the University must meet its provisions as stated earlier.

'BLACKMAIL'

Senator Charges ABA Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said Wednesday Commissioner Jack Dolph of the American Basketball Association is attempting "to blackmail Congress" into permitting a merger of the two professional basketball leagues.

In a statement prepared for Senate delivery, Ervin said Dolph's threat to permit ABA teams to sign college players was designed to get college coaches to pressure Congress in favor of a merger.

But Dolph's strategy won't work, Ervin said, because he favors allowing college players to determine their own futures.

"While Mr. Dolph's loud protestations are an obvious attempt to blackmail Congress I hope the people of this country and their representatives turn the tables on him. I hope the people of this country will agree with my strongly held belief that as soon as a boy is professionally qualified to play basketball, in college or not, he should be allowed to play professionally for money," Ervin said.

Ervin is battling to block a bill before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee which would exempt professional basketball from the antitrust laws to permit a merger of the ABA and the National Basketball Association. The two leagues contend they need a merger to operate a common draft of college players. Without it, they say, they will go bankrupt.

JACK HANLEY

Giants' Farm System Finest In Baseball

All major league baseball clubs operate extensive farm systems but none is superior to the one Carl Hubbell directs for the Giants with Jack Schwarz doing the detailed administrative work that includes direction of two score scouts.

"Schwarz is the finest administrative secretary in baseball's farm system," says Frank Lane, who has been around baseball so long that some say he surveyed the first playing field for Abner Doubleday.

IN THE LAST two decades, Hubbell and Schwarz sent a steady stream of stars to the Giants, including the team's present trio of superstars, Willie Mays, Juan Marichal and Willie McCovey. More recently, Hubbell and Schwarz sent another trio of budding superstars to the Giants, Bobby Bonds, Ken Henderson and Chris Speier.

The story of how Willie Mays was signed by Eddie Montague, one of Schwarz' scouts, has been told and re-told. The story of how Evo Pusich, another of Schwarz' scouts, signed Bobby Bonds isn't as well known.

Other scouts had seen Bonds at Riverside City College but turned in negative reports on him. He couldn't hit the curve, they reported. Pusich firmly believed Bonds could overcome that weakness and told Schwarz that he was willing to stake his job on it. "If you're that convinced, sign him," Schwarz told Pusich.

"GIVE EVO full credit for discovering Bonds and arguing me into going for the bonus money for him," Schwarz now says.

Bonds broke into the National League with a grand slam home run off the Dodgers' John Purdin on June 25, 1968, for his first major league hit.

In 1969 Bonds set a major league record of 187 strikeouts and in 1970 he set a new one of 189. It seemed that the negative scouting reports on Bonds were right, that Pusich was wrong. But last season Bonds dramatically cut his strikeouts to 137 while batting .288, including 33 homers and 102 runs batted in.

VIRTUALLY ALL major league scouts, including those of the Giants, overlooked Speier when he was a shortstop whiz at Alameda High.

Even after two semesters at University of California at Santa Barbara, Speier escaped attention. So he became a semi-pro in Canada where Herman Hannah, scout of the Giants in Detroit, spotted Speier during one of Hannah's trips into Canada.

Hannah talked with Speier and when he learned he was from Alameda he told the young man that he might hear from the Giants when he returned home. Meanwhile, Hannah wrote a glowing report about Speier to Schwarz who took it from there.

SPEIER WAS the No. 1 pick of the Giants in the January, 1970, draft. Schwarz personally signed him. After one year in pro ball at Amarillo, The Giants' farm club in the Texas League, Speier was invited to the 1971 spring training camp of the big team.

Two months before 1971 spring training opened, Schwarz predicted: "Speier has played only one year of pro ball but he's ready right now for the big time. He's a breed of baseball player not common anymore. He's a throwback. He reminds me of old timers like Frankie Frisch and Bill Jurges."

Schwarz was right. Without Speier, a 21-year-old rookie, the Giants never would have made it to the National League pennant playoffs last year.

PREP NOTEBOOK

Defensive Play Proves Vital

By LEW CODDINGTON

The professionals sum it up best with the pithy phrase: "Offense is for show; defense is for dough." While there is no dough on the line in Marin County Athletic League basketball, there is a championship at stake, and defensive ability will mean a great deal in deciding who will get it.

Zone defenses predominate in the MCAL, for two reasons. One is to cover up individual defensive deficiencies. The other is that some coaches simply like zones, teach them better, and have good results with them. Sometimes, both reasons apply.

The zone insures that the area near the basket is guarded at all times. It cuts down on opponents driving in for shots or feeding a big man wandering around near the bucket.

Since the players are assigned to specific areas, opponents standing far outside have relatively unobstructed shots. Luckily for zone advocates, high school players can't hit 20 or 25-footers consistently, so the strategy works.

When an opponent does hit from outside, the zone team is forced to come outside to meet him, creating more room inside the zone, permitting opponents to cut inside, receive passes and make easy short shots.

The prevalence of zone play tends to minimize individual defensive achievements. Only two teams, Redwood and Tamalpais, play man-on-man exclusively. Terra Linda recently switched from man to zone. Drake and San Rafael are zone teams, while Marin Catholic, Novato and San Marin switch depending on circumstances.

Nonetheless, at least one player has earned praise around tha MCAL for his defensive play. He is Jared McFerrin of Tamalpais, whom coach Bernie Schneider calls "the best defensive forward in the league." McFerrin, a 6-foot-4 junior, invariably guards the other team's best forward, and invariably acquits himself well. His play is the chief reason Tam is leading the league in defense.

JARED McFERRIN
Best On Defense?

"Jared's secret is position," said Schneider. "He's always in the right place at the right time, keeping his man from getting the ball. "So much of it is mental. You have to want to do a job on defense."

McFerrin's best defensive game came against Marin Catholic Jan. 14, when he held the Wildcats' talented Jim Sullivan to four points. Sullivan is averaging 13.4.

"John Johnson (a guard) has come a long way for us defensively," said Schneider. The Indians also have Will Garner, who excels in any situation when leaping is required, and undoubtedly leads the league in blocked shots.

San Rafael coach Mike Diaz likes the play of unsung forward Duke Bessee. "He is the key to our zone," he said. "People don't realize this. He's always hustling and comes up with a lot of steals."

At Marin Catholic, the defensive play of Mickey Hurley has provided one of the few bright spots in a season with a long losing streak and a longer injury list. "Mickey goes against all the better players and more than holds his own," said coach Dave Gonsalves.

Terra Linda coach Bob Corley puts guard John Buckley on the other team's best guard, usually with good results. Corley said he was impressed with the man-for-man defenses at Novato and Redwood.

Redwood ranks second in team defense, with no spot that can be exploited consistently. Coach Dick Hart doesn't worry about juggling the lineup to shut off some other team's star. He just lets his players occupy their normal postiions, and lets the chips fall where they may, generally on the opponent's head.

Vancouver Throttles Seals, 5-1

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Vancouver Canucks finally caught up with rookie goaltender Gilles Meloche of the California Golden Seals.

Five different Canucks scored Wednesday night as Vancouver defeated California 5-1 to take the season series 4-2. Joey Johnston scored on a 30-footer with 7:16 remaining to ruin Dunc Wilson's bid for a shutout.

Meloche was working a string of two straight shutouts, including a 2-0 whitewash of Vancouver last Sunday. But the Canucks got to him early by scoring twice in the opening period and three times in the second.

That was enough to convince coach Vic Stasiuk that Meloche needed a rest. Gary Kurt took over in goal and blanked the Canucks while turning away nine shots in the final period.

Score by periods:

Vancouver	2	3	0	- 5
California	0	0	1	- 1

First Period — 1. Vancouver, Boudrias 18 (Balon) 5:07; 2. Vancouver, Boddy 1 (Lemieux, Taylor) 9:15. Penalties — Paiement 14:39, Schella 16:00, Vadnais (Major) 16:55.

Second Period —3. Vancouver, Maki 14 (Guevremont, Connelly) 1:53; 4. Vancouver, Balon 16 (Kearns, Paiement) 5:14; 5. Vancouver, Connelly 15 (Guevremont, Kurtenbach) 17:11. Penalties — Paiement (Double minor) 8:27, Biard 15:42, Marshall 16:40, Boddy 19:44.

Third Period — 6. California, J. Johnston 9 (Baird, Boldirev) 12:44. Penalties — Popiel 8:15, Guevremont 16:16.

Sonoma Resumes Play Against San Francisco '5'

The Sonoma State College Cossacks host teams from both sides of the Bay this weekend, hosting San Francisco State College and Cal State Hayward in pursuit of their first Far Western Conference basketball win in two years. The games will be played Friday and Saturday nights at 8 o'clock.

It won't be too entertaining for Cossack fans on Friday night, however, if coach Jerry Waugh's San Francisco State Gators play true to form. The Gators come into this contest with an 11-5 season record, but reside in first place with a 4-0 record.

The Gators have a high scoring, explosive offense featuring four starters averaging in double figures. Leading scorer and rebounder for San Francisco State is returning 6-foot-3, All-FWC forward Gary Bradford, averaging 17.9 points and 9.8 rebounds per game. Bradford is supported in the scoring column by guard Billy Metcalf with 14.3 points per contest, forward Larry Taylor, averaging 12.3 and 6-7 center Jack Wilson adding his 10.3 points per game.

To beat the Gators, the Cossacks will have to rely on outstanding forward Larry Austin, team leader in scoring and rebounding with 17.5 points and 12 rebounds per game. Sonoma State will also count on the fine outside shooting of freshman guard Jim DeLaughter and the rebounding of Henry Crawford and Basil Swaby.

Saturday night should be a different matter as the East Bay's Cal State Hayward Pioneers come into the game with an 0-5 conference record, tied with Sonoma for last place, and 2-14 record overall.

The Cossacks catch the Pioneers in the midst of a rebuilding year and the game should be closely contested.

Warriors To Host Atlanta

OAKLAND (UPI) — Guard Jeff Mullins of the Golden State Warriors may try to run on his badly sprained ankle tonight against the Atlanta Hawks.

"Of course everything depends on how the ankle feels when I warm up before the game," said the Warriors high-scoring backcourt ace. He turned the ankle in the fourth quarter of Tuesday night's loss to Milwaukee and was carried off the court.

"I came down on it pretty hard," added Mullins, "but it's been sprained before and everything in there has been pretty well stretched already."

Portland Fires Coach Todd

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— The Portland Trail Blazers of the National Basketball Association were shopping today for a new coach.

They fired Rolland Todd, 37, whom they hired from the University of Nevada at Las Vegas last year, because he lost control of the team.

"The field is wide open," said Portland executive vice president Harry Glickman, who announced Todd's firing Wednesday and the appointment of player personnel director Stu Inman as interim coach. Inman formerly coached at San Jose State and ended his career there in 1966 after a 10-season tenure.

"We'll consider all applicants, from the colleges, professional ranks, including professional stars now with a desire to coach," said Glickman.

Todd said he was surprised, but he was not bitter.

Most of the players reacted to the coaching change favorably at practice called by Inman Wednesday after Todd had posted a no practice Wednesday notice following Tuesday night's loss to the Phoenix Suns, the club's record-setting ninth straight loss. The team is 12-44 on the season—the worst record in the NBA.

Inman said he is concerned with getting to the heart of any player problems, but he believes the squad is one composed of people "who crave discipline and need to have their roles precisely defined." He said Todd had said as much when Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie, Portland's two star players, sounded off the first week in January about lack of team play and lack of coaching disciplime.

Todd said at the time "lack of communication and failure by me as coach to precisely outline the roles the players must take on this team has caused the problem." Inman says that and the need to improve defense are the main items of change coming up.

The situation reached a head Tuesday night when rookie guard Charles Yelverton, from Fordham, staged a sitdown proest during warmup and during the playing of the National Anthem over the placing of Willie McCarter on waivers. Wicks, during time outs, refused to participate in sideline discussions on strategy with Todd, and on the floor openly laughed and talked with players on the Suns.

McCarter had said he got a bad deal being placed on waivers and Todd should be waived, not him. He said all the players on the team were unhappy with Todd.

Glickman said the pre-game and gametime antics of Wicks and Yelverton were to be "separately dealt with." He said those actions and the team reaction to placing McCarter on waivers had no bearing on the firing of Todd basically.

ACROSS FROM EMPORIUM NEXT TO LONG'S

Petaluma, Montgomery Cagers Vie

Two Santa Rosa teams, Montgomery and Piner high schools, travel south tomorrow night to face Petaluma High School and Rancho Cotate High of Rohnert Park, as action resumes in the North Bay League and Sonoma County League after a week's hiatus.

Friday night's games, which begin the second half of the basketball season, will pit Montgomery at Petaluma High and Piner High School at Rancho Cotate, both games starting at 8:30 p.m.

The Petaluma Trojans, standing atop the NBI with a 5-1 mark at the half way point in the season, seek revenge against the Montgomery Vikings who pinned them with their only league loss this year. In that game, Petaluma almost pulled out a victory after coming back from an 18-point deficit with four minutes to play before losing by one.

As the SCL resumes play, Rancho Cotate finds itself in second place with a 4-2 record. One of those victories came against Piner High, and the Cougars hope to repeat that success tomorrow night.

Redwood Leads Statistics, But Tam Tops Standings

The standings belong to Tamalpais but the statistics belong to Redwood in Marin County Athletic League basketball.

The Redwood High School Giants from Larkspur rank first in shooting, first in scoring, second in defense, and first in margin of victory. Their top individual scorers rank second and third, their shooters first and fourth, their rebounders second and fourth.

And yet, they are only tied for second with a 5-2 record, well back of Tam's 7-0. At the halfway mark in the league season, with each team having played each opponent once, statistics are a more reasonable measure of team strength then they will be again until the season's end.

Redwood is scoring 65.7 points a game, nearly five and a half points better than San Rafael and almost 12 better than Tam. The Giants are yielding 51.7 a game, a hair better than Drake but almost five worse than Tam. On the average, Redwood is outscoring its foes 14.0 every time it takes the court.

Redwood is shooting 46 per cent on 189 successes on 414 tries from the field, according to figures compiled by its own statisticians. San Rafael is hitting 44 per cont on 151 of 345.

While the standards applied by team statisticians may not be uniform throughout the league, especially on something like assists, the figures provide an adequate rough yardstick of relative ability. Novato is not included, since no statistics are kept there.

Will Garner of Tam leads in scoring with 22.3 points a game. Steve McGee of Redwood is second with 16.6 and Tim Hennessy, also of Redwood, is third at 16.4.

McGee leads in field goal percentage, hitting 46 of 77 for 59 per cent. Tim Stone of Marin Catholic is second with 55 per cent (35-64), followed by Garner at 54 per cent (61-112) and Hennessy at 53 per cent (48-91). Nobody else exceeds 50 per cent.

Garner is the top rebounder, snatching 15.3 per outing. McGee is second at 12.1, Stone third at 10.0 for six games, and Hennessy fourth at 8.9.

Tam's Jared McFerrin is the statistical leader in assists with 4.3 a game, a remarkable performance for a forward. Redwood guard Sam Farb has 4.0, and Marin Catholic's Bill Reilly has 3.6 in limited action.

Among more prolific free-throw shooters, San Rafael's Donnie Canfield (32-42) and Wayne Lechner (22-29) both have impressive percentages of 76. San Rafael has the best foul-shooting team, connecting on 134 of 209 for 64 per cent.

The leaders for each team are listed below. To be included, a player must average 5.0 rebounds or 2.0 assists a game, or be shooting 40 per cent from the field or 55 per cent from the free-throw line with 14 made.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Not enough has been said of the importance of concentration in bowling. Among the chief distractions are the thoughtless bowlers who take their ball from the rack alongside a person who is getting ready to start their approach. If this happens, relax a moment before starting again. If you deliver the ball while angry, you'll probably make some mistake and then be twice as mad.

THE SKI SCENE

New Type Of Ski Tour Involves Boat, Airplane

By CHARLIE COANE

Ski tours go all over the world, and every year thousands of skiers pack up their gear and head somewhere where the snow is always whiter — hopefully.

Traditionally, you leap on a plane or train and take off for Aspen, Europe, Taos, Jackson Hole or whatever for a week of super skiing, fine food and apres ski, and then come home.

A new twist to the so-called "ski tour" has taken form with the help of some creative minds and a little cooperation between P&O Lines and Canadian Pacific Air. Who ever heard of taking a ship to ski? Well, you have now.

ON JAN. 15, an experiment began which involved sailing on P&O's SS Oriana to Vancouver, B.C., busing to nearby Whistler Mountain for five days of skiing, and returning to San Francisco by air. For around $250 (give or take a few) you received the full treatment on the ship, including meals, from Saturday at 6 p.m. until dvking at Vancouver early Monday morning. Transportation to, from and around Whistler was also included as was lodging and five days of lift tickets. Not too bad indeed.

The inaugural cruise was a gas. Quite a way to begin a ski vacation is aboard a ship! The British crew was like something out of Hollywood's central casting. The meals and accomodations were excellent and there were all sorts of activities: planned and impromptu parties, dancing, ski movies, games and yes, bingo. The adult beverages were embarrassingly inexpensive. You have the run of the ship.

THE ORIANA normally runs from Vancouver to San Francisco to Los Angeles, through the Caribbean and back in reverse. Consequently, the San Francisco to Vancouver run is relatively empty and a group of friendly skiers can have a ball. The whole setup should become quite popular if they run it again next season — and all indications are that they will.

In fact, there could be several tours heading north next season. There is one more tour this year — leaving Feb. 12 for ten days instead of the earlier trip of eight days. The transportation is reversed: up by air, back by ship. Many of the ski-oriented travel agencies, such as Daman-Nelson in San Francisco, have all the details. You can bet that word-of-mouth will create a demand next year.

WHAT ABOUT the skiing? The January group ran into great skiing for a few days and then an awful lot of snow. The Canadian air traffic controllers' strike forced the group to bus to Seattle to fly home. January in Canada will normally bring a few snow falls. It can be a powder-skier's paradise, and it may be too much even for the powder-buffs. It can be a the powder, you may be better off in February, March or April.

The mountain at Whistler is a beauty. It has the longest vertical drop in North America and will give you all you can handle — including helicopter skiing.

What will happen next season remains to be seen. But it looks like the ship-bus-air combo will go again — perhaps several times. If you want to go out of the state, check this move to Canada.

Bill To Aid High School Sports Shown By Assemblyman Biddle

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

SACRAMENTO — A bill imposing a 5 per cent tax on game admissions to professional sports events to finance high school athletics was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

Biddle estimated that his measure would raise about $3 million annually. It would also impose the tax on closed-circuit telecast receipts.

He said the bill was "a much-needed attempt to relieve already hard-pressed educational funds for priority academic use in our classrooms.'

Horse Racing

ARCADIA — Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Joe Hernandez, the "Voice of Santa Anita" and one of the nation's best known horse race callers.

Hernandez, 62, died yesterday of a heart ailment at Arcadia Methodist Hospital.

He called every race at Santa Anita Park since the track started operations on Christmas Day 1934. His string of races called ran to 15,587 until last Thursday when he collapsed at the microphone as he was calling the first race on the day's program. He had been kicked by a horse earlier in the day and was hospitalized, then suffered a heart attack Sunday night.

Skiing

SACRAMENTO — Triple Olympic gold medalist Debbie Meyer, who announced her retirement from competitive swimming last week at the age of 19, has broken an ankle while learning to ski.

Mrs. Betty Meyer said yesterday her daughter suffered the injury Monday while skiing with friends at Lake Tahoe. She said Debbie's left ankle has been placed in a cast and she will remain off the ankle until it is placed in a walking cast next week.

Mrs. Meyer said Debbie, a student at American River College in Sacramento, was "just learningf' how to ski.

Football

TAMPA, Fla. — The University of Tampa, which has provided head football coaches to two major colleges in two years, dipped into the powerful Big Ten Conference yesterday and named Ohio State Offensive Coordinator Earle Bruce as its new head coach.

Basketball

CHICAGO — Big Ten faculty representatives have rejected an appeal by Minnesota to allow two suspended basketball players to practice with the team.

The two players, Corky Taylor and Ron Behagen, were suspended by both the school and Commissioner Wayne Duke for the balance of the season for their role in a fight between Minnesota and Ohio state players at the end of their game last week.

Bowling

SAN JOSE — Don Glover, a five-time champion from South Bend, Ind., averaged 239 pins per game yesterday and after the opening six-game block he was the leader by 25 pins in the $85,000 Mercury Cougar Open Bowling Tournament.

Tennis

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Older sister Chris — 17 — held up the honor of the Evert family Wednesday by defeating Corrine Molesworth of England 6-2, 6-3.

Thus Chris and her 14-year-old sister, Jeannie, who upset Rosemary Casals Tuesday, both have advanced in the $25,000 Tennis Club Women's International Tournament.

But at least one member of the world's women's tennis elite — Billie Jean King — gave a member of the younger generation a lesson in tennis.

In Wednesday night play, Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., trounced 15-year-old Kathy Kuykendall of Miami, 6-1, 6-1.

SOLID AMERICAN THINKING:

GREMLIN

The best of American thinking has always been practical. Like our Gremlin. It's just what this country has always needed. It's small where you want it to be. With a longer wheelbase and wider track that still can turn inside a VW Beetle.

And, Gremlin is big where you'd like it to be.

With a solid 232 cubic inch standard six-cylinder engine that out-powers the four-cylinder engine of other small cars. Like Datsun, Toyota, Pinto and Vega.

And with a 21 gallon gas tank that's almost twice the capacity of just about every other small car, you can go up to 480 miles on a single tankful. Drive one. At $1999*, our Gremlin, backed by the American Motors Buyer Protection Plan, is a very Solid American buy.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price, state and local taxes excluded. White walls $34.35, California destination charges $99, and other options extra.

OUR PROMISE:

When you buy a new 1972 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship.

This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for, under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.

WORD-A-DAY

McGuire Boots Appeal In Blood Alcohol Test Case

An appeal of a Marin Municipal Court decision suppressing chemical evidence in some drunken driving cases has been denied by a superior court judge.

But the prosecutor who made the appeal said the higher court's decision did not mean the cases would be dismissed.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony had appealed a decision last June by Municipal Court Judge David Menary Jr. on a motion by 45 separate defendants to suppress the results of chemical tests because glass ampules, used to administer the tests, had been thrown away and were not available to the defense.

The ampules are used in administering the breathanalyzer test — a method of determining the amount of alcohol in a person's blood.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of superior court dismissed Anthony's appeal yesterday, saying it was without grounds.

All of the cases have been pending in municipal court awaiting the superior court decision. Anthony said today he would discuss with Menary the possibility of proceeding on one of the cases as a test.

If the case is dismissed by the judge, presumably for insufficient evidence, Anthony said he then would have sufficient grounds for another appeal to superior court.

In his decision last June, Menary said it was impossible to retest the ampule for blood alcohol content after one test had been run.

But, he said, it was possible, although not probable, that various factors connected with the ampules could result in inaccurate test results, and thus the ampules should be available to the defense.

In addition to the 45 cases named in the original motion to suppress, Anthony said about 100 more cases are pending settlement of the ampules issue.

Since Menary's decision, the ampules now are kept and made available to the defense, he said.

Firms Checked On Price-Listing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Internal Revenue Service reported Wednesday that 1,700 Northern California businesses have been checked for violations of price-posting regulations.

Stuart Patt, IRS district information officer, said about 80 per cent of them were in compliance with Cost-of-Living Council requirements.

Patt said 18 per cent of the remaining 20 per cent revamped the posting standards to gain compliance. The remaining two per cent, he added, were still under investigation or were in the process of being checked by the U.S. Attorney's office.

Last week in Sacramento, he said, formal charges were filed against three firms for irregularities.

The Northern California check took two weeks, Patt said.

BAY SMOG BOARD TORN ON FIRING

Secret Charges Against District Counsel Revealed; Top Man Also Is Pressured

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SANTA ROSA — Secret charges behind a bitterly disputed move to fire the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District legal officer were disclosed yesterday — and promptly described as so vague as to be virtually meaningless. (Another control district story, page 1.)

The charges against district counsel Matthew S. Walker alleged that he had "failed to work harmoniously" with the top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, that he had "failed to communicate openly and freely" with Callaghan, and that he had "withheld the full extent of his cooperation from" Callaghan.

Walker also was cited for criticizing the district enforcement policy, which he did to newsmen after the district's personnel committee recommended three months ago that he be fired.

Specifically, Walker accused Callaghan and some district directors, whom he did not name, of shielding industrial polluters from prosecution in court by his office.

A new twist in yesterday's four-hour wrangle over Walker in city hall here was the first public mention by several directors that Callaghan also may be considered for firing. Several citizens groups previously called for firing Callaghan, who is commonly acknowledged to have initiated the move to fire Walker.

A series of inconclusive votes on various motions to postpone the issue indefinitely left it set for a final showdown vote at a special board meeting at 10 a.m. March 15 in district offices at 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. was the only one of the 18 board members who failed to attend the session. He and six other members of the nine-member personnel committee worked up the charges against Walker two months ago, and recommended his firing but refused to disclose the charges until several directors demanded yesterday they be aired publicly.

The board has been bitterly split over the issue, and its outcome remains uncertain.

Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, immediate past chairman of the district board, was among several who conceded the real issue had become a test of Callaghan's support. "Frankly, I'm torn apart on this issue. I don't know which way to turn — whether one or the other, or both, go," Calvo said.

According to the list of charges, drafted by a member of the personnel committee, Napa County Supervisor Joseph G. Peatman, Walker had told the committee "that he cannot continue in the employ of the district if the employment of the air pollution control officer (Callaghan) is continued."

Walker, however, told newsmen that this last charge was not what he had told the committee. He said he had told them he could remain with the district only if he reported directly to the board of directors instead of to Callaghan.

This was the law before 1969, when Callaghan succeeded in having it changed so that Walker was put under his wing instead of being a separate authority directly under the board.

Walker, viewing the charges for the first time, told the board that the list "doesn't say anything." He said he would demand more detailed charges, but it was unclear whether he would get them. The attorney hired to advise the board in handling the Walker dispute, Arthur Harris of Berkeley, said that details of the charges need not be given Walker since the law allowed his firing without any cause.

Several directors indicated after the meeting that the charges did not appear to warrant firing Walker. Sausalito City Councilman Wyman Hicks, vice chairman of the district board, said "these are allegations, but there is no way to find out if they are true."

More than an hour of the board's six-hour meeting was taken up by board members attempting to find a way to discuss firing Walker behind closed doors, but Walker demanded a public hearing as allowed by law.

A telegram from a Barry Hastings, who was not otherwise identified, led to a request by the board that the wire's charge of unethical conduct by Walker be checked out by the San Francisco county counsel's office. The telegram said Walker improperly was represented by an attorney whose firm also represents an oil company before the district.

Walker explained that the attorney, an old friend, was representing him in a divorce action brought by his wife, but San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair, a leader in the move to oust Walker, persuaded others the matter should be looked into.

The strongest words during the long session came from Mountain View City Councilman William R. Jelavich, who declared the dispute had caused "the stature of this district to slump to an all-time low." The district's purpose was to clean up air pollution, he asserted, "not to play games on the seventh floor (administrative offices)."

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors also:

EXEMPTIONS — Heard a plea by the Air Conservation Council of Northern California to start citing polluters for violations occurring while an application for an exemption from district regulations is pending.

COMPUTER — Deferred action on contracting with Hewlett-Packard Co. for electronic data processing service at a monthly cost of $4,232, further discussion set for a board "workshop" meeting at 10 a.m. on Feb. 16 in district offices, 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco.

FURNITURE — Ordered office furniture through the federal General Services Administration at a cost of $8,384.

SONOMA — Ordered 13 air contaminant recorders for use in Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties at a cost of $15,970, the equipment to be supplied by Leeds and Northrup Co. of San Mateo.

VAN — Bought a van from Concord Dodge Inc., of Concord for $4,077.

JAMES M. MENDELSOHN

Terra Linda Scout Due Eagle Rank

James M. Mendelsohn, a member of Boy Scout Troop 71 in Terra Linda, will be awarded the rank of Eagle Scout at a court of honor at 8 p.m. Feb. 14 at St. Isabella's Parish Center, Terra Linda.

Mendelsohn, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Mendelsohn, 646 Tamarack Drive, is senior patrol leader of Troop 71, sponsored by St. Isabella's Church, and has been in scouting since living in the East. He moved with his family to Marin in 1968.

The youth is a sophomore at Marin Ctholic High School, Kentfield.

In a special project necessary to gain his Eagle rank, Mendelsohn organized, wrote and distributed literature encouraging the community to participate in recycling programs.

Free Class In Music Hearing

A free beginning course in mental hearing of music for professional musicians or those studying to become professional is being offered through February and March at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Classes, being held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, are taught by Wynn Westover, a teacher of sight singing, rhythm and ear training at the College of Marin. The course is sponsored by music from Bear Valley, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Further information may be obtained by calling Redwood High School or by writing Westover at Box 853, Sausalito.

New Penalty Idea In Hostage Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Legislation had been introduced in the House that would authorize sentences ranging up to the death penalty for inmates in federal prisons who seize hostages.

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, RCalif., said the Attica, N.Y., prison riot and the hostages slain in it demonstrated the need for such legislation. While most of the hostages at Attica died at the hands of officers trying to free them, he said, "Their being held directly resulted in their death."

Homeowner Group To Elect

The Homestead Valley Community Association will hold its annual membership dinner meeting and election of officers at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Secretary Virginia Spalding said members will discuss the state of Brown's Hall, which the association has been considering selling because of the tax burden. Future plans for the group also will be weighed.

Homestead Valley residents wishing more information on the meeting and potluck supper should call Audrey Peterson at 112 Janes Street, Mrs. Spalding said.

Identification Wrong In Story

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday by identifying Edward M. Powell as both a defeated candidate for the Kentfield Fire Protection District board and a demoted former assistant chief.

Powell was defeated in the Nov. 2 election, but Raymond Vogel, a candidate not named in the story, was the former Kentfield assistant chief who was demoted to lieutenant and left the department last year. The other two being considered to fill a vacancy are Sara S. Tuckey and Dorothy Poganski.

School Boss Wants New Job Contract

Supt. William E. Johnson of Lagunitas School District is dissatisfied with the contract he signed five months ago.

After a closed meeting Tuesday night to discuss teacher evaluation, board president Gary T. Giacomini announced that Johnson had requested renegotiation of the contract. Giacomini said it would be considered at a meeting Feb. 14.

Johnson would not disclose what his requests were in renegotiating the contract. He was hired on Aug. 23 at $18,500 per year for two years.

Giacomini said the renegotation requested would be for a possible shortening of the length of the contract.

The Lagunitas School District Board also:

MINIMUM DAY — Explained to approximately 50 persons attending the meeting that the weekly minimum day would not affect student classroom time. The extra time would be taken from recesses and lunch periods. The board has set each Wednesday for a minimum day so it could discuss programs with the teachers.

COMMITTEE — Named six persons to an open-ended committee to discuss employer-employee relations policy. Those named were trustees Audrey Miller and Richard Sloan; principal Harry Roche and teachers Kay Dewing, Marianne Kolanoski and Sandra Dorward.

REPORTS — Set a calendar for hearing reports on school activities. Dates set were: Feb. 14 on guidance and Elementary and Secondary Education Act compensation; Feb. 28, seventh and eighth-grade programs and special educational programs; March 13, the Miller-Unruh reading program and nature study program.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Monday to hear reports and continue its closed meeting on the superintendent's contract.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

A San Rafael motorcyclist was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered in a traffic accident yesterday.

San Rafael police said Good was driving west of Bellam Boulevard at about 12:12 p.m. yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a car driven by John R. Cook, 18, of 805 Fourth Street, who was pulling out of a driveway at 141 Bellam.

Cantarutti Wins Honors In Novato

Ben Cantarutti, Novato electrical contractor, has been honored belatedly by the city for design of the McGillicuddy-Cantarutti warehouse on Reichert Avenue, north of Grant Avenue.

When the annual design awards were presented Jan. 21, the warehouse was first in the industrial category and the award was given to the listed owner, Eugene D. McGillicuddy.

It later was learned that Cantarutti was part-owner of the building, so an award also was given to him.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Tax Advantage Denied To Millions

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. The company I work for does not have any pension plan. Is there any way I can set one up for myself using earnings before taxes are figured? — O.G.

A. At present this tax advantage is denied you and millions of other individuals who are not covered by employers or H.R. 10 (Keogh Act). This may soon be remedied if a bill being sponsored by Wilbur Mills, a Democrat, and John Byrnes, a Republican, is enacted. Under the bill, an indivudual will be able to contribute up to 20 per cent but no more than $1,500 of his income to a retirement plan, tax free.

Interest and dividends earned will accumulate tax-free until the plan holder reaches 65. Annual pension payments will be taxes as ordinary income. Selection of investment vehicle will be up to the individual.

The bill, which has the backing of President Nixon, is expected to pass with no major opposition. However, a letter to your congressional representatives stating your support for the bill would do no harm.

Q. I own 100 shares of Halliburton Co. at a cost of $34 per share. Should I hold or sell? The dividend is not very large. — Z.C.

A. The $1.05 annual dividend stands an excellent chance of being increased this year since it has remained unchanged for three years and is below the average paid out by Halliburton in recent years. Nonetheless, this issue is more notable for its long-term growth record than it is for its generous dividend return.

Earnings recovery for the year just ended — $3.20 a share is anticipated — should support favorable market performance in the months ahead. For the first nine months net increased 16 per cent on a 33 per cent gain in revenue.

In addition, stepped-up exploratory activities and increased capital spending in an uptrending economic climate should generate similar strong earnings gains this year. Unless your need for additional income is pressing I would favor holding these Big Board shares.

THE SOLUTION

Having trouble backing up your trailer? Here's the solution — a car-top trailer hitch. The 18-foot-long prototype trailer designed for small cars was displayed recently at the Midwest Open Trails camping show in St. Louis. Developed by Harmon Industries of Warrensburg, Mo., the trailer is attached to the car roof in a fashion similar to that of a luggage rack. A car can turn 360 degrees without unhooking or striking the trailer.

Novel Boys Club Approach To Novato Fund-Raising

The Novato Boys Club, aiming for a $100,000 building fund, has a new approach to fund-raising which is a long way from ringing doorbells and mailing brochures.

A $45,900, five-bedroom house is being constructed in West Novato in the drive's behalf. When it is sold, the club will get the profit, estimated at $20,000.

Workmen, contractors and real estate brokers are volunteering efforts, and materials are either donated or provided at cost, president Edward T. Ghirardo reported.

The project was the ideal of Reuben W. Kaehler, a Novato contractor. Harry W. Locke, a club director, offered the half-acre site at "sacrifical cost," Ghirardo said.

Kaehler-Timmer Development Co. is in charge of construction, coordinating the services of craftsmen, suppliers and subcontractors.

About 35 craftsmen are working Friday afternoons and Saturdays on the two-story structure of Spanish design, which will stand on a Knoll at 3 Christopher Court.

The foundation has been poured and plumbing, heating and ventilation equipment has been installed by Aero Heating and by Sheet Metal Co., both of Novato.

William A. Timmer, Novato real estate broker handling the sale, said the house may be inspected while under construction.

Ash Arraigned In Burglary

Arnold Dean Ash, 18, of Glen Ellen, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of attempted burglary.

He was to plead to the charge today.

Ash was arrested early Tuesday when Novato police said they found him on the roof of Holderby's Pet Shop, 1557 South Novato Boulevard.

Pedestrian Violators Will Be Ticketed

San Rafael police will begin a campaign against pedestrian violations, Chief Joseph J. Brusatori said today.

Police will give tickets for pedestrians walking against a red light and for jaywalking, he said. They also will give tickets to drivers of cars who do not yield to pedestrians in crosswalks, the chief said.

'Softer' Peace Plan Submitted By Cong

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong submitted a new and somewhat softer peace plan today, promising to release all American prisoners of war the day all U.S. troops are withdrawn from South Vietnam and to begin peace negotiations with the Saigon government if President Nguyen Van Thieu resigns.

The plan, submitted at the 143rd regular session of the Vietnam peace talks, was coupled with an appeal by the Viet Cong for the South Vietnamese armed forces to join Hanoi's side in the war to force withdrawal of American troops and "liberate the south."

The appeal was addressed to the people of South Vietnam as well as the armed forces, urging them "to close their ranks to march forward ... with the determination to foil the U.S. Vietnamization plan to fight so as to bring about the complete withdrawal of all U.S. troops and the collapse of the puppet army and administration to liberate the South, to defend the North and to proceed to the peaceful reunification of the country."

The peace plan and the appeal both were presented by the Viet Cong delegate at the talks, Nguyen Van Tien. U.S. negotiator William J. Porter said the Viet Cong plan was "rather frantic" and will take time to "sort out." He urged the Communist side to accept President Nixon's eight-point peace plan that was announced last month.

U.S. delegation spokesman Stephen Ledogar later described the new Viet Cong plan as offering "nothing new." The new phrasing left many points obscure and merely confused the issue," he said at a news conference.

Ledogar, without formally rejecting the Viet Cong brief, served notice the Americans want to deal above all with the nine-point North Vietnamese package submitted to presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger in secret talks by Hanoi representatives last year.

Ledogar dismissed the Viet Cong call for the dismissal of interested in reality or individuals. They are interested only in our taking apart the non-Communist government sector in South Vietnam.

Tien described the plan as a variation of the seven-point proposal submitted by the Viet Cong last July 1 and never formally rejected by the United States.

However, it was a somewhat softer version and reflected a relaxation of Communist demands.

The Communists first demanded they be allowed to set the date for the final U.S. troops withdrawal. Today's plan said the United States could set the date and all U.S. prisoners of war, including American pilots captured in North Vietnam, would be released on that day.

The Communists also talked earlier of replacing the entire

U.S. Would Consider Any North Vietnam POW Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States is willing to consider any serious North Vietnamese proposal concerning release of prisoners of war, a high-ranking State Department official testified today.

William H. Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs, said that while President Nixon's Jan. 25 peace proposal "offers a fair, reasonable basis for resolving the Vietnam conflict, we remain willing to consider any serious proposal concerning POWs."

Sullivan spoke only a short time after the Viet Cong's new peace plan in Paris and apparently did not take note of it. Meanwhile, Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to South Vietnam, conferred at the White House with President Nixon.

During his Capitol Hill visit, Sullivan faces questioning on an allegation that the United States allowed Saigon to possibly block a neutral inspection of POW camps in North Vietnam.

A congressman said Hanoi first agreed to such an inspection if Saigon would also allow its POW camps to be inspected, but that Saigon balked.

The State Department said Hanoi cancelled an inspection tour by Amnesty International as "part of a consistent pattern by North Vietnam of rejecting all visits by individuals or organizations with an interest in prisoners."

North Vietnam cancelled the visit on the grounds that South Vietnam had postponed a similar visit by Amnesty International. South Vietnam gave the excuse that it was engaged in repatriating 600 North Vietnamese prisoners of war.

In a letter to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., David M. Abshire, assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, said the North Vietnamese reason for canceling the trip was "no more than a flimsy evasion." The letter, which was released by the department today, was dated Nov. 5, 1971.

Sullivan told the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on National Security Policy and Scientific Development that Nixon's public offer included an offer to implement prisoner re-

Marin EOC Boss Has 'Had It,' May Resign His Post

Board Criticizes Top Executive— 'Poor Leadership, Morale' Cited

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The executive director of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council came under fire last night from his board for poor leadership and today said he may resign.

W. Robert Lomax Jr., who has headed the anti-poverty agency for about three years, told the Independent-Journal he planned to discuss the matter further with the board at a closed session next week.

"If I do resign, I personally think it will hurt the agency," he said. Lomax declined to give specific reasons for contemplating quitting. "I've just had it. I've been here long enough," he said.

Lomax made no mention of a report circulated by some board members today that he had been asked to resign prior to last night's meeting by board president Robert P. Simmons of Corte Madera. Simmons could not be reached for comment.

Two board members who asked not to be identified, told the I-J that pressure for Lomax's resignation is coming from various cities through their board representatives who are disenchanted with the lack of accountability for EOC spending.

They said Lomax is being given a chance to resign before a formal request is made for his firing, which would probably divide the 36-member governing board.

The lack of accountability of funds and low morale among EOC employees were at the heart of board discussion last night on an application for federal funding.

The application, requesting about $196,000 as Washington's share of next year's EOC budget, was approved last night but it prompted unanswered questions of how Lomax planned to use the money.

Lomax responded that the use of funds was outlined in a synopsis of his budget — a synopsis which lists program names and objectives but fails to clarify how much and where money will be spent.

Lomax said he had provided no evaluation of past performance of his programs — such as the neighborhood EOC centers, food distribution and job placement — because he felt that was the board's responsibility.

But the board committee assigned the task of evaluating the various programs reported the job had been incomplete since the EOC staff has, in some cases, not provided the proper information.

The committee's report also contained a blast at Lomax and his immediate staff for poor leadership.

"On one hand, the staff appears to be qualified and interested in the EOC goals and objectives," the reports said, "yet on the other hand we find weakness reflected in employee relations, public relations, training, control and especially leadership. Poor morale, confusion and mistrust are intangibles which are difficult to identify."

"I want to know what programs are needed and this tells me nothing," board member John K. Donovan said of the synopsis.

He was joined by Harold Stockstad, who noted that three months ago he had asked the EOC staff for a written explanation of its budget proposal.

Calling Lomax's report a "collection of meaningless numbers and bland verbiage," Stockstad said he had to know how effectively present EOC programs are operating before

FCC Adopts Compromise Plan On Big City Cable Television

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) adopted rules today to allow cable television to enter the nation's cities under a compromise plan protecting the exclusivity of free television programs.

The long-awaited rule —six years in the making —drew an instant, sharp reaction from the FCC's maverick member, Nicholas Johnson. He charged that at least 40 per cent of the American people —"those who live in the largest cities" — would now not get cable TV.

The rules take effect March 31 subject to requests for reconsideration. But FCC Chairman Dean Burch said he doubted there would be further delay.

The FCC voted 4 to 1 for the rules on the basis of a compromise agreement worked out last Nov. 10 by the boards of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) and the National Cable Television Association (NCTA).

The key section —and the most controversial —provides that a cable company may not import any network or syndicated program into a city where a local television station is carrying the program in any of the nation's top 50 TV markets.

In the next 50 largest markets the exclusivity would last one year for old network series and two years for movies and series produced outside the network.

A cable system picks up television signals from a community master antenna, amplifies them, and sends them via cable to homes of subscribers for a fee.

So far, cable systems have been virtually frozen out of metropolitan areas pending adoption of the FCC rules because broadcasters feared the competition from imported distant signals.

The National Cable Television Association Inc., said the FCC's ruling would make "this a most significant day in the history of communications."

The industry organization said that while it believed the commission had been too timid in easing restrictions on cable television, "we sincerely believe the public interest is better served by having definite rules in hand now rather than hopes for more extensive relief some time in the future ..."

Johnson, in his objection, said: "If cable is to grow, it must be in the big cities — where it's precluded. If the potential need and demand for leased channels, public access channels, and minority programming are to be served, it must be in the big cities. It won't be."

Burch announced the new rules at a news conference, and of Johnson's complaint, he said, "I don't understand it."

Burch agreed that the economic incentive for cable television to expand "no doubt is perhaps less in the top 50 markets than in smaller markets."

But Burch said, "I don't think anybody ever thought that cable could go into the top cities without exclusivity. If all we were doing with this package was just hustling signals around the country, it would be ludicrous. Cable TV has to do a lot more. We have to open the way to see if it will be the wave of the future."

Burch said he hoped the rules would make cable television, which started in the 1950s by serving rural areas that were inaccessible to television signals, "more than just an antenna service."

$13.9 Million Bypass Bid; Job Start Awaits Court

By FRANK FARRARA

A combine of South Bay firms was low bidder yesterday for the 5.3-mile Highway 101 bypass in Novato, a project that still faces the threat of injunction.

Freeman-Sondgroth of Palo Alto and Lew Jones Construction Co. of San Jose submitted the low bid of $13,996,325, according to Robert Halligan, district press officer, state Division of Highways. The engineer's estimate for the job had been $14.6 million.

Start of the job depends upon a decision by U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham on a suit to halt work until an environmental impact study is made.

Peckham took the suit by three Novato residents and the Environmental Law Fund under study following a hearing in San Francisco Monday and hasn't announced a decision.

The division of highways has estimated that an injunction could delay the long-awaited project for up to two years and jeopardize $10.8 million in federal funding.

The state has up to 30 days to award the contract, Halligan said. If the judge grants an injunction, it won't be awarded, he said.

There were four other bidders and the highest was Gordon Ball Inc., the firm that stirred controversy in Novato with its proposal to level Reichert Hills to gain fill for the job.

Environmental Law Fund Inc., dormant in its early months and relatively obscure, burst upon the public scene recently with its first move — the suit to halt construction of the Highway 101 bypass.

The nonprofit corporation, formed by a group of Marin and Sonoma conservationists last year, was on the verge of coming out of its cocoon when the bypass matter literally came in through the door.

Three Novato residents, Jerry A. Cannon, Donald M. Wilhelm and Irving Perlman, seeking an environmental study on the bypass, asked for assist-

Young San Franciscan Will Run For Congress

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A 25-year-old San Franciscan, Alan Douglas French, yesterday declared his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the Sixth Congressional District.

French, a 1969 graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, will run against San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas in the June 6 primary election. No one else so far has indicated an intention to seek the nomination to run against the Republican incumbent. William S. Mailliard of San Francisco.

The young candidate, announcing his candidacy at a press conference, said that Boas "has scared every other professional candidate out of the race," adding that he ,ot only would beat Boas but defeat "the time-encrusted, barnacled old representative who's been wasting San Francisco's name in Washington for the last 20 years."

The Sixth District, under the state Legislature's 1971 reapportionment plan, will include all of Marin and western San Francisco. For the past four years, it has included Marin north to Hamilton Air Force Base.

French, a bachelor, was a

Light Rain Breaks Marin's Cold Spell

Breaking a cold spell that had plunged temperatures into the mid-20s, a light rain fell last night and this morning on Marin and Southern Sonoma Counties.

The rain was heavier in the north and tapered off as the storm moved southward. Up to 8 a.m. today, Petaluma recorded .17 inch of rain and Novato, .15 inch. Other readings at the same time were Tamalpais Valley, .09; Mill Valley, .06 and Sausalito, a trace. Up to noon today, San Rafael recorded .11 inch.

Natural Gas Shortage Held Pollution Threat

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A nationwide shortage of natural gas threatens the Bay Area with increased air pollution from power plants in coming years, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. warned yesterday.

Natural gas burns virtually free of air pollutants compared to fuel oil's heavy emissions, but increasing reliance on fuel oil was the only alternative if predicted shortages of natural gas worsen, Bay Area smog officials were told by an attorney for the huge utility.

At issue, he told Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors, was a pending federal order diverting the diminishing supply of natural gas from Northern to Southern California on the ground that air pollution was more severe in the southern part of the state. (Another pollution control district story, page 38.)

Dismayed district directors voted unanimously to join the utility's fight against the diversion.

Panel Rejects Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rejecting President Nixon's request for a record $50 billion increase in the national debt, the House Ways and Means Committee voted today to allow only a $20 billion boost, to a new ceiling of $450 billion, through June 30.

Nixon had sought the larger increase, to a total of $480 billion, to allow the government to continue borrowing to finance deficits until next February.

The panel adopted the $450 bill on ceiling unanimously, as proposed by Rep. Joe Waggonner, D-La.

Ike's Successor In Europe Dies

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Retired Air Force Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, pioneer flier, aircraft executive and successor to Dwight Eisenhower as commander of American forces in Europe after World War II died Tuesday at 78.

McNarney

McNarney was a member of the West Point class of 1915 —the famous "class the stars fell upon" — so named because it produced so many generals.

He served as commander of the First Aero Squadron in France during World War I. In World War II he went to London as a special observer before the United States entered the war.

In 1945 he became deputy supreme allied commander in the Mediterranean Theater, and commanding general of the North African theater.

After the war he was named to succeed Eisenhower.

He retired from the Air Force in 1952 and became president of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp.

Viet Vet Fined

HOMEWOOD, Ala. (UPI) — Kevin Doherty, a young Vietnam veteran whose hair hangs below his shoulders, said he wore the military jacket given him by the Army for warmth.

Wednesday night in the city court of this Birmingham suburb, Doherty, who spent one year in Vietnam, was fined $100 for illegally wearing part of a military uniform.

Discharged honorably in 1969 as a specialist 5, Doherty said the fatigue jacket he was wearing when he was arrested Jan. 22 was part of three uniforms issued to him. The prelaw student at the University of Alabama Birmingham is a member of a local band and had just finished a recording session when he was arrested.

Doherty is appealing the conviction.

Strike in Rome

ROME (UPI) — Thousands of strikers marched through Rome today, waving flags and chanting anti-government slogans in the first general strike here in four months.

Two youths threw Molotov cocktails at a car owned by the dean of a Rome law school. Police said it was the only reported violence.

The 24-hour strike began yesterday when railroad employees left their posts and offices. Tens of thousands of other workers joined the walkout at midnight.

Cleanliness Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has recommended old fashioned cleanliness as the best way for hospitals to avoid infant infections without the help of hexachlorophene, a germ killing chemical now considered a health hazard.

The Food and Drug Administration warned Dec. 8 against washing babies with hexachlorophene.

The issue posed a classic confrontation of benefits versus risks, and 24 government scientists met for six hours Wednesday to consider it. They concluded that hexachlorophene's risks outweighed its benefits except in rare instances.

Opium Crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high State Department official said today that Turkey appears to be making steady progress toward banning all opium production by the end of this year — an achievement which could significantly reduce the U.S. supply of heroin.

"The potential for eliminating the Turkish supply is there if everything keeps on the tracks," said Nelson Gross, senior adviser to Secretary of State William P. Rogers and coordinator for international carcotics matters.

Heath Urges Cancellation Of Irish Protest March

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British Prime Minister Edward Heath sent an appeal to Northern Ireland's Roman Catholics today to call off a new protest march Sunday, but a civil rights leader said the parade would go ahead anyway.

In Londonderry, six persons were injured when gunmen bombed a shop and bus station during the lunchtime rush hour. It was the first major violence in the city since 13 civilians died in a clash there with British troops Sunday.

British officials said Heath made the plea in a letter to Cardinal William Conway, primate of all Ireland, and warned that the scheduled march in the town of Newry, near the zorder with the Irish Republic, could lead to more bloodshed.

British army and Northern Ireland government officials issued a statement today reiterating that troops would enforce the provincial government's ban on the march. A similar confrontation led to Sunday's bloodshed.

In Londonderry, UPI correspondent Colin Baker said six persons were injured when a bomb blast damaged a drapery shop within seconds of another explosion which set a nearby bus station ablaze. Police said there were no casualties in the bus station attack.

In Belfast, a bomb explosion demolished a pub frequented mainly by Catholics, killing a man and injuring seven other persons, five seriously, police said. The pub bombing apparently was in retaliation for the bar owner's refusal to close during the mourning period for the 13 victims of the Londonderry shooting, security forces said.

The blast at the pub in Stewartstown was the first in the community since the current wave of Irish nationalism began three years ago.

An army spokesman said the owner of the pub was warned twice by extremists to close the bar to show respect for those shot and killed by British troops.

The victim, who was not immediately identified, brought the total number of persons killed in violence in Northern Ireland in the last three years to 235.

The Stewartstown explosion followed by several hours a bomb at a grocery in Sion Mills, County Londonderry.

Four masked men walked into the Sion Mills store, left a bomb, ordered employes out of the building and set off the explosive. There were no injuries.

In other acts of violence Wednesday, one man was shot and killed by British soldiers in Belfast; a crowd of 25,000 persons burned down the British embassy in Dublin in the Irish Republic; and a gasoline bomb attack was reported on an army information office in Huddersfield, England.

All the attacks were related to protests against British troops who fired on demonstrators in Londonderry Sunday, killing 13 persons.

The Sunday shootings followed a march and rally by Roman Catholics who want to take predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland from under British control and unite it with the Irish Republic.

Rory McShane said in Belfast Wednesday that another march scheduled for Sunday in Newry, a heavily Roman Catholic city south of Belfast, would be held despite a plea from British Defense Secretary Lord Carrington to call off the demonstration.

Carrington told the British Parliament that troops would break up the march "however difficult it may be" if demonstrators tried to hold the protest.

NOT MUCH LEFT — The smoke-blackened shell of a building is all that remains of the British Embassy in Dublin in the wake of a firebomb attack yesterday.

'Bullmoose Is Dying'— Mrs. Knauer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, said today that executives responsible to consumer demands are fast replacing businessmen who consider consumer advocates their foes.

"Bullmoose is still around, but he is dying," Mrs. Knauer said, referring to a character in the L'il Abner carton strip. "...The number of Bullmooses is declining rather rapidly as the more responsive leaders ignore him ... taking his place is a new man on the scene ... the trend-setter."

In advertising, Mrs. Knauer said, these trend-setters "tell the truth about their products, what is good about them, what is bad about them."

Mrs. Knauer's remarks were prepared for delivery to the 15th annual Saint Mary's College Executives' Symposium at Moraga.

She credited consumerism for the change in business practices. "The central thrust of consumerism is a powerful motivation towards higher standards of conduct on the part of all those who serve the public," Mrs. Knauer said.

As examples of recalcitrant "Bullmooses," Mrs. Knauer cited a manufacturer who said conuumers should not be told the ingredients of a cosmetic; a food dealers' magazine which opposed the idea of new bacon packages showing relative amounts of fat and lean meat; and a packaging manufacturer who said advocates of more returnable packaging were "minsinformed."

She did not name the three men.

Comment Sought On Cured Meat Labeling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you'd like to know what chemicals are used in preparing such cured meats as ham, bacon, corned beef and pastrami — here's your chance.

The Agriculture Department has invited public comment on a proposal under which processors would have to list on their meat labels the chemicals and other ingredients used in curing solutions.

Common ingredients, a department spokesman said, include sodium phosphate, sodium nitrate, sodium erythorbate, water, salt and sweeteners.

In the past, department officials said, the agency has not required ingredient statements on cured meats because they thought it was "common knowledge among consumers they were made with meat and a simple curing solution."

Consumers have become much more vocal recently, however, about chemical additives in food processing. And, the department said, it has become increasingly apparent that the general public may not know what is going into cured meats because curing solutions are becoming more complex.

The formal proposal calling for disclosure of chemicals and other ingredients used in curing on product labels will be published officially Feb. 5.

Consumers or others who want to comment on the plan can send their views, in duplicate, to the Hearing Clerk's office at the Agriculture Department in Washington.

Officials noted the authority to require ingredient statements on "standardized" foods is available to the department for meat products under the meat inspection law. The Food and Drug Administration, which regulates other foods under the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, does not have authority to require such disclosures on standardized foods.

Crowded Prison A Riot Factor

MANILA (UPI) — Conditions such as the crowding of nearly 9,000 inmates into a compound built for 3,000 prisoners are partly responsible for riots such as occurred Wednesday when eight inmates were killed and 38 injured, the commander of guards at the Philippine National Penitentiary said today.

The hour-long battle broke out between nearly 300 prisoners belonging to rival gangs within the walls of the prison outside Manila.

Guards seized hundreds of homemade weapons in a search of the prison today.

They included 30 knives averaging a foot long made from steel beds and iron rods and dozens of sharpened nails, lead pipes and darts.

Irving's Friend: 'No Way Hughes Was Interviewed'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A blonde Danish singer who was in Mexico with author Clifford Irving last year says she sees no way he could have met with Howard Hughes as he claimed, it was reported today.

The name of singer Nina van Pallandt, 39, was brought into the case of the purported Hughes autobiography when Irving claimed she was with him for two of 100 interview taping sessions he said he had with the billionaire. Irving claimed she was with him when he met Hughes in Mexico last February and in Los Angeles in June.

A Los Angeles Times correspondent reported from New York in a telephone interview with the singer, who is in the Bahamas, that she said at no time did she see any man who could have passed for Hughes during the Mexican trip last Feb. 13-14.

She was apart from Irving "one to one and half hours at the most," the Times quoted her as saying.

Miss van Pallandt said she spent five hours Wednesday

talking to a U.S. postal inspector who was in the Bahamas in connection with the Hughes book investigation, according to the Times.

She said she and her manager-producer husband John Marshall, who also is in the Bahamas, would return to New York voluntarily to appear before a federal grand jury.

Federal and New York County grand juries are investigating the the autobiography case. Irving was reported to be scheduled to make his first appearance today before the federal grand jury.

In Chicago, the Tribune said today it has learned that attorneys for Irving and his wife, Edith, "have proposed the immediate return of $500,000 to a group of New York publishers in exchange for withdrawal of all prosecution against their clients."

"According to information from the negotiators, Maury Nessen, the Irvings' attorney, made the proposal directly to McGraw-Hill's general counsel, Halliburton Fales II," the Tribune said.

"Reportedly, Fales' initial response and that of Harold McGraw, president of McGraw-Hill, was a flat rejection," the newspaper said. "In subsequent conversations it was pointed out to them that 'a little more than a half a million dollars returned at once may be better than nothing obtained after a long court fight."

The Tribune said Ted Weber, McGraw-Hill's vice president for public affairs, denied "categorically" that any such deal had been offered to the firm.

Metzger In High Court Pot Plea

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney Michael H. Metzger yesterday asked the California Supreme Court to overturn an appellate court decision reimposing marijuana possession charges against him.

Metzger, a former assistant U.S. attorney now in private practice in Marin County, was arrested last year when narcotics agents found drugs in his Sausalito home after a paid informer told them he saw Metzger smoking a marijuana cigaret.

Marin County Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson dismissed the charges on grounds that the search violated the Fourth Amendment. The District Court of Appeal reversed Judge Wilson's order last Dec. 23 and reinstated the charges.

In a petition for a hearing filed with the Supreme Court, Metzger's attorney, Patrick Hallinan, said the case was "a classic case of violation of privacy enjoyed by a citizen in his home and guaranteed to him by the Constitution.

Hallinan contended the informer was "a police agent who used fraud and misrepresentation to make an illegal exploratory search of the home."

Surge In Fighting: Five U.S. Soldiers Wounded Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command today reported five GIs wounded in a surge of fighting involving the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division and the Viet Cong in an area where two American soldiers were killed earlier in the week.

As the fighting increased in the area 50 miles from Saigon, the South Vietnamese reported their aircraft had destroyed six North Vietnamese tanks and four trucks in a Communist stronghold in the Central Highlands.

With the latest flareup of fighting involving Americans, the casualties totaled two dead and 18 wounded. But U.S. spokesmen said the increased action was not necessarily because of increased guerrilla infiltration in the area of Saigon's outer environs but to increased U.S. patroling to forestall an expected Communist offensive on the eve of President Nixon's Feb. 21 visit to Peking.

It was in the Central Highlands and along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) that allied intelligence has been predicting will be the sites of any such Communist offensive.

U.S. spokesmen also announced that five Americans were killed in the war last week, three more than the previoks week, and 22 others were wounded.

It brought to 45,644 the total of Americans killed in the war since Jan. 1, 1961.

Four of the Americans wounded Wednesday were on patrol in a clash 10 miles southwest of Artillery Fire Support Base Saber, 40 miles east of Saigon. The fifth GI was wounded when his armored personnel carrier struck a mine while on a mission near Artillery Base Fiddler's Green, 27 miles northeast of the capital.

Communiques from Phnom Penh in neighboring Cambodia said the government expressed fear that the 9th Century ruins of Angkor Wat were in danger of being destroyed and asked that they be declared a neutral zone.

Military spokesmen in Pleiku in the Central Highlands 230 miles north of Saigon told UPI Correspondent Stewart Kellerman that the tanks and trucks were spotted by a South Vietnamese L19 observation plane just inside the South Vietnamese border Wednesday.

The L19 called in A37 Dragonfly jets of the South Vietna ese Air Force, which bombed and strafed the vehicles and killed 10 Viet Cong in the attack.

The air attack was carried out three miles inside South Vietnam near the borders of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos and in the region known as Base Area 609, a point of build-up operations for what allied intelligence says will be a Communist offensive in the next few weeks.

The Communists were believed to be marshaling their forces for a major drive in the Central Highlands coordinjted with an assault along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) far to the north with the offensive expected to begin, perhaps as early as Monday.

American B52 bombers Wednesday hit Communist infiltration routes leading out of the north end of the A Shau Valley on the Laotian border west of the old imperial capital of Hue.

The B52s dropped at least 90 tons of bombs.

Nation's Stock Exchanges May Join Into One Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's stock exchanges may be joined into a single nationwide securities market open to all investors by December, according to a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Commissioner James Needham said the technical equipment already exists to set up the system recommended Wednesday by the SEC.

The recommendation was contained in a SEC policy report based on nearly four years of hearings and special studies for the purpose of preventing price gyrations after major trades.

The SEC decision to implement the policy as soon as possible drew criticism from Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., whose subcommittee has also been reviewing the issue.

Moss said he was "deeply disturbed" that the SEC had decided to move ahead without Congress. "The matters involved here are substantial and vitally effect this nation's economy," Moss said.

The SEC proposes to link the New York, American and several regional exchanges by a composite tape that would provide equal access to trading information. Needham said the system would be operating "certainly by the end of the year."

Information now available almost immediately to member firms of the exchanges might be delayed for considerable periods before reaching non-member firms, thus producing some price variations of considerable amounts.

Pakistan Assured Of Peking Support

Trustees Advance North Campus Plans

The Marin Community College District board last night approved preliminary plans for preparing the site of the district's planned Novato campus.

The board also decided to offer the plans to public bodies throughout the county for information, according to district publicist Earlene Jones.

She said the board directed staff to set up a meeting in Novato next week to air plans for Indian Valley Colleges to the Novato City Council and city planning commission and the Marin County Board of Supervisors and county planning commission.

The presentation was recommended by Harry J. Moore on behalf of a citizens committee on building which he heads, she said.

The preliminary plans approved last night included grading and clearing, drainage, erosion control, service roads, bridges and landscaping at the entrance from San Jose Boulevard, as well as lighting, utilities and parking lots, she said.

The board then authorized working drawings expected to cost $66,750, she said.

However, it delayed approving the exterior design of buildings which must be approved by March 15 if the college is to be opened in 1974, she said.

Cost of preparing the initial facilities before the opening is estimated at more than $6 million.

The Marin Community College District board also:

POLICE COURSE — Approved an evening class in police science for the spring semester of the Indian Valley Colleges now holding classes at Hamilton Air Force Base and Novato High School.

RAISE — Raised the salary of Paulette Rilla, a secretary from $553 a month to $610.

TEMPORARY TEACHERS — Hired Victor Minasian, Charles Litle, Quin Wilson, all history teachers, and Martin Tarcher, economics, to teach for the spring semester only.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Gayle Seguin, an English teacher now on leave, effective July 1 and music instructor Drummond Wolff, who is retiring.

LEAVE — Granted a leave to speech instructor Walter Kassoway for the 1972-73 school year.

FEE — Approved a fee of $1 for College of Marin students who change their schedules after class cards have been filed effective next school year.

SECURITY — Authorized buying $1,450 worth of security equipment to protect the old dental building on Larkspur Avenue.

CREEK STUDY — Learned that the Army Corps of Engineers will not fund an environmental study of Corte Madera Creek by College of Marin faculty.

INSURANCE — Took no action on buying insurance to protect the board against citizen suits.

Priorities Outlined By Hub Panel

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night set its budget priorities for fiscal 1972-73, placing emphasis on improvements at Robson Park, particularly the Robson Mansion.

The commission's recommendations will be forwarded to the city council, parks and recreation director Gary Howell reported.

In a proposed $3,000 allocation for Robson Park, the commission recommended that lightin improvements be given first priority and also recommended start of development of a group picnic area at the park. Rough estimate for the lighting is about $2,000, Howell said, and $1,000 for the picnic area.

Of a proposed $13,500 allocation for general parks and recreation use, the commission recommended that about $5,500 of it be earmarked for further improvements at Robson, specifically for upgrading both the interior and exterior of the mansion.

The commission listed its priority recommendations for the general funds as: renovation of restrooms at Memorial Park; minor improvements at Memorial Park; minor improvements at the entrance to Sorich Ranch; landscaping on Butterfield Road, and the $5,500 for the Robson Mansion.

South Vietnamese government while the new plan mentioned only the resignation of Thieu.

The new plan is a move apparently designed to meet Nixon's peace package. Tien said the new peace plan called for a stop to all U.S. military activities in Vietnam and a withdrawal of all troops, advisors and closing of bases.

It said a withdrawal date "will also be the terminal date for the release of all militarymen of the parties and of the civilians captured during the war, including the U.S. pilots captured in North Vietnam".

Previously the Communists vaguely promised to discuss the fate of the U.S. prisoners if the Americans set a withdrawal deadline.

The Viet Cong said Thieu was the "main obstacle to the settlement of the political problem in South Vietnam" and asked for his resignation immediately.

The Saigon administration must end its warlike policy, disband at once its machine of oppression and constraint against the people, stop its 'pacification' policy, disband the concentration camps, set free those persons arrested on political grounds and guarantee to the people the democratic liberties as provided for by the 1954 Geneva agreement on Vietnam," it said.

leases in parallel with troop withdrawals.

"To date there is little evidence that the other side is willing to negotiate in terms which seriously and realistically reflect the actual situation in Indochina," Sullivan said.

"They are still attempting to achieve their maximum objectives," he said. "We nevertheless hope that we may induce Hanoi to forsake the battlefield in favor of the conference table and thereby achieve the release of our prisoners," Sullivan said.

Sullivan said that "over 1600 U.S. military personnel are listed as missing or captured in Southeast Asia, and over 40 U.S. civilians are in the same status. According to Defense Department figures, 383 of our men are listed as captured in North Vietnam, 92 in South Vietnam, 5 in Laos."

"Two U.S. pilots are known to be captured in China. The missing civilians include three U.S. newsmen lost in Cambodia."

Sullivan said, however, that "the actual total held as prisoners remains uncertain due to the other side's continued refusal to identify all prisoers."

Sullivan also said the Communists' record on the matter of prisoners' mail and packages has deteriorated.

"During the last nine months of 1971 up to just before Christmas less than 200 letters were received from fewer than 50 of the prisoners. To the dismay of the families, virtually all packages mailed in August and October, 1971, were refused by North Vietnam and returned to the senders," Sullivan said.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., charged Wednesday that the Saigon government sabotaged the chances for a group called Amnesty International last summer to inspect Vietnamese camps on both sides where prisoners were held.

"Apparently the United States missed an excellent opportunity to find out about numbers of prisoners and conditions in the North Vietnamese prison camps," Aspin said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record.

"What I am shocked to learn is that the government of the United States stood by and did nothing while the South Vietnamese scuttled the trip. It is inconceivable that we allowed the government of South Vietnam to veto this special trip."

Woman Reports Assault Try

A 20-year-old Mill Valley woman has reported to sheriff's deputies that a man who gave her a ride when she was hitchhiking attempted to rape her at McNear Beach.

The woman said she accepted a ride with the man from Mill Valley to Marin General Hospital Tuesday. After a job interview at the hospital, the man offered to drive her elsewhere to look for a job.

Instead of taking her to the Civic Center as promised, however, he stopped at McNear Beach and told her he was going to rape her.

The woman said she hit the man in the face and fled.

Japan War Dead Will Be Honored

TOKYO (UPI) —The Japanese government will present medals posthumously to 2,986 army and 406 naval personnel who died during World War II.

The government has been honoring the war dead with decorations since 1964. A total of 1,948,894 persons have thus far been given medals posthumously.

Retroactive Pay Hike Approved

About a dozen office workers in Marin County employed by county trade union and fringe benefit offices, and others similarly employed in San Francisco and Sonoma counties will get a retroactive pay raise and reduction in their work week, according to terms of a new contract ratified Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the union said that workers will get a seven per cent pay increase retroactive to Nov. 1 of last year, and will have their work week decreased from 35 to 32 hours per week. On Nov. 1, 1973 they will receive another four per cent pay increase.

Employers will make the decision of whether to use a four-day, eight-hour-a-day-week or four seven-hour days and a four hour day.

Pay scale for this year will be $252 for computer programmers, $183 for secretaries and $148 for PBX operators.

scored Congress for failing to control the growth of the executive branch.

"It's time the federal government faded back a little. It's time the federal government returned some sources of revenue to the state and local governments instead of ostentatiously making grants of spare federal change," he declared.

French said he came "from a new generation of Democrats. My philosophy of government was forged and tempered in the turmoil of the sixties."

He said he was opposed to busing school children under a court order, but said he would support a law to allow mandatory busing. "Children should only be bused if the people, through their elected representatives, pass a law to allow it."

French also said he was opposed "unequivocally" to the war in Vietnam, and favored spending more money on ocean and space exploration by cutting the military budget.

deciding whether they should be funded again.

"I can't feel I know what I'm spending money for with this document," Stockstad said. "I don't want it to be taken that I'm implying money is being misspent," he added, urging Lomax to respond.

Lomax countered that the figures had not been included because the board had asked him last year "not to give you so damned much paperwork."

He assured the board that the programs proposed for funding were operating successfully and were more than meeting the "minimum requirements" of the federal government.

Simmons said near the end of the five-hour session that the funding application must be approved this week in order to meet federal deadlines.

With assurances from Lomax that the application did not lock the EOC board into specific uses of funds (uses can be changed by submitting explanations to the government), the board agreed to request the blanket amount and discuss how funds were to be used at a later meeting.

The board will meet to take up unfinished portions of last night's agenda next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building in San Rafael.

The closed session to discuss Lomax's future is expected to be held at that meeting.

othy M. Kelleher, said the Federal Power Commission was considering a diversion to Southern California that by 1976 could deprive PG&E of some 300 million cubic feet a day of natural gas.

Efforts by PG&E to get new supplies from Canada were rejected last year by the Canadian energy commission, Kelleher said.

The predicted shortages, which he termed "a nationwide problem of tremendous magnitude," assumed that the natural gas companies will not find new supplies in time to meet the demand.

$13.9 Million Bypass Bid; Job Start Awaits Court

ance, reported Daniel C. Davis, executive director of the fund.

In this case, the fund, which doesn't have much money, agreed to put the legal expenses of the suit under its tax-exempt umbrella, Davis said. The three residents will pay the legal fees through the fund and write them off on their taxes, he said.

"Big business can write off its fees for legal services, and this gives the little guy a chance," Davis said.

The fund, a minor-league version of the Environmental Defense Fund which has halted major projects throughout the U.S. will operate on a limited, regional scale, Davis said.

One of its aims is to provide legal support to residents fighting environmental battles, with funds to come from membership fees and any foundation grants received.

The organization grew out of the association of key environmental leaders in Marin and Sonoma as they engaged "in different environmental fights and causes," Davis said.

The fund has just sent out its initial mailing of its brochure, and membership, still indefinite, is expected to reach about 200, Gregg said.

Financing at the start has come mainly from directors chipping in $25 a month, he said. The fund doesn't have much money, "neither do we need very much," Gregg said.

One of its jobs will be to help people "carry out alerts on environmental issues, and when all else fails, try to get answers," he said. In that event, it can resort to new environmental laws, "which make very handy tools," Gregg said.

The fund isn't trying to stop the Novato bypass, which is needed to eliminate the Highway 101 traffic bottleneck, but wants study on mud removal and fill plans, Gregg said.

Incorporated last May, the fund opened an office at 1127 Grant Avenue in Novato in late September, but was relatively inactive until this year. Davis, a 27-year-old graduate of California State Polytechnic College at Pomona, was appointed executive director.

Davis, now studying for a master's degree in political science at Sonoma State College, contemplated the future of the fund as he sat in the sparsely furnished, two-room office recently.

Ironically, the office is above the chamber of commerce office, frequented by businessmen irate about the suit.

The fund is still in its exploratory stage and the bypass suit was a move on a "reasonable scale," Davis said. The fund won't attempt to tackle major projects, such as preservation of the coastline, but will focus on smaller, local problems, he said.

He spoke of the fund providing and office, a research staff and an educational program. "We're going to try to put together a handbook for Marin and Sonoma counties something like the conservation directory of the National Wildlife Federation."

Davis, who did some research work in the fight against the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct, said potentially the fund could aid the Sonoma County Coalition, an anti-aqueduct group, in its battles.

Now, the coalition is still working on a political solution, and the fund wldn't assist until that avenue is closed, Davis said.

In its brochure, the fund stated it "is a public supported, nonprofit fund established to provide financial and legal support to individuals and groups expressing acting concern for the protection, restoration and preservation of our natural environment."

There is an appeal in the brochure for individuals and organizations to join to preserve resources.

Some Japanese Live Like Moles

Atsuko is one of the thousands who spend most of their life working in the flourescent world of Tokyo's "Mole Cities," the vast ant-hill of underground railway and shopping complexes that stretch for block after block beneath the city streets.

These are the commercial catacombs of Tokyo. Neon-lit, tiled, muzak-filled mazes, they burrow three and four levels below the surface around railway complexes at Yaesu, Shibuya, Shinjuku, Ikebukuro and Ueno. Waxen-faced mummies line up on elevators to be carried down into their depths.

In winter, it is near-dark still when Atsuko leaves her home in the Tokyo suburbs and walks through the narrow untidy streets to the Tozai line subway station. There she plunges into a bustling underground world, which she may not leave until she comes out of the same exit that night.

The crowded train carries her through miles of tunnels into central Tokyo, where she follows passages until she come to "Yaesu great underground shopping centre" one the two biggest in the world.

Here — where the airconditioned weather and light are always constant, where there are no shadows, just unclouded commerce — she works in a mens' clothing store six days a week.

As 40 per cent of Yaesu's 260 stores are eating places, she usually meets her friends in a coffee shop and eats down there.

"With lunch, we have two breaks a day, and I usually try to go up to the surface at least once," Atsuko said. "In autumn, it is refreshing to see the leaves falling and feel a cool breeze in your face."

Atsuko says she felt claustrophobic when she first began to work in the "Mole City" two years ago, but she is "used to it now."

Employees of the huge underground network which links it with other centres, are ordered to go to the surface for 10 minutes every two hours. Despite this, many have to take massive doses of vitamins, and use face creams and body oils to keep their skin in order.

With 700,000 people passing through Yaesu each day, the "Mole Cities" have special pollution problems of their own.

Yaesu is the most modern, and regarded as a model for future underground cities.

The director of Yaesu, Tadashi Sato, conceded however that there are still many improvements to be made in fresh-air filtering, and lighting control.

"Generally though, the air down here is better than on the surface," he said, pointing out the massive array of switches and computers in the center's big environmental control room, wedged between the traffic lanes of a subterranean freeway, 100 feet below the ground.

Although construction costs underground are three times those on the surface, space in Tokyo is almost unobtainable, and earthquake control measures prevent buildings from going up.

As a result, burrowing Tokyo Metropolitan Government planners have virtually undermined the city. Their latest plan is for a massive underground garbage dump, serviced by tunnel roads for trucks to carry the city's 1,300 tons of waste each day.

The "Mole Cities" have their own supplementary electricity plants, medical clinics, and private police forces. Deep in the earth at Yaesu are massive water storage tanks, supplying the underground city's need of 700 gallons a day.

Workers in its car park, two levels down, must have inhalations of oxygen four or five times each shift.

Bomb Thrown At San Rafael Residence

A Molotov cocktail was thrown onto the driveway of a San Rafael home last night, but did no damage, San Rafael police reported.

Police said Charles I. Daniels Jr. of 191 Deer Park Avenue told them he returned to his residence at about 9:30 p.m. and found liquid burning in his driveway. A broken brown bottle and cloth used as a wick were nearby, police said.

Columbus did not reach the Central American coast Panama until his fourth voyage in 1502.

DOOMED FROM START

The City of Portland's recently acquired fireboat Virgil Spencer rests on the bottom of the Willamette River. It had been a $147,889 failure from the start. Its delivery was late and its specifications were not met. Yesterday it started fiiling with water during a test run and after being towed to a dock went down within minutes. As this picture was taken all that was left was a fire nozzle and the craft's bow.

A San Rafael woman was hospitalized overnight after she was struck on the head Tuesday and her purse taken by two men who left her lying in an intersection, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Eleni Theno Sava, 53, of 11 Terra Linda Drive, was released from Kaiser Foundation Hospital after being treated for a bruised head, skinned knees and elbows and shock, hospital authorities reported.

According to police, a witness saw Mrs. Sava lying in the intersection of Montecello Road and Nova Albion Way and saw two young men with long hair run to a 1965 Ford Mustang and drive away with the lights off. The attack took place at 8:20 p.m.

California Highway Patrolmen later found her black leather purse on the Terra Linda offramp of Highway 101. It was not reported if any money was taken.

Novatan's Home Has Been A Pretty Busy Place

Clogg called police at 11:15 a.m. and told them a tow truck from Jack's 66 service station had arrived at his home answering a false request.

Police said Clogg told them he would be gone for the rest of the day, but that wasn't the end of the report.

In the next three hours, Hank's Lock Shop, Bay Cities Ambulance, Rental Enterprises, Novato Builders Supply, the Novato Fire Department and D and S Garage of San Rafael were called to the Clogg home, police said.

Last night, an A and W Root Beer outlet also got a call for a delivery, police said.

The calls came from someone who identified himself as Clogg, police said.

Animal Skin Ban Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton proposed a ban beginning March 3 on imported skins of leopards, tigers and six other species of wild cat to help prevent their extinction—largely from illegal hunting.

"Organized poaching rings flaunt the laws of the countries where these cats originate and send a flow of their furs to feed the fashion salons of the $nited States and Europe," Morton said Wednesday in explaining the ban.

Hospital Workers Union To Delay Possible Strike

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Members of the Hospital and Institutional Workers Union at Kaiser Foundation hospitals and clinics throughout the Bay Area and Sacramento will remain on the job at least until next Wednesday when a mediation meeting is scheduled between the union and the medical foundation.

Workers in the union have voted 3-1 to strike if contract demands are not met. The contract expired last Nov. 1, and work has progressed on a day-to-day basis since then, according to Vincent G. Davis, business agent for the union.

He said strike sanction can be released at any time by the secretary of the San Francisco Labor Council, but will not be unless mediation bogs down.

Ar arbitration team from the labor council will mediate the talks, which will be held at the Kaiser Employee Relations building in Oakland beginning at 10 a.m., Davis said.

The union is currently presenting its case to various Bay Area labor councils in preparation for the mediation, he said.

Davis said the Southern California chapters of the union are watching the Bay Area negotiations closely because negotiations are about to begin there.

Life Term For Sickle Slayer

NEVADA CITY (UPI) — A Superior Court jury has ordered life imprisonment for Clarence Otis Smith in the slayings of two persons last summer with a sickle-like weapon.

"I thought of notifying them to prepare the gas chamber but now it won't be necessary," the balding, 44-year-old Smith joked to newsmen moments after the jury reached its decision Wednesday night.

The penalty was imposed by the same seven-woman, five-man jury that convicted Smith last week of being the "laughing, growling" man who slipped into Dog Bar campground July 12 and hacked two campers to death.

Abraham Lincoln was the only President ever to undergo enemy fire, facing Rebel bullets at Fort Stevens a few miles from the White House.

Hub Man Found Dead At Residence

A 52-year-old grocery clerk at Safeway died yesterday in his San Anselmo home of a self-inflicted gunshot to the head, the coroner's office reported today.

According to deputy coroner Bill J. Thomas, the body of William Elmer Ratcliff was found in his bed by his wife, Lorraine when she came home at 6:50 p.m. No note was found in the house at 32 Monterey Avenue. Ratcliff had been depressed recently, according to the coroner's report.

Ratcliff had called Safeway and said he could not go to work because he had broken his glasses, Thomas reported.

Archeologists say this recently discovered tomb, dating to the Seventh Century B.C., might be that of Aeneas, the loyal defender who survived the sacking of Troy and reputed legendary grandfather of the Roman Empire. Archeologist Paolo Sommella, speaking in Pratica di Mare, Italy, said yesterday the large stone in the foreground covered the head of the buried person. Larkspur Lays Plans For First Chance At San Quentin Property

Larkspur City Council served emphatic notice last night that it wants the first chance to annex San Quentin State Prison — when and if the state abandons the old landmark.

The councilmen unanimously instructed City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst to request the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to reaffirm its earlier finding that the entire San Quentin peninsula is "within Larkspur's sphere of influence."

Councilman William G. Fleckles also won approval for his proposal that the city's staff report on the pros and cons of annexation and prezoning for the peninsula.

If annexation tug-of-war develops with San Rafael, the staff study would mean Larkspur "could have a lot more going for it," Fleckles argued. The request to the agency formation commission also could "preclude San Raael from taking some aggressive action," Fleckles explained.

Bathurst pointed out that newly annexed areas normally are put into an "S zone," in which development is frozen until rezoning studies are completed.

"That isn't going to do a thing for us," Fleckles said. He urged that the staff present concrete prezoning proposals.

Fleckles said his haste was spurred by hearing a news report that Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post had recommended the state close down San Quentin by the end of this year. Gov. Ronald Reagan announced last month that he wanted to phase the prison out of operation by 1974, and build at least two smaller, more modern prisons.

The western end of the peninsula, already within Larkspur city limits, contains the proposed site of the Golden Gate Bridge District's Central Marin ferryboat terminal. Potential plans for a major shopping center in the Hutchison Quarry area just north of Corte Madera Creek have also been hinted.

San Rafael businessmen have also showed strong interest in the San Quentin property, stressing the high value of San Rafael property immediately neighboring the prison to the north.

Building Ban On Rail Land Studied

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst last night suggested that the city council impose a building moratorium on the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad rights-of-way until the city can decide the best use for the old easements.

"I already know of development plans" includeng single-family housing and a 20-unit apartment project on part of the right-of-way, Bathurst warned. He said he was preparing a legal description of all railroad easements inside Larkspur, for the council to use at its March 1 meeting if it invokes the moratorium.

The problem is complicated because much of the right-of-way is likely to revert to original landowners or their heirs now that the railroad has abandoned the lines, Bathurst said.

"We possibly could designate it all for bike trails — but it's touchy," the official said. He explained that the Golden Gate Bridge District is not interested in the Larkspur area right-of-way for transit uses, but that the Marin Transit District is.

The council told Bathurst to continue preparing the legal description of the property.

The Larkspur City Council also:

OPEN SPACE — Unanimously adopted a resolution calling for preservation of ridge top areas as open space, parallelling a resolution by Corte Madera. Councilman Benton A. Sifford Jr. asked that Mill Valley and Marin County take the same stand, as a step in jointly preserving the North Ridge area. Next action on proposals to create a Marin County Regional Park District to help acquire the ridge and other open lands must await the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission study due within six weeks, Bathurst reported.

CREEK — Unanimously voted to ask the federal Department of the Interior to conduct an environmental sludy of Corte Madera Creek from the Bon Air Bridge to Point San Quentin, and to ask the county and the Golden Gate Bridge District to coordinate the study. Mayor Earl J. O'Grady said he would ask Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and other lawmakers to support the study request.

POLICE STATION — Learned that the Schultz Foundation has donated $25,000 toward the cost of a new police headquarters. Condemnation action has been started against property owned by Mrs. Lena Fendler of Sutter Creek, next to the fire station, Bathurst said. Councilman William G. Fleckles urged that any bond issue to raise additional funds for the project, be put on the November ballot rather than June ballot.

AVON STREET — Postponed action to March 1 on a request neighbors can buy it from its original owner to keep the space open.

BLUE MOVIES — Scolded Magnolia Cinema operators for showing erotic films instead of the old-time movies promised when the theater was licensed last year. Operator Seth Morgan wrote that the theater had returned to the classics format, but had shown two "art" films by popular request and had more than 1,000 patrons in two weeks.

LABOR JOURNAL — Refused to purchase a $75 ad in the North Bay Labor Journal, as setting a precedent that possibly could be illegal.

APPEALS — Adopted an ordinance extending from seven to 15 calendar days the deadline for appeals on planning commission decisions.

TENNIS — Approved park and recreation department sponsorship of tennis classes, to be supported by enrollment fees.

POLICE CARS — Authorized purchase of two new police cars, including a replacement for one wrecked in a traffic pursuit last month.

AWARD — Honored Joseph Monnestier, assistant director of public works, for 20 years service to the city.

DEANNEXATION — Decided to ask Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. why Corte Madera was allowed to annex the Oglesby property on the strength of a 1966 Larkspur resolution, instead of heeding a new conditional resolution the city has been preparing.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a map establishing new lot lines for the old Echo Place Subdivision.

Pleads Innocent To Embezzlement

Sol Owens, 38, of no known address, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of embezzlement and vehicle theft. Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 15.

He was arrested Monday on a warrant charging he borrowed a pickup truck from Harry Cook of Mill Valley July 7, 1970, and never returned it.

One Plan For Disposal Is Shelved

Directors of the Stinson Beach County Water District decided last night that a proposed percolation gallery to dispose of the community's wastes may not be reliable enough and agreed to look at other possible solutions.

The board said it would explore other means of disposal, including water reclamation and creation of an artificial lake or reservoir to hold water during winter months.

Directors also agreed to ask the county to prepare a comprehensive study of septic tanks in Stinson Beach and determine how many homes will have to be sewered and send their wastes into the system.

The board acted after two engineers from Brown and Caldwell said they could not tell how long a percolation gallery — something like a large septic tank — would function before it failed.

The gallery is part of a sewage disposal plan for Stinson Beach prepared in November by Frank M. Stead and Dr. George Tchobanoglous at the direction of the former water district board.

The plan calls for use of sewers only in areas where septic tanks in the community are failing or impractical because of lot size and terrain. (Most of Stinson's wastes are currently handled by such tanks.)

The proposal would include construction of a secondary treatment plan and the percolation gallery where waste water can be disposed of into the sand in a dunes area south of Stinson Beach.

Engineers Dan P. Norris and Richard C. Bain, who had reviewed the Stead-Tchobanoglous plan said there was no way to tell how long a gallery would be effective since the district has not yet determined how much the community is to be served.

The amount of flow would be the chief factor in predicting how long the gallery would last, Bain said.

The engineer also said it is difficult to tell whether storms along the coast would destroy the gallery if it were built or whether a high water table would result in a flooding of the system which would cause sewage to spill onto the beaches.

One director, Proctor Jones, said he still favored use of a percolation system and proposed an above-ground gallery in a man-made dune in Stinson State Beach. The board directed him to explore the matter further with state park officials.

Until a comprehensive study of all septic tanks in the community is completed, Bain said it would be impossible for the district to plan for any disposal system since the amount of flow expected would be only a matter of conjecture until such a study is made.

Innocent Plea To Grand Theft

Mary Frances Stewart, 38, of Terra Linda, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of grand theft.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 22.

She was arrested Jan. 24 when she was allegedly caught shoplifting $98 worth of goods from the Emporium at Northgate Mall. Another $119 worth of goods said to have been taken from the store were found in her car, police said.

Speakers Stolen

Two large speakers, valued at more than $1,300, were stolen from the Terra Linda Recreation Center last Friday, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

How to Stop Smoking February 20 at 3:00 p.m.

On Sunday afternoon, February 20, a group of men and women will arrive — one by one — at the St. Helena Health Center. Most will not know each other. But all will have a common purpose — to stop smoking. Join this group and you will work with our team of experts (physicians, physical therapists and clinical counselors) for five days. You will learn how to overcome the physical addiction to tobacco, how to restore lost breathing capacity, how to cope with the tensions that "call for a cigarette", and how to keep your weight in line. By Friday, February 25, you should be able to return home free of nicotine and in better health than you've been for a long time. (The fresh mountain air, attractive private rooms and good food make the St. Helena experience a real rest cure.) Send the coupon now for more details, or telephone for our brochure.

Wound Widens In Dispute Over Pay

The Novato Fire Protection Jistrict board, under fire from an angry audience, last night rejected a proposed civil service ordinance by a 3-2 vote.

Directors were accused of stalling in negotiations with the Novato Firemen's Association on hours and pay and one woman shouted for recall of chairman Peter J. Ferrarese and directors Joseph F. Silveira and Dante Panfiglio.

Directors Henry V. Alvernaz and Richard W. Price voted to accept the proposed ordinance "in principle," leaving the way open for minor changes, but Ferrarese, Silveira and Panfiglio opposed it.

As a result it is expected that firemen will circulate an initiative petition to put the proposed ordinance on the ballot in the November election.

Attorney Richard W. Breiner, representing the association, said if 10 per cent of the voters in the district sign the petition, the board will have to put it to a vote of the people.

One of the key portions of the proposed ordinance is establishing a personnel board, which would hear grievances.

Ferrarese said he was opposed because he thought in the past "boards have done a commendable job," and have acted in a democratic manner.

Someone in the audience replied that apparently firemen didn't agree since they were demanding a personnel board.

The firemen's list of demands, including pay hikes to the wage-price freeze limit of 5.5 per cent and a 63-hour week instead of 70, were presented last fall.

Since none of the demands have been settled, except that the board appropriate $170 for a study of the state retirement system. various members of the audience charged delaying tactics.

Directors agreed that wages and hours would be the first matters discussed at the next negotiation session at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 16 at district headquarters.

Marriage Of Couple Dissolved

The marriage of Nathaniel W. Johnson, former Sausalito School District board president, and Rita M. Johnson was dissolved yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge E. Warren McGuire granted the dissolution, sought by Johnson, on the grounds of irreconcilable differences.

Johnson, a musician and former school teacher, served on the Sausalito board from 1965 until resigning last October.

Mrs. Johnson was awarded custody of their two children, a total of $300 a month child support and $1 a year alimony.

They were married in 1959 in Marin City and separated in October 1969.

A Top Post Abolished At Bolinas

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District voted to abolish the post of district general manager, effective immediately, secretary Helen McKay reported.

Manager Archie Goldsberry has held the job since March 1970.

In acting, the board indicated it did not believe the district needed a manager, Mrs. McKay said.

Directors said the district needed "more of a consultant," who could work on the district's water system and sewage treatment plans and see that the plans are carried out and that applications are made for federal and state grants.

The board agreed to prepare job description for the new position, according to Mrs. McKay.

Goldsberry will receive two weeks' severance pay and two weeks' vacation pay.

In other business, directors decided to explore other means of waste disposal in addition to the system of holding-ponds now proposed for the district.

The board also heard a report that percolation and evaporation tests are now under way on the proposed site of the treatment ponds.

Marin Gag Rule On Juveniles Is Debated

By DAVID DIETZ

Two of four speakers on a Marin radio program today indicated support for disclosure of the identity of juveniles involved in crimes, despite a court ruling banning release of youth offenders' names to the press.

The two other speakers appearing on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" were opposed to disclosure, saying the protection of a minor outweighed the public's right to know.

The four — Lt. G. Albert Howenstein, juvenile officer for the San Anselmo police; Kathryn D. Mitchell, deputy Marin district attorney assigned to juvenile cases; Bella H. Aaron, head of Marin's police-community relations program, and Walter D. Morse, juvenile specialist with the county probation department — discussed the recent order by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court. The order grew out of a state Supreme Court judgment in a juvenile arrest case.

Howenstein said disclosure of the identity of some offenders was necessary to community control of deviant behavior. The officer said it was "totally impossible" for police to combat crime without citizen help.

Public identification, Howenstein said, breeds citizen interest in some cases. Otherwise, some offenders believe they have "carte blanche to go ahead and commit a crime," he said.

Howenstein did not identify the scope of offenses which might call for publication of juveniles' names.

Miss Mitchell said immunity breeds contempt for law on the part of some offenders, but said secrecy also has the effect of protecting parents.

In some circumstances, she said, "parents will not believe or don't want to believe" that a child has been in trouble with the law.

Morse, however, saw this as what he termed a highly questionable practice of "getting to the parents through the child." He also feared abuse and distortion by the press of information obtained on arrested juveniles.

Mrs. Aaron said public disclosure "produces injury and prevents rehabilitation."

For the first time, KTIM experimented with a system under which listeners' calls were dispatched directly to speakers. Today's program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —"Ben Franklin, American," the one-man road show attraction for years starring Fred Wayne, will become an hour television special airing next March.

Tax Initiative Will Make It

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —An initiative to place a ceiling of $7 per $100 assessed valuation on California property taxes "appears that it will qualify" for the 1972 ballot, a spokesman for Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. said today.

Tom Quinn, the spokesman, said the secretary of state's office has received about 400,000 signatures collected by backers of the Watson initiative. He said additional signatures expected in the next few days probably will push the total past the 520,806 signatures needed to qualify the measure for the ballot.

The initiative, named for its sponsor, Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson, would shift $1.65 billion in local school costs and $688 million in county welfare costs to the state.

Pot Possession —Two Charged

William Roger Adair, 23, and Nancy Ellen Flyer, 22, both of Tamalpais Valley, yesterday were charged in Marin Superior Court with possessing methamphetamine and marijuana for sale.

They are to enter pleas Feb. 14.

They were arrested Dec. 18 at their residence following a long investigation of Adair by San Francisco and Marin narcotics agents.

The agents said they found about 24 ounces of methamphetamine as well as marijuana and laboratory equipment at the house.

THE WAIT — This prisoner is one of 677 men (along with seven women) in U.S. prisons to be sentenced to death. There have been no executions in the nation, however, for four and one-half years.

The Executioner Hasn't Been Around In Awhile

By JO ANNE LEVINE

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TRENTON, N.J. — The New Jersey executioner was a New York man who drove over to Trenton for $75 and travel expenses to do his job.

He has not been called upon since January 1963 when he pulled the switch that executed a man convicted of killing his wife.

Thus the electric chair, which has been used 160 times here in the New Jersey state prison, has been idle for a long time.

State by state, the story is the same: No electric chair, gas chamber, or gallows has been used anywhere in the United States, a country of 200 million, for four and one-half years. However, about 100 persons a year are still being sentenced to execution, and the number now awaiting execution stands at 677 men and seven women, the highest number in history.

The decisions now before the state courts and the U.S. Supreme Court questioning capital punishment and recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court are primarily responsible for the lack of executions.

"Today, the question of capital punishment in this country is different from what it has been," says Anthony Amsterdam, professor of law at Stanford University and the foremost expert in the United States on capital punishment. "No longer," he has noted, "is it a question of whether this nation will continue to execute people, but of whether it will resume 'killing human beings.' "

What if somebody were executed just before a court ruled his constitutional rights had been violated? For example, because of New Jersey's State Supreme Court decision on Jan. 17, 20 prisoners on "death row," where the lights burn 24 hours a day and the cell's occupants sleep all day and stay awake all night, are faced now with life sentences and possible parole — not the electric chair.

The New Jersey State Supreme Court decision (based on a decision stemming from a 1968 decision by the U.S. Supreme Court) said that the capital punishment statute in New Jersey was unconstitutional because it coerced murder defendants to plead no defense (which is tantamount to a confession of guilt) in order to get the maximum life sentence — rather than pleading innocent where they are subject to the capital penalty.

Now, new legislation must be passej before a defendant can be so sentenced again in New Jersey.

On the same day this decision was handed down by the New Jersey court, the U.S. Supreme Court heard arguments that could end capital punishment in every state in the United States. "Is capital punishment a cruel and unusual punishment and therefore in violation of the Eighth Amendment, which prohibits such punishment?" was the question being argued.

"Those who think they will win in this case in 'this' supreme court are just whistling Dixie," says Emmett Colvin, a Dallas trial lawyer.

Nevertheless, a brief filed by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., (LDF) on behalf of one of the four cases being heard argued: "Like flogging and banishment, capital punishment is condemned by history and will sooner or later be condemned by this court under the Constitution. The question is whether the condemnation should come sooner or later."

"Cruel and unusual punishment" in 1791, when the amendment went into force, included the "barbarities of the past" such as the rack, the thumbscrew, drawing and quartering, castration, or burning alive. Such punishment as chopping off of the ears and drilling holes in tongues, as well as capital punishment, were still on the law books in 1971.

Thus, those who argue that the capital penalty is indeed constitutional say that, since it existed at the time of the adoption of the Eighth Amendment, the framers of that amendment could not have contemplated the use of the amendment to abolish the penalty.

Those opposing such a view say that the penalty is rooted in America's religious and moral heritage and expresses the community's outrage at the crimes committed.

But in another case (Trop v. Dulles), the Supreme Court has stated that the Eighth Amendment "is not static," but "must draw its meaning from the evolving standards of decency that mark the progress of a maturing society."

Law professor Amsterdam maintains that American society tolerates the capital penalty only so long as it is not generally used.

Even before the courts began to hear cases questioning capital punishment, executions in the United States were winding down. After a high of 199 executions in 1935, there were 56 in 1960, 21 in 1963, 15 in 1964, 7 in 1965, 1 in 1966, and 2 in 1967.

That's what the LDF, which is representing three of the four defendants in the Eighth Amendment case, say is the strong core of the arguments they presented before the Supreme Court. (Their cases are Earnest James Aikens Jr. v. California, Lucious Jackson Jr. v. Georgia, and William H. Furman v. Georgia.) The fourth case, Elmer Branch v. Texas, was argued by Melvyn Carson Bruder of Dallas. Aikens and Furman are murder cases.

Besides deciding that capital punishment is or is not cruel and unusual punishment, the high court could decide that capital punishment for certain kinds of rape is unconstitutional, but that for other kinds it is constitutional; that premeditated murder might constitutionally receive the penalty, but that felony murder might be considered unconstitutional as the basis for the penalty. It could also decide that mental cases could be the basis of eliminating the penalty on unconstitutional grounds.

Notes Jack Himmelstein, assistant counsel of the LDF: "The court could conceivably say that the facts known about the death penalty — its costs, its harm to individuals — need to be explored more deeply before a constitutional ruling of this magnitude could be decided."

Should the Supreme Court decide that capital punishment is not cruel and unusual, there are possibilities for other types of legal action, which include legislative action; commutations of the capital penalty by governors (when Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was in office in Arkansas in 1970, he commuted such sentences for 15 inmates); and court actions on other grounds.

Meanwhile, there is still much talk about resuming capital punishment. For example, the new Mayor of Philadelphia, Frank L. Rizzo (a former police chief), said as soon as he took office that he is all for pulling the electric chair in Pennsylvania out of mothballs. But at

The Petaluma Hospital District board yesterday affirmed its decision to abandon Hillcrest Hospital and began the search for a site for a new hospital.

Architect Robert J. Gianelli of Beland, Gianelli and Associates of Vallejo, advised against expansion at Hillcrest and advocated construction of a new building.

Gianelli said that while initially it may be less costly to expand at Hillcrest, future expansions would be highly expensive on the hilly terrain. He said it would be more practical in the long range to go to a flat and more centrally located site.

That corroborated findings made earlier by another architectural firm. Gianelli estimated the cost of expanding the hospital from 50 to 100 beds would cost $3,194,000. He said parking facilities would have to be relocated at an additional cost estimated between $800,000 and $1 million. A new 100-bed hospital has been estimated to cost $5.6 million.

Board member E. William Schneider said he had studied further financing a new building and was no longer opposed. That left Clyde Nelson the lone dissenter as he maintained the district could not afford construction of a new hospital.

Dr. Hamza Munib, board president, reported the hospital medical staff was losing trust in the board since it has been slow to act on new hospital facilities.

"They have no trust that the board will get off the dime and do something," he said, explaining that some staff members would support a privately operated hospital.

Real estate agent Jack Garrison, a former board member, recommended four possible areas in which the board might find a good hospital site. He advised they seek a location central to the district with easy access to Highway 101 and room for expansion.

Generally, Garrison advised the board seek land on Petaluma's eastside in the general vicinity of Old Redwood Highway, Corona Road, Lucchesi Park or east of Lakeville Highway near Frates Road.

The board members said they would study the areas and be prepared to make a selection at a special meeting next Wednesday at noon. Prospective architects will also be interviewed.

The Executioner's Absence

the same time, out in Harrisburg, the state capital, the governor, Milton J. Shapp, is on record as saying there will be no executions in his state while he is in office.

Two of the biggest lobbies for capital punishment are the Patrolmen's Benevolent Associations and the Unions of Prison Guards. In New York State, where capital punishment has been abolished since 1965, except in cases where policemen and prison guards have been killed, one finds that more policemen have been killed since 1965.

"You get statements made, especially after some egregious crime," Himmelstein said.

There are cries for the death penalty. If the cries come from 10 significant people, it still doesn't mean anything. I think the nation as a whole is getting somewhat more sophisticated."

In California, many people feel that if Sirhan B. Sirhan and Charles Manson were not sentenced to execution, public opinion would move in strongly against capital punishment.

However, in California, a state with 105 prisoners awaiting execution — the highest number of any state — the state supreme court may decide that capital punishment is cruel or unusual punishment before the U.S. Supreme Court renders its decision on whether it is cruel and unusual. (There are 100 men on Death Row at San Quentin Prison. Five women awaiting execution live at the California Institution for Women at Corona.)

Dallas is a geographical pole of gravity for conservatives. There, one lawyer says, "If they could give you the death penalty for the possession of two marijuana cigarettes, they would."

However, Dallas's Colvin said, "I've tried 435 death-penalty cases, and in each case, we have more and more jurors disqualified because they cannot assess the death penalty.

"In one case at least one-half of some 900 persons disqualified themselves because they could not assess the death penalty on any basis." (In 1968, the Supreme Court in the case of Witherspoon v. Illinois decided that prospective jurors with some scruples against the capital penalty could not be barred from sitting on capital cases unless they state explicity that under no circumstances could they bring in a capital sentence.)

However, Colvin, who is chairman of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers' Association and has served on three criminal-penal-code reform commissions in Texas, said that the commissions are split 50-50 on whether to recommend the abolition of capital punishment.

"We have finally determined that this is more of a social than a legal problem — a matter the legislature should decide one way or another. We have dumped the problem in the lap of the legislature," he said.

Observed Himmelstein: "Capital punishment has been an area where notoriously each side passes the buck to the other side — no one wants to take any responsbility for what takes place — even down to the executioner. Sometimes there are even three executioners, pushing separate buttons or pulling separate levers — two being dummies and one the real thing."

The result of this passing the buck is "that at the end somebody's dead and nobody killed him," Amsterdam said.

In Juris Doctor, a magazine for lawyers, Amsterdam wrote, "This state of mind is one of the most potent weapons against civilizing reform. The concomitant weapon for social change is reinstitution of the sense of responsibility. The fact is we are responsible for this and that has to be realized."

The five-year moratorium on executions has in fact taken the edge off abolitionist sentiments, although many groups — like CALM (Citizens Against Legalized Murder, Inc.) in New York and Justice in New Jersey — are in operation.

The abolition of capital punishment is considered by many to be essential to prison reform. In fact, Edward Ziegele Jr., chairman of New Jersey's Justice ("I want this organization to be the Ralph Nader of prison reform"), said, "You can't have prison reform without the abolition of caiptal punishment.

"The purpose of a corrections system is to correct," he said. "When you are killing somebody, you are eliminating the possibility of a cure because you are denying life. You are saying, 'We can't cure you; we are gonna kill you.' "

Sadat Not Socializing In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Kremlin leaders canceled a formal luncheon for President Anwar Sadat of Egypt today in order to devote more time to discussions of his "zero hour" Middle East battle plans, Arab diplomatic sources said.

In addition, Sadat told aides to cancel his plans to visit the Moscow State Circus tonight so his meetings with Soviet leaders could continue without interruption, the sources said.

Sadat began talks with Soviet leaders in the Kremlin at midmorning, and the Arab sources said the Soviets were very friendly and in a jovial mood. Soviet sources said the meetings would continue through today and Friday.

Sadat arrived Wednesday for his third round of strategy talks with Egypt's military and economic patrons since he became president in October 1970.

Sadat is meeting with Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Defense Minister Marshal Andrei A. Grechko.

Western diplomats in Moscow said they thought the Soviets would try to dissuade Sadat from resuming all-out war and would tell him the Soviets will not participate on the battlefield against Israel.

In a series of speeches to Egyptian troops before his departure for Moscow, Sadat said he had problems to patch up with Soviet leaders—including undelivered military aid— and strategy to iron out before he sets a new D-day for the "inevitabe" battle with Israel.

"I have postponed the zero hour (for restarting the Middle East war) until I go and meet with the Soviets and talk to them," Sadat was quoted by Al Ahram, Egypt's most influential newspaper and semi-official publication.

In Cairo, East European diplomats said the Egyptian leader would try to talk the Soviets into financing an Egyptian munitions industry.

LINCOLN, Mass. (UPI) — About 3.2 million acres, an area the size of Connecticut, were burned in forest fires during 1970, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports.

Israel Sees Delay In Canal Mediation

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

An Israel official said today it may be weeks before Egypt responds to a U.S. offer to mediate indirect talks to reopen the Suez Canal.

The Israeli cabinet accepted the offer Wednesday but Egyptian President Anwar Sadat broke contact with the United States after it agreed to help Israel produce arms.

The canal, closed since the 1967 Middle East war, is the dividing line between Egyptian and Israeli troops and both banks are lined with fortifications.

A decision is not expected before Sadat returns from Moscow where he is trying to work out a new military aid agreement with the Soviets.

The unidentified Israeli official, said the decision by the Israeli cabinet to accept the U.S. mediation offer now places the decision on Egypt.

"The shoe is on the other foot now," he said.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said the cabinet decision was an attempt to turn world opinion against the Egyptians.

"Israel is attempting to misguide world public opinion by claiming that it has agreed to have contacts (with Egypt), via the United States, on a partial settlement for reopening the Suez Canal. It should be noted, however, that Egypt has severed all contacts with the United States as President Anwar Sadat has said," Al Ahram said, quoting an unidentified official.

The Israeli official said there were too many events in the immediate future to influence an immediate decision by Egypt.

"I think there will be some kind of lull in the proceedings now with Sadat in Moscow, President Nixon going to Peking and (U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V.) Jarring still in the cards. Probably a matter of weeks," the Israeli official said.

Sadat is expected to return from Moscow late this week and Nixon is scheduled to go to Peking Feb. 21. There has been no announced date for a new try by Jarring to resume Middle East peace talks.

Photos Sought In Saving Trees

Hikers and nature lovers today sought photographs and slides of scenic Baltimore Canyon in Larkspur, to help convince the Marin Municipal Water District not to chop down trees in the canyon to install a 24-inch water line and a maintenance road.

Joi Losee said the water district directors will hold a hearing on the pipeline plans at about 3 p.m. Wednesday in the district offices in Corte Madera. She said the pipeline work would require cutting a 20-foot-wide swathe through the canyon's redwood and other trees.

She asked that anyone with available pictures of the area call on her or her husband, Crandon G. Losee.

Bill To Extend Commission Life

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., introduced a bill today that would extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission to 1978 and give it authority to focus on sex discrimination as well as other forms of prejudice.

"If we are indeed to reverse the nation's trend toward a society of white, affluent, armed suburbs and decayed, savage cities, we need all the help we can get," Hart said.

Scott said jurisdiction over sex discrimination would lead to "affirmative action programs within the federal government" to stamp it out.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS

By Ken Reichard

LOOKING INTO PORTRAITS

When seasonal weather (is it ever going to rain?) keeps the photographer indoors more than he likes, it's a good time to experiment with fairly close, carefully controlled picture subjects . . . like portraits.

If there's one complaint often heard from portrait subjects it's the refrain, "But it doesn't look like me!" This can mean the picture is very bad — or very good. It will be "bad" if it fails to say something true about the subject — even though the technical details of lighting, exposure, composition, etc., are flawless.

On the other hand, people seldom see themselves as others do. A good portrait photographer tries to look behind the surface, and uses his camera to reveal the quality of what he sees . . . which sometimes surprises his subjects! If he succeeds, his portrait will be good, even if it has technical flaws . . . and even if the subject says, "That isn't me!"

If you've been looking into the possibility of a better camera that opens up new vistas of photography, let us help you look deeper into the subject. We carry the best for your needs.

Warning Issued On Feron Gas Uses

DETROIT (UPI) —Freon gas, commonly used as a propellant in aerosols, an additive to solvents and a coolant in refrigerators, can cause possibly fatal heart beat irregularities, warns Dr. Gerald Breneman, president of the Michigan Heart Association.

Among products propelled by froen are antiseptics, air fresheners and cleaners, insecticides, paints, varnishes, polishes and hair sprays. "It is especially important that these sprays be used in a well-ventilated place and that persons with a heart disorder be extra careful to avoid breathing in the gas," said Breneman, a cardiologist at Henry Ford Hospital.

Shooting Ranges To Be Set Up

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)— Municipal authorities plan to set up 10 shooting ranges in Seoul to make shooting a popular sport and help improve the nation's defense capabilities.

The ranges will be located in and around parks and will be open to all citizens.

Hub Nightspot Flap Is Settled In Court

A one-day trial in which a landlord had sought to evict Michael Considine and his Lion's Share nightclub from their San Anselmo quarters ended yesterday in a settlement.

Lawyers for both sides came to an agreement in Marin Municipal Court in which Considine will not be evicted but will post a bond to cover possible damage to the building.

The property owner, F. M. Gelardi, had claimed that the building on Redhill Avenue had suffered nail holes, a hole in the ceiling above the stage, damaged doors and broken windows.

Considine agreed yesterday to post a $1,450 bond which would be forfeited if the building was not restored to its original state in the event the nightclub moves out.

Disagreements over the rent and insurance also were worked out in the settlement.

The nightclub, popular with rock and folk music fans, formerly was in Sausalito. It was moved to San Anselmo after a 1968 fire destroyed the former building.

'Almost All Box Alarms Are False'

Almost every fire alarm from a street box alone in San Rafael is false.

Fire Chief Robert E. Marcucci told the San Rafael Fire Commission Tuesday that the department can almost bet that a street box alarm, on which the department receives no phone call of a fire, will be false, but the engines must respond to the alarm anyway.

There are 130 street boxes in San Rafael.

Marcucci told the commission he hoped to talk to insurance representatives about the possibility of cutting down the number of engines which routinely respond to a street box alarm.

The chief also reported that of 118 engine runs last month, 25 turned out to be false. The total of runs was an increase over 99 i January 1971, he said.

No Water; 200 Homes Destroyed

VINA DEL MAR, Chile (UPI) — Firemen watched helplessly yesterday as fire destroyed more than 200 houses and injured more than a dozen persons.

Firemen had no water because Lake Penuelas, the supply for residential areas outside this coastal resort, has dried up.

Vina del Mar is Sausalito's sister city.

Marinwood CSD Opposes Annexation

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night declared its opposition to proposed annexation of a 10-acre parcel off of Lucas Valley Road to the City of San Rafael.

The annexation proposal will be considered by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Wednesday.

Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. plans a computer center on the parcel, adjacent to and south of Lucas Valley Road and east of Highway 101. The San Rafael City Council has already approved prezoning of the property for Fireman's Fund.

The Marinwood board met last night with members of the Terra Linda Community Services District board, which has already stated its opposition to the annexation proposal.

Most of the property is in the Terra Linda district.

A Halt Sought In Dismissal Actions

In the wake of Tuesday's election filling two vacant seats on the Sausalito School District board, the Sausalito District Teachers Association has asked that the new board drop all charges against the three fired teachers.

By a 10-1 vote, with one abstention, the association agreed to ask that the board review the dismissal cases against teachers James Pockrus, Clifford Munger and James T. Toliver Jr. and drop charges against them. Toliver is current president of the teacher group and Pockrus served as its president last year.

The three were fired by the school board last year and are now appealing their dismissals in Marin Superior Court. Pockrus's appeal is being heard this week before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner and Toliver's appeal is scheduled to begin Feb. 14. Munger will go to court later this month on a date yet to be determined.

While their cases are being appealed the three teachers are still working in the district on special assignments.

Plants In Mexican Desert Are Classified

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — University of Texas researchers are working to classify and name more than 4,000 plants that grow in the Chihuahuan Desert of Mexico.

Dr. Marshall C. Johnston, an associate professor of botany, says less is known scientifically about the wedge-shaped desert which begins in southern New Mexico and spreads into the heart of Mexico than about the deserts of Mongolia and Southern Siberia.

Bronze Lute Dated To The 6th Century

MUNAKATA, Japan (UPI) — A tiny bronze lute excavated from an ancient shrine site may be the oldest Japanese musical instrument extant in Japan.

Hajime Matsumoto, cultural official for the Munakata-Jinja shrine, says the instrument was described in Chinese documents of the 6th century A.D. The metallic lute is about 11 inches long, five inches wide and one inch thick. It has five silk strings.

Humphrey Enters Test In W. Virginia, Raps Taxes

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Hubert H. Humphrey flew today to rainy Charleston, W.Va., to become a formal entry in the May 9 West Virginia presidential primary. It was in the Mountain State 12 years ago that Humphrey's first presidential bid was smashed.

The Minnesota Democrat went directly from the Charleston airport —where only about 20 persons turned out in the rain to greet him —to the state capitol to file and later to address the state legislature.

Humphrey's entry in the May, 1960, West Virginia primary ended in disaster, with John F. Kennedy scoring an impressive victory that propelled him to his party's nomination and into the White House.

Humphrey dropped out of the race that year for the Democratic nomination after viewing the results on primary election night in West Virginia.

In his speech to West Virginia legislators, Humphrey attacked the nation's tax system as "unfair and unjust" — rigged against the poor and in favor of the wealthy.

Humphrey said tax reforms are needed to distribute the tax burden more equitably so that everyone pays his fair share. But he did not propose specific alternatives.

In other political developments:

—In Chicago, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., another presidential candidate, accused Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz of trying to use the West Coast dock strike "as a scapegoat to divert attention from the Nixon administration's dismal performance on farm income."

—One of President Nixon's challengers for the Republican nomination, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., said Nixon was "furthering the loss of public confidence in government by his self-imposed isolation from not only the people but the representatives of the people." In a Washington speech, McCloskey said if he were President he would hold monthly question-and-answer meetings with all members of Congress.

—A federal judge in Cleveland extended for two weeks, until Feb. 17, the deadline for candidates to enter Ohio's May 2 primary. This will give Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., an opportunity to enter.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-aine, attacked Nixon's Vietnam peace offer as nothing more than re-issued proposals, and brought from Republicans a charge that he was subjugating the nation's interests to his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

After Muskie's speech in the District of Columbia Wednesday, the White House said the Democratic front-runner was "totally wrong," and Republican National Chairman Robert Dole declared Muskie lacked "wisdom ... maturity."

Muskie said the President's eight-point plan "basically renumbered and reissued the proposals that have failed for six years." The Maine Democrat called for a two-point plan: An unconditional date for total U.S. withdrawal subject to Communist release of U.S. prisoners, and the safety of departing U.S. servicemen.

While Muskie drew fire from the GOP, he criticized McGovern for using the late Robert F. Kennedy's vocce in a campaign broadcast advertisement in New Hampshire.

On other presidential campaign fronts, Humprhey personally entered the Ohio primary; Alabama Gov. George Wallace was invited to a Democratic fund-raising dinner tonight in Washington, and McCloskey said his attempts to raise campaign funds were being undermined by the White House.

Muskie said Nixon's peace

McCloskey said Republican businessmen were reluctant to contribute to his campaign for fear of "retaliation" by the administration. At a Washington news conference, he also said that two college students were told that their future in the GOP would be jeopardized if they helped McCloskey.

Jackson, after a campaign swing in Florida, said he would introduce today a $250 million bill to assist Jews leaving the Soviet Union for Israel.

Cyclist Fractures Leg In Accident

A 48-year-old Illinois man was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured right leg suffered in a motorcycle accident yesterday.

The hospital said Jerimiah deMichaelis of Glenview was brought in at 5:40 p.m. by Corte Madera police, who said they were handling the accident for Larkspur police. Larkspur police had no record of the accident today.

McCarthy Will Not Appear—Politicking

Putting politics before poetry, Eugene MCarthy has canceled his appearance at the College of Marin writers' conference.

McCarthy, running hard for the Democratic presidential nomination, informed the college yesterday he won't appear next week because he is preparing for the Wisconsin presidential primaries.

But the poet may have lost a few local votes for the politician because his last-minute cancellation has miffed some local supporters, including Jack R. Felson, a director of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Felson had planned a party for the former Senator after his reading Feb. 11.

Replacing McCarthy on the first day of the three-day conference will be Al Young. The actor, magazine editor and novelist will appear at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building Theater.

Earlene Jones, the college's publicist, said fewer than 50 tickets had been sold for the McCarthy appearance alone, but more than 500 tickets for the entire conference.

Russian poet Yevgency Yevtushenko is still scheduled to appear at 8 p.m. Feb. 12 in the college's gym.

No Crime To Compare Leaders

VERONA, Italy (UPI)—It is no crime to compare Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China with Jesus Christ, a court ruled Wednesday.

The court acquitted columnist Augusto Guerriero and the editor of Epoca magazine, Gino Pugnetti, of a charge of contempt of the Roman Catholic religion.

The charges resulted from a letter from a reader published in Guerriero's column. It compared what miracles attributed to Christ with those in China attributed to the thoughts of Mao.

Coins Stolen

Coins, valued at a total of $160, were stolen in a burglary of Spalding's Hobby Center, 800 San Anselmo Avenue, between 5 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. yesterday, San Anselmo police reported today.

New Homeowner Group President

Jana Haehl has been elected president of the Corte Madera Avenue Homeowners Association, the first woman to hold that office in the 15-year history of the association.

Keith Anderson was elected vice president; Virginia Neto, secretary, and Sandra LeFevre, treasurer, according to Mrs. Neto.

Elections were held at the home of outgoing president George Bloeser.

'Tuna Boat War' With Ecuador Stumps U.S. Diplomats

BY NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Diplomats pride themselves normally on the conviction that no dispute in foreign affairs is too complicated to yield to patient and imaginative negotiations.

But U.S. experts seem to be stumped on how to resolve the "Tuna Boat War" which has resumed again with Ecuador now that the prize tuna are running again in the Pacific off South America's West Coast.

In the "Tuna Boat War" American fishermen set out from California early each year in search of yellow fin tuna which migrate southwards along South America's Pacific coast. The catches are worth millions.

However, Ecuador — and Chile and Peru, as well — claims jurisdiction over a zone within 200 miles of shore. And when American fishermen sail inside the 200-mile limit, without a license, gunboats are sent out to intercept them. If caught, they are taken into port and fined. On one occasion, a Peruvian boat even fired shots at an American boat.

"This fishing dispute has been going on since 1953," one State Department official observed, "but what made it liveable in the past was that only a small number of American boats were seized. Last year, though, the war escalated and 51 ships were arrested."

The official added: "The pressure now has grown for something to be done.

In recent weeks a number of proposals have been put forward to end the annoyance of intercepts —now almost exclusively involving Ecuadorian boats —with their heavy fines and potential danger.

NEW 'WAR' ZONE — This United Press Telephoto map pinpoints new trouble with Ecuador now that the prize yellow fin tuna are running again in the Pacific Ocean off South America's west coast.

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., has demanded a cut off of all U.S. aid to Ecuador. Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., wants U.S. warships to accompany the tuna fleets.

U.S. envoys have held a series of conversations with Ecuadorian authorities, but to no immediate effect.

Congress is taking a new look at the situation in hearings this week. Charles A. Meyer, assistant secretary of state for Inter-American Affairs, is expected to testify Wednesday on the intricate problems involved in the "Tuna Boat War." Meyer, who led the U.S. delegation to Ecuador in December and this month, will appear before the Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Ecuador has set a price of $10,000 per license, per boat for entering its claimed 200-mile limit. But the U.S. government has steadfastly resisted this solution.

American officials contend that licensing is an inadequate way to preserve the tuna resources. But, more importantly, this government fears that approval of such licensing would imply tacit recognition of Ecuador's claim to control a 200-mile wide sea zone.

The United States currently recognizes only a three-mile territorial sea and the government has told the California fishermen that they are under "no legal obligation" to buy Ecuadorean fishing licenses.

To compensate the fishermen when they get caught and fined, Congress enacted the Fisherman's Protective Act in 1967. Under this legislation, the fishermen are reimbursed for the fines which they are forced to pay the Ecuadorians. Several boats have been seized more than once.

Some of the strongest advocates of a tougher U.S. stand contend that the fines exacted from U.S. boats were providing Ecuador with a major source of revenue. Last year alone, when the "Tuna Boat War" really heated up, reimbursements to tuna boats for fines levied against them totaled $2.5 million.

Congress responded to the Ecuadorian action by enacting legislation which Ecuador has considered offensive because, Ecuadorian officials claim, it amounts to economic sanctions. And they took their case to the predictably sympathetic Organization of American States (OAS).

For example, the Foreign Military Sales Act provides for a suspension of military sales, credits and guarantees for one year when a single seizure occurs. Because of this year's seizures, this provision is now in effect into 1973.

The foreign aid act also provides that certain U.S. assistance programs to be put "under review" in case of a seizure; and the Naval Vessel Loan Extension Act provides for possible recall of ships loaned to Ecuador.

Ecuador's complaint to the OAS about American "economic aggression" received a 22-0 vote of support on Jan. 26, 1971. (the United States abstained from casting a lone dissenting vote).

In February, 1971, Ecuador retaliated by expelling the U.S. military group.

Despite the tensions, the two countries have continued to talk to each other, but the prospects for agreement do not look good anytime soon.

At Buenos Aires in 1969, talks were held, without success, between the United States, Ecuador, Chile and Peru on the fishing problem and the 200-mile zone.

A new effort was made when Robert H. Finch, an adviser to President Nixon, visited Ecuador last November. Finch's visit was quickly followed by two visits by Meyer and an expert U.S. delegation over the past several weeks.

Ecuador told the Americans it would not negotiate o the controversy unless the offensive legislation is repealed. And Congress does not seem to be in any mood for that.

To complicate matters, Ecuador —like the United States —is preparing for its 1972 elections and no Ecuadorian politician could afford to adopt a compromising stance.

The U.S. delegation that visited Ecuador put forward a compromise proposal: Let the U.S. fishermen buy Ecuadorian licenses "under protest" with the provision that their money would be refunded if the 1973 Law of the Sea Conference in Geneva enacts a universal 12-mile limit for all nations, instead of the 200-mile zone.

President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra od Ecuador refused the offer, U.S. officials said, as giving with one hand and taking away with the other.

The United States apparently is now considering whether it would be feasible to encourage U.S. fishermen to buy licenses simply "under protest" —and leave it at that for the moment.

Although Ecuador and nine other Latin American countries have made claims to control a 200-mile wide sea zone, there are indications, officials say, that they might compromise at the Geneva Conference on a 12-mile limit in conjunction with a 188-mile "patrimonial sea."

The "patrimonial sea" would be an area where the ocean resources were regulated —but not as tightly controlled —by the coastal state. The United States is concerned that, if this concept is enacted, such regulation should take account of the needs and interests of foreign nations.

For the time being, the United States seems reluctant to push Ecuador too hard, lest it prejudice the outcome of the 1973 Geneva Conference.

It's A Normal Election Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—It is a normal election year in Ohio—three men named Brown are running for the same office.

Running for the Ohio Supreme Court in the May 2 primary election are incumbent Justice Lloyd O. Brown, former justice Paul W. Brown, and former appellate judge William B. Brown.

Currently, the state's lieutenant governor is John W. Brown, its attorney general is William J. Brown and its secretary of state is Ted W. Brown.

Novato Councilman Picks Co-Chairmen

David Price Jones, Novato city councilman announced yesterday that Harry J. Moore, principal of Hill Junior High School and Gilbert J. Moncayo, president of the San Marin Improvement Association will be co-chairmen of his campaign for election to the council.

Jones, an attorney appointed to the council last year, is making his first run for the office.

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's observance of its 200th birthday celebration in 1976 will be a means of celebrating its past, honoring its present and setting priorities for its future.

And Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, who made that assessment, is extremely pleased with her appointment as a director of the American Revolution Bicentennial which will approve various plans for celebrations throughout the country.

The Washington State Democrat had no specific suggestions what local events should feature, but in an interview, she spoke of what she believed the general philosophy should be.

THE OBSERVANCES should capture the nation's spirit so that every citizen will want to say, "I'm proud to be an American," she said.

"A lot of what we do is right and a lot is wrong," she said. "You just have to build out of your troubles. I'm proud of my nation, and I'm determined to keep building it.

"We have to make Americans aware again of what we were, what we are and where we're going."

Mrs. Hansen endorses the idea of star-spangled celebrations at events across the country in 1976. She noted that John Adams, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, called for bell-ringing and other joyful signals when that document finally was approved.

Honors should be paid the bedraggled little Revolutionary Army which defeated the most powerful military force in their world, she said, as well as the small group of statesmen courageous enough to shake off Great Britain's tyranny and wise enough to write a Constitution.

SHE POINTED out with amusement that although the first article of the Bill of Rights provides for freedom of the press, history records that reporters were not admitted when the bill was written because "we'd never get anything agreed to."

Mrs. Hansen believes that government must include the young as well as the old. The 56 signers of the Declaration included eight men between 27 and 35, including Thomas Jefferson, 33. At the other end of the range, Benjamin Franklin was 70, and two others were only one year younger.

"I've never been discouraged about patriotism among college students," she said. "Any government needs youth to provide the dynamics, the steam. Older heads will insist on order."

Mrs. Hansen, 64, was elected to the City Council of her home town, Cathlamet, Wash., soon after graduating from the University of Washington in 1930. In 1939 she was elected to the State House of Representatives, where she became the first woman chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee.

When a male colleague challenged her for the chairmanship, she recalled her service as chairman of a highway fact finding committee and as the first woman to become chairman of the Western Interstate Committee on Highway Policy Problems for 11 Western States.

"WHAT EXPERIENCE have you hadin highways?" she said she asked her male contestor. "He gave up," she added.

In 1960 she was elected to fill an unexpired term in Congress, where she became chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee in charge of handing money requests by the Interior Department.

In 1970 she was named chairman of a special Democratic study group which wrote some significant House reform measures, including one to abolish the old rule for automatically elevating committee members with most seniority to chairmanships.

Her husband, Henry A. Hansen, is a retired logger. They have one son, David.

Training Programs For Women Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Betty Friedan, one of the directors of the National Organization for Women, says it is "outrageous" that the government has no job training programs for women "to give them something more meaningful to do than empty bed pans as nurses aides or count school children crossing a street as teachers aides."

She made the comment in testimony Wednesday before the House Select subcommittee on Labor, which is considering the administration's request to consolidate under the Labor Department all job training programs now handled by several agencies.

Women Make Up 80 Pct. Of Toy Firm

When it comes to making toys, mother knows best. That's the opinion of officials of Tonka Toys, a leading manufacturer of toy vehicles.

Tonka's production force for its 500,000-square-foot plant in Mound, Minn., Minneapolis suburb, is 80 per cent women, many of them mothers and grandmothers. Most of them come from farms and small rural communities nearby.

Their officials here believe that women are well suited for the line work of assembling toy trucks, cars and construction vehicles.

"When our ladies put a toy truck together, they're thinking of what their own kids expect from Santa," says Peter M. Wimsatt, vice president and general manager of the toy division.

Tonka's female supervisors agree. Gwenn Cressy, who bosses 200 women as supervisor of final assembly, says, "I have really a fine bunch of people. Women are agile with their hands and that's important in producing quality toys."

Lucy Thurk, a supervisor who started 19 years ago as an assembler, adds, "Women are faster; they have more dexterity in handling small parts."

The women assemblers this year will produce more than 20 million toy vehicles, considerably more than the combined production of all U.S. automotive companies.

In the process, they will use about 21,000 tons of steel — enough to build 35,000 intermediate-size automobiles; 126,000 gallons of paint — enough to paint 20,000 houses; and more than 100 million toy-sized tires.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Mother Is On The Wrong Track Over 'Jesus Christ Superstar'

DEAR SUE:

I saved up my money to buy my favorite album, "Jesus Christ Superstar." The music is terrific.

My mother blew her stack. She said if I ever brought that trash into the house she'd break it over my head. I asked, "Is it because we're Jewish?" and she said, "definitely not." But she won't discuss it any further.

She never restricted my music before, though she often makes fun of it, and sometimes shouts, "turn that garbage off," when I'm listening to my favorite teen-ager radio station — though she hears the very same "garbage" on her favorite station.

DEAR S.:

Maybe your mother thinks (but won't admit) that "Superstar" would influence you away from your religion. She's probably heard about all those "subversive" songs on drugs, sex, etc. and how they "corrupt" kids, so she suspects anything with a "message."

Please tell her for me that I've yet to see anyone change his or her thinking just because of a few lyrics.

Or maybe she's heard that "Jesus Christ Superstar" is "sacrilegious." Honest, it isn't. I've not only seen the rock opera but have the album, and while there are funny parts all through the play, the character of Jesus is the strong one and the others are the jokers. It's a beautiful show —but I'm sure that when the producers were putting it together, they were a little scared because they knew many people — like your mother — would be putting it down without giving it a real chance.

The music sort of seeps inside you and you find yourself singing it later and feeling good. Perhaps your mother would too, if she'd give it a try. — SUE

DEAR HELEN:

Your daughter Kathy rightly said the history of "The Desiderata" is in dispute. It has been written often that the beautiful piece of blank verse was found inscribed on the wall of Old St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, dated 1692.

A fellow teacher became interested and spent several hours in the St. Paul Public Library researching the correct author. She found that "Desiderata" is attributed to poet Max Ehrmann, who died in 1945. Composed about 45 years ago, it was originally entitled "A Prayer" and was included in his works published by Bruce Humphries Publishers.

I enjoy your Generation Rap. — A RETIRED TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER:

Thanks for your information and your support.

Incidentally, "Desiderata" is now a fast-selling Les Crane record —and the label reads, "Produced by Fred Werner and Les Crane for Old St. Paul Productions." — HELEN

DEAR SUE:

What's a good put-down for a know-it-all-male chauvinist who insists that he's going to marry me and train these "crazy equality" things out of my head? — TIRED OF WALKING 10 STEPS BEHIND

DEAR TIRED:

How about, "I don't dig 'animal husbandry.'" — SUE

DEAR HELEN:

What do you personally think of this new fad for baggy overalls — especially for girls? — U.G.

DEAR U.:

Your signature says it: Ugg. But this, too, will pass, so why fight it? — HELEN

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal., if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

TV's Andrea Boggs Will Be Married

By MOLLY MARIN

Televison news reporter Andrea Boggs will become the bride of Douglas B. Gardner of Walnut Creek on Feb. 26 at the San Francisco Internation al Airport just before departing for Melbourne, Australia.

The ceremony will be performed by Judge Richard Arnason, who is the presiding judge for the pre-trial proceedings for Angela Davis. Andrea's final assignment as a news reporter for KTVU Channel 2 is coverage of the hearings in San Jose.

The future bridegroom is a widower with three teen-age children. He has been appointed general manager of the Techtron Division of Varian Associates in Springvale, Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lanfranco of Fresno are Andrea's parents. She lived in Mill Valley until moving to Concord last year.

ANDREA BOGGS
Airport ceremony

She is having a reunion with friends she has not seen since her last visit here nine years ago.

CHRISTOPHER J. HEGARTY of Belvedere was taken on a private tour of NASA facilities at Cape Kennedy, which included a talk with the astronauts as they rehearsed the next moon walk on a simulated moon surface at the center.

The Hegartys are at home following the week's stay in Palm Beach. In Florida for a speaking engagement, Hegarty also had an opportunity to discuss extra sensory perception with astronaut Ed Mitchell, who, like Hegarty, has an intense interest in the subject.

EMMA LOUISE Church Dixon of Xenia, Ohio, is visiting her niece, Eleanor Louise Church of San Anselmo, and plans to stay for about a month.

A THREE-months' trip to South America ended Sunday when Irving Links returned to his home in Novato.

The trip included a visit with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Links of Lima, Peru, and their son, Edward. They fished many lakes and rivers in South America, and Irving Links also traveled to Santiago, Chile, and to the north of the Straits of Magellan.

50 Years Together For Trefeils

Leon and Rose Trefeil were married 50 years ago in France, where both were born and reared in small country villages just five miles apart.

Their wedding on Jan. 28, 1922, followed a long courtship interrupted while he served in the French army during World War I. Two months after their marriage the bride and bridegroom came to San Francisco for a two-week visit, a gift of her uncle.

"It was a honeymoon, but as soon as we got here my husband said, 'This is it. We're never going back,'" Mrs. Trefeil said.

They settled in San Francisco, where they had apartment houses and hotels, and lived there until moving to Santa Rosa in 1953. They owned a motel in Santa Rosa for 11 years and then retired eight year ago and moved to Woodacre to be near their daughter, Renee, who lives in Forest Knolls with her husband James Poppe and their sons, Paul, 16, Ronald, 14, and Mark, 7.

The Trefeils have many relatives in France. They visit them every other year, and Mrs. Trefeil said they plan a trip this year in May.

For their relatives and close friends in this area they entertained at a party Sunday at the Green Mill Inn in Cotati.

Both of the Trefeils enjoy fishing and hunting. They also enjoy gardening. He tends the vegetables, she tends the flowers.

Deadline Passes On April Ballot

Fourteen more filings today swelled the list of city council candidates for the April 11 municipal elections in Marin and Southern Sonoma County. City clerks were braced for a last-minute rush of other candidates trying to beat the noon deadline for filing completed nomination petitions.

Election contests were certain in each of the 10 Marin cities and two Southern Sonoma cities involved.

Sausalito had the most crowded ballot, with seven men and three women officially competing for three council seats. Novato and Rohnert Park each had nine names on the ballot, with some candidjtes' papers still not returned by midmorning.

In Novato, attorney Dorothy P. Young, announced today she was running. She was rushing to obtain voters' signatures on her nomination petition so she could become the tenth name — and only woman —on the city council ballot.

Filings today and late yesterday included Thomas I. Zaragoza in Corte Madera; Albert E. Gateley and previously unannounced candidates Urban M. Nielsen and Glenn B. Meagher in Fairfax; incumbent William G. Fleckles and challengers Jane Epidendio and Elizabeth Johnson in Larkspur; Anthony M. Gullatta in Novato; Arthur F. Hollingsworth Jr. in Rohnert Park; incumbent John F. Chase and challengers Tracy Van Voorhees and Peter B. Valentine in Ross; Richard A. Raznikoff in San Anselmo and Leonard Rappa in Sausalito.

City clerks in Belvedere, Cotati, Mill Valley and Tiburon reported no filings or issuance of nomination papers by midmorning.

Larkspur City Councilman Fleckles formally announced his candidacy as he filed for reelection. He pointed out that the city avoided general tax rate increases during his previous term, and called for rigid control over development of the city's open space along the North Ridge, Little King Mountain and the Nortpwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Fleckles also urged annexation of all of Point San Quentin and building a new police headquarters as high-priority items for Larkspur. He said he had voted for a moratorium on apartment building in the city, he did so because he wanted to see new controls adopted for the R-3 zones.

Fleckles, 42, lives at 331 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, with his wife and three children. He is an attorney practicing in San Francisco.

Last-minute Larkspur candidate Jane Epidendio ran unsuccessfully for the council in 1960 and 1966. Mrs: Epidendio, 56, lives at 73 Via La Brisa with her husband Ernest, owner of a Larkspur market. They have two grown sons.

"I represent the property owners," she declared today, arguing that not enough landowners and too many tenants are heard in city debates on development. "We have been here for so many years I know what is good for Larkspur," she said.

The only information available9on Larkspur's third candidate, Elizabeth Johnson, was that she is 28, a law student, and lives on the Greenbrae Boardwalk.

San Anselmo candidate Raznikov filed for election shortly after changing his registration from San Rafael to San Anselmo. The 26-year-old law student ran unsuccessfully for mayor in San Rafael last year. He now lives at 51 Ross Avenue.

No information was available at press time on Fairfax candidates Nielsen and Meagher and Sausalito candidate Rappa.

Rohnert Park got its ninth city council candidate yesterday when Hollingsworth, an insurance agent, filed nomination papers.

Hollingsworth, 34, is an agent for Farmers Insurance. He has lived in Rohnert Park for 11 years where he is a member of the board of directors of the Rohnert Park Men's Club, the Lions Club and was past president of the Rohnert Park Hospital Foundation.

He attended Santa Rosa Junior College and San Francisco City College to study business administration. He and his wife, Sandra, and seven children live at 442 Alta Avenue.

Gullotta, 55, of 209 Grande Vista, assistant elections officer for Marin County, became the ninth official candidate for the Novato City Council.

Gullotta, an 11-year resident of Novato, has been working for the county since 1968, and formerly was a real estate representative for American Machine and Foundry Co. in San Francisco.

He is grand knight of Council 3950, Knights of Columbus, in Novato, and past district grand knight.

Newsman Is Back At San Quentin

A state prison parolee who wrote columns while in San Quentin and became city editor of a Marin weekly newspaper after his release, was returned yesterday to prison for an attempted robbery.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court said, however, that Donald Clayton Nivens, 37, of Larkspur, could still make a contribution to society, even while incarcerated.

McGuire said he intended to write a letter to the department of corrections about Nivens describing his background. He also ordered Nivens to be returned to court May 22 for a report on his progress.

Nivens, who has served time on three earlier convictions, at one time wrote "Bastile by the Bay" a column in the San Quentin News. His writing was widely quoted in other publications and after his release on parole last year, he was hired as city editor of the Ebb Tide.

After a few months, he ran into trouble again and was charged with attempting to rob a woman in a San Rafael parking lot last August. He later pleaded guilty to this charge.

Embattled Agency's Shortcomings Cited

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Division of Industrial Safety—under fire for alleged laxness in protecting workmen—is plagued by low morale and inadequate manpower, money and equipment, a Reagan administration report claims.

Released by the office of Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday, the 46-page study said most of the critical responses it received from employes about operation of the division cited "low employe morale."

The document, which tended to support Democratic criticism of the agency charged with ensuring that Californians work under safe conditions, resulted from an investigation conducted by the state Department of Finance.

Copies of the report were sent to the governor, who ordered the investigation last month, and to a "fact-finding committee" of private citizens which also is looking into the embattled division.

In a cover letter, Agriculture and Services Agency Secretary Earl Coke—under whose jurisdiction the safety division falls—said Reagan is "deeply concerned" about the situation and "has asked me to assume full responsibility for whatever corrective action may be necessary."

"Despite the shameful, politically motivated statements of some so-called legislative leaders," Coke told the citizens, "let me assure you that this administration will not compromise the integrity of the division's obligation for providing safe working conditions for the citizens of California."

Investigations of the department were triggered by a series of hearings by the Select Committee on Industrial Safety, chaired by Assembly Democratic leader Jack Fenton of Montebello. The investigations led to Reagan last week accepting the resignation of division chief Jack F. Hatton.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti blamed the Reagan administration last week for the deaths of 17 workers in last year's Sylmar Tunnel explosion in Los Angeles and called for the resignations of the state's three top safety officials.

The Finance Department report did not go into Moretti's charges.

Coke noted the finance department's investigation pointed out "ineffective internal communications and other management deficiencies within the division."

He also said there were "some areas where manpower may be inadequate to handle the workload" and added "several" unfilled positions will now be filled "immediately." He indicated some administrative personnel may be ordered into the field.

Coke said budgeting for state health and safety programs have been "complicated" by the "uncertain aspects of federal funding" available under provisions of the new Occupational Safety and Health Act.

"However," Coke added, "it now appears that at least $2 million in additional federal funds can reasonably be expected during fiscal 1972-73."

Fenton's committee accused the dcvision of "lack of enforcement, inefficient and improper administration, serious morale problems, an inadequate education program and inadequate manpower."

It reported that with 400,000 California employers to inspect, the division only has 179 men in the field. Its total staff, including, clerks and secretaries, is 286—compared to 305 when Reagan took office in 1967.

The lengthy report also touched on charges by Fenton and Moretti that the division was employer-oriented. It cited interviews with several division field inspectors who complained that superiors did not follow their recommendations to prosecute violators of the law. One engineer called the division "a paper tiger."

The report said there was a "general feeling" among division employes that "all unsafe conditions are not always reported."

"This was due to their (the employes') anticipated lack of management support," the document said.

The report also claimed that:

—Morale in the construction section is "exceedingly low." It said inspectors believe that punitive actions against employers who deviate from safety regulations have sunk to such a low level that the division has become a "paper tiger."

— The major complaints among employes interviewed in the electrical section was "excess workload for the amount of staff assigned."

—Backlogs of inspections, increased workload, and recruiting problems impede program "accomplishments" in the division's elevator section.

—The consensus of the safety engineers is that the industrial section, which is responsible for the safety of employees in industrial plants and the mineral industries, is "grossly understaffed."

The report concluded there is widespread "low employe morale."

SHE FLAYS A GUNMAN WITH WORDS

Theresa T. Alfsen of San Rafael doesn't mince words with punks.

She was sitting in her parked car last night near the San Rafael Yacht Harbor watching the boats, she told San Rafael police, when a man knocked on the car window, pointed a gun at her face and demanded her purse.

"You go to hell, you bastard," she replied, starting the car and leaving the stunned would-be bandit behind.

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Nighttime fishing for cusk, a fish related to the cod, will be allowed at Cross Lake in Aroostook County, but live bait may not be used, the state Fish and Game Department said.

Counts Dropped Against Counsel For Cook County

CHICAGO (UPI)—Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan was removed today as a defendant in damage suits totaling more than $16 million stemming from the Dec. 4, 1969, raid in which two Black Panthers were killed.

U.S. District Court Senior Judge Joseph Sam Perry took the action hours before Hanrahan and 13 other law officers were to be arraigned on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice by hindering the investigation into the raid.

Perry removed as defendants everyone except the 14 policemen—12 of whom were to be arraigned today—who conducted the raid. He dismissed the four suits that were consolidated into one, but gave the survivors of the raid and the relatives of slain Panthers Fred Hampton and Mark Clark 30 days to file new suits.

Perry dismissed as defendants in the civil suit Hanrahan, three of his assistants, Mayor Richard J. Daley, Police Superintendent James B. Conlisk Jr.—named as an unindicted co-conspirator in the criminal suit against Hanrahan—the city of Chicago, Cook County and eight policemen who worked in the crime laboratory and the Internal Affairs Division.

Perry said he was dismissing the suits because they were "broad" and "without any support of the facts alleged."

The civil suits were filed after Chicago police assigned to Hanrahan's office, on what was called a "weapons raid," entered the West Side headquarters of the Black Panther party Dec. 4, 1969, and killed the two Panther leaders.

Circuit Court Judge Philip Romiti ruled Wednesday Hanrahan, one assistant and 12 policemen had to stand trial for conspiring to obstruct justice. The judge, dismissing defense attorneys' attempts to have the charges quashed, ended months of legal maneuvers.

Bound Over On Murder

Russell Gilbert Wonnacott, 48, of Eureka, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of murdering his estranged wife's boyfriend. He is to appear in superior court Feb. 14.

Wonnacott is charged with the fatal shooting of Charles Patrick Ely, 37, of San Rafael, Nov. 13. The shooting occurred in Wonnacott's room at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael after Wonnacott, his wife and their two children and Ely had dinner at the hotel.

Paints Bright CATV Future

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A cable television executive said Tuesday that proposed federal rules easing restrictions on his industry would enable it to more than double in size the next three to five years.

The comment was made by Monroe M. Rifkin, 41, president of the Denver-based American Television and Communications Corp., before the Security Analysts of San Francisco.

Rifkin said that in the distant future he saw the nationwide CATV network as the backbone of a multi-purpose two-way communications system offering many services behind expanded or improved TV reception.

Ozawa Will Add Boston To His Symphonic Realm

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seiji Ozawa, the diminutive, colorful conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, said yesterday he would add the Boston Symphony to his responsibilities in an arrangement putting him at the helm of two of the country's major orchestras.

"I am not changing my job at all," the 36-year-old Japanese-born conductor said in an address to his San Francisco musicians.

"It took me two months to decide, but I know now that I can do it ... I need your help and your cooperation."

Ozawa said he would take over the music directorship of the Boston Symphony beginning with the 1973-74 season, but will drastically cut down his North American guest appearances in order to maintain his responsibilities in San Francisco.

San Francisco is considered one of the country's most improved orchestras in the last 10 years, and Boston is a firstline symphony, one of the top five in the nation.

Ozawa said he, his wife Vera and their new daughter Seira, born Dec. 29, will continue to live in San Francisco, and he intends to remain after his present contract ends in 1976.

He said he would appear briefly in Boston next season as music adviser and will continue to serve as co-artistic director of the Tanglewood Music Festival, the Boston Symphony's summer home, a post he has held since 1970.

Ozawa said he would devote equal time to each of the American orchestras starting with the 1973-74 season.

The diminutive Ozawa took over the San Francisco Symphony in the 1970-71 season and has been a resounding success, with his raffish image, energetic style on the podium and his thick, shoulder-length black hair.

Sweet Revenge For Hotel Owner

HOUSTON (UPI)—J.A. Singleterry wasn't allowed to park his taxi in front of the William Penn Hotel during the 1950s.

"Black drivers had to park across the street," he said.

Today, Singleterry, 48, an elementary school dropout, owns the 10-story, 150 room hotel. Now a real estate dealer, he announced Wednesday he had purchased the 47-year-old hotel for $500,000 and will spend another $500,000 remodeling it.

Singleterry, a native of Conroe, Tex., dropped out of the seventh grade and later was a taxi driver. He sold real estate on the side and went into the business fulltime in 1958.

Prime Minister To Leave Office

WELLINGTON, New Zeland (UPI)—Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake today announced his forthcoming retirement and said he would be succeeded by Deputy Prime Minister John Marshall.

Holyoake's announcement followed a government parliamentary caucus which was held after weeks of speculation that Holyoake, 65, wanted to resign in time to give his sucessor time to become familiar with the office before the November election.

Holyoake gave no date for stepping down.

'The Hot Rock'

Something Lacking In New Jewel Film

By LOUISE SWEENEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

People who go to movies for a living — like popcorn salesladies and critics — tend to have file cabinets in their heads. New films are dropped into the most comfortable slot.

A new film called "The Hot Rock" went right into the jewel-caper file, along with that classic "Topkapi" and dozens of others including "The Sicilian Clan." But it's a wriggly film and I'm not sure it will stay there.

"The Hot Rock" is in a sense, "Topkapi" with more giggles. Yes, it is a film about a jewel heist, in this case a diamond as big as a ping-pong ball which is locked in a tall glass case apparently bolted to the ground and patrolled round the clock by the guards of the Brooklyn Museum.

The trick, in this film written by William Goldman from Donald E. Westlake's novel, is to get the hot rock out of the case and into the brooding hands of a UN delegate named Dr. Amusa (Moses Gunn), who claims his African countrymen rightfully own it anyway. But the quartet of thieves he hires (Robert Redford, George Segal, Ron Leibman, Paul Sand) have a flair for bungling. Yes, that is George Segal locked away with the rock in the case.

Peter Yates as a director is so associated with the snapping excitment of "Bullitt" that Yates fans may not be prepared for frequent lack of tension in "The Hot Rock." It springs from its loose, spoofy tracking of the gang; at times the film has a feeling like Woody Allen's robbery comedy, "Take the Money and Run."

But there is one tingly chase scene, in which the gang breaks into a prison to retrieve one of their members in a Bentley. A nice touch, but then they drive the Bentley into a waiting moving van and we saw all that just a few months ago in "The Anderson Tapes." Directors of heist films can't be too careful about making their getaways original.

Yates does well, though, in a terrific helicopter sequence, with some of the most exciting and dizzying footage in a film of this kind — Leibman as a kind of Hertz U-drive-it pilot at the wheel for the first time, the helicopter fluttering like a mad moth around the tops of New York skyscrapers.

"The Hot Rock" is an amiably entertaining film, not a great one like "The Maltese Falcon" or a sizzler like "The French Connection" or a thriller like "Z." has the charm of its stars: Redford, compelling to watch even in a role not quite right for him, as the nervous mastermind of the burglary; Segal, conning the world with a wide larcenous smile. In fact, "The Hot Rock" is based on the dubious premise that these robbers are just nice guys who happen to be in the diamond business; in this film, crime apparently pays.

There is also a deft piece of acting by Zero Mostel; he comes on looking like Federico Fellini playing the father of my son, the jewel thief.

"The Hot Rock" is one of the few films right now which are simply amusement — it pulls off its capers without a single really violent scene or without the smut that muddies up some other GP films. It's worth seeing (and listening to, with a tense score by Quincy Jones).

GOP Group To Screen Hopefuls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 40-member fault-finding committee of the California Republican Assembly will screen presidential candidates before the group's endorsing convention April 7-9 in Palo Alto.

Hugh S. Koford, president of the conservative Republican group, said Wednesday the three current Republican presidential candidates, Richard M. Nixon, Paul N. McCloskey and Rep. John M. Ashbrook, will be invited to address the convention.

A two-thirds vote is needed for endorsement. The CRA has about 12,500 members.

Water Bond Rejected For June Ballot

North Marin County Water District directors have rejected a proposal by director George A. Amaroli to call a $2.5-million bond election in conjunction with the June 6 primary.

A $1.6-million bond measure to finance facilities to deliver additional Russian River water failed last November and directors discussed calling another election Tuesday night, reported Dist. Mgr. Eugene S. Churchill.

The problem is that because of an uncertain financial picture in the Sonoma County Water Agency, the contracting agency, no specific project is on tap, Churchill said. Directors voted 3-2, with William Wright abstaining and Patrick H. Heffernan dissenting, to consider a bond measure with wording to the effect that bonds would be canceled if unused, Churchill reported. It will be discussed at the board meeting Feb. 15.

In other business, directors approved staff work on an interim project — two wells, an additional tie line and a pumping station, an adjunct to the present delivery system — estimated to cost the district $180,000.

The United States declared war on Germany and Italy Dec. 11, 1941.

Big Hike In Budgets Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— City departments have asked for an $88.5 million increase in their budgets, officials reported Tuesday.

The departments asked that the current spending level be boosted from $559.7 million to $648.2 million. The proposal does not include a budget for the school system.

The Board of Supervisors traditionally trims the department proposals.

Closer School-City Relations Needed

An unusual meeting of the San Rafael City Council was held Monday night.

There was no excitement. No earth-shaking pronouncements were made. The city was not launched in any new direction. There wasn't even a confrontation.

The unusual feature was that this was a joint meeting of the city council and the San Rafael Board of Education, which under the city charter is a branch of city government. All 10 members of council and board were present.

WHAT BROUGHT THEM together was a board of education request for a city after-school recreation program at Santa Venetia Middle School, which is within San Rafael Elementary School District but outside the city limits. The question involved was whether city taxpayers should fund a program not in the city.

School board members and city councilmen did not see eye-to-eye on the matter; but after some discussion they agreed that city and school district share the costs 50-50. They then went on to a few other matters of joint city-school board interest, none of which produced any argument.

It has been years since city council and board of education sat down to discuss joint interests. We don't recall another joint meeting at which all members were present.

THIS, WE THINK, is unfortunate. In San Rafael — and in other cities — there are many matters that need to be handled cooperatively by city and school administrations.

The location of a new school may have considerable effect on traffic patterns. Conversely, a change in the city's zoning ordinance may sharply affect a school.

Traffic control must — or should — take into account school bus routes as well as the routes that children walk to and from school.

Night football games sometimes pose a police problem. How the school day is scheduled may affect traffic congestion.

These are but a few of many matters that concern both city and school district. In fact, the schools form so important and integral a part of the city that few things they do fail to have some impact on city government or services.

AT THE CLOSE of the joint session Monday, a couple of the board of education members remarked, "Maybe we should do this every year."

That is not a bad idea. But it may not be quite enough.

Once a year probably is as often as the two bodies need 'o hold a joint meeting. But it would be beneficial to both — and thereby to the residents — if the school administration would delegate an observer to attend all city council meetings and report back to the board of education, and the council would in turn delegate someone from City Hall to attend all board of education meetings and report to the council.

Fall Primary Elections Would Reduce Excessive Campaign Costs

By EARL G. WATERS

If ever there was a golden opportunity to reduce campaign costs for state offices, the Legislature has it this session.

Expenses coincident to seeking public office have skyrocketed in the past two decades, largely because of factors other than the cost of living index.

The innovation of television campaigning accounts for a measure of this price rise, but the growth of population had made it necessary to resort to high-cost methods.

In the good old days candidates for the Legislature, and most other offices, could wage successful campaigns with little money. In the first place the candidates were usually well known in their districts. There wasn't the need to spend huge sums to achieve identity. Candidates depended upon the free publicity they could get through the newspapers, volunteer workers, some handout material, a few billboards, doorbell ringing, and some neighborhood political meetings.

NOW, THE OLD methods no longer work. There are too many people. The ringing of doorbells cannot be achieved by the candidate or volunteer workers. Billboards are vanishing under the guns of ecology. People are too busy watching football or other TV fare to attend town meetings. These are things which cannot be changed. The highly developed techniques of commercial advertising must be used. And this is a costly method.

But one thing that can be changed is the time involved in campaigning under the present election system. To undertake a campaign one must put together an organization early in March in preparation for the June primary. Victors in that election must maintain their organizations, and all the costs which go with them, until the November general election.

That there is no need for this long-drawn-out campaign is established in history. In earlier years the direct primary was always held in late August or early September. It was changed to June during WW II to permit men overseas to vote.

ASSEMBLYMAN JERRY Lewis, a student of government, is seeking to restore the fall primary elections. This would cut campaigns by at least three months, save money, and, for those in office, require less time away from their posts.

As Lewis says, "A shorter campaign would be less strain on the public's patience. The issues would be crystallized by the necessity for conciseness. To the valid arguments for this which have been made we now have an additional and, I feel, most compelling one. We have a responsibility to the people to elect representatives from districts that conform to the law."

Lewis' reference is to the failure of the Legislature to reapportion the districts in time for the June primary. The idea of postponing the primary was suggested by the Supreme Court in its recent decision.

Past opposition to returning the primary to the fall has been largely from county clerks. Also involved is the presidential primary which must be held before the national party conventions.

In Lewis' plan the presidential primary would continue to be held in June. Some local ballot propositions could be consolidated with it. "This would clear the decks for the direct primary and general elections," he says. "It would shorten the ballot and remove other issues from the important business of selecting legislative representation."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Recognize China? Sure, And Cuba Too

What is all this flap about recognizing China? We recognize Russia, Spain, Haiti. Which brings me to the point. Why not recognize Cuba? 'Twould stop skyjacking. It is as close to home as Haiti. Why not Bangladesh?

If people accept that type of government, let them. It is their lives to live not ours.

Bangladesh Killings Likened To Buchenwald

Regardless of personal religious or non-religious beliefs, as a member of humanity, I must speak out loud and clear and try and try to have my protest heard.

In April, 1945, when I was 11, I heard and saw (via newsreels) Buchenwald and other "labor camps" set up, primarily, for mass murder. Over three million human beings, men, women and children, of the Jewish faith paid with their lives to appease the appetites of the "monsters" of Germany. These "monsters" were not monsters; they were human beings acting in a ing in a monstrous way. They were huof the "Nazi" faith.

Less than 30 years later, I hear and see (via television and newspapers) of another "Buchenwald". Again, we do not have "monsters" as such, only other human beings, again, acting in a monstrous way. This time it isn't over three million people, it is "only" 100,000 men, women, and children thus far. Is the Bangladesh people to be the "Jews" of the '70s? Are we, of this time, going to wait until we hear and see the figures rise above a million before we feel the horror of it all? Is not one man, woman, or child murdered in this fashion enough to set us speaking now, or are we, again, to wait until we hear "three until we hear "three million"? . . .

Attorney Alleges Inconsistency By I-J

With reference to your editorial of Jan. 27, entitled "Saving Environment Becomes Misnomer", I am inclined to think it should have been entitled "The Independent-Journal Becomes Misnomer".

For all the preaching that your column has done in the past many years about government being responsible to the people, I am astounded at your lack of consistency. It is your paper which has consumed so many column inches of space, self-righteously criticizing government, especially local agencies here in Marin, for not following the law when public meetings have been held, which you believed to be in violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act. Your editorial columns have saturated our community with the principle that government is just as obligated to obey the law as a private individual, if not more so.

Now you are telling your readers that there are exceptions to the principle, that in certain instances it is acceptable, by your standards, for government to move ahead without regard to the law. You have chosen to criticize members of the community who have elected to go to court for a judicial determination as to the legal obligations of a certain state agency, namely the Division of Highways. Your criticism, I find not only inconsistent, but arrogant and insulting . . .

The environmental factors related to the proposed 5.2 mile bypass are too numerous to mention here, however, they reach far beyond your simplistic statement that E.L.F. is only concerned with "hillside cuts." Next time please think before you write such irresponsible material.

(The Independent-Journal did not and does not question the right of attorney Forest's committee or anybody else to go to court. It does question whether the damage to the environment of Novato through the highway bypass plan is comparable to the damage caused by further delay in getting the highway off that city's main street. — Editor.)

Suggests Improvement In Service Contracts

I wonder if there is a way for stores who sell appliances, especially TV and radios, to extend in their contract, under the time of their guarantee, that if a failure of set during this time, we will fix it, but no longer than two weeks. If not done in this time, a spare set will replace yours until the other is returned.

Killing Of Animals Shocks Movie Viewer

Last night we went to see the movie "American Wildreness" at the Playhouse in Tiburon, which was much publicized for its splendor regarding nature, wild life etc.

Well, after the movie was over, nearly everybody was in shock viewing the horror, that was not publicized, namely the killing of wild life.

This movie has been advertised as a "true life adventure for the entire family" and has been rated "G" so the audience consisted of many children ranging from age 5 and up.

My 10-year-old son was very upset, so I can imagine how the younger children must have felt. Of course I have no control over the kind of movies being made today, however, in most cases you have a pretty good idea what it is all about.

In this instance, however, I am deeply shocked about the deceitful advertising for this movie and the shameful way of luring families with their little children to the theater.

I lost count of the many splendid animals that were hunted down and shot, not speaking of the grand finale, hunting down a polar bear in whom they pumped countless bullets to kill it, then skinning it on the spot, which was absolutely gory . . .

Deficit Predictions Contradict 'Success'

Mr. Peterzell's success story in the I-J of the Golden Gate Bridge District's new bus system is frightfully funny if one considers that (1) the finance committee of the Golden Gate Bridge District in December openly estimated an annual deficit of about $3 million of which $800,000 would be recovered by discontinuing the commuters discount book. This increase of 25 per cent for the commuter is far in excess of President Nixon's 2.5 per cent; (2) after two weeks of running the buses the deficit estimate for future years had increased by a cool 36.7 per cent (from $3 million to $4.1 million); (3) after three weeks of running the buses the auditor of the Golden Gate Bridge District revised the deficit projection to $21 million which is 700 per cent above the estimate of the finance committee. No one really knows how large these deficits are going to be but if one accepts the current population of Marin County at 200,000 anyone can calculate that a family of four may end up paying an additional $400 per year in taxes in Marin County to support the Golden Gate Bridge District. Is there going to be a special sales tax and/or will the commuter simply find out one of these mornings when passing the toll gate that the "bridge tax" went up by a substantial amount?

The people of Marin County are entitled to know how these deficits will be met before any further commitments of funds for new buses and ferries are made.

MARQUIS CHILDS

'DEFICIT' Is Strange Device On Congressman Ashbrook's Banner

WASHINGTON — Through New Hampshire's snow and ice the banner with the strange device sends a slight shudder down Republican spines. The word on Rep. John Ashbrook's banner is "deficit," spelled out in great big letters to match the three-year Nixon red ink of $87 billion.

The six-term congressman from Ohio, running in the Republican primaries in both New Hampshire and Florida, says he doesn't want to force the President to get out. He merely wants to persuade him to return to the faith of his Republican forebears and the campaign promises he made in 1968. It is a lonely exercise that seems likely to have only a limited result.

In a speech in the House in December, now being circulated around the country, Ashbrook added up the '68 promises both on domestic and foreign policy and found the President woefully wanting. Four years ago he was opposed to wage-and-price controls, for dispersal of federal power, attacked the idea of a guaranteed annual income, promised an end to the surtax. On foreign policy he said Communist China should neither be admitted to the United Nations nor granted American recognition until it became law-abiding, called for strategic superiority for America, opposed credits to nations dealing with North Vietnam.

BUT AT REPUBLICAN National Headquarters here, the Ashbrook threat is not taken very seriously. Despite his highly vocal conservative support, it would be surprising if he got 10 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire. This deffers radically from his own story, since he claims that hundreds of supporters are rallying to his cause with both money and a promise of votes. As Sen. Barry Goldwater puts it to his fellow conservatives, "What is the alternative?"

One chunk of the huge Nixon budget will encourage the right wing to stay in the Republican fold. Defense spending is to rise by $6.3 billion to a total of $83.4 billion. Secy. of Defense Melvin R. Laird calls this "the absolute minimum to safeguard our national security."

This means that the big munitions makers will get along very well, thank you. They are almost without exception Republicans, and when the hat is passed to finance the Nixon campaign their generosity can be counted on.

ONE OF THE NUMEROUS right-wing splinter groups, called "Republicans for Victory in '72," appeals for funds to convince the President that "he should alert the American people to the Soviet military threat and that he should adopt a policy of military superiority." One of the co-chairmen of "Republicans for Victory" is Lawrence J. Meisel of St. Louis, former Missouri Republican finance chairman and a former member of the party's national finance committee. Like many other splinter groups, they are circulating the basic Ashbrook speech.

The opposition on the right extends all the way from the far-out extremists to conservatives genuinely concerned over the trend of the second Republican administration to come to power in 40 years. It includes ideologues such as William Buckley who is pledged to Ashbrook. But while their rhetoric, as in Buckley's National Review, delights the conservatives for the most part, they have no political base and little leverage on the voters.

ALONG WITH the President and Ashbrook, a third Republican is competing for votes in the New Hampshire primary. Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey Jr., challenging Mr. Nixon on the left, seeks to rally the young opposed to the Vietnam war. Republican strategists here rate McCloskey's prospects lower than those of Ashbrook in a state essentially conservative.

Yet privately they concede that if the two should poll a total of 20 to 25 per cent of the primary vote it would have a dampening effect on the campaign in the fall. No one can forget the upset that Eugene McCarthy pulled when he went into New Hampshire four years ago and won 42 per cent against 48 per cent for President Lyndon B. Johnson. That memory haunts the snowy slopes of the first state to go to the polls in this uncertain year.

Big Cleanup In Small Town — And No Bureaucratic Red Tape

One advantage of living in a small town is that problems are on a human scale.

They can be tackled and solved through voluntary cooperation without all the folderol, expense and delay that usually attend a government program.

When people just pitch in and work together on problems of common concern, they not only get results quicker and cheaper. They also build a sense of community —something that is lacking in many big cities today.

A CASE IN POINT is the way our town cleaned itself up after a recent storm.

High winds and freezing rain took a terrible toll of the great oaks, magnolias and pines that are the particular pride of our community. Streets, parks and the yards of private homes were littered with shattered branches. It was an unsightly, heart-breaking mess.

The municipal agencies responsible for street maintenance and trash removal did their best to cope with the huge clean-up job. But it soon became apparent that a larger community effort was needed.

First, the chamber asked business firms to provide trucks and drivers each Saturday for four weeks. They agreed to do so, at their own expense.

Next, the chamber approached student leaders at our college. Would they try to recruit some able-bodied young volunteers to devote four Saturdays to gathering up and hauling away the debris left by the storm? They would and they did.

Then the high school kids got in the act, turning out in great numbers to help with the hard manual labor.

For four consecutive Saturdays, the young peope worked from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., with a brief midday break for box lunches prepared by women's organizations.

Other people, too old to contribute physical labor, wanted to have some part in the project. So the chamber of commerce made the happy suggestion that they kick in a little money to hire a band and provide refreshments for a dance for the young workers at the conclusion of the project.

That's how we got our town cleaned up.

We accomplished something else in the process that may be even more important in the long run. We closed, at least temporarily, the generation gap.

After watching the tremendous job done by those high school and college students — and the cheerful competence with which they went about it —this community is in no mood to listen to talk about today's youth being lazy and irresponsible.

In fact, if you make nasty cracks about young people these days, you are apt to get a middle-aged fist in the mouth.

I-J PHOTOGRAPHER'S NOTEBOOK

By JIM KEAN

Photographer-Fireman Brings Understanding By Visual Means

It wasn't very long ago when photographers were expected to do little more than make pictures, usually at the direction of others — pictures made to fit into a theme of words already written, pictures to fill a given space left in a layout as a "reader-arresting" item to go with the story.

National magazines first pioneered a freedom of expression with small cameras that personalized a product that everyone, especially the viewer, has come to recognize as the "being there" part of modern visual reporting.

IT'S QUITE USUAL to see news photographers arrive on stories dripping with cameras, each with its own special purpose, ever-ready to capture just the special moment that will tell the story a little better than just the moment before. The technique works well with news photographers and with firemen too —especially a fireman who happens to be named Chet Born, official photographer for the San Francisco Fire Department who spoke to a gathering of the Northern California Firemen's Association recently at Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

Mr. Born's credentials are very heavy: Thirteen of his 29 years as a fireman have been as a fireman-photographer. Needless to say, Mr. Born's collection of fire scenes makes news photographers weep: red light and siren get him there first and the combined talents of a photographer and a fireman direct him to just the right spot for all the visual action. It's hard for us news types to beat out a guy with a red light and siren, but it's easy to recognize a talent such as Chet Born, even if he does have an edge.

Mr. Born speaks to dozens of groups each year and his easy, knowledgable manner wins many friends to the firefighter's cause. In a city that averages 125 alarms a day, an ordinary photographer would find more than enough picture opportunities for a spectacular photographic display. Chet Born not only comes off with the display but also the meaning and reasons behind each slide, a detailed anatomy of the cause and the effect of each alarm important enough to require his special talents. He finds it impossible to make every one, but none of the major alarms goes without his attention.

INDUSTRIAL AREAS of a large city are secured against an ever-increasing rate of vandalism by protective measures that hamper the firefighters' ability to get a hoseline on the fire without cutting through steel fences and barred windows. Fire losses streak out of sight, burned-out industries relocate in safer areas, and Chet Born worries about the future of the city he has served so long and so well.

He also worries, in his fireman-like way, about the safety of his city's people as he speeds to the tragic scenes, dripping, like a news photographer, with cameras, to record in black 'n' white negative, color positive and 16 mm. movie film the scenes he knows only too well. The black 'n' white material appears in the San Francisco press, the color positive results go into the amazing library he has built of flame and its destruction. The movie films add to the invaluable training aids for his and other fire departments. And it's all shot at the same time!

Most news photographers would like Chet Born's red light and siren, but there are few, if any, who could come away with the understanding that backs up the photography of this talented gentleman.

United States Leads On Points In Vietnam Peace Plan Game

WASHINGTON — One of the reasons that it is so difficult to get a settlement in Vietnam is that there are so many peace proposals on the table that no one knows which one anyone is talking about.

Even President Nixon, in discussing the secret meetings with the North Vietnamese in Paris, stumbled over the different plans that have been submitted.

I am certain that this is what is happening in the White House at this very moment:

"MR. PRESIDENT, the North Vietnamese have just given an answer to our peace proposal."

"Good, Henry. Is it a response to our reply to their public seven-point plan or our private eight-point plan which we submitted to them?"

"We're not certain. As you know, in 1965 they offered us a four-point plan and we came back at them with a 14-point proposal which they rejected gutright. Then on May 14, 1969, we came back with our eight-point public plan which they countered by submitting a 10-point plan on July 8, 1969."

"What about our five-point proposal of Oct. 7, 1970?"

"They responded to that by publicly submitting the National Liberation Front's seven-point plan."

"WHAT DOES THAT make the point spread, Henry?"

"I'm not too good at mathematics, Mr. President, but I believe on points they're slightly ahead. But if you add our eight-point secret plan, then we're ahead."

"Do you believe they'll come up with another poin
hind?"

"I'm sure of it, Mr. President. They were very angry that we added a point to their seven-point proposal of July, and considered it an act of bad faith."

"The only reason we did it was because the seven points did not cover all the proposals."

"I know that and you know that, but they don't know it."

"I HAVE A GOOD mind to bomb them tomorrow morning."

"Wait a minute, Mr. President. I think we ought to study their reply to our response to their proposal first. There may be something in it we've overlooked."

"Well, why can't we bomb them while we're studying their response?"

"Because if we respond to their answer with bombing, they could say we're not serious about our eight-point proposal."

"Is that the secret one or the public one?"

"It was the secret one, Mr. President, until you made it public."

"Oh, yes, that's right. Well, is their response to our secret — uh, public eight-point proposal, secret or public?"

"Publicly they have denounced it, but secretly they've indicated they're studying it."

"WELL, WHY DON'T we bomb them publicly, but secretly let them know we're looking for a peaceful solution?"

"I believe, sir, we'd have to come up with another proposal before we do. How about a 35-point peace plan? That could really throw them into a swivet."

"That's not a bad idea. But before we do that, what was their response to our eight-point secret proposal which I made public the other night to show all Americans that I had gone the extra mile?"

"My people are sending it up to me now. Here's one of my aides. Thank you."

"Henry, you've gone pale. What is it, Henry?"

"Oh, my God, Mr. President! The North Vietnamese want to change the shape of the table."

Books Shut In My Lai Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon has closed the books on investigations and prosecutions against soldiers of the 11th Brigade that gained notoriety at My Lai.

The last pending case was dismissed Wednesday when the Army dropped murder charges againstLt. Col. William J. McCloskey, 40. McCloskey, a native of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was accused of murdering two Vietnamese civilians in an incident 12 months after My Lai.

The 11th Brigade was deactivated last fall at the same time its parent division, the Americal, was struck from the lists. Of 25 officers and men charged with either participating in or covering up the alleged 1968 war crimes at My Lai, only Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was convicted.

San Quentin To Expand Facilities On Death Row

Although San Quentin's inmate population has dipped to a 20th Century low, death row is full and will be expanded, the prison announced yesterday.

Joseph R. O'Brien, information officer, said 16 cells on the second floor of the adjustment center have been cleared and will be refitted beginning next week for death row inmates.

Death row already occupies half the second story and the unit is the most coveted of death row's three sections. Cells are larger and its inmates are allowed an hour of outdoor exercise daily, O'Brien said.

He said the expansion is needed because death row is full with 100 inmates and more condemned men are expected. There has been no execution since 1967 because of court review of the death sentence.

O'Brien said the remodeling will be aimed at increasing security.

Army Wife Of Year Quits Over 'Insult'

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (UPI) — Mrs. Billie Willett, "U.S. Army wife of the year," says the letter the Army sent her warrant officer husband telling him he had to retire after 21 years in the service was so insulting she is resigning her title.

"The Army does itself no good by wording letters of release in such a manner that a soldier is made to feel less than a man," Mrs. Willett said in the letter to the Pentagon, in which she vacated her title of Army wife of the year.

But she refused to reveal any contents of the letter Wednesday. The Pentagon also would not release the letter it uses to inform career officers they must retire.

Officers can retire voluntarily after 20 years of service and receive half their salary, but some are selected to stay in 30 years and retire with 75 per cent of their salary, if they wish.

The Pentagon issued a statement Wednesday saying that it had not yet received Mrs. Willett's letter, but the Army said the fact that Willett was asked to retire was no reflection on his record.

"This action was wholly without prejudice to Willett and his long record of faithful and effective service. In its letter of notification, the Army gratefully acknowledged Willett's assistance in the accomplishment of its mission," the statement said.

However, Mrs. Willett, a 1949 graduate of the University of Kansas, said the letter "was an insult to me personally." The Army's wife of the year since March, she donated proceeds from a children's book she wrote to the "Save the Children Federation," and served as president of the officers' wives club.

A retirement flap

"I have tried very hard to improve the image of the Army —which needs improving very badly," she said. "I find it impossible ... to continue bearing a title of which I was extremely proud, but which I am now deeply ashamed."

She said her husband expected to be able to serve 30 years and was "shocked" when he received his letter of release.

Water Flow Halt Kills Tiny Fish

LACEY TOWNSHIP, N.J. (UPI)—When New Jersey's first nuclear plant began commercial operations in December 1969, the warm water it poured into Oyster Creek created a winter paradise for fishermen.

Young menhaden, tiny, herring-type fish which usually migrate south in the late fall, stayed on in the unnaturally warm waters of the mile-long creek flowing into Barnegat Bay.

Last weekend, after two years of uneventful coexistence between fish, fishermen and the $68 million nuclear plant, something went wrong.

Hundreds of thousands of the one-to-two inch long fish were found floating in the 50-footwide creek. The flow of 460,000 gallons of water a minute at temperatures of 55 to 60 degrees, had stopped because the plant was shut down for repairs.

Spokesmen for the Jersey Central Power & Light Co. first denied that the fish dying was due to the shutdown. State biologists disagreed. They said the menhaden, or mossbackers, were the victims of "thermal shock."

State officials figured that the water temperature dropped 11 degrees between last Thursday and Saturday, when the first dead fish were discovered.

William J. Jeschke, assistant district conservation officer in the Department of Fish, Game and Shellfisheries, attributed the death of more than 200,000 menhaden to "that sudden change in the environment."

Power company officials said the plant had been shut down for maintenance and repairs five times in winter months over the past two years and no fish had died.

State Conservation Officer Bruce Young said New Jersey biologists are testing the fish for possible chemical traces, but don't expect to find any.

"There was no outward indication, no discernible difference," he said. Seagulls, presented with an unexpected feast, eliminated the possibility of any accurate count of the number of fish killed, he said.

The nuclear plant takes in water, used to create steam power through nuclear fission, from the South Branch of the forked River here, and releases the "outfall" into the creek. It was a tiny, meandering stream until the power company dredged and straightened it to fit its needs.

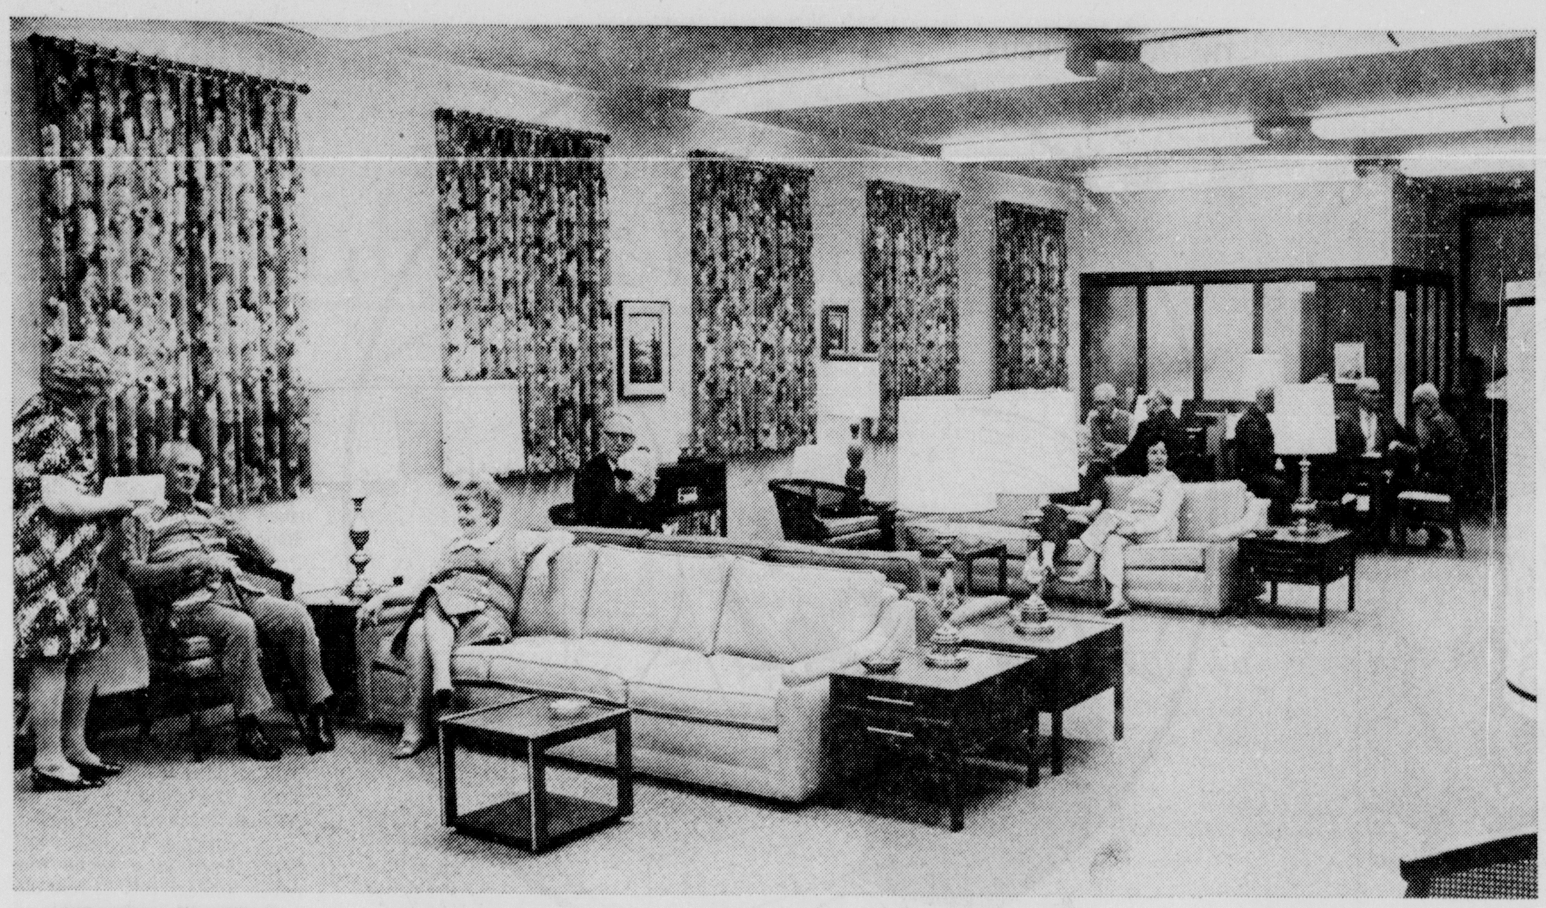
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, Thursday, February 3, 1972 21



SENIOR CENTER — Some senior citizens enjoy a preview sampling of the new senior citizens center where they can play cards, read or sit and visit. The center, called "Whistlestop", will open officially next week. Oldtimers who remember the waiting room at the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad station in San Rafael would have a hard time recognizing it now. It has been transformed into this bright and cheery center. (Independent-Journal photo)

New Life For Old Waiting Room

By THERON A. NEWELL

Take a gloomy, dirty old waiting room in a railroad station, add to it the enthusiasm, money and effort of organizations and individuals, and the end result is a beautiful meeting place for senior citizens from all over Marin County.

The "Whistlestop" as it is called is a tastefully decorated and useful room which can be utilized as a drop-in place for individuals or for group activities at 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

The new senior citizens center was dedicated Monday night with approximately 300 persons attending: officials, recreation leaders, and guests from all over Marin County.

Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, announced that the center will open for use by senior citizens at 10:30 a.m. next Monday. Ernest N. Kettenhofen, president of the coordinating council, and Vera Schultz and William A. Gnoss, vice presidents, will officiate at a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Programgs for the 52 clubs which will use the center will be conducted Monday through Friday, Ryken said.

The 60 by 25 foot room has been repainted an off-white and indoor-outdoor carpeting covers the formerly bare wood floor. Sofas in light green and chartreuse are placed throughout the room, inviting people to sit and read, converse or just meditate.

Scattered about the room are end-tables and lamps and along the wall by the railroad tracks are well-stocked bookcases. The windows are covered with fgow ered draperies in colors that blend with the sofas and carpet. Two cardtables, the cards displayed, wait on those who would while away their time that way.

The entire room is brightly lighted with overhead fluorescent lamps. A large mirror reflects the light, adding to the brightness.

At one end, an electric organ stands ready for anyone who can play it to fill the room with music.

The old ticket office has been transformed into a small conference room or office, complete with two sofas and tables, donated by Virginia and Allen Axford.

Fifteen paintings by senior citizens decorate the walls of the room. Some have been donated permanently to the center and some are on loan.

One oil painting by M. E. Smith reminds people of what the station looked like as a passenger depot. It is complete with old autos of the Model T era and a passenger train on the tracks.

Credit for the major part of this transformation goes to the Soroptimists Club of Marin, which took on the major project of refurbishing the building. Last October it donated $5,000 for the work. Mrs. Jessie Stetson, who was active in organizing senior citizens groups more than 20 years ago, donated $500. The club obtained donation of the electric organ.

Painters Union Local 83, both its active and retired members, donated the paint and painted the outside of the building and the inside of the senior citizens room.

Jesse Berry of Marin City, a retired electrician, rewired the room for the senior citizens.

Behind the scenes stood Kettenhofen who backed the council, guaranteeing its note for the center for five years with no interest, according to Ryken.

Two members of the Soroptimist, Florence Huber, a professional interior designer, and Caroline Fooshee of a San Rafael furniture company, planned the interior decorations of the center.

Future plans for an adjacent room call for installation of a kitchen where members can cook for those elderly people not getting adequate meals, Ryken said. Plans are in the offing to rent the room out to groups to help defray the expenses of the center, he said.

The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily Monday through Friday. The council will soon launch a drive to raise funds to keep it open seven days a week, Ryken said.

After the opening Monday, special events will be held each day throughout the week at the center, he said.

At 2 p.m. Monday, Ryken will present a program "Those Wonderful Years, 1900 to 1950."

On Tuesday at 2 p.m. a slide show will be presented on Washington D.C., the White House Conference on Aging, and Mount Vernon. At 7:30 o'clock that night there will be a concert by a Hawaiian band.

Musical students from San Rafael High School will present a concert at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

An organ concert will be given by Albert Gehl of Baldwin Piano Co. at 2 p.m. Thursday and again on Friday. Following these concerts will be other slide shows on travel.

Meryl Dahl and her Rural Band of Novato, will present a concert at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Coffee and refreshments will be available every day for anyone wishing to come to the center, Ryken said.

ANGELA ASKS STATE TO DEFRAY EXPENSES

Tells Court She Also Plans To Subpoena Reagan During Her Trial

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN JOSE — Angela Davis blamed the state of California yesterday for her present predicament and asked the state to help her out of it by paying bills for her four attorneys.

Furthermore, she intends to subpoena Gov. Ronald Reagan to her trial in order to ask him about his part in a "conspiracy" against her, she told Judge Richard E. Arnason.

The former university instructor, acting as her own lawyer yesterday in arguing why the state should pay her legal fees, spoke in a calm, clear professorial voice in a heavily guarded courtroom.

"If it weren't for the state, I wouldn't be in this position," she claimed. "In order to counteract the monstrous case that has been built (against me)," Miss Davis asked the judge to give her present attorneys court appointments and order their bills paid.

She also said, "We intend to subpoena Ronald Reagan, call him, and put him on the stand and ask him to explain how he aided and abetted" a conspiracy against her.

In the beginning of the case, Miss Davis said, she and her supporters had thought they could raise enough money for expenses.

She blamed the news media for the lack of success, saying they had on the one hand, "characterized the case as having thousands of dollars" and, on the other, telling readers that "funds are not reaching the defendant."

Miss Davis said she did not want the Santa Clara Coknty public defender appointed to represent her, not only because he is overburdened and understaffed, but also because he is "an arm of the judicial office and I'm charged with an offense that involves the judicial."

(She referred only in this oblique manner to the charges of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy against her stemming from the death of Judge Harold J. Haley in the August 1970 shoot-out at the Marin Civic Center.)

Miss Davis told the judge she expected his response was going to be the same as the governor's, who had suggested last week she could have the public defender if she had run out of money.

Albert W. Harris Jr., chief prosecutor in the case, responded to Miss Davis's 45-minute speech by saying that no showing had been made that she can't afford to pay her attorneys.

He cited the various attorneys she has had, noting that a new one, Leo A. Branton, had joined the team only about three weeks ago.

Furthermore, Harris said, he got the impression in recent arguments in federal court, that Miss Davis could easily post $100,000 bail.

While legal arguments went on in the high-ceilinged, wood-paneled courtroom, six more ff Miss Davis's supporters were arrested outside a chain fence while protesting a new California law that prohibits demonstrating near a courtroom.

The arrests brought to 26 the number of persons incarcerated during this week's final pretrial arguments.

Judge Arnason yesterday took under submission motions that the trial be moved again and the attorney fee matter.

Arguments were to continue today on whether poor people and minority groups are fairly represented on Santa Clara County jury panels which are drawn only from voter lists.

A jury commissioner told the court yesterday that over 5,000 prospective jurors have been lined up for the Davis case, since it was transferred from Marin to Santa Clara.

McGovern Tops Stanford Poll

McGovern drew 396 votes, outpolling the next most popular candidate, Sen. Edmund Muskie,D-.Me., by more than a 2-to-1 margin.

Muskie had 170 votes, and President Nixon polled 165. There were 1,300 votes cast in all.

Dougan Is Studying Supervisorial Race

James Dougan, a San Rafael planning commissioner who ran unsuccessfully for county supervisor eight years ago, said yesterday he may run again in June.

Dougan, who served as campaign chairman four years ago for Supervisor Louis H. Baar, said he will run for the fourth supervisorial district seat being vacated by Baar if he can get the financial backing.

"I haven't really made up my mind yet, it depends on getting the proper financing," he told the Independent-Journal.

Dougan, who lives at 40 Knoll Road in San Rafael and is an insurance agent for State Farm, said he will make his decision within a week.

In 1964, Dougan lost by a narrow margin to former Supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

The 49-year-old Dougan, a former west Marin resident, also has served on the Bolinas Fire Protection District board, the Bolinas Public Utilities District board and was a member of the Bolinas School District board before it merged with the Stinson Beach School District.

He was born on a ranch on the Point Reyes Peninsula and is a lifelong county resident.

He twice sought appointment to the San Rafael City Council but was ruled ineligible the first time in 1969 because he didn't fill the city's residency requirement and took the planning commission seat the second time instead.

As a former secretary to the Marin County Property Owners Association, Dougan said he expects some support from that group if he decides to run.

Officers Named In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley architectural advisory committee elected officers for 1972 Tuesday night and approved conversion of a dance studio into an office building.

Chosen chairman was Janet Mountjoy, while Robert M. Tanaka was named vice chairman, reported Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator.

The committee approved conversion of the Dick Ford Dance Studio at 169 Miller Avenue into offices, McGill said.

Body Of Finance Executive Found

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Alan Scott MacFarlane, vice president of Transamerica Financial Corp., whose hogtied body was found on a Little League baseball diamond, choked to death on his own blood after he was apparently beaten by a robber, an autopsy report said today.

The body of MacFarlane, 43, was found Tuesday by a woman walking her dog.

In San Francisco, police held a suspect in the murder. Authorities said James Smith, 24, was arrested Feb. 1 on suspicion of possessing a stolen credit card of MacFarlane's and later was booked in connection with the slaying.

The body was wrapped in a blue blanket, the feet bound and a noose around the neck, sheriff's detectives said. He had been severely beaten on the head.

208 Million In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The population of the U.S. reached 208.5 million on New Year's Day. The Census Bureau believes it will climb to 300 million by the year 2000 and more than 400 million by 2042.

Boys Nabbed In Process Of Burglary

Two juveniles were arrested in the process of breaking into a Tiburon residence yesterday, according to sheriff's deputies, who said the pair admitted to five other burglaries of the same home and implicated two other juveniles.

The youths, ages 14 and 15, were cited to Marin juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary, as was another 15-year-old, said to have taken part in the first five crimes.

The fourth juvenile, age 16, could not be located yesterday, deputies said.

Officers reported a neighbor called at 4:20 p.m. and told them she had just seen two teen-agers in the back yard of the Jo Murphy home, 644 Tiburon Boulevard.

Deputies who arrived moments later said they found the pair trying to pry open a sliding glass door.

The identities of the juveniles were concealed on order of Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

Regional Crime Labs Planned

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Attorney general Evelle J. Younger told a California Peace Officers' Association meeting Wednesday that the state will set up eight regional crime laboratories.

The labs will "improve the services of scientific examination of evidence" and will be equipped with high sophisticated gear such as voice print machines, he added.

Younger also said the state's main crime lab in Sacramento is being redesigned under a federal grant and will be used as a training center for those working in the area labs.

3 A well-known New England artist? What were originally magazine cover illustrations for the "Saturday Evening Post" by this man (78 today) are now prize exhibits in New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art: (A) James Montgomery Flagg; (B) Norman Rockwell; (C)Al Capp.

4 A onetime TV talk show host? Noted as a comic who never smiles, this 53-year-old comedian with the Bronx wit and accent thought it was no joke when ABC replaced him with Dick Cavett as its nightly talk showman: (A) Alan King; (B) Joe E. Lewis; (C) Joey Bishop.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

West's 'Gentleman' Lead Gives South A Run At Three No-Trump

A generation or so ago, bridge was a game for people of "good family." You went to a finishing school, where you were taught how to waltz and fox trot, which fork to use for the endive and how to play an acceptable (but not too acceptable) game of bridge. Perhaps these lessons brought on the Great Depression; the schools shouldn't have wasted all that time on the fox trot. This all came to mind when today's hand was played in a game of rubber bridge.

Opening lead — ♣ 2

THE OLD SCHOOL

West opened the deuce of clubs, fourth highest from his longest and strongest suit. East won with the ace of clubs and returned. Well, that's the point of my little story about finishing schools. East, a gentleman of the old school, had been taught to return his partner's lead; so he returned the six of clubs at the second trick.

South had no further problem. He won the second trick with the queen of clubs and led a heart to force out the ace. South was then sure of one spade, two hearts, four diamonds and three clubs for a total of 10 tricks.

SIMPLE COUNT

West's lead of the deuce of clubs indicated that he held three higher clubs; obviously he had no lower clubs. In short, West had only a four-card suit. East could see only five clubs in the dummy and his own hand and therefore should have known that South had four clubs. There couldn't be much nourishment in the clubs, and East should have considered a switch.

South's bidding showed four hearts, leaving only five cards in spades and diamonds combined. It was not unlikely that South had only two spades.

AT SECOND TRICK

East should lead the deuce of spades at the second trick. South plays low, and West wins with the queen. West returns the seven of spades, and East must play the three. When West gets in with the ace of hearts, he leads his last spade, and East has two tricks with the K-10 behind dummy's J-9.

A little too modern, perhaps, but very effective.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 7 4
♥ - A 9
♦ - 9 6 5 2
♣ - 10 8 5 2.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

This weak response promises adequate trump support and six to ten points, counting distribution as well as high cards. In this case you have six points in high cards and one point for the doubleton.

Illegal Parking Cure

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) —A local discount store, distressed at non-customer use of the store's large parking lot, now chains shopping carts to illegally parked autos. It will cost the driver a $1 or $2 fine to get unchained.

Marin Singers In Comic Opera

Six Marin singers are performing in major roles in the current production of Offenbach's comic opera "Orpheus in the Underworld" at the Palace of Fine Arts Theater in San Francisco.

Ted Bakkila of San Rafael has the leading role of Orpheus and Darlene Brock of Larkspur, the leading role of Euridice.

Others in the cast are Natasha Kimmel of Tiburon, Venus; Lorie Kutsko of Ross, Diana; Clairellen Waldeck of Mill Valley, Cupid, and Alex Smith of Mill Valley, God.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Plan Would Open All PUC Meetings

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill that would include the Public Utilities Commission under the state's open meeting laws has been introduced by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose.

After introducing the measure Wednesday, Alquist said the measure was "in response to a policy of increasing secrecy by the commission meeting in secret when making regulatory decisions."

The commission, as a quasi-judicial body, is allowed to hold certain meetings in secret. Alquist's bill would have the effect of removing that exemption.

"While the exclusion of the public has been in effect for years," he said, "the complete exclusion of all staff from the final deliberative process did not occur until 1971."

Alquist introduced similar legislation last year that was passed by the Senate but killed in Assembly committee. At the time, representatives of the commission denied there was anything secret about commission actions.

LOCAL PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, Wednesday introduced legislation removing the governor's power to appoint persons to fill vacancies on county boards of supervisors.

Arnett said the measures would place the authority in the hands of the local board.

The bills would also require that persons appointed as supervisors or city councilmen stand for election at the next succeeding election after they are chosen.

In case supervisors are not able to reach agreement on an appointment within 30 days, they would be required to call a special election.

HEROIN HELP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, Wednesday introduced a bill which would make heroin addicts in approved methadone programs eligible for Medi-Cal assistance.

Vasconcellos said addicts must pay $15 to $20 a week for methadone. He said putting it on the approved Medi-Cal drug list would enable "destitute" persons to obtain methadone.

CRIME FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature has been asked by Gov. Ronald Reagan to increase the state budget by $4 million so that California will qualify for an expected $60 million in federal anti-crime funds.

Reagan said Wednesday the money was needed to meet a "state buy-in" provision which will be required next year under the federally backed Omnibus Crime Control Program.

Since the federal block grant program began in mid-1969, Reagan said, the state Council on Criminal Justice has funded more than 525 projects to improve the police, courts, and correctional system.

At present, the bulk of the projects are funded on a ratio of 75 per cent federal funds, and 25 per cent in local matching funds for cities and counties.

PROTECTION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Hospitals and blood banks would be held responsible for hepatitis caused by contaminated blood transfusions under a bill introduced Wednesday by Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

Sieroty said that hundreds of persons annually contract the disease as a result of blood transfusions but that the patient has no recourse against the institution providing it.

A related bill by Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, would allow tax deductions of up to $150 annually for blood donations given to nonprofit organizations. The measure would permit the deductions at a rate of $30 a pint.

AID PITCH

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblywoman March Fong, D-Oakland, has introduced legislation preventing a possible cut in state aid to handicapped community college students.

Under her bill introduced Wednesday, mentally retarded and physically handicapped students would be exempt from the 18-year-old adulthood law for the purposes of state school aid.

Mrs. Fong said the state currently provides $100,000 for the education of handicapped students between 18 and 21 years of age. She said the newly enacted state law lowering the legal age of adulthood to 18 could cause the state to cut off the funds.

Innocent Plea To Attempted Burglary

Arnold Dean Ash, 18, of Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of attempted burglary. Preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

Ash was arrested Tuesday when Novato police said they found him on the roof of a Novato pet shop.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Many Foot Sufferers Have Arthritis Of Toes And Joints

Not everyone with painful feet has fallen arches, calluses, or poor circulation. Two per cent of foot sufferers have rheumatoid arthritis of the toes and metatarsal joints. The latter is easily overlooked because it resembles arch trouble, especially in the early stages. The individual bears his weight on swollen and tender metatarsal joints — the same structures that form the transverse metatarsal arch in the fore part of the foot.

Walking or standing is painful, and finding comfortable shoes presents problems. Arthritic foot involvement usually begins with tenderness, thickness, and puffiness about the base of the toes. Broadening of the foot occurs as swelling forces the digits apart. In addition, the feet may perspire profusely and the ankles may swell.

NUMEROUS deformities develop when the condition is neglected. The big toe may be forced inward leading to bunion similar to that caused by pointed shoes and high heels. The ensuing pain and stiffness usually prevent completion of the step. Corns and ingrowing toenails add to the misery. Fatty cushions normally found under the tips of the toes and metatarsal arch usually disappear and the protruding bones create pressure points and painful calluses. The victim feels as though he is walking on marbles. In some, the toes contract down like claws.

CUSTOM-MADE shoes usually are needed by persons with severe rheumatoid arthritis of the feet. One of the best is a seamless shoe molded from a special plaster of paris cast of the foot. It may not improve the deformities but the callosities disappear, and there is far less pain. The usual remedies for rheumatoid arthritis also are used because other joints may be involved. Relief often follows injections of a hydrocortisone product directly into the joint.

Surgical treatment includes the removal of the protruding heads of the metatarsal bones. In some instances, it is necessary to fuse together the joints of the toes. Occasionally, severely deformed digits must be removed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent Journal.

TWINGES ON PUFFING

F.J. writes: What causes twinges of pain in the back of the right ear when I puff on a cigaret?

REPLY

There is no anatomical connection between the throat and the back of the ear (mastoid area). However, I don't doubt the twinges are real. Do you pull your head backward when you take a deep puff? This could move the vertebras of the neck, causing pressure on the nerve that goes to this area.

SALIVA IN DIABETES

E.E. writes: Is it true that the saliva of a diabetic tastes sweet?

REPLY

No, because there is no significant amount of sugar in the saliva of a diabetic. Nor is it true in the normal person.

TUMOR OF THE EAR

C.L. writes: What is cholesteatoma of the ear?

REPLY

This is an unusual tumor of the middle ear that follows infection. It consists of a pile of dead cells and is so named because it also contains cholesterin crystals.

KNOW THE LAW

California Highway Patrol

The Correct Towing Lanes

What traffic lanes may you drive in when pulling another vehicle?

The California Vehicle Code requires that any vehicle towing any other vehicle or trailer must be driven in the right hand lane of any multilane road. Through driving shall be restricted to the right hand lane except when passing and then only the lane immediately adjacent to the right hand lane is to be used for passing.

This does not apply to drivers preparing to make left turns, exiting from a highway or entering the same, or being in other than the right hand lane to continue on the intended route.

In addition to the above towing requirements, a vehicle towing another vehicle or trailer is restricted to a maximum speed limit of 55 miles per hour.

Don't forget the mirror and safety chain requirements plus lights and turn signals.

Marin City Land Session Is Tonight

A report to the Marin City community on recent land negotiations with the California Development Co. in New York will be presented at a town meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The session is sponsored by the Marin City Council and community services district, according to council chairman Samuel L. Banks Jr.

Following negotiations last week with Marin County officials and representatives of the community groups and Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, the development firm agreed to pay a portion of its profits from development of valuable ridge property to the community.

California Development also agreed to allow residents to participate in planning and development of the ridge and to offer an option to buy the land to the community if development is not completed by a deadline, still to be determined.

Muir Monument Addition Passes

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Legislation authorizing the expenditure of $950,000 to add nearly 50 acres to Muir Woods National Monument near Mill Valley has passed the House of Representatives.

The sum includes purchase of 15 buildings that would be moved in order to return property near the park to its natural state, a Park Service spokesman said. The land is opposite the park's southeast corner.

The Muir Woods money is contained in a bill authorizing the government to spend $26.5 million to expand or further develop 22 National Park Service facilities.

McNear Beach Grant Approved

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A $166,200 federal grant for half the cost of improving McNear Beach Park was approved today by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, reported Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

The work will include family picnic units, a sand beach, informal picnic and play turf, nature trails, restrooms, a bathhouse, landscaping and other improvements. Construction will start in May or June, and is scheduled to be completed next fall after a slowdown to accommodate heavy summer use.

The county's share of the project, $155,500, will be supplemented with $10,800 in state funds. The state funds exhaust Marin County's share of the state's $150 million park bond issue of 1964.

Innocent Plea To Bomb Death

OAKLAND (UPI) — Stephanie Kline, a San Francisco pharmacist, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a charge that she killed a man whose body was found in her bombwrecked automobile.

Judge Jacqueline Taber ordered Mrs. Kline, 25, held in lieu of $75,000 and set Feb. 15 as the day for a preliminary hearing.

Tommy Davenport Jr., 21, of Berkeley, was killed Sunday by an explosion in Mrs. Kline's small foreign car which was parked in a coffee shop lot.

Shut Prison By Year-End, Fiscal Expert Post Urges

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative fiscal expert A. Alan Post Wednesday recommended that state civil servants and faculty members of the University of California and state colleges be given a pay raise $58 million higher than proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The veteran nonpartisan budget analyst also recommended that San Quentin Prison be shut down before next Dec. 31 for an estimated $4.7 million saving. Reagan has proposed that the aging 120year-old institution be gradually closed by the end of 1974.

In his analysis of the governor's proposed $7.6 billion proposed state budget, Post called for increasing the salaries of UC and state college faculties by 12.5 per cent and for state workers by 7.5 per cent.

Reagan has proposed a 7 1-2 per cent increase for higher education faculties who have received no cost-of-living increases during the last two years. He proposed a 5 per cent raise for state workers to be distributed by the state Personnel Board on the basis of correcting "inequities" between lagging classes of employes.

But Post called for augmenting the $95.8 million Reagan proposed for cost-of-living increases by a huge $58 million and said the sum should be granted across-the-board.

"Because of a lack of cost-of-living increase since July 1970, the basic purchasing power lag which exists for all state employes should be eliminated before any classification for special group parity inequity is rectified," Post said.

Post also warned he is "not confident" that the savings Reagan projected in welfare costs "can in fact be realized."

"The precarious nature of last year's administration proposals incorporated into the Welfare Reform Act, a hazard fully reported on at that time, is hanging over this budget because of the growing list of injunctions and adverse court decisions affecting these sections of the act and reducing the savings assumed to be realized," he said.

He also repeated his concern that the $65 million in additional state aid to local schools proposed by Reagan fell far short of meeting actual educational costs.

"The state's share of school support continues to slip downward, and the local property tax burden will of necessity rise accordingly," Post told the lawmakers.

This College Couple Not Quite Typical

DAVIS — Each morning Frank Sousa and his wife, Mary, hop on their bicycles and pedal over to the University of California, Davis, campus where they join almost 14,000 other students wending their way along the arduous path toward a college degree.

Frank, a senior in geography, and Mary, a senior in English literature, have been carrying about 20 units per quarter apiece since starting at UCD, and each has maintained a grade point average of about 3.5. A straight A average is 4.0.

Frank and Mary are not a typical collegiate couple. He is 54 years old. She is 50.

They have two children. Linda spent two years at UCD, and now lives in New York. Frank Jr. is 22 and a second year student at the UCD Medical School.

"After our children entered college, we found we had a lot ot time on our hands. We seemed to spend most of it watching TV. We tried to educate ourselves at home, but found we just couldn't do it," says Frank, a retired builder.

"Our kids are the ones who urged us to go back to school for a degree," adds Mary, a registered nurse. "We enrolled at Sacramento City College in 1968, and transferred to UC Davis in 1970."

What is it like going to school with students young enough to be your children?

"We find the ygung kids treat us as equals. We relate more to the students than to the professors. But most profs seem to accept us, in spite of our age."

"Kids nowadays are much more honest and mature than young people were when we were growing up."

Frank has been accepted to graduate school in Geography at UCD, and says he would like to teach at the Community college level when he gets his Master's degree. Mary has applied to the School of Education where she hopes to work toward a secondary teaching credential.

While going back to school can be an exciting experience for a middle-aged couple, it can also have some drawbacks.

"We don't see any of our old friends anymore," Frank comments. "Our attitudes about the world have changed since going back to school, but theirs have stayed the same. We don't have much to talk about. But we're gradually making some new friends.

"The toughest thing for me," adds Mary, was the first day of classes at Sacramento City. I was scared to death to walk in the door. But I got over it before too long.

"Age is only a matter ot being able to change your mind about ideas," she believes. "Now the only time I know I'm old is when I walk by a mirror."

Stiver Named Battalion Chief

Donald B. Stiver, president of the Marinwood Firemen's Association, has been named a battalion chief of the fire department.

Gerald A. Falbo, association secretary, said he mistakenly reported last month that Ronald Marinoff was elected to succeed Howard Council, who retired. The erroneous information was printed in the Independent-Journal Jan. 6.

He said Stiver was elected to the position Jan. 4. Marinoff already was a battalion chief, Falbo said.

Amtrak Funds Are Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House commerce subcommittee has approved legislation that would authorize $170 million to run the National Railroad Passenger Corp., called Amtrak, through June 30, 1973.

Of the total, $147.5 million would be for capital improvements and to assist in the development and operation of international rail passenger service between the United States and points in Canada and Mexico.

Meeting On Ridgeland Pact Today

The Marin City ridgeland agreement — which releases title of valuable lands surrounding the community to a New York developer — will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. today at the Marin City Community Center.

The agreement was signed last week by California Development Co. and the county's housing authority and redevelopment agency.

Release of the ridgelands has been the center of controversy for months. However, the new agreement appears to meet many community demands, including the right to share in the planning and profits of any future development.

Tomorrow's meeting will be conducted by the Marin City Council and community services district.

The agreement was presented to county supervisors yesterday but they agreed to hold off discussion for a week, pending review by the community.

$1.3 Million Dues Suit Is Settled

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The National Education Association's $1.3 million dues-arrears suit against the California Teachers Association and its former southern section has been settled out of court.

Directors of both organizations announced Wednesday that the settlement was for $1.1 million. The suit was to be heard in Los Angeles federal court later this month.

The suit was aimed primarily at the CTA southern section on grounds that organization, which was then relatively autonomous, used the 1970-71 dues money for its own projects instead of paying it to the NEA as required.

The CTA has since been reorganized to make each of the California sections responsible to the state director.

In a joint statement, NEA president Donald E. Morrison and CTA president L. Gordon Bittle said, "We believe the terms of the settlement to be fair and equitable to the NEA and CTA. It adequately protects the interest of the membership of both organizations."

The money is to be paid with interest over a five-year period.

Informal Dress For Policemen

An item of clothing once associated with the shadier elements of society and more recently jet set formal attire has become an official part of the Corte Madera police uniform, at least for a while.

Sgt. Rodney J. Sheran said officers will have the option for a 90-day trial period of wearing a black turtleneck shirt under their uniform tunic in place of the more formal neck ties.

Although the change won't solve any crimes, it will soften the formal appearance of the blue-clad officers, he said.

Some Day They May Know All About You, Your Life

By ROBERT P. HEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Under a plan being considered here, in a few years any company or U.S. government agency may be able to learn:

Your salary.

How fast you pay bills.

What you do with leisure time.

What neighbors say about your personal habits.

Such invasions of all Americans' privacy could result from a proposal to use Social Security numbers as the universal means by which people are identified by all computers.

If such a plan were to take effect without major legal and technical safeguards — and experts warn they are lacking today — computers owned by all government and private agencies could "talk" with each other, telling all they knew about citizens. Extra snoopy agencies frequently pry into personal issues like the ones just mentioned; their computers could blab this information to other computers.

The Senate's leading privacy defender, North Carolina's Sam J. Ervin, Jr., is sounding the alarm against this possibility. He has called for rejection of the plan. And he has condemned the "neutral position" that the Nixon administration says it is taking toward this plan.

Involved is a pending decision by the Computers and Information Processing Committee of the American National Standards Institute. It is deciding whether to adopt proposed technical standards which would use the Social Security number to identify Americans in computerized records. The institute develops voluntary standards which industries then generally make their own.

In a letter to the committee Senator Ervin says it is not now considering a mere technical decision but "a major philosophical decision affecting the rights of the individual and the future uses of economic, political, and governmental power in the computer age."

He calls the decision "vitally substantive." It is one, he says, which "by right ought to be made by legislative bodies only after extensive public debate on the subject."

Even as Senator Ervin made his letter known, the House of Representatives was preparing to vote next week on whether to establish a special committee designed to spur just such public debate. It would deal with the issues of privacy and human values and would be expected to consider, among other things:

The growing use of Social Security numbers to identify Americans in computerized records.

The fact that many American companies and government agencies are computerizing their records without, critics insist, much concern for keeping confidential information about citizens confidential. Much of the computerized information they say, is gossipy or inaccurate — nobody's business.

If established, the House committee would be expected largely to parallel the work of Senator Ervin's own Constitutional Rights Subcommittee in the Senate. As the senator noted in his letter to the standards institute, his subcommittee last year held extensive hearings on privacy, including an investigation into the astounding growth in the use of computers to maintain records, and the use of Social Security numbers to identify many Americans already listed on computerized records.

In his letter to the standards institute, Senator Ervin warns that "this poll may give Americans the universal identifier with all that implies for individualism and personal privacy. The committee's judgment on such a standard will carry great weight with computer manufacturers and users in government and private business.

"Even if they do not plan to exchange information now with others, they will design and program their computers for future data exchange based on the Social Security number."

At present the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is conducting a high-level review of last year's report by the Social Security Administration on the growing use of the Social Security number. HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson also is concerned over the growing use of Social Security numbers.

Senaotr Ervin wants the standards institute to wait for the HEW task force to complete its study and make its recommendations before promulgating any voluntary standard on the use of Social Security numbers. He is disturbed that the institute is going ahead without awaiting results of that study. There is concern among some privacy specialists that voluntary standards using Social Security numbers to connect computers will be establihsed and put in operation as a "fait accompli" — while government is still debating whether it should be established.

Senator Ervin called conclusions of the Social Security Administrations report "alarming," noting that they included the view that:

"Defining the proper role of the Social Security number in society requires that broad social judgments be made first about the desirability of large-scale computer record keeping in various settings;

"Second, about the kinds of data necessary and appropriate to record about individuals within a given setting;

"Third, about the safeguards needed to insure that the computer is being used within a given setting in ways that protect fundamental human rights;

"And fourth, about the desirability of any kind of universal identification system in terms of its psychological impact on the individual citizen."

Senator Ervin decries that the Nixon administration wrote the standards institute that it would take a "neutral position" on the Social Security number issue. Senator Ervin says White House officials should review the findings of the Social Security Administration report, "which call for a slowdown, not a speedup in private uses of the Social Security number in light of the present state of computer technology."

Rizzo Extends Moratorium

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mayor Frank L. Rizzo has extended by one week the moratorium during which teenage gang members can turn in their guns, knives and razors, no questions asked.

Rizzo announced the moratorium last week. After it ends, on Feb. 11, the Police Department will begin a crackdown on weapon-carrying teen-agers. Forty-three persons died in gang-related violence here last year.

Rizzo, a former police chief, said a request for the extension came from several community groups.

Only six weapons had been turned in so far, Rizzo said, "So what's to be lost by extending this a week?"

SO WHO EVER HEARD OF A TRI-STATE GARAGE SALE?

We hadn't either. But late Monday night, when all our crews in Salt Lake, Vegas, San Mateo and San Rafael were stretched out with cold compresses — recovering from a wild and wooly TRI-STATE JANUARY CLEARANCE that had them on coffee and "uppers" for 31 days, our eight store managers were counting casualties. Not people casualties, thank God (although Les Ferber in our Vegas Flamingo Rd. store did report one compensation case resulting from enthusiastic lady customer closing sofa sleeper on unwary salesman's finger). No, . . . the casualties our managers were discovering after the 31-day free-for-all were merchandise casualties. So, what do you do with a one-armed sofa* that was half of a corner sectional and somehow somebody sold the other half? Or a loose-cushioned loveseat — beautiful thing — whose back cushions were SO loose they disappeared! You put 75% OFF tags on them and look for an enterprising customer who'll flank the one-armer with a lamp table, and another customer tall enough to need the extra seat depth he'll get from a love-seat without back cushions. And, speaking of enterprising, we're holding a contest to see who can come up with the cleverest uses for odd table leaves. Winner can have all the table leaves we're stuck with (don't ask me how) at $1.00 a piece. Hint: Think "bookshelves." Any better ideas? Here's a real poser. Stan Haines, our store designer, ordered this magnificent carved Victorian marble-like fireplace for a model room. $339 was the tag we made out for it, but we never got a chance to hang the tag because it arrived in pieces. Well, we've got all the pieces, so if you're handy with the glue-pot you'll have a mantel worth near three-bills-and-a-half for $75. We've got lampless lampshades and shadeless lamps you can take away for peanuts . . . dozens of matching 3-piece living room table sets that no longer match so we're selling them as onesies at far less than their worth. Then there are customer returns. It's amazing what guff full-service stores like ours will put up with just to keep a customer. When Mrs. R..... custom-ordered a violet and puce recliner (against our decorating department's advice) and then decided it didn't really "make it" in her room, guess who took it back. The BEST BARGAINS are in bedroom and dining room furniture. Nothing "casualty" about them, except from our point of view. Like discontinued groups — beautiful and in perfect condition except that store merchants just have no use for samples they can't reorder on, so we're dropping them to near cost to get them off the floor. Same deal with odd assorted headboards, night tables, china cabinets, dressers, mirrors, etc. A#1 merchandise — perfect in every way and from houses like Broyhill, Burlington, Thomasville and Bassett. But we've got freight cars full of new Broyhill, Burlington, Thomasville and Bassett coming in, so we'll make it real attractive to get rid of the old . . . REAL ATTRACTIVE. Know what we mean? There are hundreds of other items I could tell you about . . . (I haven't even begun to think about all the stuff in our warehouses that'll be coming over for the sale) . . . but you get the idea. ROCK BOTTOM BARGAINS in a LAST CHANCE, THREE DAY WIND-UP. And we really mean THREE DAYS . . . TODAY, TOMORROW (UNTIL 9) AND SATURDAY.

*Not all "casualties" in all stores, obviously, but similar disasters at similarly crazy prices.

Drake Falls To Marin In Cage Play

In a basketball game that may have set the fine coaching art of substitution back 20 years, the College of Marin freshmen used only five players in defeating Drake High School yesterday evening in Kentfield, 68-56.

The loss reduced Drake's over-all record to 11-9. The Pirates and the other seven Marin County Athletic League teams resume their league season tomorrow.

Due to a variety of injuries and ailments, only five healthy Marin freshmen showed up. By the end of the game there were only four, but Gene Barnes insisted on playing the final minute despite an ankle sprain.

Drake made its MCAL reputation by substituting freely without loss of firepower, and seemed like a poor team to try an iron-man stunt against.

"We slowed it down on them some," said Marin freshman coach John Daly. "The guys really hustled. I guess having only five players may have had some kind of psychological effect."

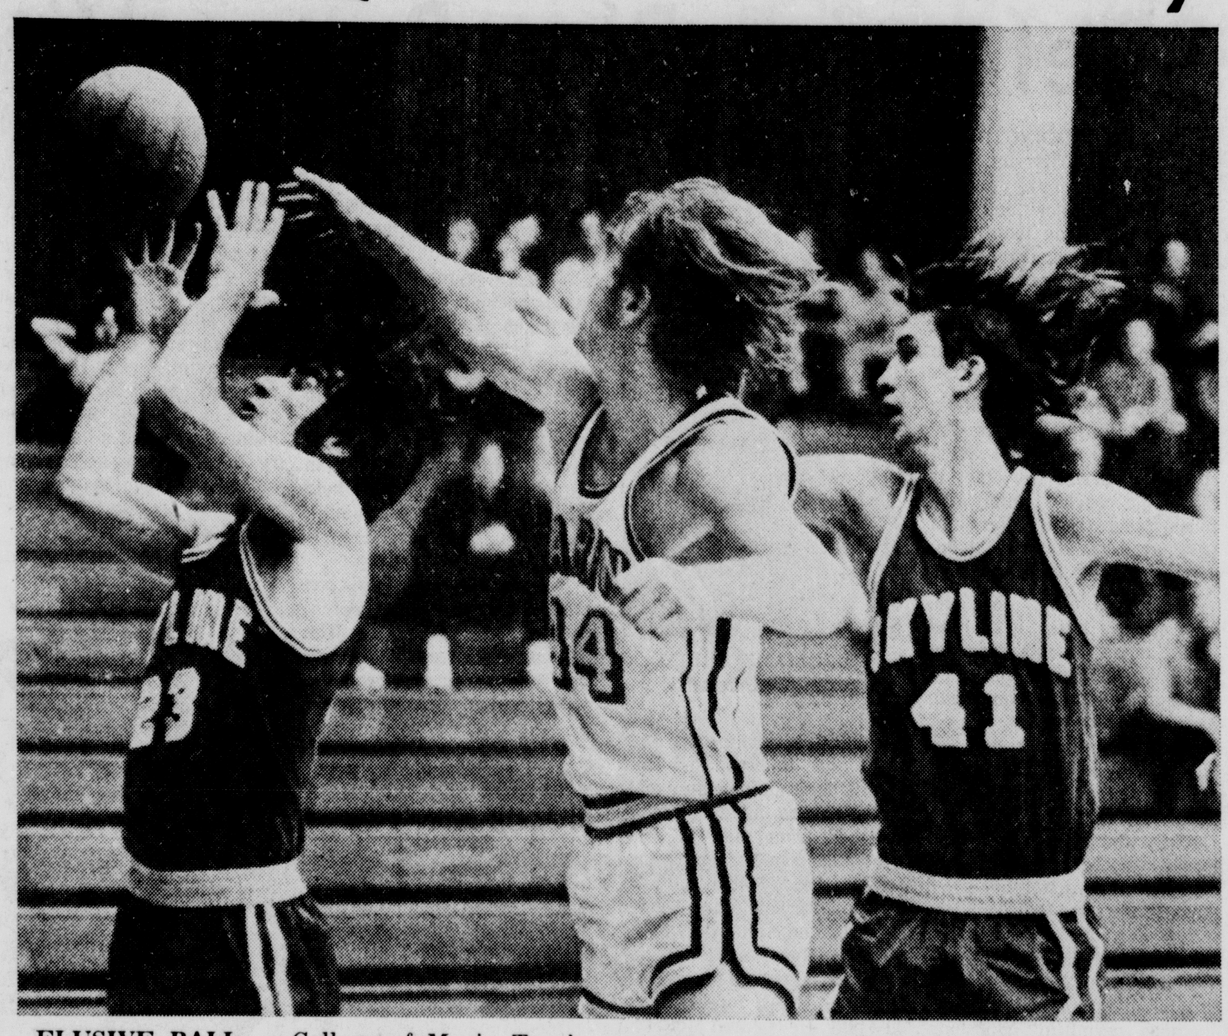
Hitting eight straight shots midway through the second half didn't hurt, either. The game was close up to that point, as the halftime score (33-31, Marin) indicates.

Brad Caramango scored 19 for Marin, while Robert Gregg had 18, Barnes 17 and Jim Forni 10. Gregg and Forni went to Drake last year. Tom Carlisle and Ric Herbert scored 12 each for the Pirates, who were without the services of frontline player John Channell, who fell ill earlier in the day.

Drake — Daubenfeld 0-1-1, Carlisle 52-12, Wilkinson 1-0-2, Schmitz 2-2-6, Shaw 2-0-4, Daly 2-0-4, Trimble 2-0-4, Singh 1-0-2, Herbert 6-0-12, Chavez 2-1-5, Giesen 2-0-4. Totals: 25-6-56.

Marin — Piper 2-0-4, Barnes 8-1-17, Caramango 8-3-19, Forni 4-2-10, Gregg 5-8-18. Totals: 27-14-68.

Marin Quintet Defeats Skyline College



ELUSIVE BALL — College of Marin Tars' forward Ed Herrnberger (44) and Skyline College's Matt Kriletich (23) and Paul Reynolds (41) battled for a loose basketball last night in Kentfield. The Tars defeated the San Bruno invaders, 75-69.

Tar Trio Guns Down Rival Defense, 75-69

By LEW CODDINGTON

The College of Marin Tars played better basketball for 30 minutes than Skyline College of San Bruno did for 40 last night to defeat the invaders from San Bruno, 75-69, in Kentfield.

The victory enabled the Tars, 6-1 in Camino Norte Conference play, to keep pace with the front-running Contra Costa College Comets, 7-0. The Comets dumped Santa Rosa last night 76-67.

KEY

The key to Marin's victory was the neutralization of Skyline's 6-foot-8 center Paul Reynolds, the conference's No. 2 rebounder. Reynolds scored 11 points and dominated the backboards as the Trojans piled up a 27-15 lead in the early going.

"Then Roosevelt Green began to play defense," said coach John Panagakis. Simultaneously, Ed Herrnberger, Joe Smith and Joe DeMaestri began to play offense and Skyline was doomed.

REYNOLDS

Reynolds picked up only six points the rest of the game and began to draw fouls. When he sat down with four infractions early in the second half, Marin was ahead by two points, 43-41, and when he re-enetered the game, Marin was on top by seven, 62-55.

Panagakis, a hard man to please, was not satisfied. "We're still not playing good defense," he said. "On offense we had trouble getting into motion. And after we stopped Reynolds, Mike Larios went wild for 16 points in the second half."

REYNOLDS

Nonetheless, Panagakis found a few things to praise. "Their press didn't bother us," he said, "and we only had nine team fouls to their 16."

Smith and Green led Marin's scoring with 17 points apiece, while Herrnberger netted 16 and DeMaestri 14. For Skyline, Larios finished with 18, Reynolds 17 and Matt Kriletich 16.

Herrnberger started Marin's comeback from the 12-point deficit by hitting three quick baskets. Then Smith, a 6-1 guard, guave the Tars an emotional lift by outbattling the towering Reynolds for a rebound and forcing a jump ball.

DeMaestri followed with a spurt of two steals, three successful jump shots and two free throws as the Tars went on top at halftime, 38-33.

After Marin built the lead to 62-55, Skyline inched back into the game, and with 54 seconds left trailed by four (71-67) and had the ball, but couldn't cash in.

INSTINCT

"We just don't have that instinct," said Panagakis. "When you have 'em (the opponents) going, sometimes the next bucket will be the one to finish them off, and we didn't get it."

Marin shot a deft 52 per cent from the field (30 of 58), compared to Skyline's 41 per cent (29 of 70). The Tars made good use of their foul advantage, sinking 15 of 19 free throws compared to 11 of 13.

On the boards, Skyline held a slender 38-35 advantage, as Reynolds got 10 rebounds, but only three in the second half. Green led Marin with eight, followed by Joe Casteel with seven and DeMaestri and Herrnberger with six apiece.

Pat Purcell started at forward for Marin in place of Casteel, who was still suffering the effects of last Saturday's ankle injury.

Skyline — Berry 1-0-2, Kriletich 6-4-16, Larios 9-0-18, Saco 0-1-1, Hansen 1-3-5, Reynolds 8-1-17, Conway 1-2-4, Wellemeyer 3-0-6. Totals: 29-11-69.

Marin — Purcell 1-0-2, Flynn 1-3-5, DeMaestri 6-2-14, Smith 5-7-17, Casteel 2-0-4, Green 7-3-17, Herrnberger 8-0-16.

Archer Favored In Open

HONOLULU (UPI) — Lee Trevino is the people's choice but George Archer looks like the man to beat in the $200,000 Hawaiian open starting today at the Oceanside Waialae Country Club.

Trevino, the 1971 PGA Player of the Year, endeared himself to local fans in 1968 when he turned over $10,000 of his winner's purse of $25,000 to Ted Makalena Jr. to help with his college education. Makalena senior was a close friend of Lee's and died earlier that year in a surfing accident.

Archer is the year's leading money winner with nearly $50,000 because of his victory in the Los Angeles Open, a sixth place finish in the Crosby and a second in the Tucson Open. In the Tucson he went 21 extra holes before losing out to Miller Barber.

IN SAPPORO

Japan Emperor Hirohito Opens Winter Olympics

By MARTIN LADER

SAPPORO (UPI)—With its internal disputes at least put in the shadows by the brilliance of a perfectly performed opening ceremony, the XIth Olympic Games turned Friday to the first full day of competition.

Almost 50,000 spectators were on hand at the outdoor Makomanai Speed-skating Stadium when Emperor Hirohito officially declared the Games open shortly before noon. It was a simple but impressive ceremony, and it went off with the precision of a finely-tuned watch.

The 35 national teams, dressed in uniforms, marched in; the Olympic flame was lit; guns boomed their salute and fireworks rocketed into the sky. But the high point was when 800 Japanese boys and girls skated into the stadium and after a turn around the rink let 18,000 colored balloons float into the sunny skies.

Athletic action Thursday was minimal, with only two elimination round hockey matches. Czechoslovakia was playing Japan and Sweden went against Yugoslavia for the right to play in the Class A hockey round.

Gold medal events begin bright and early Friday morning with the men's 30 kilometer cross-country skiing and the men's 5,000 meter speed skating event.

In addition, the two-man bobsled and the men's and women's luge singles will hold the first two of their scheduled four runs on Friday, and participants in the combined event — which includes both ski jumping and cross-country — will jump from on the 70 meter hill. There also are the opening compulsory figures for the ladies figure skaters.

For the 30 kilometer cross-country there were at least a dozen possible winners among the 60 starters from 18 nations. Among the stronger skiers were three Russians —Viatcheslav Vedenin, Fedor Simachev and Vladimir Dolganov —plus some East Germans and a number of Scandinavians. The 1968 olympic winner in the event —Italy's Franco Nones —was not participating because of shaky form.

No Americans were rated a chance at picking up gold, silver or bronze.

American racers also were given little chance in the 5,000-meter speedskating event, although some are considered among the favorites in shorter distance speed-skating events.

Dutch entries were rated tops, with Ard Schenk of Holland the man to beat.

Before the Olympics come to an end Feb. 13, 35 gold medals will be handed out in skiing, skating, bobsledding, luge, biathlon and hockey.

Americans were generally rated far down the list in most events, with only speedskater Anne Henning, 16, of Northbrook, Ill., favored to pick up a top spot. She is world record holder in the 500 and 1,000 women's speedskating events.

The opening ceremonies, which were televised live via satellite, were held in windy, 20-degrees weather. Some of the more noted athletes failed to appear in the ceremonies, for various reasons, but 120 of the 165 U.S. athletes were in the line of march and constituted the largest group in the parade.

San Diego Gridders Move To Quit Loop

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — San Diego State has asked the Pacific Coast Athletic Association to drop the school as a conference member for football.

In its letter Wednesday to commissioner Jess Hill, the school said it would like to remain in the conference for all other sports.

Football Draft Finished

NEW YORK (UPI) — The annual National Football League college player draft ended Wednesday with George Allen getting a Moses for his "over the hill gang" and the world champion Dallas Cowboys giving every indication that they will deal away controversial running back Duane Thomas.

ALLEN

Allen, who did not have a rookie on his roster last season and whose club made the NFL playoffs with retreads and veterans, followed a rousing ovation from the draft gathering at the Marriott Essex house by selecting Moses Denson, a 29-year-old running back currently under contract to a Canadian league club.

Dallas, meanwhile, seemed to be gearing for a change in its backfield. Thomas didn't endear himself to the Cowboy management with his great stone face attitude and may have heralded his doom earlier this week by being caught in possession of marijuana.

COWBOYS

The Cowboys made their first two picks — Bill Thomas of Boston College and Robert Newhouse of Houston — running backs and selected four in all, adding Roy Bell of Oklahoma and Alan Thompson of Wisconsin. The Cowboys already have two other solid backs in Calvin Hill and Walt Garrison and could have something planned.

Ron Estay, the defensive tackle who helped Louisiana State rank as one of the nation's top defensive units, went to Denver and Minnesota quarterback Craig Curry was taken by Miami on the eighth round; Jeff Ford, the Georgia Tech defensive back who led the nation in interceptions as a sophomore, went to the New York Jets and Wisconsin running back Greg Johnson went to Miami as a defensive back on round nine; Rhett Dawson of Florida State, who ranked third in pass receiving, was taken by Houston on the 11th round; All America defensive tackle Mel Long of Toledo went to Cleveland as a linebacker on round 11; and Don Bunce, who quarterbacked Stanford to a Rose Bowl upset of Michigan, was taken by Washington on the 12th round.

Giants Peddle Veteran Lanier

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants provided action on three fronts yesterday — trading an infielder, signing a player, and acquiring a talent scout.

The National League baseball team peddled 8-year veteran infielder Hal Lanier to the New York Yankees.

Additionally, the Giants signed a potential star in Seldon Morton and acquired the services of Hector Lopez, a former Major League utility performer, as a scout.

"Maybe I'll get a chance to play regularly in New York," said Lanier from his home in San Mateo. "Yes, I'm a little sad and a bit surprised to be leaving San Francisco."

The Yankees gave the Giants an undisclosed amount of cash and a player to be named later.

Lanier joined the Giants in 1961 as a 19-year-old bonus choice out of high school at St. Petersburgh, Fla. He became the Giants' regular shortstop in 1964 but lost the job to rookie Chris Speier last season. Lanier batted .233 in 109 games last season.

With Lanier gone, Chris Arnold may be groomed as San Francisco's utility infielder. Arnold hit .343 at Phoenix last year and can play short, third or second base.

The Giants have signed Morton, a first baseman-outfielder, who was their sixth choice in the Special Phase of the free agent draft on January 12th.

Morton, a 5-11, 180-pound, 18-year-old, is a graduate of Jefferson High School in Daly City-who is currently attending Skyline ounior College in San Bruno. He was scouted and signed by Eddie Montague who saw him throughout his high school career and in the Peninsula Winter League.

Lopez, a 12-year major league veteran who saw service with the Kansas City A's and New York Yankees, has been signed to scout the Black and Latin-American players in the New York metropolitan area.

The 39-year-old Lopez, a native of Colon, Panama, broke into the majors with Kansas City in 1955 and was traded to the Yankees in 1959. He participated in five World Series, including 1962 when the Yanks edged the Giants, 1-0, in the seventh game at Candlestick Park.

Curtis Triumphs In Court

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The bizarre and complicated case of the University of California vs. the National Collegiate Athletic Association continues.

Federal Judge Albert C. Wollenberg issued a preliminary restraining order Tuesday against the NCAA's decision to place Cal on "indefinite probation."

NCAA executive director Walter Byers retaliated Wednesday by stating, "the penalty against the University of California remains in effect, and the University must meet its provisions as stated earlier.

'BLACKMAIL'

Senator Charges ABA Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said Wednesday Commissioner Jack Dolph of the American Basketball Association is attempting "to blackmail Congress" into permitting a merger of the two professional basketball leagues.

In a statement prepared for Senate delivery, Ervin said Dolph's threat to permit ABA teams to sign college players was designed to get college coaches to pressure Congress in favor of a merger.

But Dolph's strategy won't work, Ervin said, because he favors allowing college players to determine their own futures.

"While Mr. Dolph's loud protestations are an obvious attempt to blackmail Congress I hope the people of this country and their representatives turn the tables on him. I hope the people of this country will agree with my strongly held belief that as soon as a boy is professionally qualified to play basketball, in college or not, he should be allowed to play professionally for money," Ervin said.

Ervin is battling to block a bill before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee which would exempt professional basketball from the antitrust laws to permit a merger of the ABA and the National Basketball Association. The two leagues contend they need a merger to operate a common draft of college players. Without it, they say, they will go bankrupt.

JACK HANLEY

Giants' Farm System Finest In Baseball

All major league baseball clubs operate extensive farm systems but none is superior to the one Carl Hubbell directs for the Giants with Jack Schwarz doing the detailed administrative work that includes direction of two score scouts.

"Schwarz is the finest administrative secretary in baseball's farm system," says Frank Lane, who has been around baseball so long that some say he surveyed the first playing field for Abner Doubleday.

IN THE LAST two decades, Hubbell and Schwarz sent a steady stream of stars to the Giants, including the team's present trio of superstars, Willie Mays, Juan Marichal and Willie McCovey. More recently, Hubbell and Schwarz sent another trio of budding superstars to the Giants, Bobby Bonds, Ken Henderson and Chris Speier.

The story of how Willie Mays was signed by Eddie Montague, one of Schwarz' scouts, has been told and re-told. The story of how Evo Pusich, another of Schwarz' scouts, signed Bobby Bonds isn't as well known.

Other scouts had seen Bonds at Riverside City College but turned in negative reports on him. He couldn't hit the curve, they reported. Pusich firmly believed Bonds could overcome that weakness and told Schwarz that he was willing to stake his job on it. "If you're that convinced, sign him," Schwarz told Pusich.

"GIVE EVO full credit for discovering Bonds and arguing me into going for the bonus money for him," Schwarz now says.

Bonds broke into the National League with a grand slam home run off the Dodgers' John Purdin on June 25, 1968, for his first major league hit.

In 1969 Bonds set a major league record of 187 strikeouts and in 1970 he set a new one of 189. It seemed that the negative scouting reports on Bonds were right, that Pusich was wrong. But last season Bonds dramatically cut his strikeouts to 137 while batting .288, including 33 homers and 102 runs batted in.

VIRTUALLY ALL major league scouts, including those of the Giants, overlooked Speier when he was a shortstop whiz at Alameda High.

Even after two semesters at University of California at Santa Barbara, Speier escaped attention. So he became a semi-pro in Canada where Herman Hannah, scout of the Giants in Detroit, spotted Speier during one of Hannah's trips into Canada.

Hannah talked with Speier and when he learned he was from Alameda he told the young man that he might hear from the Giants when he returned home. Meanwhile, Hannah wrote a glowing report about Speier to Schwarz who took it from there.

SPEIER WAS the No. 1 pick of the Giants in the January, 1970, draft. Schwarz personally signed him. After one year in pro ball at Amarillo, The Giants' farm club in the Texas League, Speier was invited to the 1971 spring training camp of the big team.

Two months before 1971 spring training opened, Schwarz predicted: "Speier has played only one year of pro ball but he's ready right now for the big time. He's a breed of baseball player not common anymore. He's a throwback. He reminds me of old timers like Frankie Frisch and Bill Jurges."

Schwarz was right. Without Speier, a 21-year-old rookie, the Giants never would have made it to the National League pennant playoffs last year.

PREP NOTEBOOK

Defensive Play Proves Vital

By LEW CODDINGTON

The professionals sum it up best with the pithy phrase: "Offense is for show; defense is for dough." While there is no dough on the line in Marin County Athletic League basketball, there is a championship at stake, and defensive ability will mean a great deal in deciding who will get it.

Zone defenses predominate in the MCAL, for two reasons. One is to cover up individual defensive deficiencies. The other is that some coaches simply like zones, teach them better, and have good results with them. Sometimes, both reasons apply.

The zone insures that the area near the basket is guarded at all times. It cuts down on opponents driving in for shots or feeding a big man wandering around near the bucket.

Since the players are assigned to specific areas, opponents standing far outside have relatively unobstructed shots. Luckily for zone advocates, high school players can't hit 20 or 25 footers consistently, so the strategy works.

When an opponent does hit from outside, the zone team is forced to come outside to meet him, creating more room inside the zone, permitting opponents to cut inside, receive passes and make easy short shots.

The prevalence of zone play tends to minimize individual defensive achievements. Only two teams, Redwood and Tamalpais, play man-on-man exclusively. Terra Linda recently switched from man to zone. Drake and San Rafael are zone teams, while Marin Catholic, Novato and San Marin switch depending on circumstances.

Nonetheless, at least one player has earned praise around tha MCAL for his defensive play. He is Jared McFerrin of Tamalpais, whom coach Bernie Schneider calls "the best defensive forward in the league." McFerrin, a 6-foot-4 junior, invariably guards the other team's best forward, and invariably acquits himself well. His play is the chief reason Tam is leading the league in defense.

JARED McFERRIN
Best On Defense?

"Jared's secret is position," said Schneider. "He's always in the right place at the right time, keeping his man from getting the ball. "So much of it is mental. You have to want to do a job on defense."

McFerrin's best defensive game came against Marin Catholic Jan. 14, when he held the Wildcats' talented Jim Sullivan to four points. Sullivan is averaging 13.4.

"John Johnson (a guard) has come a long way for us defensively," said Schneider. The Indians also have Will Garner, who excels in any situation when leaping is required, and undoubtedly leads the league in blocked shots.

San Rafael coach Mike Diaz likes the play of unsung forward Duke Bessee. "He is the key to our zone," he said. "People don't realize this. He's always hustling and comes up with a lot of steals."

At Marin Catholic, the defensive play of Mickey Hurley has provided one of the few bright spots in a season with a long losing streak and a longer injury list. "Mickey goes against all the better players and more than holds his own," said coach Dave Gonsalves.

Terra Linda coach Bob Corley puts guard John Buckley on the other team's best guard, usually with good results. Corley said he was impressed with the man-for-man defenses at Novato and Redwood.

Redwood ranks second in team defense, with no spot that can be exploited consistently. Coach Dick Hart doesn't worry about juggling the lineup to shut off some other team's star. He just lets his players occupy their normal postiions, and lets the chips fall where they may, generally on the opponent's head.

Vancouver Throttles Seals, 5-1

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Vancouver Canucks finally caught up with rookie goaltender Gilles Meloche of the California Golden Seals.

Five different Canucks scored Wednesday night as Vancouver defeated California 5-1 to take the season series 4-2. Joey Johnston scored on a 30-footer with 7:16 remaining to ruin Dunc Wilson's bid for a shutout.

Meloche was working a string of two straight shutouts, including a 2-0 whitewash of Vancouver last Sunday. But the Canucks got to him early by scoring twice in the opening period and three times in the second.

That was enough to convince coach Vic Stasiuk that Meloche needed a rest. Gary Kurt took over in goal and blanked the Canucks while turning away nine shots in the final period.

Score by periods:

Vancouver	2	3	0	- 5
California	0	0	1	- 1

First Period — 1. Vancouver, Boudrias 18 (Balon) 5:07; 2. Vancouver, Boddy 1 (Lemieux, Taylor) 9:15. Penalties — Paiement 14:39, Schella 16:00, Vadnais (Major) 16:55.

Second Period —3. Vancouver, Maki 14 (Guevremont, Connelly) 1:53; 4. Vancouver, Balon 16 (Kearns, Paiement) 5:14; 5. Vancouver, Connelly 15 (Guevremont, Kurtenbach) 17:11. Penalties — Paiement (Double minor) 8:27, Biard 15:42, Marshall 16:40, Boddy 19:44.

Third Period — 6. California, J. Johnston 9 (Baird, Boldirev) 12:44. Penalties — Popiel 8:15, Guevremont 16:16.

Sonoma Resumes Play Against San Francisco '5'

The Sonoma State College Cossacks host teams from both sides of the Bay this weekend, hosting San Francisco State College and Cal State Hayward in pursuit of their first Far Western Conference basketball win in two years. The games will be played Friday and Saturday nights at 8 o'clock.

It won't be too entertaining for Cossack fans on Friday night, however, if coach Jerry Waugh's San Francisco State Gators play true to form. The Gators come into this contest with an 11-5 season record, but reside in first place with a 4-0 record.

The Gators have a high scoring, explosive offense featuring four starters averaging in double figures. Leading scorer and rebounder for San Francisco State is returning 6-foot-3, All-FWC forward Gary Bradford, averaging 17.9 points and 9.8 rebounds per game. Bradford is supported in the scoring column by guard Billy Metcalf with 14.3 points per contest, forward Larry Taylor, averaging 12.3 and 6-7 center Jack Wilson adding his 10.3 points per game.

To beat the Gators, the Cossacks will have to rely on outstanding forward Larry Austin, team leader in scoring and rebounding with 17.5 points and 12 rebounds per game. Sonoma State will also count on the fine outside shooting of freshman guard Jim DeLaughter and the rebounding of Henry Crawford and Basil Swaby.

Saturday night should be a different matter as the East Bay's Cal State Hayward Pioneers come into the game with an 0-5 conference record, tied with Sonoma for last place, and 2-14 record overall.

The Cossacks catch the Pioneers in the midst of a rebuilding year and the game should be closely contested.

Warriors To Host Atlanta

OAKLAND (UPI) — Guard Jeff Mullins of the Golden State Warriors may try to run on his badly sprained ankle tonight against the Atlanta Hawks.

"Of course everything depends on how the ankle feels when I warm up before the game," said the Warriors high-scoring backcourt ace. He turned the ankle in the fourth quarter of Tuesday night's loss to Milwaukee and was carried off the court.

"I came down on it pretty hard," added Mullins, "but it's been sprained before and everything in there has been pretty well stretched already."

Portland Fires Coach Todd

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— The Portland Trail Blazers of the National Basketball Association were shopping today for a new coach.

They fired Rolland Todd, 37, whom they hired from the University of Nevada at Las Vegas last year, because he lost control of the team.

"The field is wide open," said Portland executive vice president Harry Glickman, who announced Todd's firing Wednesday and the appointment of player personnel director Stu Inman as interim coach. Inman formerly coached at San Jose State and ended his career there in 1966 after a 10-season tenure.

"We'll consider all applicants, from the colleges, professional ranks, including professional stars now with a desire to coach," said Glickman.

Todd said he was surprised, but he was not bitter.

Most of the players reacted to the coaching change favorably at practice called by Inman Wednesday after Todd had posted a no practice Wednesday notice following Tuesday night's loss to the Phoenix Suns, the club's record-setting ninth straight loss. The team is 12-44 on the season—the worst record in the NBA.

Inman said he is concerned with getting to the heart of any player problems, but he believes the squad is one composed of people "who crave discipline and need to have their roles precisely defined." He said Todd had said as much when Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie, Portland's two star players, sounded off the first week in January about lack of team play and lack of coaching disciplime.

Todd said at the time "lack of communication and failure by me as coach to precisely outline the roles the players must take on this team has caused the problem." Inman says that and the need to improve defense are the main items of change coming up.

The situation reached a head Tuesday night when rookie guard Charles Yelverton, from Fordham, staged a sitdown proest during warmup and during the playing of the National Anthem over the placing of Willie McCarter on waivers. Wicks, during time outs, refused to participate in sideline discussions on strategy with Todd, and on the floor openly laughed and talked with players on the Suns.

McCarter had said he got a bad deal being placed on waivers and Todd should be waived, not him. He said all the players on the team were unhappy with Todd.

Glickman said the pre-game and gametime antics of Wicks and Yelverton were to be "separately dealt with." He said those actions and the team reaction to placing McCarter on waivers had no bearing on the firing of Todd basically.

ACROSS FROM EMPORIUM NEXT TO LONG'S

Petaluma, Montgomery Cagers Vie

Two Santa Rosa teams, Montgomery and Piner high schools, travel south tomorrow night to face Petaluma High School and Rancho Cotate High of Rohnert Park, as action resumes in the North Bay League and Sonoma County League after a week's hiatus.

Friday night's games, which begin the second half of the basketball season, will pit Montgomery at Petaluma High and Piner High School at Rancho Cotate, both games starting at 8:30 p.m.

The Petaluma Trojans, standing atop the NBI with a 5-1 mark at the half way point in the season, seek revenge against the Montgomery Vikings who pinned them with their only league loss this year. In that game, Petaluma almost pulled out a victory after coming back from an 18-point deficit with four minutes to play before losing by one.

As the SCL resumes play, Rancho Cotate finds itself in second place with a 4-2 record. One of those victories came against Piner High, and the Cougars hope to repeat that success tomorrow night.

Rancho Cotate is paced by 6-2 senior Steve Wlodarcyzk who's averaging 19.4 points per game on the year. Second leading scorer for the Cougars is Dave Christensen.

Redwood Leads Statistics, But Tam Tops Standings

The standings belong to Tamalpais but the statistics belong to Redwood in Marin County Athletic League basketball.

The Redwood High School Giants from Larkspur rank first in shooting, first in scoring, second in defense, and first in margin of victory. Their top individual scorers rank second and third, their shooters first and fourth, their rebounders second and fourth.

And yet, they are only tied for second with a 5-2 record, well back of Tam's 7-0. At the halfway mark in the league season, with each team having played each opponent once, statistics are a more reasonable measure of team strength then they will be again until the season's end.

Redwood is scoring 65.7 points a game, nearly five and a half points better than San Rafael and almost 12 better than Tam. The Giants are yielding 51.7 a game, a hair better than Drake but almost five worse than Tam. On the average, Redwood is outscoring its foes 14.0 every time it takes the court.

Redwood is shooting 46 per cent on 189 successes on 414 tries from the field, according to figures compiled by its own statisticians. San Rafael is hitting 44 per cont on 151 of 345.

While the standards applied by team statisticians may not be uniform throughout the league, especially on something like assists, the figures provide an adequate rough yardstick of relative ability. Novato is not included, since no statistics are kept there.

Will Garner of Tam leads in scoring with 22.3 points a game. Steve McGee of Redwood is second with 16.6 and Tim Hennessy, also of Redwood, is third at 16.4.

McGee leads in field goal percentage, hitting 46 of 77 for 59 per cent. Tim Stone of Marin Catholic is second with 55 per cent (35-64), followed by Garner at 54 per cent (61-112) and Hennessy at 53 per cent (48-91). Nobody else exceeds 50 per cent.

Garner is the top rebounder, snatching 15.3 per outing. McGee is second at 12.1, Stone third at 10.0 for six games, and Hennessy fourth at 8.9.

Tam's Jared McFerrin is the statistical leader in assists with 4.3 a game, a remarkable performance for a forward. Redwood guard Sam Farb has 4.0, and Marin Catholic's Bill Reilly has 3.6 in limited action.

Among more prolific free-throw shooters, San Rafael's Donnie Canfield (32-42) and Wayne Lechner (22-29) both have impressive percentages of 76. San Rafael has the best foul-shooting team, connecting on 134 of 209 for 64 per cent.

The leaders for each team are listed below. To be included, a player must average 5.0 rebounds or 2.0 assists a game, or be shooting 40 per cent from the field or 55 per cent from the free-throw line with 14 made.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Not enough has been said of the importance of concentration in bowling. Among the chief distractions are the thoughtless bowlers who take their ball from the rack alongside a person who is getting ready to start their approach. If this happens, relax a moment before starting again. If you deliver the ball while angry, you'll probably make some mistake and then be twice as mad.

THE SKI SCENE

New Type Of Ski Tour Involves Boat, Airplane

By CHARLIE COANE

Ski tours go all over the world, and every year thousands of skiers pack up their gear and head somewhere where the snow is always whiter — hopefully.

Traditionally, you leap on a plane or train and take off for Aspen, Europe, Taos, Jackson Hole or whatever for a week of super skiing, fine food and apres ski, and then come home.

A new twist to the so-called "ski tour" has taken form with the help of some creative minds and a little cooperation between P&O Lines and Canadian Pacific Air. Who ever heard of taking a ship to ski? Well, you have now.

ON JAN. 15, an experiment began which involved sailing on P&O's SS Oriana to Vancouver, B.C., busing to nearby Whistler Mountain for five days of skiing, and returning to San Francisco by air. For around $250 (give or take a few) you received the full treatment on the ship, including meals, from Saturday at 6 p.m. until dvking at Vancouver early Monday morning. Transportation to, from and around Whistler was also included as was lodging and five days of lift tickets. Not too bad indeed.

The inaugural cruise was a gas. Quite a way to begin a ski vacation is aboard a ship! The British crew was like something out of Hollywood's central casting. The meals and accomodations were excellent and there were all sorts of activities: planned and impromptu parties, dancing, ski movies, games and yes, bingo. The adult beverages were embarrassingly inexpensive. You have the run of the ship.

THE ORIANA normally runs from Vancouver to San Francisco to Los Angeles, through the Caribbean and back in reverse. Consequently, the San Francisco to Vancouver run is relatively empty and a group of friendly skiers can have a ball. The whole setup should become quite popular if they run it again next season — and all indications are that they will.

In fact, there could be several tours heading north next season. There is one more tour this year — leaving Feb. 12 for ten days instead of the earlier trip of eight days. The transportation is reversed: up by air, back by ship. Many of the ski-oriented travel agencies, such as Daman-Nelson in San Francisco, have all the details. You can bet that word-of-mouth will create a demand next year.

WHAT ABOUT the skiing? The January group ran into great skiing for a few days and then an awful lot of snow. The Canadian air traffic controllers' strike forced the group to bus to Seattle to fly home. January in Canada will normally bring a few snow falls. It can be a powder-skier's paradise, and it may be too much even for the powder-buffs. It can be a the powder, you may be better off in February, March or April.

The mountain at Whistler is a beauty. It has the longest vertical drop in North America and will give you all you can handle — including helicopter skiing.

What will happen next season remains to be seen. But it looks like the ship-bus-air combo will go again — perhaps several times. If you want to go out of the state, check this move to Canada.

Bill To Aid High School Sports Shown By Assemblyman Biddle

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

SACRAMENTO — A bill imposing a 5 per cent tax on game admissions to professional sports events to finance high school athletics was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

Biddle estimated that his measure would raise about $3 million annually. It would also impose the tax on closed-circuit telecast receipts.

He said the bill was "a much-needed attempt to relieve already hard-pressed educational funds for priority academic use in our classrooms.'

Horse Racing

ARCADIA — Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Joe Hernandez, the "Voice of Santa Anita" and one of the nation's best known horse race callers.

Hernandez, 62, died yesterday of a heart ailment at Arcadia Methodist Hospital.

He called every race at Santa Anita Park since the track started operations on Christmas Day 1934. His string of races called ran to 15,587 until last Thursday when he collapsed at the microphone as he was calling the first race on the day's program. He had been kicked by a horse earlier in the day and was hospitalized, then suffered a heart attack Sunday night.

Skiing

SACRAMENTO — Triple Olympic gold medalist Debbie Meyer, who announced her retirement from competitive swimming last week at the age of 19, has broken an ankle while learning to ski.

Mrs. Betty Meyer said yesterday her daughter suffered the injury Monday while skiing with friends at Lake Tahoe. She said Debbie's left ankle has been placed in a cast and she will remain off the ankle until it is placed in a walking cast next week.

Mrs. Meyer said Debbie, a student at American River College in Sacramento, was "just learning" how to ski.

Football

TAMPA, Fla. — The University of Tampa, which has provided head football coaches to two major colleges in two years, dipped into the powerful Big Ten Conference yesterday and named Ohio State Offensive Coordinator Earle Bruce as its new head coach.

Basketball

CHICAGO — Big Ten faculty representatives have rejected an appeal by Minnesota to allow two suspended basketball players to practice with the team.

The two players, Corky Taylor and Ron Behagen, were suspended by both the school and Commissioner Wayne Duke for the balance of the season for their role in a fight between Minnesota and Ohio state players at the end of their game last week.

Bowling

SAN JOSE — Don Glover, a five-time champion from South Bend, Ind., averaged 239 pins per game yesterday and after the opening six-game block he was the leader by 25 pins in the $85,000 Mercury Cougar Open Bowling Tournament.

Tennis

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Older sister Chris — 17 — held up the honor of the Evert family Wednesday by defeating Corrine Molesworth of England 6-2, 6-3.

Thus Chris and her 14-year-old sister, Jeannie, who upset Rosemary Casals Tuesday, both have advanced in the $25,000 Tennis Club Women's International Tournament.

But at least one member of the world's women's tennis elite — Billie Jean King — gave a member of the younger generation a lesson in tennis.

In Wednesday night play, Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., trounced 15-year-old Kathy Kuykendall of Miami, 6-1, 6-1.

SOLID AMERICAN THINKING:

GREMLIN

The best of American thinking has always been practical. Like our Gremlin. It's just what this country has always needed. It's small where you want it to be. With a longer wheelbase and wider track that still can turn inside a VW Beetle.

And, Gremlin is big where you'd like it to be.

With a solid 232 cubic inch standard six-cylinder engine that out-powers the four-cylinder engine of other small cars. Like Datsun, Toyota, Pinto and Vega.

And with a 21 gallon gas tank that's almost twice the capacity of just about every other small car, you can go up to 480 miles on a single tankful. Drive one. At $1999*, our Gremlin, backed by the American Motors Buyer Protection Plan, is a very Solid American buy.

OUR NEW PRICE: $1999.*

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price, state and local taxes excluded. White walls $34.35, California destination charges $99, and other options extra.

OUR PROMISE:

When you buy a new 1972 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship.

This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for, under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.

WORD-A-DAY

McGuire Boots Appeal In Blood Alcohol Test Case

An appeal of a Marin Municipal Court decision suppressing chemical evidence in some drunken driving cases has been denied by a superior court judge.

But the prosecutor who made the appeal said the higher court's decision did not mean the cases would be dismissed.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony had appealed a decision last June by Municipal Court Judge David Menary Jr. on a motion by 45 separate defendants to suppress the results of chemical tests because glass ampules, used to administer the tests, had been thrown away and were not available to the defense.

The ampules are used in administering the breathanalyzer test — a method of determining the amount of alcohol in a person's blood.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of superior court dismissed Anthony's appeal yesterday, saying it was without grounds.

All of the cases have been pending in municipal court awaiting the superior court decision. Anthony said today he would discuss with Menary the possibility of proceeding on one of the cases as a test.

If the case is dismissed by the judge, presumably for insufficient evidence, Anthony said he then would have sufficient grounds for another appeal to superior court.

In his decision last June, Menary said it was impossible to retest the ampule for blood alcohol content after one test had been run.

But, he said, it was possible, although not probable, that various factors connected with the ampules could result in inaccurate test results, and thus the ampules should be available to the defense.

In addition to the 45 cases named in the original motion to suppress, Anthony said about 100 more cases are pending settlement of the ampules issue.

Since Menary's decision, the ampules now are kept and made available to the defense, he said.

In Nixon Corner

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rita E. Hauser has resigned as U.S. representative to the U.N. Commission on Human Rights to join President Nixon's campaign organization, the White House said Wednesday.

Apollo 16 Ready For New Testing

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— Apollo 16 has been repaired and will be moved back to its launch pad Tuesday for tests and final preparations for its April 16 flight to the moon.

The spacecraft and its Saturn 5 rocket were hauled back to the rocket hangar last week after a launch pad testing failure damaged a 17-inch fuel tank in the command module.

Marinwood Excavations Talk Topic

The Miwok Indians and work on the Marinwood archaeological excavations will be the topic of a talk by Donald Theiler at a public meeting of the Marin Audobon Society at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Ross School auditorium.

Thieler, president of the board of the Miwok Archaeological Preserve of Marin, will display obsidian tools and examples of basketweaving to illustrate his talk.

The meeting will be followed Feb. 12 by a field trip to the Miller Creek archaeological site, uncovered in 1970. The trip will start at 10 a.m. from Miller Creek School at 2255 Las Gallinas Avenue.

Trips conducted by Elizabeth Terwilliger start Monday with a visit to Bufano's animal sculptures in San Francisco. Persons going should take the 9:45 a.m. ferry from Sausalito to the Ferry Building in San Francisco. They will then meet Salem Rice of the California Division of Mines for a conducted tour of the state geological display before viewing the sculptures.

A canoe trip will be held at 10 a.m. Feb. 14 at Mira Monte marina, two miles north of Novato east of Highway 101. A family bicycle ride will be held at 10 a.m. Feb. 21,, starting at the French Cheese Factory on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road.

Firms Checked On Price-Listing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Internal Revenue Service reported Wednesday that 1,700 Northern California businesses have been checked for violations of price-posting regulations.

Stuart Patt, IRS district information officer, said about 80 per cent of them were in compliance with Cost-of-Living Council requirements.

Patt said 18 per cent of the remaining 20 per cent revamped the posting standards to gain compliance. The remaining two per cent, he added, were still under investigation or were in the process of being checked by the U.S. Attorney's office.

Last week in Sacramento, he said, formal charges were filed against three firms for irregularities.

The Northern California check took two weeks, Patt said.

BAY SMOG BOARD TORN ON FIRING

Secret Charges Against District Counsel Revealed; Top Man Also Is Pressured

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SANTA ROSA — Secret charges behind a bitterly disputed move to fire the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District legal officer were disclosed yesterday — and promptly described as so vague as to be virtually meaningless. (Another control district story, page 1.)

The charges against district counsel Matthew S. Walker alleged that he had "failed to work harmoniously" with the top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, that he had "failed to communicate openly and freely" with Callaghan, and that he had "withheld the full extent of his cooperation from" Callaghan.

Walker also was cited for criticizing the district enforcement policy, which he did to newsmen after the district's personnel committee recommended three months ago that he be fired.

Specifically, Walker accused Callaghan and some district directors, whom he did not name, of shielding industrial polluters from prosecution in court by his office.

A new twist in yesterday's four-hour wrangle over Walker in city hall here was the first public mention by several directors that Callaghan also may be considered for firing. Several citizens groups previously called for firing Callaghan, who is commonly acknowledged to have initiated the move to fire Walker.

A series of inconclusive votes on various motions to postpone the issue indefinitely left it set for a final showdown vote at a special board meeting at 10 a.m. March 15 in district offices at 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. was the only one of the 18 board members who failed to attend the session. He and six other members of the nine-member personnel committee worked up the charges against Walker two months ago, and recommended his firing but refused to disclose the charges until several directors demanded yesterday they be aired publicly.

The board has been bitterly split over the issue, and its outcome remains uncertain.

Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, immediate past chairman of the district board, was among several who conceded the real issue had become a test of Callaghan's support. "Frankly, I'm torn apart on this issue. I don't know which way to turn — whether one or the other, or both, go," Calvo said.

According to the list of charges, drafted by a member of the personnel committee, Napa County Supervisor Joseph G. Peatman, Walker had told the committee "that he cannot continue in the employ of the district if the employment of the air pollution control officer (Callaghan) is continued."

Walker, however, told newsmen that this last charge was not what he had told the committee. He said he had told them he could remain with the district only if he reported directly to the board of directors instead of to Callaghan.

This was the law before 1969, when Callaghan succeeded in having it changed so that Walker was put under his wing instead of being a separate authority directly under the board.

Walker, viewing the charges for the first time, told the board that the list "doesn't say anything." He said he would demand more detailed charges, but it was unclear whether he would get them. The attorney hired to advise the board in handling the Walker dispute, Arthur Harris of Berkeley, said that details of the charges need not be given Walker since the law allowed his firing without any cause.

Several directors indicated after the meeting that the charges did not appear to warrant firing Walker. Sausalito City Councilman Wyman Hicks, vice chairman of the district board, said "these are allegations, but there is no way to find out if they are true."

More than an hour of the board's six-hour meeting was taken up by board members attempting to find a way to discuss firing Walker behind closed doors, but Walker demanded a public hearing as allowed by law.

A telegram from a Barry Hastings, who was not otherwise identified, led to a request by the board that the wire's charge of unethical conduct by Walker be checked out by the San Francisco county counsel's office. The telegram said Walker improperly was represented by an attorney whose firm also represents an oil company before the district.

Walker explained that the attorney, an old friend, was representing him in a divorce action brought by his wife, but San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair, a leader in the move to oust Walker, persuaded others the matter should be looked into.

The strongest words during the long session came from Mountain View City Councilman William R. Jelavich, who declared the dispute had caused "the stature of this district to slump to an all-time low." The district's purpose was to clean up air pollution, he asserted, "not to play games on the seventh floor (administrative offices)."

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors also:

EXEMPTIONS — Heard a plea by the Air Conservation Council of Northern California to start citing polluters for violations occurring while an application for an exemption from district regulations is pending.

COMPUTER — Deferred action on contracting with Hewlett-Packard Co. for electronic data processing service at a monthly cost of $4,232, further discussion set for a board "workshop" meeting at 10 a.m. on Feb. 16 in district offices, 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco.

FURNITURE — Ordered office furniture through the federal General Services Administration at a cost of $8,384.

SONOMA — Ordered 13 air contaminant recorders for use in Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties at a cost of $15,970, the equipment to be supplied by Leeds and Northrup Co. of San Mateo.

VAN — Bought a van from Concord Dodge Inc., of Concord for $4,077.

JAMES M. MENDELSOHN

Terra Linda Scout Due Eagle Rank

James M. Mendelsohn, a member of Boy Scout Troop 71 in Terra Linda, will be awarded the rank of Eagle Scout at a court of honor at 8 p.m. Feb. 14 at St. Isabella's Parish Center, Terra Linda.

Mendelsohn, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Mendelsohn, 646 Tamarack Drive, is senior patrol leader of Troop 71, sponsored by St. Isabella's Church, and has been in scouting since living in the East. He moved with his family to Marin in 1968.

The youth is a sophomore at Marin Ctholic High School, Kentfield.

In a special project necessary to gain his Eagle rank, Mendelsohn organized, wrote and distributed literature encouraging the community to participate in recycling programs.

Free Class In Music Hearing

A free beginning course in mental hearing of music for professional musicians or those studying to become professional is being offered through February and March at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Classes, being held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, are taught by Wynn Westover, a teacher of sight singing, rhythm and ear training at the College of Marin. The course is sponsored by music from Bear Valley, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Further information may be obtained by calling Redwood High School or by writing Westover at Box 853, Sausalito.

New Penalty Idea In Hostage Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Legislation had been introduced in the House that would authorize sentences ranging up to the death penalty for inmates in federal prisons who seize hostages.

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, RCalif., said the Attica, N.Y., prison riot and the hostages slain in it demonstrated the need for such legislation. While most of the hostages at Attica died at the hands of officers trying to free them, he said, "Their being held directly resulted in their death."

Homeowner Group To Elect

The Homestead Valley Community Association will hold its annual membership dinner meeting and election of officers at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Secretary Virginia Spalding said members will discuss the state of Brown's Hall, which the association has been considering selling because of the tax burden. Future plans for the group also will be weighed.

Homestead Valley residents wishing more information on the meeting and potluck supper should call Audrey Peterson at 112 Janes Street, Mrs. Spalding said.

Identification Wrong In Story

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday by identifying Edward M. Powell as both a defeated candidate for the Kentfield Fire Protection District board and a demoted former assistant chief.

Powell was defeated in the Nov. 2 election, but Raymond Vogel, a candidate not named in the story, was the former Kentfield assistant chief who was demoted to lieutenant and left the department last year. The other two being considered to fill a vacancy are Sara S. Tuckey and Dorothy Poganski.

School Boss Wants New Job Contract

Supt. William E. Johnson of Lagunitas School District is dissatisfied with the contract he signed five months ago.

After a closed meeting Tuesday night to discuss teacher evaluation, board president Gary T. Giacomini announced that Johnson had requested renegotiation of the contract. Giacomini said it would be considered at a meeting Feb. 14.

Johnson would not disclose what his requests were in renegotiating the contract. He was hired on Aug. 23 at $18,500 per year for two years.

Giacomini said the renegotation requested would be for a possible shortening of the length of the contract.

The Lagunitas School District Board also:

MINIMUM DAY — Explained to approximately 50 persons attending the meeting that the weekly minimum day would not affect student classroom time. The extra time would be taken from recesses and lunch periods. The board has set each Wednesday for a minimum day so it could discuss programs with the teachers.

COMMITTEE — Named six persons to an open-ended committee to discuss employer-employee relations policy. Those named were trustees Audrey Miller and Richard Sloan; principal Harry Roche and teachers Kay Dewing, Marianne Kolanoski and Sandra Dorward.

REPORTS — Set a calendar for hearing reports on school activities. Dates set were: Feb. 14 on guidance and Elementary and Secondary Education Act compensation; Feb. 28, seventh and eighth-grade programs and special educational programs; March 13, the Miller-Unruh reading program and nature study program.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Monday to hear reports and continue its closed meeting on the superintendent's contract.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

A San Rafael motorcyclist was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered in a traffic accident yesterday.

Kirk R. Good, 17, of 11 Elaine Way, suffered a compound fracture of his right leg, the hospital said.

San Rafael police said Good was driving west of Bellam Boulevard at about 12:12 p.m. yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a car driven by John R. Cook, 18, of 805 Fourth Street, who was pulling out of a driveway at 141 Bellam.

Cantarutti Wins Honors In Novato

Ben Cantarutti, Novato electrical contractor, has been honored belatedly by the city for design of the McGillicuddy-Cantarutti warehouse on Reichert Avenue, north of Grant Avenue.

When the annual design awards were presented Jan. 21, the warehouse was first in the industrial category and the award was given to the listed owner, Eugene D. McGillicuddy.

It later was learned that Cantarutti was part owner of the building, so an award also was given to him.

A Tax Advantage Denied To Millions

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. The company I work for does not have any pension plan. Is there any way I can set one up for myself using earnings before taxes are figured? — O.G.

A. At present this tax advantage is denied you and millions of other individuals who are not covered by employers or H.R. 10 (Keogh Act). This may soon be remedied if a bill being sponsored by Wilbur Mills, a Democrat, and John Byrnes, a Republican, is enacted. Under the bill, an indivudual will be able to contribute up to 20 per cent but no more than $1,500 of his income to a retirement plan, tax free.

Interest and dividends earned will accumulate tax-free until the plan holder reaches 65. Annual pension payments will be taxes as ordinary income. Selection of investment vehicle will be up to the individual.

The bill, which has the backing of President Nixon, is expected to pass with no major opposition. However, a letter to your congressional representatives stating your support for the bill would do no harm.

Q. I own 100 shares of Halliburton Co. at a cost of $34 per share. Should I hold or sell? The dividend is not very large. — Z.C.

A. The $1.05 annual dividend stands an excellent chance of being increased this year since it has remained unchanged for three years and is below the average paid out by Halliburton in recent years. Nonetheless, this issue is more notable for its long-term growth record than it is for its generous dividend return.

Earnings recovery for the year just ended — $3.20 a share is anticipated — should support favorable market performance in the months ahead. For the first nine months net increased 16 per cent on a 33 per cent gain in revenue.

In addition, stepped-up exploratory activities and increased capital spending in an uptrending economic climate should generate similar strong earnings gains this year. Unless your need for additional income is pressing I would favor holding these Big Board shares.

THE SOLUTION

Having trouble backing up your trailer? Here's the solution — a car-top trailer hitch. The 18-foot-long prototype trailer designed for small cars was displayed recently at the Midwest Open Trails camping show in St. Louis. Developed by Harmon Industries of Warrensburg, Mo., the trailer is attached to the car roof in a fashion similar to that of a luggage rack. A car can turn 360 degrees without unhooking or striking the trailer.

Novel Boys Club Approach To Novato Fund-Raising

The Novato Boys Club, aiming for a $100,000 building fund, has a new approach to fund-raising which is a long way from ringing doorbells and mailing brochures.

A $45,900, five-bedroom house is being constructed in West Novato in the drive's behalf. When it is sold, the club will get the profit, estimated at $20,000.

Workmen, contractors and real estate brokers are volunteering efforts, and materials are either donated or provided at cost, president Edward T. Ghirardo reported.

The project was the ideal of Reuben W. Kaehler, a Novato contractor. Harry W. Locke, a club director, offered the half-acre site at "sacrifical cost," Ghirardo said.

Kaehler-Timmer Development Co. is in charge of construction, coordinating the services of craftsmen, suppliers and subcontractors.

About 35 craftsmen are working Friday afternoons and Saturdays on the two-story structure of Spanish design, which will stand on a Knoll at 3 Christopher Court.

The foundation has been poured and plumbing, heating and ventilation equipment has been installed by Aero Heating and by Sheet Metal Co., both of Novato.

William A. Timmer, Novato real estate broker handling the sale, said the house may be inspected while under construction.

Ash Arraigned In Burglary

Arnold Dean Ash, 18, of Glen Ellen, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of attempted burglary.

He was to plead to the charge today.

Ash was arrested early Tuesday when Novato police said they found him on the roof of Holderby's Pet Shop, 1557 South Novato Boulevard.

Pedestrian Violators Will Be Ticketed

San Rafael police will begin a campaign against pedestrian violations, Chief Joseph J. Brusatori said today.

Police will give tickets for pedestrians walking against a red light and for jaywalking, he said. They also will give tickets to drivers of cars who do not yield to pedestrians in crosswalks, the chief said.
